The agency of village panchayats and chaukidars was utilised in the Dacca Division to obtain the names of the holders of unregistered holdings, and post-cards were issued to the persons so traced, with the result that they generally applied for registration. The proportion of applications to interests in Backergunge has risen from 4·42 to 12·9 per cent. The number of cases in the province disposed of during the year was 67,596 as against 69,467 in the previous year, showing a decrease of 1,871.

20. Partitions.—The statement below shows the number of partition cases instituted, disposed of and pending in the three divisions of Patna, Bhagalpur and Dacca, where this branch of work is heaviest:—

	1894-95.	1895-96.	1895-96.	1896-97.	1895-96.	1896-97.	1895-96.	1896-97.	1896-97.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Patna	1,229	1,053	258	296	1,487	1,348	435	349	999
Bhagalpur	132	131	39	24	171	155	40	31	124
Dacca	389	450	153	192	535	622	105	147	475

The number of cases instituted increased in the Patna Division by 38, and in the Dacca Division by 39. The number of disposals fell short of the institutions in the Dacca Division, but exceeded them in the Patna and Bhagalpur Divisions. In Monghyr the Batwara Department was grossly mismanaged by the Deputy Collector in charge, who has since been transferred. In the four North Gangetic districts proceedings have been kept in abeyance in 127 cases pending completion of the cadastral survey. In Darbhanga the oldest case, that of Sripur Momon, instituted in 1872, has been remanded by the Board on appeal. The long-pending Bhowal case in Dacca is still pending.

The average cost per acre of partitions concluded during the year varies not only in different Divisions, but also in the different districts of each Division; for example, it was Re. 1-14-7 in Patna and Re. 1-8 in Bhagalpur. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that this difference in cost rates has attracted the attention of the Board, and hopes that an attempt will be made to secure a greater uniformity in this direction. His Honour also approves of the action taken by the Board in revising the scale of charges prescribed in the rules for the Estates Partition Fund, in order to guard against the accumulation of large balances.

The Bill to amend the Partition Act VIII (B.C.) of 1876 has been passed by the Bengal Legislative Council since the close of the year 1896-97. Its objects are to simplify and cheapen procedure as well as to impose a limit below which partitions are not to be allowed.

21. Land Acquisition —The following table shows the quantity of land acquired during the year under the Land Acquisition Act of 1894, the cost of acquisition and the department for which it was acquired:—

Purpose for which land was taken up.	Area of land taken.	Revenue abated.	Cash compensation paid, including other charges.
	A. R. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
Government	125 3 39	42 1 0	93,127 14 8
Irrigation	325 1 16	212 3 8	57,404 0 1
Municipalities	45 2 11	41 11 7	1,27,462 11 0
Railways	638 1 13	125 0 8	1,85,831 6 10
District Boards	538 2 29	98 10 1	56,710 8 1
Chaukidars' jagir lands	0 2 8	0 12 2	90 2 4
Total ...	1,674 1 36	520 7 2	5,20,626 6 0

The average cost per acre was Rs. 311. This high rate was due to the acquisition of 55 acres of land in Calcutta and the Suburbs at a cost of Rs. 2,71,689. Excluding these projects, the average cost per acre was Rs. 154 as against Rs. 138 in the previous year. The most important of the projects carried out during the year were those for a hostel for female students in the Sealdah Campbell Hospital, a hostel for students attending the Calcutta Madrassa, a pipe road between Kumedan Bagan and Circular Garden Reach Roads, a new road at No. 261, Upper Chitpur Road, the Alipore branch line, and a transhipment yard at the Mokameh ghat station. Though less land was actually acquired than in the previous year, land acquisition work increased considerably in consequence of the extension of railways and the necessities of famine relief. Orders were issued during the year for the acquisition of lands for—

(1) the Hajipur-Katihar extension of the Tirhut State Railway,
(2) the South Bihar Railway,
(3) two tramway schemes in the Hooghly district,
(4) five short railways in North Bihar,
(5) the Rajbari-Faridpur branch of the Eastern Bengal State Railway,
(6) the branch railway from Sultanpore to Kaligunge vid Bogra,
(7) extension of the Presidency General Hospital in Calcutta, and
(8) a building for the Military students of the Calcutta Medical College.

22. Kanungoes and patwaris.—Nothing new is reported on this subject.

23. Advances under the Land Improvement Loans Act.—The total amount applied for by Collectors for advances under the Land Improvement Loans Act, XIX of 1883, was Rs. 6,95,690, and a sum of Rs. 5,75,814 was allotted to them for distribution. The amount actually disbursed was Rs. 3,46,171. It is to be regretted that full advantage was not taken of the amount available for loans in this year of distress. In order to encourage landholders in tracts affected by famine to excavate tanks and execute other works in their villages so as to provide employment for the poor, modified rules for the grant of loans without interest for this purpose were made and promulgated under the Land Improvement Loans Act on the 5th January 1897.

The following statement shows the demands, collections and balances on account of advances under this Act during the year:—

The following amounts were advanced during the year under the modified rules:—

		Rs.			Rs.
Khulna	...	18,870	Saran	...	9,952
Nadia	...	16,100	Muzaffarpur	...	3,100

Pabna	...	1,000	Manbhum	...	9,696
Shahabad	...	2,850	Palamau	...	11,101

24. Advances under the Agriculturists' Loans Act.—Rs. 2,61,017 was advanced under the Agriculturists' Loans Act XII of 1884 as against Rs. 15,762 in the previous year. This large increase in advances was due to distress. In Midnaporo advances were refused because local resources had not been exhausted and the local money-lenders were willing to come forward to the assistance of the raiyats. No advances were made in Jessore, although an allotment of Rs. 25,500 was sanctioned during the year. In Pabna it was decided not to grant loans except in very exceptional cases and to tenants in Government estates; but no sum was actually advanced during the year as the bonds could not be executed before its close. No advances were made in Chittagong. In Murshidabad the amount originally allotted was Rs. 10,000, but a further grant of Rs. 25,000 was applied for and loans were made in anticipation of sanction. The amount advanced in Noakhali was Rs. 23,000; in July and part of August relief was given from charitable funds to the people of the island of Hatiya which had been swept by a cyclonic wave, while Rs. 7,473 was advanced to tenants to help them in the purchase of seed paddy and seedlings. The balance of Rs. 15,527 was distributed in small sums among tenants impoverished by a succession of bad seasons, the loss of the betelnut crop and other causes. In the Patna Division the amounts advanced were Rs. 610 in Patna, Rs. 10,235 in Gaya, Rs. 24,083 in Shahabad, Rs. 31,974 in Saran, Rs. 46,589 in Champaran and Rs. 28,571 in Muzaffarpur, making a total of Rs. 1,42,062. The Collector of Darbhanga did not make any advances as he thought that there was no necessity for this class of loans within the year under report. Rupees 3,661 was advanced in Monghyr for the purchase of seed and bullocks. Rupees 575 only was advanced in Bhagalpur out of an allotment of Rs. 1,300, while in Purnea the whole allotment of Rs. 1,626 was distributed. No loans were given in Malda. In Orissa, where the crops were damaged by the heavy floods and subsequent drought, Rs. 15,597 was advanced in Cuttack and Rs. 6,181 in Balasore; in Puri Rs. 17,822 was advanced in small sums to raiyats to help them in buying seed paddy and seedlings. The Agriculturists' Loans Act was extended to Angul in November 1896, and in March 1897 advances of Rs. 834 were made under it. Rupees 477 was advanced in Palamau and Rs. 310 in Manbhum.

The demands, collections and balances on account of advances under this Act during the year are shown below:—

Outstanding advances.	Demand (principal plus interest) falling due during the year.	Collections (principal plus interest) during the year.	Percentage of collections on demand.	Remissions.	Balance at close of the year
1	2	3	4	5	6
Rs. 3,75,298	Rs. 1 32,029	Rs. 52,164	39·5	Rs. 1,425	Rs. 78,440

Of the balances outstanding at the close of the year, the Patna Division is responsible for Rs. 56,516, or 72·04 per cent., the collection of agricultural loans having been suspended under Government orders in the four North Gangetic districts on account of the distress prevailing there. Large balances are also due in Bankura (Rs. 11,867) and Puri (Rs. 4,729). Certificates had been filed for the collection of the balance in Bankura; but in consideration of the depressed condition of the people, proceedings were suspended in the subdivision of Vishnupur with the sanction of the Board. Suspensions of collections had to be made for similar reasons in Puri.

25. Relations between landlord and tenant.—Except in the districts of the Chota Nagpur Division, the relations between landlords and tenants in the Lower Provinces were, with occasional exceptions, satisfactory during the year. In Midnapore the disputes between the Maharaja of Mohurbhanj and his Nayabasan tenants have not been yet settled, as the parties did not agree to arbitration. In Contai the raiyats of a landholder belonging to an ancient family have arranged to subscribe to pay off his debts, and are doing so regularly, depositing the money with the Subdivisional Officer in his private capacity. The conduct of one of the zamindars of Gobardanga in the 24-Parganas is unfavourably reported upon as regards his treatment of his tenants in the Basirhat subdivision. In Murshidabad the raiyats of Beldanga complained of oppression and over-assessment on the part of the agents of Maharani Surnamoyi, of Kasimbazar, but made no specific statements of their grievances, and the quarrel remains unsettled. In Jessore reports of oppression by the tahsildar of the zamindars of Narail are common, and relations between landlords and tenants are generally strained. The zamindars in Khulna have done nothing to assist their tenants in distress. In the Rajshahi Division the relations between the tenants and landlords are reported to have been peaceful. The raiyats did their best to pay their rent; while the zamindars did not press unduly, and in many instances extended timely help. In Dacca the raiyats of Mr. Gregory Pogose, an Armenian zamindar, combined against him and murdered him on account of his alleged oppressions. Most of the zamindars in Mymensingh are said to have assisted their raiyats during the recent hard times. It is also reported that several zamindars in Backergunge helped their tenants with loans on easy terms to enable them to buy seed, and that there are signs of a growing desire among zamindars to have a record of rights made in their estates under the Tenancy Act. In Tippera a zamindar was punished under section 155 of the Indian Penal Code for being concerned in a riot accompanied with murder arising out of the eviction of a raiyat. The tenants of the Sarail Ward's estate have combined to oppose the enhancement of rent due to the survey and settlement proceedings, but recourse to the certificate procedure has to some extent broken down the combination. There was a further dispute in this estate owing to the settlement of some pasture lands with particular tenants, as the general body of tenants claimed to have exercised the right of pasturage from time immemorial. This dispute led to a serious riot, in which some five hundred villagers took part; one person was killed and fourteen were wounded. The quarrel between the Murla Indigo Concern and its tenants in Champaran, mentioned in last year's Resolution, was settled early in the year, but a considerable number of cases are still pending between the proprietors and some of their tenants. The relations between Raja Rameswar Singh in Darbhanga and his raiyats are reported to be unsatisfactory. Several landlords of Monghyr have shown consideration to their tenants during the present season of scarcity and distress by suspending collections of rents, granting large remissions, and giving work on embankment. The Maharaja of Gidhour has suspended collections, while the Raja of Khaira has remitted large amounts of rents. The Banaili Estate, the Maharaja of Gidhour, and Babu Tarini Pershad are specially mentioned as having provided work for their tenants On the north of the river Ganges, in the Bhagalpur Division, the starting of new indigo factories caused some disturbance, but the disputes are believed to have been settled. In the Manjhoul Indigo Concern a dispute ended in a riot accompanied with murder. There were also serious disputes in the Banka subdivision of the Bhagalpur district, but the Commissioner has taken action to prevent further conflicts. In Purnea one of the patwaris of Babu Dharam Chand Lal was found lying in his house murdered, it is believed, by refractory raiyats In Cuttack matters seem to be improving in the estate of the Raja of Al, who has followed the Collector's advice and appointed a competent manager. In those parts of Balasore in which assessment work was in progress, it is reported that the relations between landlord and tenant were strained. But, as pointed out by the Board, it is difficult to reconcile this report with the fact that existing rents are being settled as fair rents for more than 50 per cent. of the tenants and that moderate enhancements are being accepted by the rest without dispute. The Raja of Parikud gave his tenants employment, and provided against the future by constructing a system of protective embankments on his estate. The relations between landlords and tenants in the Chota Nagpur Division are reported to be generally unsatisfactory. In Hazaribagh the raiyats are said to be oppressed by their landlords, chiefly on account of the system of short farming-leases and of the kamia system of serfdom, involving a life-long servitude in return for a paltry sum, which is there prevalent. Nearly every zamindar in Lohardaga is said to be at feud with his tenants on questions of predial services and of payments in kind for upland cultivation. It is hoped that recent legislation will have the effect of improving the relations of landlord and tenant in this district.

26. The Bengal Tenancy Act.—The Bengal Tenancy Act is generally reported to have worked smoothly. Mr. Nolan, the Commissioner of Rajshahi, observes:—

"The principal results of the Bengal Tenancy Act are such as escape notice, being of a preventive character only. Agrarian disputes have become rare, the rapid enhancement of rent has been arrested, the raiyats are in many ways better protected, the use of the prescribed form of rent receipts is silently preparing a record of rights in Bengal"

The statement below exhibits the operations of some of the most important sections of the Bengal Tenancy Act in the various divisions of the Province:—

27. Rent suits.—The number of suits before Revenue Courts under the rent laws for the years 1895-96 and 1896-97 is shown in the annexed statement:—

1	2	3	4	5
Darjeeling	43	54	11	.....
Jalpaiguri	3,229	3,406	177	.....
Cuttack	3,471	4,149	678	.....
Puri	2,247	2,146	.....	101

Palamau	387	371	.....	16
Total ...	28,354	28,531	1,310	1,133

The increase in Cuttack is ascribed by the Commissioner to the fact that zamindars were compelled to bring suits in 1896 for arrears of rent to save their demands from being barred by limitation, as their raiyats had fallen into arrears on account of the poor harvests of the preceding years. The Collector, however, ascribes the increase to the institution of collusive suits by the proprietors against imaginary tenants, in order to prevent their real tenants being recorded in the settlement papers as well as to substantiate claims to produce-rents. The Lieutenant-Governor awaits the report on the subject which the Board have called for from the Director of Land Records. In Lohardaga, in accordance with the orders of Sir Charles Elliott, such of the suits as were of an intricate nature were tried locally by Babu Krishna Kali Mukerjee, a Deputy Collector specially selected for the purpose. One case in Jalpaiguri, 3 in Hazaribagh, 68 in Lohardaga and 205 in Manbhum were pending for more than six months.

28. Miscellaneous.—There were 820,918 cases of all kinds instituted during the year, and 790,533 disposed of. The figures for the previous year were 674,297 and 702,150.

29. Training of Junior Civilians in Survey-Settlement work.—It was not possible to put a large number of junior Civilians through a course of training in Survey and Settlement work, as many were employed on famine relief. Eight Civilians who are of less than seven years' standing were employed on the Settlement staff.

30. General.—Bearing in mind the fact that the year was one of widespread distress entailing a great extra strain of labour on Revenue Officers of all ranks, that practically no abnormal suspensions or remissions of revenue were allowed, and that yet the collections equalled those of ordinary years, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that the results of the year's administration were eminently satisfactory and creditable alike to the Revenue Officers and to revenue-payers of the Province. The Board's report is an excellent one. The paragraphs relating to the several District and Subordinate Officers mentioned as deserving of special commendation will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

M. FINUCANE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE ORISSA DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1896-97.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

RESOLUTION—No. 3212.

READ—

The Annual General Administration Report of the Orissa Division for the year 1896 97.

THE report was delayed in submission to Government owing to the district reports having been submitted to the Commissioner late and in an incomplete form. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that District Officers will not allow these irregularities to recur

Mr. R. C. Dutt, C.I.E., was in charge of the Division from the beginning of the year to the 16th January 1897, when he was relieved by Mr. H. G. Cooke, who submits the report. The districts of Cuttack and Balasore and the subdivisions of Kendrapara and Khurda were each in charge of a single officer throughout the year, and Puri district and Jajpur and Bhadrak subdivisions were each held by two officers; thus the continuity of administration was almost unbroken.

2. Tours and Inspections.—The Commissioner was 113 days on tour in the Regulation districts and the Tributary Mahals; and the District and Subdivisional Officers spent sufficient periods in camp, but it is not stated whether these periods were prescribed by the Commissioner under the recent orders of Government. Mr. Jnanendra Nath Gupta, Subdivisional Officer of Khurda, spent 144 days in camp. The attention of all officers when on tour was largely occupied with enquiries into the effect of the floods and drought on the crops, into food-stocks, and into water-supply; and also, in Cuttack and Puri, with arrangements for the relief of distress. The tours of the Subdivisional Officers appear to have been more than ordinarily useful in these respects.

The Commissioner remarks that the estimates of deficits in food-grain stocks made by local officers as the result of their tours and enquiries proved to be very incorrect, and that the fact shows how imperfect is the agency for collecting information on such matters, and goes far to justify the appointment of patwaris, if their appointment implies the creation of a really efficient agency for the purpose, on which point he entertains doubts. It is true that the local officers inferred from their enquiries that there would be a large deficit of food-grain in Orissa during the year under review, but the conclusion to which Government came from an examination of their reports was that there would be no deficit—a conclusion which events since have justified.

Except that the Commissioner did not inspect the district offices and treasury at Cuttack, all the prescribed inspections of offices were made; and Government and Wards' estates were visited and inspected in all three districts.

3. Weather and Crops: Material Condition of the People: Public Health.—The average rainfall of the Division was 64·01 inches, which is more than the normal average by 4·46 inches, but it was extremely ill-distributed. In June, July and August the rain was so heavy as to cause floods which destroyed almost the whole of the bhadoi and winter rice crops in tracts not protected by embankments. The embankments also were breached in many places. The floods were slow in subsiding, but when they did subside efforts were made to replant; the rains, however, ceased entirely in the latter part of September, and this, as Mr. Cooke remarks, "gave the finishing stroke in many places to what had escaped or been replanted after the floods;" it was also the cause of great injury to the rabi crops. The only crops which yielded more than an 8-anna outturn were cotton and dalua (summer) rice. The latter crop is reported to have been cultivated on a somewhat more extensive scale than in the previous year, and to have yielded an outturn of 12 annas. The harvests of the two previous years had been good, and it was this that enabled the people of the Division to bear up against the calamities of flood and drought. There was no importation of rice, but on the contrary a considerable increase in exports. Prices were extremely high in the second half of the year, but it was not until the end of October 1896 that they rose to the same level as in Bengal and Bihar. The classes that suffered most were, as the Commissioner points out, those depending on fixed incomes, the small cultivators, the landless labourers, and those who ordinarily depend on private charity. Happily the railways in course of construction gave employment to a large number, as did the works which were undertaken by the Public Works Department and District Boards to repair the damage done by floods. Prices of food-grains were higher than in any year on record, excepting that of the great famine of 1866. Wages of unskilled labour remained much the same as in the previous year, and emigration fell off owing to the fact that employment was to be had in the Division in the East Coast and Bengal-Nagpur Railways throughout the greater part of the year. It was found necessary to open relief works, in the strict sense of the term, only in parts of Puri. Those who were unable to work were supported by private charity or by the Famine Fund, or were gratuitously relieved by Government.

The recorded figures of mortality for 1896 show a large increase over those of 1895, especially in Balasore, but are lower than those of 1894. The average death-rates per mille of these three years were 28·81, 27·30, and 33·5 respectively, but the returns on which they are based are open to considerable doubt. The district of Puri would appear to have been peculiarly healthy in 1896, in spite of epidemics of cholera and small-pox. The health of municipalities appears to be improving (except at Balasore), and the registration of births in municipal areas is becoming more complete.

4. Manufactures: Trade and Commerce.—The output of salt increased from 1,78,428 maunds to 1,95,000 maunds; but the quantity sold declined from 74,635 maunds to 46,224, owing, it is said, to the cheap rates at which salt can now be imported by rail from Madras.

The total value of the sea-borne trade during 1896-97 amounted to nearly 157$\frac{1}{3}$ lakhs of rupees against 156$\frac{1}{2}$ lakhs of rupees in 1895-96. The exports of rice and paddy by sea, aggregated about 2$\frac{1}{3}$ million cwts., as compared with nearly 2$\frac{1}{2}$ million cwts. in the previous year; but the value rose from 74$\frac{1}{3}$ lakhs of rupees in 1895-96 to 76$\frac{1}{3}$ lakhs of rupees in 1896-97, owing to the rise in prices. The exports of rice and paddy along the canals by country boats amounted to 7$\frac{3}{4}$ lakhs of maunds, against about 4$\frac{1}{2}$ lakhs of maunds in the preceding year. Deducting the amounts imported, the nett export of food-grains from the Division was 40,86,096 maunds in 1896-97, against 38,87,769 in 1895-96.

5. Civil Justice.—The number of suits disposed of in all classes of Civil Courts was 16,057, slightly less than in 1895; and the number of witnesses examined decreased from 14,279 to 12,466. The percentage of witnesses detained more than two days on the whole number examined in Munsifs' Courts shows an increase, however, from 9·2 to 13·3, a fact for which it is difficult to account, seeing that the number of witnesses examined in these Courts decreased from 13,558 to 11,917. In the higher Courts the percentage showed a decrease. The number of rent-suits disposed of by Deputy Collectors rose from 4,210 to 4,984; and the number of witnesses examined rose from 9,142 to 6,447. The unnecessary detention of witnesses in these suits was commented upon in the Resolution on last year's report; and the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to notice that the proportion of the whole number examined who were detained for two days or more decreased from 2·93 to 1·66 per cent. in the year under review.

6. Crime: Police: Criminal Justice.—There was an increase in the numbers of both cognizable and non-cognizable offences reported; in the former from 6,106 to 6,474, and in the latter from 5,808 to 6,461. The total number of offences (12,935) was, however, less than in 1894, when it was 13,876. Among cognizable offences, the number of true cases under the head "Serious offences against property" decreased from 803 in 1895 to 709, and under the head of "Minor offences against property" the number of cases was practically stationary at 2,578; so that the scarcity and high prices did not lead to any serious increase of crime. Indeed, the increase in cognizable offences appears to have been mainly in prosecutions for the breach of sanitary laws. No explanation is offered of the increase in non-cognizable cases. The circulation of counterfeit coins in the district of Cuttack is said to have ceased with the conviction of three members of a gang of coiners, natives of Hyderabad. The detection and conviction of these persons reflect great credit on Mr. F. C. Daly, District Superintendent of Police in Angul. The police refused enquiry in 564 cases against 713 in 1895. Two hundred and twenty complaints of cognizable offences were declared false; prosecutions were instituted in 37 of these cases, and were successful in 13 cases only. The number of cases in which compensation was awarded against complainants was 51 against 40 in 1896, but there is, as the Commissioner observes, much room for improvement in this direction.

Six thousand nine hundred and fifty-nine cases were brought to trial against 6,635 in 1895: 4,956 cases were disposed of by Stipendiary Magistrates, and they examined 16,428 witnesses against 18,093 in the previous year. In spite of the observations made on this subject in the Resolution on the previous year's report, and in spite of the smaller number of witnesses examined, the proportion of the whole number who were detained for more than two days shows a cont inued increase, from 2·3 to 3·9 per cent. The proportions at Balasore (Sadar) and Puri (Sadar) were as high as 6·7 and 7·9 respectively; but at Jajpur and Bhadrak subdivisions no witnessos were detained more than two days. The number of police cases remanded six times or more increased from 64 to 99. The Commissioner has not noticed these facts in his report, but they indicate that the administration of criminal justice in the Division requires his unremitting attention and that of the District Magistrates. Honorary Magistrates disposed of 1,871 cases and examined 3,251 witnesses, of whom 2·9 per cent. were detained more than two days; this is a better result than that obtained in the previous year, when the proportion was 3·5 per cent. Out of 62 police cases tried, only 2 were remanded six times or more. The attendance of Honorary Magistrates appears to be fairly regular; but it is found that in Cuttack they often take their seats so late in the day that they have no time to do any work. Thirty-five cases were tried at the Sessions Court, and 25, or 71·4 per cent., resulted in conviction. Here, again, the results of the year compare unfavourably with those of the previous year; in 1895 the proportion was 83·0 per cent.

Fines to the amount of Rs. 35,601 were imposed during the year; Rs. 32,156 were collected on this account and Rs. 5,388 remitted. The outstanding balance was reduced from Rs. 17,372 to Rs. 15,430.

Little is said about the conduct of the police, but it appears to have been on the whole satisfactory, with a few exceptions which are mentioned. It was decided during the year to extend the Village Chaukidari Act to Orissa as soon as the settlement now pending shall have been completed, and preliminary arrangements were made for this purpose. The numbers of chaukidars rewarded and punished show a slight decrease.

7. Land Revenue.—The total current and arrear demand in the Regulation districts of the Division on account of Land Revenue, Road and Public Works and Zamindari Dâk Cesses was Rs 22,46,549; of this amount, Rs. 20,83,258 were collected, or 92·7 per cent. Rupees 19,840 were remitted.

The whole current Land Revenue demand on permanently-settled estates was Rs. 1,51,701 only; 99·03 per cent. of this sum was collected. The following were the percentages of current collections on current demand in the other two classes of estates as compared with the standard percentages:—

	Temporarily-settled estates.	Estates under direct management.
	Per cent.	Per cent.
Standard ...	... 95	90
Cuttack ...	... 98·84	76·28
Balasore ...	... 99·99	41·52
Puri ...	... 73·23	95·27

These collections must be considered satisfactory in view of the exceptional circumstances of the year; the result obtained in the Puri Government estates is especially good, and reflects credit on the Collectors (Messrs. Lee and Bell) and on the Subdivisional Officer of Khurda, Mr. Jnanendra Nath Gupta. But in view of the fact that it was found possible to collect 95 per cent. of the demand from raiyats in estates under the direct management of Government, it is not apparent why more than 73 per cent. of the demand was not realised from the proprietors of temporarily-settled estates in this district. The collections in estates under direct management in Cuttack and Balasore were poor; in the latter district only Rs. 11,954 were collected out of a current demand of Rs. 28,789. The percentage here attained was unsatisfactory in the previous year also, and the matter should receive the Collector's special attention. A sum of Rs. 12,275 was expended in Government estates on sanitary and miscellaneous improvements. One-thousand three hundred and forty-two estates, or shares of estates, became liable to sale for non-payment of Government revenue, almost double the number that became so liable in the previous year; only 27 were actually sold. There appears to have been some delay in the disposal of certificate cases; the number filed was considerably less than in the previous year (8,945 against 12,781), but the number pending at the end of the year showed an increase. A large amount of land acquisition was done in connection with the railways now under construction. Sections 40, 52, 70, and 192 of the Bengal Tenancy Act were extended to the Division during the year. The settlement work of the Division appears to have proceeded smoothly during the year. In the Cuttack district the existing rents were raised in the aggregate, according to the Commissioner's report, by 14·8 per cent., in Balasore by 22 per cent., and in the temporarily-settled estates of Puri by 11·7 per cent., and in the Khurda Government estates by 21·78 per cent.

8. Wards' Estates.—There were six Wards' estates in the charge of the revenue authorities, one of which (Kujang in Cuttack) forms part of the Burdwan Raj. The total arrear and current demand of these estates on account of rent and cesses was Rs. 5,90,011; and the total collections were only Rs. 1,97,014. This poor result is attributed to the failure of crops from floods and drought. The Kujang estate had an arrear demand considerably greater than its current demand; and the balance outstanding at the close of the year was nearly twice the current demand. Steps should be taken to reduce this large balance by collections or remissions, and the Collector should see that this is done without further delay. Rupees 41,025 were spent on improvements in the three Cuttack estates, but it is not stated what works were executed. There was no expenditure under this head in Balasore or Puri.

9. Excise: Stamps: Income-tax.—The total excise revenue increased to Rs. 6,27,769 from Rs. 6,00,293 in the previous year. The increase was chiefly under opium, 'ganja and bhang, and country spirit. The revenue derived from tari has been practically stationary during the past three years. The incidence of the excise revenue on the population was 2 annas 7·08 pies per head.

The receipts from stamps amounted to Rs. 4,31,375, against Rs. 3,93,595, in 1895-96. The increase was shared by all kinds of stamps (except notarial and hundi stamps, the sales of which are very small), but was greatest in the case of court-fee stamps, the revenue derived from which rose from Rs. 2,80,519 to Rs. 3,09,963. The receipts from impressed sheets, though slightly greater than in 1895-96, were less than in 1894-95, and the same statement is true of the number of documents registered; it would appear, therefore, that the agricultural depression did not during the year lead to any abnormal increase in mortgages and transfers of holdings.

The final demand on account of income-tax was Rs. 57,748, and Rs. 56,132 were collected from 2,687 persons, rather less than in the previous year. Only two sales for realisation of income-tax took place.

10. Railways and other Public Works.—A portion of the main line of the East Coast Railway was opened for traffic as far as Barang in the district of Cuttack, as also was the branch to Puri. The construction of the Midnapore-Cuttack section of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway made good progress during the year. As already observed, these works were of great value in furnishing employment to the labouring classes. As Mr. Cooke points out, a necessity for feeder-roads has arisen with the construction of railways, and the District and Local Boards should now consider how best to meet this want. In consequence of the drought there was a large increase in the area irrigated by the Orissa canals from 123,232 to 205,600 acres. The revenue collected from the canals was Rs. 2,46,778. The balance outstanding at the end of the year was Rs. 4,597 only.

11. Education.—There were 7,503 schools in the Division with 115,577 pupils; the number of schools was less by 228 than in the previous year, but the number of pupils was slightly greater. In Balasore there was a decline of 231 schools and 2,485 pupils. The Collector attributes the decrease to the bad harvests, but, as Mr. Cooke observes, this explanation is insufficient, seeing that no relief measures were required in Balasore, as they were in Cuttack and Puri. The Commissioner quotes remarks of the Inspector of Schools concerning the system of primary instruction, whose opinion concides with his own. These remarks, as well as those upon the Ravenshaw College, will be communicated to the Director of Public Instruction for consideration and report. The total expenditure on education was Rs. 4,54,599, about half of which sum was derived from fees; District Boards contributed Rs. 86,055, and Municipalities Rs. 5,752. The cost of primary education was Rs. 2,78,381. The proportion of boys at school to the total number of boys of a school-going age was 40 6 per cent.—a proportion which is extraordinarily large for what is usually regarded as one of the most backward Divisions of these Provinces.

12. Dispensaries and Hospitals.—There were, as in the previous year, 30 hospitals and dispensaries; 123,781 patients were treated at a cost of Rs. 38,643. The Commissioner remarks that District Boards and Municipalities do not contribute a fair proportion of the cost. The General Hospital at Cuttack treated 6,620 patients during the year, and 30 students passed out of the school attached to it; but its financial position is unsatisfactory, and the Lieutenant-Governor shares the hope expressed by Mr. Cooke that the charitable public will follow the example of Srimati Priya Pati Mahadei, widow of the late zamindar of Kanika, and of Rai Harry Ballabh Bose Bahadur, in contributing towards the institution.

13. Local Self-Government Institutions.—The three municipalities at the head-quarters of districts are constituted under the elective system, and general elections were held in them during the year. There are also municipalities at Jajpur and Kendrapara, which are not elective. The Commissioner remarks that none of these municipalities has a thoroughly satisfactory water-supply. On the whole, however, the Municipal Commissioners appear to have taken much interest in municipal affairs, and the municipal administration to have been successful, especially in Puri, where the admirable conservancy system instituted by Dr. Banks is maintained in efficiency under his successor.

As regards District and Local Boards, there appears to be considerable irregularity in the holding of meetings and in attendance. Mr. Cooke inserts in his report extracts from his notes of inspection at Balasore and Puri, in which he deals with this matter and comments particularly on the delay which the Financial Committees allowed to occur in the audit of accounts. All the District Boards spent large proportions of their income on education; on sanitation the Puri District Board expended Rs. 2,309, the Cuttack District Board Rs. 47, and the Balasore District Board nothing. The formation of five Union Committees in the Balasore district was sanctioned with effect from 1st September 1896, but it is not stated how they worked during the time they were in existence.

14. Conduct of Zamindars.—The Raja of Parikud, whose estate is in the tract of the Division that was most affected by scarcity, did his best to give relief to his raiyats, and has made improvements for their benefit. "Though the necessity was not so great in their estates," Mr. Cooke writes, "Raja Baidyanath Pandit, Raja Baikunthnath De Bahadur, Kumar Jadunath Das, Rai Harry Ballabh Bose Bahadur, and Babu Behari Lal Pandit liberally subscribed and heartily co-operated in the movements for famine relief. Others, such as the zamindars of Balarampur and Sukinda, Chaudhuri Kurtibas Das of Bhingarpur, Babu Rajnarayan Das of Balasore, Babu Balaram Bhramarbar Rai of Kendrapara, Babu Lakshminarayan Rai Chaudhuri of Cuttack were not wanting in liberality according to their circumstances. The zamindar of Harispur is said to have made arrangements to help his own raiyats. It will not, perhaps, be out of place to note here the liberality and readiness with which the Chiefs of the Tributary States responded to the appeal for famine relief purposes, the Raja of Mayurbhunj and the Maharaja of Athmalik being the foremost among them."

Other zamindars did not behave so creditably, and some are reported to have filed numerous applications for the execution of rent-suit decrees—a course which, as the Commissioner remarks, is much to be deprecated in a year of distress.

15. Political.—The report for the first time includes a chapter on the administration of the non-regulation district of Angul. Mr. H. P. Wylly and Babu Narayan Chandra Naik were in charge of this district during the year. Their tours lasted for 223 days, and it is reported that they were well distributed. The crops did not yield a full outturn, but they appear to have been on the whole better than in the Regulation districts, and though prices rose to some extent, the material condition of the people was not much affected; the Khonds, who form a considerable proportion of the population, are reported to be able to subsist entirely on jungle produce for a season or two. Registration of documents relating to land transfers was made compulsory during the year; and the operation of the Agriculturists' Loans Act was extended to the district. The number of civil suits for disposal during the year was only 339, and the number of offences reported only 525. The current demand on account of land revenue was Rs. 64,074, of which sum all but Rs. 1,103 was collected. The excise revenue fell from Rs. 27,336 to Rs. 25,302. There were 159 schools with 3,006 pupils, rather more than in the previous year, and two dispensaries.

16. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Messrs. Cooke and Dutt for their careful and successful administration of the Division, and to Mr Cooke for his clear and thoughtful report, from which the following extracts are published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

M. FINUCANE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

38. During the year under report the rain gauge at one of the stations in the Puri district had to be removed to another place. The recording of rainfall was in consequence interrupted for a time. Owing partly to this interruption and partly to the neglect of the officer in charge of this station, complete figures for the whole year not being available, the station has been omitted for the year under report and the years before for the sake of comparison.

40. Taking district by district, the actual rainfall was the largest in Balasore, being 69·13, or 9·08 inches more than the normal of the district. It was 4 25 inches more than in Cuttack and 11·11 inches more than in Puri, in which latter district it almost reached the normal, being only less than that by ·12 inches.

41. It is thus seen that the quantity of rain which fell was not deficient. It was the untimely distribution which led to the unsatisfactory results for the year. There was heavy rain in June, July, and August, and almost complete cessation of rainfall from the latter part of September to the close of January. The consequence of these abnormal conditions was that there were successive and heavy floods followed by drought. The heavy floods almost totally destroyed the bhadoi and winter rice crops in almost all tracts not protected by embankments which were also breached in many places. Extensive tracts lay under deep water for many days. Endeavours were made on the subsidence of the floods to repair the damages caused by fresh planting, but the entire cessation of the rains from the latter part of September gave the finishing stroke in many places to what had escaped or been replanted after the floods.

42. Want of rain in September and October was equally injurious to the rabi crops, the outturn of which was not satisfactory.

43. These adverse conditions naturally led to the extremely bad agricultural results of the year, which will appear from the following figures showing the outturn of the different crops as compared with the two preceding years:—

	1894-95.	1895-96.	1896-97.
	Annas.	Annas.	Annas.
Beali	12	13	8
Saradh	14	15	7
Pulses	13	12	8
Cotton	12	13	11
Oilseeds	11	13	7
Laghu rice ...	14	15	8
Sugarcane	12	13	8
Mandia	10	12	5
Dalua paddy ...	13	12	12

44. The only favourable exception observable in the above table is dalua rice. As a necessary consequence of the loss of the main staple crops, the cultivation of this paddy on a somewhat more extensive scale than in the previous year was resorted to. Heavy rain and strong gales at the time of harvesting, however, affected the cultivation and reduced the outturn to 12 annas, which was on a par with the results of the preceding year. The Collector of Cuttack is of opinion that the outturn of his district is rather under-estimated.

* * * * *

V.—MATERIAL CONDITION OF THE PEOPLE.

61. It is very difficult to make a correct estimate of the condition of the people during a year like the one under review. It was preceded by two years of good harvest. In the preceding winter the export of rice was larger than had been known for many years past; prices were comparatively low and there was plenty of work for the labouring class at the beginning of the year. But soon after the close of the first quarter of the year, the Division began to suffer from calamities of the seasons. All the big rivers rose high almost simultaneously, and the greater part of the country was under deep water for a considerable time. Some lost their houses and property, and there was more or less distress in all the tracts open to the ravages of the floods Very little of the bhadoi crop was reaped. For the winter rice the fields had to be resown late in the season to the loss of the cultivating class who form the bulk of the people It was no doubt the good harvest of the two preceding years which enabled the people to face the calamity with little help from outside. This was unfortunately not all. Their difficulties were aggravated by the loss of the principal crop, the winter rice, in consequence of the drought that lasted from about the middle of October till about the end of December last. The people did their best to meet the loss by raising dalua and other special crops. But prices rose high and there were signs of local distress. It was necessary to resort to measures of relief in some places before the close of the year. It is, however, satisfactory to note that the state of things was not so bad as was apprehended.

62. The loss from the high floods and the drought was to a great extent made good by the railway works in progress from one end to the other of the Division. These gave employment to a large number of the labouring class. This was supplemented by the works of the Public Works Department and the District Boards in connection with the repair of the damages caused by the floods. Some special works were started for the sole purpose of relief. Some money also passed into the hands of the people in connection with the settlement work as in the preceding few years.

63. Notwithstanding the low outturn of crops, the Division had not to import rice. On the contrary there was an increase in the export of rice from Balasore, that from the other two districts was not small, though a decrease is shown.

64. This export of rice at a time of high prices outside the Division means that cultivators received good prices for such surplus stock as they possessed, though much of the profit doubtless went to middlemen. The calamities of the year have resulted in making some people rich, while others have been reduced to the necessity of taking relief. The classes that suffered most were those depending on fixed incomes, including the bhodrolok, whose circumstances were straitened by high prices though I have heard of no instance of acute distress requiring relief in the class named; the landless labouring classes suffered badly, but their wants were supplied by relief works in Puri and by the exceptional activity in railway and public works, and where necessary by district works that answered the purpose of relief works. Small cultivators were similarly provided for.

65. The case of the very low castes and of those who ordinarily depend on private charity was the worst, the former being very poor felt the pinch most acutely, for the ordinary recipients of private charity, where private charity was exhausted, gratuitous relief was afforded, so that the apprehended general scarcity has so far been quietly tided over and the Division has not for the present anything that can be called famine; this has been effected by a cautious vigilance on the part of local officers, any indiscretion on whose part might at one time have created a famine, and it is a matter of congratulation that the forecasts of the deficit in grain stocks for the Division which were made in December last have proved incorrect, I may say very incorrect, as exports since then have been considerable. The above facts show how imperfect is the agency at our disposal for collecting information on such matters, and goes far to justify the appointment of patwaries, if their appointment implies the creation of a really efficient agency, on which point it is permissible to entertain doubts.

66. The condition of the people varied greatly according to their positions in life, but with the exception of a few localities it may be said that though generally reduced, it was not so reduced as to render them incapable of taking advantage of exceptional opportunities for finding work to meet the difficulty without suffering distress, except in the case of the poorest and most helpless for whom provision was timely made.

VII.—PRICES OF FOOD AND LABOUR.

73. Appendices III and IV show the prices of food grains and wages of labour which prevailed in each of the district head-quarters of this Division during the last fortnight in March 1897, as compared with the corresponding periods of the preceding two years.

74. Owing to the unusual and prolonged floods and subsequent drought the year under review was one in which exceptionally high prices ruled, that for common rice, the staple of the Division, having risen from 25 seers 12 chitaks in 1895-96 to 13 seers 8 chitaks, or over 45 per cent. and nearly one-third or (31·3) per cent. over the normal price deduced from prices-current during the previous 10 years. The price has even been higher than in 1878-79 (14 seers) and 1891-92 (15 seers 5 chitaks), in which prices were the highest reached in any year since the great famine of 1866, the recorded price of which period is 9·76 seers. Fortunately, however, there was no general scarcity except in limited areas, and these were confined to the district of Puri; elsewhere the railway and ordinary works sufficed to supply the demand for labour, and some gratuitous relief and a liberal grant of takavi advance was all that was necessary.

75. The wages of labour remained much the same as in the previous year. Cuttack shows an increase of half an anna in the wages of common masons, and Balasore the same increase in the wages of women, which the Collector attributes to the greater demand there was for their labour in pounding bricks for masonry works on the railway line. From a subsequent report received from Cuttack it appears that towards the close of the year, skilled masons and bricklayers were able to command as much as 8 annas each as wages per diem in the neighbourhood of railway works, and that foreigners were paid from Re. 1 to Re. 1-6 each per day.

76. In Puri the wages of unskilled labour fell, it is said, owing to reduced demand for labour and general lowering of prosperity over a considerable part of the district.

XIII.—CRIME.

112. The following table compares the number of cognizable and non-cognizable offences in each district during the years 1895 and 1896 :—

	1895.	1896.	1895.	1896.	1895.	1896.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
Cuttack	2,388	2,510	2,420	2,611	4,808	5,121
Balasore	1,529	1,772	1,896	2,065	3,425	3,837
Puri	2,189	2,192	1,492	1,785	3,681	3,977
Total ...	6,106	6,474	5,808	6,461	11,914	12,935

113. There was an increase both in cognizable and con-cognizable offences including those against sanitary laws, and the increase is shared by all the districts. But the year under review does not compare unfavourably with 1894, in which the total number of offences was 13,876. The variations either in classes of crime or in comparing district with district, do not call for any special remarks.

114. The table below shows the fluctuations in each class of offences :—

Class of crime.	1895.		1896.		Increase or decrease of true cases.
	Cases reported.	True cases.	Cases reported.	True cases.
1	2	3	4	5	6
Class I (offences against the State) ...	103	94	129	108	+14
„ II (serious offences against person) ...	208	192	222	209	+17
„ III (serious offences against property) ...	834	803	762	709	—94
„ IV (minor offences against person) ...	...	106	122	112	+6
„ V (ditto ditto property) ...	2,715	2,584	2,743	2,578	—6
„ VI (other offences not specified above) ...	2,132	2,123	2,496	2,487	+364
Total ...	6,106	5,902	6,474	6,203	+301

115. It will be seen that there was an increase in the number of cases reported under all but classes III and V. It occurred in classes I, II and IV in Cuttack, in classes I, V and VI in Balasore, and in all but class VI in Puri. The fluctuations do not call for remark, except as noted below.

116. In the district of Cuttack the decrease in classes III and V was due to a falling off in burglary, cattle-poisoning, theft and house trespass, and the increase in class VI was the result of more attention having been paid by the town police to nuisance cases.

117. In the district of Balasore the decrease in class III was due to the preventive measures taken against habitual bad characters under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code; the increase in class V is ascribed partly to the bad harvest of the year and partly to the free reporting of paddy-cutting cases to which the attestation gave rise; and the increase in class VI was due to prosecutions under the Arms Act for not taking out licenses in time and to more strict watch kept on the work of the town police.

118. In the district of Puri the decrease under class VI was mainly in cases under the Arms Act and public nuisance cases. The former was due to the license-holders renewing their licenses punctually in consequence of the exemplary punishments inflicted in the preceding year, and the latter to a smaller number of pilgrims visiting Puri during the year under review.

119. With regard to the circulation of a large number of counterfeit coins noticed in the last year's report, Mr. Daly, the District Superintendent of Angul, took special interest in the matter and traced the coins to some natives of Hyderabad. Three members of a gang were caught in the act of passing counterfeit coins at different places in the district of Cuttack and convicted. Three more of the same gang were prosecuted under section 109, Criminal Procedure Code, but escaped conviction; the Collector of Cuttack reports, however, that the circulation of such coins has practically ceased.

120. There was one rioting case which deserves notice. It took place in the town of Cuttack on the night of the 23rd August 1896. The Collector of Cuttack describes it thus:—

"Some privates of the 6th Madras Native Infantry, since transferred from the station, made a raid on the northern part of the town which adjoins the cantonments and indiscriminately assaulted whomsoever they came across. About 40 people were hurt. What led to this was friction between two factions of Telenga weavers, one of which employed some bad characters amongst the sepoys to help their side. These sepoys were attacked in the row which followed, and it was immediately rumoured in the Lines that sepoys were being attacked, and this led to a large body turning out to rescue and revenge their comrades; some of the sepoys were identified and sent up along with some weavers. The case ended in conviction."

121. During the year under review there were only two murder cases in Cuttack and three in Puri, against two in each of the districts in the preceding year. The offender could not be traced out in one case, while one in Cuttack and two in Puri ended in conviction.

122. There were three cases of dacoity in Cuttack and two in Puri during the year under review, against one and two respectively in the preceding one. They do not call for remark.

123. There were 66 bad livelihood cases during the year under review against 34 in the preceding one. The increase is contributed by Cuttack and Balasore, but it has not been accounted for. It is satisfactory to note that the District Superintendents of Police of all the three districts paid personal attention to such cases, and that 16 cases in Cuttack and an equal number in Balasore were tried locally. The Magistrate of Cuttack appears to take great interest in such cases.

124. It is satisfactory to note that there was a considerable decrease in the number of cases in which police enquiry was refused during the year under review as compared with the preceding one, and the decrease is shared by all the districts as shown below:—

Cuttack	208	199
Balasore	206	170
Puri	299	195
Total ...	713	564

125. There was an increase, as in the preceding year, in the percentage of cases declared false to cases reported in Cuttack and Puri, and a decrease in Balasore. Though the percentage has been increasing during the last two years, no special reason can be assigned for it. There was, however, a decrease in the divisional percentage of cases in which conviction was obtained, Cuttack and Puri showing an increase, and the percentage being unaltered in Balasore as shown in the table below:—

District.	Total number of cases reported.		Number of cases declared false.		Percentage of cases declared false to cases reported.		Number of cases in which prosecution was instituted.		Number of cases in which conviction was obtained with the percentage of conviction.
	1895.	1896.	1895.	1896.	1895.	1896.	1895.	1896.	1895.	1896.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
Cuttack	2,388	2,510	91	118	3·8	4·7	21	17	11 or 52·3 ...	9 or 52·9
Balasore	1,529	1,772	73	62	4·7	3·4	14	12	4 or 28·5 ...	2 or 28·5
Puri	2,189	2,192	40	40	1·8	3·6	6	8	2 or 33·3 ...	2 or 66·6
Total ...	6,106	6,474	204	220	3·3	3·3	41	37	17 or 41·4 p. c.	13 or 35·1 p. c.

126. There was an increase in the number of cases in which compensation was allowed under section 560, Criminal Procedure Code, as shown below :—

District.	Number of cases in which compensation was allowed.
	1895.	1896.
Cuttack	10	13
Balasore	24	24
Puri	6	14
Total ...	40	51

There is no doubt much room for improvement, considering the increase in the number of cases declared false. I have already invited the attention of Magistrate in this direction.

127. During the year under review, the percentage of convictions in cases of classes I to V investigated by police in each district was—

	1895.	1896.
Cuttack	41·6	37·0
Balasore	27·4	30·1
Puri	25·4	25·0

128. With reference to this, I quote the following from my crime report for the year under review :—

"The unsatisfactory result in Cuttack is attributed by the District Superintendent of Police mainly to the trying Magistrates. But it is to be borne in mind the result in 1895 did not compare favourably with those of 1894 and 1893. The Officiating Commissioner, Mr. Dutt, did not accept the explanation offered for the unsatisfactory result in 1895. As regards the result of the year under review, the Magistrate does not agree with the District Superintendent of Police and says : 'I consider the station officers as a class in the district are wanting in energy and intelligence, and we certainly require more and better sub-inspectors.' But I am inclined to think that the station officers alone should not be held responsible. All their energy and intelligence will avail little if the Court Sub-Inspectors and others relieved now of all other duties to enable them to look after police cases are inclined dishonestly or incompetent to conduct the prosecution properly. Low paid as they are, a great deal depends upon the character of the Court Sub-Inspectors."

I have already invited the attention of the Magistrate and the District Superintendent of Police to this.

XXIII—RAILWAYS AND OTHER PUBLIC WORKS.

239. During the year under review the part of the East Coast Railway between the Khurda Station and Barang in the district of Cuttack and the branch line to Puri were opened for traffic. As regards the Orissa branch of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, the work is making good progress. In the district of Cuttack all major bridges were completed except those across the Brahmini and the Byturni, which were progressing fairly, and the bridges over the Kuakhai, Katjori, Mahanadi and Birupa, the materials for which have been ordered out from England. Minor bridges were completed along 40 miles of the section and others were under construction Earthwork was completed on 40 miles of the railway in the Cuttack district, and about one-fourth of the earthwork is finished in the remaining 25-mile section in the Cuttack district.

240. In the district of Balasore 10 or 12 major bridges were started, and 30 minor bridges were under construction and show fair progress. In the northern part of the district earthwork was nearly completed and rails were laid as far as the 156th mile.

241. No works of the Public Works Department are reported from Cuttack and Balasore. The Collector of Puri reports the construction of some public buildings and bridges and the making of new and improvement of existing roads.

242. During the year under review I was asked to report what railways were wanted in the Division for the purpose of protection against famine. After the close of the year I submitted my reply urging the necessity of the line from Sambulpur to Cuttack. I am glad to find that the project stands seventh in the list of Important Works. It is shown to be only 190 miles in length, and it is hoped that work will be started ere long.

243. The table below compares the area irrigated and the financial working of the Orissa Canals during the last three years:—

District.	Area irrigated in acres.			Total demand, including arrears (exclusive of miscellaneous demand).			Total collections.			Remissions written off.			Balance.			Percentage of total collections.

244. The figures for 1894-95 and 1895-96 in the last year's report were approximate ones. They were corrected in the departmental report. In the above statement the figures for the year under report are said to be approximate, for the reason that the long and season leases executed in 1896-97 have not yet been completed by the Engineering Department.

245. There was a considerable increase in the area irrigated in consequence of the long drought which commenced in the middle of October 1896, but there appears to be a considerable decrease in the demand. This is due to the fact that in the preceding year the demand combined one-third of the demand for the 2nd kist of 1894-95 with the full demand for 1895-96, whereas the demand shown in columnn 7 for 1896-97 represents chiefly the actual demand for the year under review; moreover the demand on account of those leases which were completed within the official year has alone been shown as the demand for the year.

246. There was a very large increase in the amount remitted. With reference to this, the Canal Revenue Superintendent says :—

"The actual remission granted amounted to Rs. 2,986 against Rs. 4,876 in the previous year. This was due to the decrease in the errors of assessment. Besides this, a sum of Rs. 15,499 appears as remission of assessments on lands which, though included in the blocks leased for long terms, did not derive any benefit from the canal water, because the crops thereon were then either ripe or already harvested. This remission has also been added to the demand for the year 1896-97 in accordance with the Examiner's instructions contained in his inspection note of January last."

XXVI.—EDUCATION.

262. Appendix XXX gives the required statistics under this head. There was a decrease of 289 public institutions with an increase of 927 pupils during the year under review. The decrease was mainly in lower primary schools, which fell from 6,067 in 1895-96 to 5,752 during the year under review, and was shared by all the three districts. Cuttack shows a decrease of 21 schools with an increase of 1,138 pupils, while Balasore and Puri show a decrease in both. No reason has been assigned for the variations in the district of Cuttack. But with regard to the decrease of 232 schools with a loss of 3,361 pupils in Balasore, the Collector says :—

"The year under report was by no means favourable to the growth of schools. The high market prices of food-grains which ruled almost throughout the year in consequence of considerable agricultural distress caused by the high floods which swept over the northern and southern parts of the district, and the severe drought towards the latter end of the year, sufficiently account for the loss of schools and scholars adverted to above."

The Collector of Puri ascribes the decrease of 59 schools and 569 pupils:—

"To the abolition of many pathsalas in the tracts of the district bordering on the Chilka for prevalence of scarcity consequent on absolute failure of crops in these tracts."

263. I do not think that the loss of so large a number of schools and pupils in Balasore is due solely to bad harvests as stated by the Collector. Balasore was not worse off than Cuttack or so bad as Puri No relief measures were necessary in Balasore like those in Cuttack and Puri, where the decrease can be said to be within the limits of ordinary fluctuations. The decrease in Balasore can therefore be fairly presumed to be due to some other cause in addition to what has been assigned by the Collector. He will be requested to give some further explanation of the decrease.

264. The decrease in the number both of the lower primary schools and the pupils cannot be called a material loss if the result of these schools is taken into consideration. With regard to this the Inspector of Schools says:—

"Down to the Lower Primary Scholarship Examination, the primary system may be pronounced to be tolerably sound, but examinations below that standard are not free from suspicions of gross malpractices. Falsification of registers and accounts on the part of lower primary teachers and inspecting pandits for the purpose of qualifying ineligible schools for rewards is occasionally brought to light. It is, however, my impression—an impression gradually deepening into a conviction—that this form of dishonesty is by no means rare, and that even amongst Sub-Inspectors there are men who are not above conniving at fraudulent practices of this kind. The evil can, I think, be effectively minimized by restricting the reward examination to one standard only instead of two as at present, and raising the rate of reward for success in it."

I have always suspected this, and often directed the Inspector's attention to the subject. I am glad to find that he has now got at the root of the evil. The Inspector is an experienced officer and has all along been in Orissa.

I attach much weight to his opinion and think that it is now time to take measures to guard against this prodigious waste of public money. During the year under review the total expenditure on primary education was Rs. 2,78,381, out of Rs. 4,54,559 or more than half the total expenditure on education, to the neglect of the other wants of the people. An enquiry will, I believe, disclose things to be worse than what is stated by the Inspector.

265. As regards the other institutions, there was an addition of 1 high English, 2 middle vernacular, 8 upper primary and 17 female schools, and a decrease of two middle English schools, the number of special schools remaining the same as in the previous year. There was, however, an increase in the total number of pupils in all the classes of institutions except special schools, where the number was 283 during the year against 304 in the preceding one.

266. The number of high English schools was increased by the opening of one at Khurda in the district of Puri mentioned in the last year's report. With regard to this, the Inspector of Schools says:—

"The school is well off in point of strength and has registered more than 200 students during the first year of its existence. It possesses the largest boarding-house in the Division."

267. The decrease of two middle English schools was due to the conversion of the one at Khurda into a High School and the suspension of the other at Parikud owing to the inability of the people to maintain it on account of the prevailing distress.

268. The increase of two middle vernacular schools was in the district of Cuttack and calls for no remark.

269. The increase in the number of upper primary schools was shared by all the districts, it being 2 in Cuttack and 3 in Balasore and 3 in Puri. The increase does not call for remark.

270. With regard to the increase of 17 female schools with an increase of 514 pupils, the Inspector of Schools remarks as follows:—

"The bulk of this increase, which is confined to the unaided lower primary schools, is chiefly shared by Cuttack. These unaided lower primaries are often opened in expectation of getting monthly stipends from public funds, but they drop out of existence when they fail to secure it by reason of their inefficiency."

The increase is then not a matter for congratulation, but every attempt should be made to make permanent as many as possible.

271. In addition to the above, there were 1,274 private institutions with 8,513 pupils, against 1,313 institutions with 9,160 pupils in 1895-96. With regard to the decrease in this class of institutions the Inspector of Schools says:—

"The loss of private schools is simply nominal, as it means that so many more schools were classified as public institutions in consequence of their increased roll number."

272. The total expenditure of all classes of public educational institutions amounted to Rs. 3,86,971 during the year under review, against Rs. 3,87,758 in the preceding year, and a sum of Rs. 67,588 was spent on inspection, scholarships, buildings and other miscellaneous charges. The total educational charge for the Division thus amounted to Rs. 4,54,559. Of this 16·1 was met from the Provincial revenues, 18·9 by the District Boards, 1·3 by the Municipalities, 49·4 from fees and 14·3 from other sources. With regard to how the money from different sources was spent, the Inspector of Schools says:—

"The major portion of the contributions from Provincial revenues relate to the secondary and special education, and that of the same from District and Municipal Funds to primary institutions, which seem to be in keeping with the educational policy of Government."

273. The cost per head of pupils in different classes of schools varied from 58 7 in special schools in Balasore to 2·5 in lower primary schools in Cuttack. With reference to this variation the Inspector of Schools says:—

"The figures representing the cost per head in the three districts in respect of middle and primary schools are almost on a par, and the slight variations that may be noticed are due partly to the local circumstances and partly to difference in the system under which local funds are administered in the three districts."

It is hoped that the administrators of the local funds will try to minimize the cost in consultation with the Inspector without detriment to the cause of education.

274. Cuttack shows an increase in the proportion of boys at school to the total number of boys of school-going age, the percentage being 39·2 in 1896-97 against 37·2, while Balasore and Puri show 43·2 and 31·3 respectively against 46·7 and 31·6 during those two years. The Divisional result is thus little affected, 38·2 out of every one hundred boys of school-going age being at school during the year under review against 38·4 in 1895-96. Under this head the Inspector of Schools says:—

"As regards the general spread of elementary education, Balasore has always maintained its speciality over the other two districts."

But it is difficult to say what real progress is made in the elementary education until the extent of the malpractices of the subordinates of the Education Department noted before has been ascertained.

275. As regards special institutions, an English class was opened in the training school at Cuttack which is said to be a new departure in the system of training schools in Bengal. With reference to this the Inspector of Schools says:—

"The English class, though composed at the outset of generally unpromising materials, is a very important measure, as it seems calculated to improve the style of teaching in vogue both in the English and Pandit classes."

A similar departure is said to have been made in the survey school at Cuttack. Particular attention is said to be paid to teaching the professional system of cadastral survey with plane-table and optical square in order to turn out qualified native amins. This seems to be a timely move in the right direction as far as the maintenance of the records of the settlement in progress is concerned. The medical school is dealt with under the heading "Dispensaries and Hospitals," with which it is closely connected.

276. There is one Industrial school in the Division. It is at Alalpur in the district of Balasore. There were 23 students during the year under report against 21 in the preceding one. Carpentry and needlework are taught in it, and materials are purchased with the sale-proceeds of the articles made in the school, which gets a monthly grant of only Rs. 15 from the Balasore District Board. With regard to this the Inspector of Schools remarks as follows:—

"Though useful in its own way, this school cannot be said to impart instruction on an organized basis, and no attempt has been made to introduce drawing into its curriculum. It is too poor to afford the cost of reforms, which, when given effect to, will render it worthy of the name of an Industrial school."

From the above, it appears doubtful whether this institution is worth maintaining; unless technical schools provide education which will introduce a class of workmen markedly superior to the village artizan there is no reason why they should exist at all, as that standard can be reached without their assistance as it has been for centuries past. To raise the standard of local handicrafts, to encourage the development of such vestiges of the artistic skill manifest in the temples of Orissa, would be a worthy object; but anything short of this appears to amount to giving a pretentious name to an institution that imparts no more instruction than the village blacksmith or the local carpenter can hand down equally well or perhaps better.

In the Jobra workshop we have a really valuable means of familiarizing local mechanics with the use of appliances and methods immeasurably in advance of what can be otherwise locally learnt.

277. I now come to the most important institution of the Province—the Ravenshaw College with the Collegiate school—the statistics of which are not included in Appendix XXX. There were in the college class 71 students on the 31st March last against 76 on the corresponding date of the preceding year. The average monthly number on the roll and the average daily attendance were 87·2 and 76 0 respectively, against 82·6 and 67·6 of the previous year.

278. The fees and fines including half-fee payments made from the Mohsin Fund amounted to Rs. 4,365 against Rs. 4,352 in 1895-96. The total expenditure for the year under review was 22,883 against 21,255 of the previous year, and the grant from Provincial revenues was Rs. 17,623 against Rs. 16,023 in 1895-96.

279. At the University Examination held in March last, 16 candidates appeared at the B.A. and 27 at the F.A. examination. Five of the former and 11 of the latter passed successfully. In addition to this, two passed the B.L. and one passed the Pleadership Examinations.

280. There were in the Collegiate school 265 pupils on the roll on the 31st March last, against 287 on the corresponding date of the preceding year. The average monthly and daily attendance was during the year under review 252·4 and 229 respectively, against 268·5 and 235·4 in 1895-96.

281. The total receipts were Rs. 5,947 against Rs. 6,089, and the total expenditure was Rs. 8,604 against Rs. 9,257 during the year under report and the preceding one respectively.

282. Out of 19 students sent up for the last Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University 17 passed.

283. In paragraph 316 of my report for 1895-96, I dealt at length with the importance of the College and the necessity for improving it. But I am sorry to find that, contrary to my expectations, the College has been deprived for ever of an European Principal under the new scheme published in the supplement to the Calcutta Gazette of the 17th March last. I was allowed no voice in the matter, but the College owes its very existence to the exertions of my predecessors, and the Commissioner's co-operation is still called in whenever money is needed. It was not opened till Mr. Commissioner Ravenshaw raised locally Rs. 30,000 to meet half the charges for 5 years, and it was not made permanent till the Maharaja of Mayurbhanj made a donation of Rs. 20,000 at the suggestion of the then Commissioner. The present Raja of Mayurbhanj made a donation of Rs. 10,000 for additional accommodation in the College. The Maharaja of Keonjhar has built Mr. Smith's hostel, which is being added to by liberal subscriptions from other Rajas and zamindars. The people have thus not yet ceased to take an interest in the institution, and the College authorities cannot do without the help of the Commissioner.

When writing about the opening of the institution, Mr. Commissioner Ravenshaw said in the last paragraph of his No. 108, dated the 5th August 1875 :—

"Establishment of a College in Cuttack is an object of personal interest to myself and also of the greatest importance to the spread of higher education in Orissa. The Bengal Educational Department located in Calcutta is incapable of affording immediate supervision and is alien if not antagonistic to local peculiarities."

284. The institution is closely connected with the Tributary estates of Orissa, for the minor Rajas of these estates it serves the purpose of a Rajkumar College without incurring the expense of a separate institution ; for their education the supervision of an European Principal is very important. I think it possible that the Educational Department would not have denied an European Officer to this College had they referred to the back correspondence on the subject.

285. It is to be noted that Patna has been allowed two European Professors in addition to an European Principal. The population of Orissa including the Tributary Mahals is 5,744,062 against 15,811,014 of the Patna Division, and the number of pupils on the roll of the Ravenshaw College on the 31st March 1896 was 76 against 193 on the roll of the Patna College. It does not therefore seem fair that the latter should have three while the former is allowed none, especially in view of the circumstances of the Division and those under which the College was opened. It is, however, not too late for Government to reconsider the question.

286. As regards female education, I have little to add to what has already been stated in this report as well as those for the preceding years.

287. As regards the education of Muhammadans, there was a drop of 70 pupils during the year under review. With reference to this, the Inspector of Schools says:—

"The complaint regarding the inadequate representation of Muhammadans in our Educational Institutions has no significance in Orissa, when that community may be said to be ahead of other communities in that respect. They enjoy exceptional facilities for education in the way of special schools, special scholarships, and special free studentships. There is scarcely an important Muhammadan village in Orissa which is not within easy reach of either a high English, middle, or an advanced primary school."

288. With regard to the education of aboriginal and other backward races, it is satisfactory to note that there was an increase in the total number of pupils at school. They were mostly Sonthals in the district of Balasore, Savars in the district of Cuttack, and Khonds in the district of Puri. Balasore has six Sonthals and Puri three Khond schools, while Cuttack has no such schools.

Two Sonthal boys in Balasore and one Khond boy in Puri passed the Lower primary test, and two low-caste children in Cuttack and one in Balasore passed the Lower Primary Scholarship Examination during the year under review.

289. With regard to indigenous institutions, there is nothing to add to what has been said in the reports for the previous years.

290. As regards moral training, the Inspector of Schools says:—

"Uriya students are seldom found guilty of any gross misconduct. Both within and outside the school premises their conduct is generally reported to be satisfactory. It is not the absence of morality so much as the absence of manners that is generally complained of and requires correction. Instances even of this sort of unruly off-hand behaviour on the part of the students towards their teachers were happily rare in this Division during the year under report."

I think, however, that in the matter of manners the Uriya boys compare very favourably with those of more advanced districts.

DISTRICT BOARDS.

309. The statement below shows the attendance of members of the District Boards of this Division during the past year as compared with the preceding year:—

		1895-96.	1896-97.	1895-96.	1896-97.
1	2	3	4	5	6
Cuttack	21	14	12	46·6	46·6
Balasore	16	13	13	46·15	51·46
Puri	13	21	24	37·7	36·9

The attendance of the members of the Balasore Board alone shows some improvement, that of Cuttack was the same as in the previous year, while in Puri there was a falling off. The figure 30·7 shown against Puri in the report for 1895-96 is said to have been a clerical mistake.

310. Except in Puri, where there were 8 adjourned meetings for want of quorum, all the meetings of the other District Boards were successful.

311. There were, as in the previous year, 4 Sub-Committees under the District Board of Cuttack, 4 under that of Balasore and 2 under Puri.

Cuttack and Balasore
1. Finance Committee.
2. Education ,,
3. Public Works Ferries Committee.
4. Sanitation Committee.

Puri ... ...
1. Finance Committee.
2. Education ,,

Of the 31 meetings called by the Sub-Committees of Cuttack against 36 in the previous year, 16 proved abortive for want of a quorum. In Balasore only 15 meetings were held by two of the Committees, against 29 in the preceding year, the falling off being due, as the Collector reports, to most of the business having been disposed of at the general meeting.

The Puri Sub-Committees met 11 times against 14 times in 1895-96. The falling off is ascribed to the death and transfer of some members.

312. The subjoined statement shows the income and expenditure of the three District Boards as compared with 1895-96:—

	1895-96.	1896-97.	1895-96.	1896-97.

314. The Local Boards of the Cuttack district hold charge of the village roads, pounds, and primary education and are said to have done fairly good work. The Balasore Local Boards functions consisted of the management of primary education and village roads, and that of the Puri district in having charge of pounds, ferries, village roads, and the Khurda dispensary as in the preceding year.

315. I enclose extracts from my inspection notes of the Balasore and Puri offices, which deal with the work of Local Boards and District Board Committees.

BALASORE.

"The Sadar Local Board met in 1896-97 in May, July, November (twice), December, January, February and March. In 1897-98 April, May and June. The most conspicuous gap occurs between the July and November meetings, the reason alleged for the Local Board not meeting in August, September and October is that there was no work to do.

"The reason is not satisfactory. At the meeting of November 9th, the agenda included two letters on urgent questions, dated September 6th, from the Deputy Inspector of Schools, and a similar letter from the same officer dated September 19th.

"It is obvious that a meeting was imperative in October, if not in September. Had these matters come up before an official there is no doubt that they would have been disposed of in a week or less, being entrusted to a Board they take 2 months in the first two cases, and over 7 weeks in the third. . . . . I am disposed to think that the interval without a meeting from July to November was unwarrantable.

"The proceedings of May and June 1896 and February 1897 of the Bhadrak Local Board were put up, the head clerk and accountant assured me that these 3 proceedings were the only ones that came before the District Board, but in the annual report of the Local Board it is, I am assured, stated that the Board met 6 times; either this statement is incorrect, or the proceedings of 3 meetings were not reported, or being reported were overlooked, provided my informant is correct in all particulars . . . . . .

There are three Committees:—

1. Finance.
2. Public works.
3. Education.

"To the Finance Committee is entrusted the important duty of auditing accounts. In 1896-97 there were meetings in "April at which the accounts of January and February were dealt with,

In July at which the accounts of March, April and May, this was an adjourned meeting, there having been no quorum at an earlier meeting in the same month.

"In August the June accounts were audited.

"In October those of July and August. At another meeting in the same month the accounts of September were dealt with.

"In December those of October and November.

In February those of December and January.

In 1897-98 a meeting was called for April, at which there was no quorum. In May the accounts of February and March were dealt with.

"Thus in 1896-97 there were 6 meetings, at 4 of which 2 months' accounts, in one 3 months, and in one, one month's accounts were disposed of.

"I question whether a Committee is likely to audit more than one month's accounts thoroughly at one sitting, and where 2 or 3 are undertaken there is a strong probability of the work being done in a perfunctory manner, it would be much better for the Committee to meet regularly once a month.

"The Public Works Committee appears a farce, it was called twice in 1896-97 and not at all in the current year, on both occasions in 1896-97 there was no quorum.

Education Committee.—This body met 6 times in 1896-97 in April, September, October, December 1896 and February 1897; in spite of the great interval between April and September 1896, I was unable to find that the work had been delayed. At the same time, if the Committee really fulfils any useful purpose, it is difficult to understand how it can afford to allow an interval of 4 months to pass without assembling for the transaction of business."

PURI DISTRICT BOARD.

'There were no quorums at the ordinary meetings of July, August December and February. At the adjourned meeting in December, though no quorum was necessary, an adjournment was allowed for want of one, with the result that no meeting at all was held in December. The ordinary meeting for August was adjourned from the 8th to the 10th and again to the 29th, on a frivolous pretext that a special meeting had also been fixed for the 10th August. The work done on August 10th, at the special meeting, might have occupied half-an-hour, though ten minutes would have been sufficient; there appears no reason why the ordinary meeting should not have been held after the special meeting, the result was that there were 24 items to be dealt with on September 5th, which was the next meeting of the Board.

"There was in fact no meeting on August 29th or in the month of August at all, consequently in two months there was no meeting.

"The minute book does not contain any reference to the adjourned meeting of August 29th. I presume it was adjourned to September 5th, that is to the next sitting of the Board, which makes three adjournments; this I should suppose is without precedent in the province.

"The work is dealt with methodically, the proceedings of the previous meeting are confirmed. The proceedings of the Local Board, Sadar, are approved, and in some months those the Khurda Local Board are so, but I do not find this invariably the case; I do not find that this was done in April, May and June 1897, as well as in some earlier months. I see indications that the proceedings of the Education and Finance Committees are from time to time laid before the Board, but I have yet to see how often these bodies meet.

Finance Committee.

"I have in a previous inspection commented on the arrears allowed to accrue in auditing accounts; things are infinitely worse now.

"On 5th April 1897 the Committee met to audit accounts of April, May and June 1896; on 24th April 1897, July and August 1896 were dealt with; on 8th May 1897, September and October; on 29th May, November and December 1896. The accounts for 5 months are still unaudited, though things were brought up in April and May when 12 months' arrears were outstanding. It is extremely unlikely that accounts are properly audited when 2 or 3 months are dealt with at a time, one month's accounts is enough to deal with at a time, the arrears should be worked off and monthly audit introduced.

Education Committee.

"This Committee met 5 times in 1896-97 in May, June, September, December 1896 and January 1897. At the September meeting 3 letters of June, 3 of July, 1 of August and 1 of September were dealt with; the letters with two exceptions were from the Deputy Inspector and should have been more promptly dealt with; one of the July letters was from the Magistrate. So, at the December meeting, a letter of August and one of October were death with.

"The Committee is a source of weakness and delay to the Board and requires reform so as to insure its dealing with educational matters with punctuality and despatch. After the January meeting no meeting was held till June, when a letter of December 1896 over 5 months old was dealt with, the Magistrate's letter of 16th February was also dealt with, also a letter of April and several of March. This is even worse than in 1896-97. There is nothing to show that any dates are fixed for meetings, or whether this is left to the caprice of the Chairman, whether meetings were called and no quorums obtained."

THE SADAR LOCAL BOARD.

"There were meetings of the Board in every month in 1896-97 except July, December 1896 and February 1897. There were meetings in April 1897, 3 in May and none up to date (June 16th).

"The first meeting in May was adjourned for want of a quorum.

"The Local Board, Sadar, discharges the duties entrusted to it with despatch, it is a pity that the Education Committee work cannot be made over to them, but this I believe has been forbidden by Government.

LOCAL BOARD, KHURDA.

"This Board met 4 times in 1896-97 and not at all in 1897-98, if the records are all before me.

"This Board deals with village roads, ferries, pounds and one dispensary.

"Their work seems to be well dealt with, but they should meet more frequently."

316. The Local Self-Government Act, III (B.C.) of 1885, was introduced into the several districts of this Division with effect from 1st April 1887. Compared with the income and expenditure of 1887-88, the first year of the existence of these institutions, the income and expenditure of the year under review, after the lapse of ten years, show an increase of Rs. 19,846 and Rs. 40,367 respectively.

317. The principal items of expenditure incurred by each District Board during the year under report are shown in the following table:—

DISTRICT BOARDS.	CIVIL WORKS.		Sanitation.	Medical.	Education.
	Original.	Repairs.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Cuttack	5,045	40,022	47	3,097	41,395
Balasore	31,852	16,649	.....	2,916	27,462
Puri	6,280	14,547	2,306	4,101	17,931

Of the total expenditure on education, the outlay on primary education amounted to—Cuttack Rs. 32,696, Balasore Rs. 21,735, and Puri Rs. 10,899, giving a ratio of 27·7, 30·6, and 19·3 to the total incomes of the three Boards respectively.

UNION COMMITTEES.

318. Under Government Order No. 3318L.S.-G., dated 7th August 1896, the formation of five unions were sanctioned with effect from 1st September 1896 in the Balasore district. The number of members of each union was fixed at 9. The duties entrusted to these unions are the control of village roads, and matters relating to sanitation and water-supply, and the inspection of primary schools and pounds. The income consists of nett pound receipts which accrue under the terms of section 56 (1) of the Local Self-Government Act, a consolidated grant from the District Board for the maintenance of village roads and for sanitation and water-supply and funds raised under section 18 of the Act.

319. The Collector has not reported as to how the Union Committees have worked during the time they have been in existence.

The views of the Collectors of Cuttack and Puri on this subject are noted below. No unions have yet been formed in these districts.

The Collector of Cuttack, Mr. E. F. Growse, makes the following remarks:—

"There has never been any Union Committee in the district, and although it is the wish of Government to introduce them tentatively, I am extremely doubtful of the result, and since the hard times of the past nine months, I have held my hand and have made no attempt to establish Union Committees anywhere. Government have ordered the Chaukidari Act VI to be introduced, and when villages are grouped into circles thereunder, I think we may then establish a few Union Committees in selected tracts."

The Collector of Puri writes:—

"Either the Local Boards or the District Boards should, I think, be abolished. A unit is required in local bodies for both income and expenditure. In Assam the subdivision is made the unit and there are no District Boards. This system works admirably and is what would à priori commend itself. In Bengal, however, the large number of Local Boards (if independent) would probably be found too many to be easily managed, and it would probably be found necessary for the district to remain the unit. This system has the merit that well paid officers can be retained."

320. Under the present conditions the District Board must remain, as it is, the really authoritative body, and the Local Boards be as they are, merely auxiliaries.

No Local Board would command an income which would admit of the employment of a qualified Engineer, and it does not appear to me possible for two local Boards to unite and share the services of such an officer.

There is some truth in the plea of Local Boards that if they do not assemble so frequently as may appear desirable they have little to do when they do assemble; they have not much to do, it is true but that is no reason for doing that little in a desultory fashion as is sometimes the case. The Committees of the District Board are in some instances very much wanting in a punctual discharge of their duties as appears from the details furnished above.

XXXVII.—GENERAL REMARKS.

353. The principal events of the year have been noticed in their appropriate places in the report. The visit of His Honour the Lieutenant Governor in connection with important settlement questions took place in the month of January and resulted in certain definite conclusions being adopted at a conference that was held. The opening of the first railway in Orissa took place on 1st February 1897. Famine has occupied the thoughts of all local officers, and though no famine eventually occurred, none the less much work and watchfulness was necessary to make sure of the fact. Some very local relief works were necessary in Puri, chiefly in that poverty-stricken area which adjoins the Chilka Lake, wherein the cultivator's life is somewhat precarious in ordinary years. Relief works were started which fully provided for the distressed population in this area and in one or two minor areas; for the rest charitable relief has been freely given both in Puri and Cuttack, and takavi advances have been liberally provided for in all districts. In connection with famine, I may mention that meetings were held in support of the Charitable Fund and in Cuttack the movement received liberal support The Collector of Puri contributes the following under the head of general remarks:—

"The work that an Indian District Officer has to do, with only the inferior ministerial staff obtainable locally, has reached a degree of complexity demanding some change. No Collector in a third class district can hear police reports and criminal petitions, make the distribution of work, take revenue petitions, sign all the letters, hear criminal appeals, revenue appeals, and attend to out-door duties (as the jail and the police) and the other mufassal offices, and at the same time to do the District Board work, the District Registration work and the inspection of all offices under him and arrange his tours with proper efficiency."

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE SANITARY COMMISSIONER, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1896.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION.

Darjeeling, the 1st November 1897.

RESOLUTION—NO. 1364T—M.

READ—

The report of the Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, for the year 1896.

Read again—

The report of the Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, for the year 1895, and the Resolution of Government recorded thereon.

The report, which was due to Government on the 1st May, was not received till the 23rd August. The delay was unavoidable, as the Sanitary Commissioner, Surgeon-Major H. J. Dyson, was deputed to Bombay on special duty in connection with the plague, just when the materials for writing his Annual Report were ready, and it was decided that the Report should wait till he had returned. Throughout the Province the year was a notably unhealthy one, and there seem to be good grounds for believing that the abnormal meteorological conditions which prevailed favoured the prevalence of both fever and cholera, while the resisting power of the people was reduced by the scarcity which visited some districts, and by the high prices which ruled everywhere in Bengal. The effect of these conditions, though referred to occasionally in the Report, is nowhere thoroughly analysed and discussed, and the attention of the Sanitary Commissioner is again drawn to the orders of the Government of India, which require that some information should be given in the Annual Sanitary Report regarding the influence of weather and food prices upon the general health of the people.

Birth-rate.

2. The total number of births registered in Bengal during the year 1896 was 2,703,486, or a ratio of 38·03 per mille of the population, against 2,458,623, or a ratio of 34·59 per mille, in 1895. This is a higher rate than was registered in any Province, except the Punjab, and the Sanitary Commissioner may fairly claim that it points to a great improvement in the registration of births which was introduced into rural areas in Bengal only five years ago. The rate varied from 33·30 in the Burdwan Division to 44·21 in the Chittagong Division, and, compared with the record of the previous year, the figures show a distinct improvement in the registration of births in all Divisions. Taking the figures according to districts, Noakhali still heads the list with a birth-rate of 48·98, Faridpur, Tippera and Backergunge coming next with ratios of 47·02, 45·66 and 45·11 respectively. Compared with the previous year, the greatest improvement in the registration of births was effected in the districts of Cuttack and Faridpur, where the ratios increased by 13·26 and 10·45, respectively. The 24-Parganas and Calcutta still occupy the lowest places on the list, with recorded birth-rates of 25·82 and 18·49 only. In 146 towns and 555 rural areas, where births were registered during the year, the rates rose from 23·91 and 35 13 to 26·18 and 38·64, respectively. In 11 towns, as compared with 4 in 1895, the birth-rate was above 40 per mille. These were Jamalpur in Monghyr (50·80), Bajitpur in Mymensingh (47·45), Madaripur in Faridpur (44·43), Kishorganj in Mymensingh (44·25), Kharar in Midnapore (42·64), Sasaram in Shahabad (42·22), Roserah in Darbhanga (42·16), Brahmanbaria in Tippera (42·04), Chatra in Hazaribagh (41·31), Hajipur in Muzaffarpur (41·23), and Revelganj in Saran (40·67). The smallest number of births was registered in the town of Jhalakati in Backergunge, which returned a rate of 7·61, but this was an improvement on the rate recorded in that town in 1895, when it was only 5·49. No less than 85 rural areas returned a birth rate above 45 per mille, the highest figures being recorded in Phulbaria (78 17) and Kendua (71·13) in Mymensingh, and Sibchar (62·06) in Faridpur. Nineteen other circles returned rates above 50 per mille.

Death-rate in towns.

3. The total number of deaths registered in Bengal during the year 1896 was 2,428,830, or 34·17 per mille of the population, against 2,231,458, or 31 39 per mille, the record of the previous year. The increase is attributed to the greater unhealthiness of the past year, though it is partly also due to greater attention having been paid to the registration of vital statistics. The death-rate in towns rose from 34·46 in 1895 to 36·14 in 1896, the figures varying from 58·30 in the town of Bhadreswar in the district of Hooghly, to 15·70 in the Municipality of Maniktola in the 24-Parganas. In no less than 22 towns the registered death-rate exceeded 44 per mille. In 19 towns, where registration is still far from perfect, the death-rate is shown as less than 25 per mille. In the town of Calcutta the death-rate fell from 39·66 in 1895 to 35·73 per mille in the year under report.

Death-rate in rural areas.

4. In rural areas the death-rate rose from 31·24 to 34·07; the highest mortality being recorded in Darjeeling (53·07), Muzaffarpur (46·75), Backergunge (44·07), Darbhanga (41·58), Patna (41·19), Rajshahi (40·49), Jalpaiguri (40·00) and Champaran (40·00). Here again the high mortality is ascribed to an excessive prevalence of cholera in some areas, of fever in others, and in some of both diseases, seasonal conditions being in either case the cause.

Death-rate by sex and age.

5. The death-rate among males rose from 33·76 to 36·98, and that among females from 29·04 to 31·38. The following table compares the mortality according to age during the last two years:—

	In 1896.		In 1895.
	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
1	2	3	4	5
Under 1 year	509,850	222·34	448,307	195·50

Total ..	2,428,830	34·17	2,231,458	31·39

The general rise in mortality affected persons of all ages, except the very aged, and was very marked, especially among infants under one year, the death-rate among whom increased by 26·84 per mille.

Convictions for non-registration.

6. The number of persons convicted for neglect to register births and deaths was 1,969, against 2,049 in 1895, and the total amount of the fines imposed was Rs. 2,857, against Rs. 3,153. Seventeen persons were imprisoned, and a large number of chaukidars were punished either by dismissal or by departmental fines.

7. The following table compares the mortality from the principal diseases during the year, with the figures of the previous year and the average of the ten years 1886 to 1895:—

Death-rate from various causes.

Causes of death.	In 1896.			In 1895.			Average of past ten years, 1886 to 1895.
	Urban.	Rural.	Combined.	Urban.	Rural.	Combined.	Urban.	Rural.	Combined.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Cholera	5·14	3·09	3·19	3·64	2·43	2·49	3·48	2·43	2·47
Small-pox	·31	·18	·18	·91	·14	·18	·33	·14	·15

All causes ...	36·14	34·07	34·17	34·46	31 24	31·39	27·32	20·27	26·32

These figures show that, except in respect of fever, which is closely connected with obstructed drainage and bad water, rural areas continue to be healthier than the towns, where, as the Sanitary Commissioner observes, "the conditions of life are such as to excite and intensify such ailments as cholera, small-pox, dysentery, diarrhœa, &c." It must, however, be borne in mind that the comparative value of the statistics is qualified by the fact that since the work of registration was transferred from the municipalities to the town police, the record of deaths is probably somewhat more accurate in towns than in rural areas The following table compares the mortality for the past two years from the principal diseases in the four great divisions into which the Province is geographically divided:—

Causes of death.	Divisions.	In 1896.	In 1895.	Average of ten years 1886—95.	Increase or decrease as compared with 1895.	Increase or decrease as compared with the decade 1886—95.

Orissa again heads the list in the mortality from cholera, which is mainly due to the frequent movements of pilgrims to and from Puri. The low mortality from fever is an equally constant feature, and may probably be put down for the most part to defective reporting on the part of the chaukidars, who in Orissa are to a great extent paid in the form of jagir lands, and whose organisation is at present not up to the standard which has been reached in most districts of Bengal.

It is also possible that the action of the rivers in Orissa, while occasionally flooding the country, may tend, on the whole to keep the lines of drainage open and to prevent the water-logged condition which breeds malarial fever. Bihar has unfortunately fallen back, standing highest in respect of mortality from fever and second in that from cholera.

Cholera.

8. Cholera was widely prevalent during the year, spreading in an epidemic form in 167 registering circles, and breaking out with different degrees of severity in 500 circles, while it was entirely absent from only 34. The total mortality recorded was 226,824, or a ratio of 3·19 per mille of the population, against 177,087, or a ratio of 2·49 per mille in 1895. The death-rate was highest in Muzaffarpur (8·78), Balasore (7·72), Howrah (6·73), Nadia (6·52), Darbhanga (6·24), 24-Parganas (5·83), and Khulna (5·72) districts, and in Calcutta (5·06). In all the above districts, with the exception of Muzaffarpur, the unusual prevalence of cholera is ascribed to deficiency of rainfall and consequent pollution of the water-supply. The Civil Surgeon of Muzaffarpur reports, however, that the disease was worst in those parts of the district where water was most plentiful. Thus the Poopri thana of the Sitamarhi subdivision alone, where the wells are good and numerous, returned 4,564 deaths, out of a total population of 232,114. The Sanitary Commissioner admits that the fact is remarkable, but observes:—"It may be imagined that cholera, once started in such a locality, and the habits of the people being what they are, all the water-supply would soon become polluted or impregnated with the cholera germs, and then it is easy to account for the rapid spread and virulence of the disease."

In order to check the progress of cholera the experiment of disinfecting tanks and wells with permanganate of potash, lime and alum was tried at the instance of the Sanitary Commissioner, and the reports from some districts, though very general in their terms, seem to show that beneficial results ensued. The experiments should be continued, and their results more precisely reported, supported by statistics of the cholera mortality before and after this method of purifying the water had been tried. M. Haffkine's system of anti-choleraic inoculation was tried during the year under the supervision at first of M. Haffkine himself, and then of Surgeon-Captain J. C. Vaughan and two Assistant Surgeons acting under his general instructions; but it is difficult to form a confident opinion as to its value, until statistics of its working have been collected on a large scale. Such statistics are not easy to procure, and the conclusions drawn from them are always open to the doubt whether the persons inoculated were subject to precisely the same conditions as those who were not inoculated. The total number of persons inoculated in Bengal, exclusive of Calcutta and its suburbs, was 4,413, of whom the greater part were emigrants proceeding to the labour districts of Assam. Dr. Vaughan states that the chief agents for forwarding coolies to Assam from Purulia have expressed a decided preference for men who have been inoculated. The seasonal incidence of cholera is shown in a diagram furnished by the Sanitary Commissioner, which gives the rainfall side by side with the cholera mortality for each month in each of the main divisions of the Province. The diagram shows that the disease was most prevalent between the months of May and September, and while in the case of Bengal proper it supports the theory that the disease is less prevalent when the rainfall is at is highest, it shows that nearly the converse is the case in Bihar and Orissa.

Small-pox.

9. The total number of deaths from small-pox was 13,388, being a ratio of ·18 per mile of the population against 13,020, or the same ratio as in 1895. The highest death-rates were recorded in the districts of Patna (1·20), Cuttack (·70), Shahabad (·69) and Puri (·66). The high figure shown by the Patna district is attributed by the Sanitary Commissioner to the backward state of vaccination. In towns the highest mortality was recorded in Raniganj (3·48), Patna City (2·55), Deoghur (2·19), Roserah (2·11) and Bhadreswar (2·07). In rural areas the highest death-rate was returned from Maner in Patna (4·62), Aul in Cuttack (3·80), Khajri in Midnapore (3·26), and Phulwari in Patna (3·10). There were no deaths from small-pox in the district of Khulna.

Fever.

10. Fever, as usual, accounted for the largest number of deaths in the Province. The total mortality recorded from this cause during the year 1896 was 1,760,225, or a ratio of 24·76 per mille of population against 1,634,254, or a ratio of 22·99 per mille, in the previous year, and an average of 1,338,487 or a ratio of 18·83 per mille, in the past decade. The fever death-rate is probably exaggerated by the fact, so often brought out in these annual reports, that the village chaukidar includes various diseases under the compresensive term "fever," but the increased mortality from this disease during

1896 must be attributed to special causes. The Sanitary Commissioner makes the following observations on this point:—"In a year of abnormal meteorological conditions, such as that under report, when the rainfall was intermittent and the drying and wetting of the soil alternate, a high death-rate from fever is a natural consequence: thus in most of the districts there was a greater mortality from this cause in 1896 than in the previous year. As regards the districts that head the list, the fact that they are subject to the notoriously deadly Terai fever, probably in a great measure explains the exceptionally high death-rate in them." The following statement compares the death-rate of 1896 with that of 1895, and with the average of the 10 years 1886—95:—

The increase in mortality from fever, as compared with the average of the previous ten years, was common to most districts of the Province, but is specially noticeable in Muzaffarpur, Darjeeling, Darbhanga, Chittagong, Purnea, Faridpur, Backergunge, Pabna, Champaran, Patna, Rangpur, Singhbhum, and Saran. This list, it will be observed, includes all the northern districts of the Patna Division in which scarcity has been most severely felt.

The circles in which the recorded death-rate exceeded 40 per mille are mentioned in the following statement:—

The Darjeeling Terai (Siliguri circle) again returns the highest mortality, notwithstandiug the efforts made to render medical aid to the people. Steps have been taken to improve the local water-supply, and with this object a water boiler and a Pasteur-Chamberland filter have been erected at Siliguri.

Sale of quinine.

11. The total number of parcels of quinine, each containing 510 grains, sold during the year, was 31,867 against 28,530, the number sold in 1895, being an increase of nearly two millions grains. The largest quantities were sold in the districts of Backergunge (5,672 parcels), Faridpur (2,745 parcels), Jessore (2,515 parcels), Mymensingh (2,330 parcels), Khulna (1,867 parcels), Nadia (1,827 parcels), and Pabna (1,683 parcels); the districts in which the smallest quantities were sold were Darbhanga (72 parcels), Patna (54 parcels), and Singhbhum (51 parcels). The returns show that in many districts where the mortality from fever was exceptionally high, a much smaller quantity of quinine was sold than elsewhere, and vice versâ. At the same time the sales were highest in the months when fever is usually most prevalent. The Sanitary Commissioner observes that the demand for quinine is greatest where its efficacy is best known and most generally talked about. This is true enough in a general way; but it may be added that the demand depends not merely on the fever mortality of the district, but on the intelligence of the people themselves, on the number of post-offices at which it is sold, and the extent to which the people frequent them, and finally on their ability and readiness to spend money on what to many of them is a comparatively new remedy. In a year of scarcity and high prices the sales of quinine might be expected to fall off, and the district statistics show that while the total quantity sold has increased, there has been a marked decline in the districts most affected in the failure of the crops.

Mortality from other causes.

12. The recorded number of deaths from dysentery and diarrhœa during the year was 47,935, or ·67 per mille, against 49,871, or ·70 per mille, in 1895, and an average of 51,682, or ·72 per mille, in the past decade. The highest death-rates were as usual returned from Darjeeling (6·69), Howrah (4·85), Calcutta (4·35), Balasore (3·25) and Puri (2·57). The Sanitary Commissioner, however, believes the returns are to a great extent vitiated by deaths from dysentery and diarrhœa being returned as deaths from fever by the ignorant chaukidars who report deaths in the interior. In urban areas the death-rate fell from 3·52 to 3·22, and in rural circles from ·55 to ·54. These diseases were mostly prevalent in the month of January and during the period from March to August. The number of deaths from injury was 28,422, or ·39 per mille, against 29,178, or ·41 per mille, in 1895. Deaths from other causes numbered 352,036, or 4·95 per mille, against 328,048, or 4·61 per mille, in 1895.

Expenditure on urban sanitation.

13. The following statement compares the total expenditure incurred by municipalities on sanitary purposes during the two years 1894-95 and 1895-96 :—

Total, including roads ...	28,46,128	28,62,668	.....	2,54,224
		Net decrease being ...		16,540

The increase of expenditure on water-supply, conservancy and other sanitary works is satisfactory as indicating the growing interest which municipalities are taking in these matters. The large decrease in the expenditure on drainage is chiefly due to the fact that the figures of 1894-95 include Rs. 1,08,768 on account of the Patna drainage scheme, on which only Rs. 4,874 was spent during 1895-96. All but 28 of the municipalities spent money on original sanitary works, and 17 devoted more than 10 per cent. of their income to this purpose. The municipalities which show the highest proportionate expenditure are Jalpaiguri (34·84), Titagarh (29·36), Cossipore-Chitpur (19·06), Faridpur (18·27) and Patuakhali (17·11). The expenditure on sanitary works of a recurring nature was extraordinarily low in the municipalities of Debhatta in Khulna and Joynagar in the 24-Parganas, where only 8·44 and 4·56 per cent., respectively, was utilized in this manner, and little or nothing was spent on original works. The town of Dacca has for many years past been in a most insanitary condition, and in view of this fact it is unsatisfactory to notice that the Municipal Commissioners expended only 4·28 per cent. of their income on original works of sanitary improvement. The newly-elected Commissioners have, however, realised the necessity of improving the state of the town, and are about to contract loans which will enable them to take effective action. In paragraph 51 of the report the Sanitary Commissioner gives a list of those towns in which important schemes of drainage or water-supply have been carried out, with statistics of mortality to show the effect of these schemes on the health of the population. Owing to the defects of the mortality statistics recorded in former years by municipal agency the statement is, as Dr. Dyson remarks, more or less inconclusive, but, so far as it goes, it shows that the public health has usually improved where large schemes for the improvement of drainage or water-supply have been carried out. This is especially observable in the municipalities of Calcutta, Cossipore-Chitpur, Arrah and Bhagalpur, where the death-rates recorded subsequent to the introduction of an improved system of water-supply are 28·97, 16·86, 17·97 and 30·98, respectively, against 37·5, 25·04, 30 50 and 40·4, the average death-rates returned previous to the introduction of a filtered water-supply. In Howrah, the Suburbs of Calcutta, Dinajpur, Nasirabad and Patna the mortality seems at first sight to have increased rather than diminished. It may be explained, however, that in Howrah the supply of filtered water was introduced only in February 1896; that it did not extend to the whole of the town, and was not connected with the houses; and that the great want of Howrah, a system of drainage, has still to be met. The Suburbs of Calcutta, like Howrah, are still undrained, and the statistics of mortality available for comparison are incomplete. Dinajpur and Patna have no water-supply, Nasirabad has no drainage, and in all of these places the death-rates recorded for the years preceding the improvements were based on the reports of municipal ward-muharrirs and fell far short of the true mortality. It would be unreasonable to expect that partial improvements should at once bring about an appreciable diminution of the death-rate; nor can any conclusions be based upon untrustworthy statistics.

[Urban and rural sanitation.]

14. The total amount expended during the year on sanitary works in towns, either from Municipal Funds or otherwise, was Rs. 11,25,633 against Rs. 10,10,506 in the previous year, and in rural areas, from District Funds or otherwise, Rs. 1,42,012 against Rs. 1,03,912. The most important works were the completion of the Howrah water-supply and the Muzaffarpur drainage schemes, the extension of the Cossipore-Chitpur water-supply, additions to the Serampore and Jalpaiguri drainage works, and the construction of drains and the improvement of the water-supply at Bhagalpur. The Lieutenant-Governor is gratified to see that the total amount contributed by private individuals rose from Rs. 1,88,875 to Rs. 4,94,131. In consequence of the deficient rainfall of the year and the impending scarcity, a large number of tanks were excavated and numerous wells sunk in many parts of the country at considerable expense by landholders and other private persons, to whom, though they are not individually named in the present report, the thanks of Government are due. The disposal of night-soil continued to receive attention, and in many places improved methods for its disposal were adopted. The Sanitary Commissioner, however, complains of the little progress made in the matter of cultivating trenching-grounds and utilizing refuse as manure. This is a subject which demands the serious attention of local officers; and if properly dealt with, there is no reason why a satisfactory and remunerative system of trenching night-soil and stocking refuse for purposes of manure should not be established in all large towns, without prejudice to the ideas of the people; or why the towns of Bengal should fall so far behind those of the Punjab, and several in the North-Western Provinces, in this respect. What is chiefly necessary for this object at first is individual energy and example. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that local bodies will not lose sight of this matter, as the advantages of such a system only require to be known to be appreciated.

[Precautions against plague.]

15. On the appearance of plague in Bombay towards the close of the year 1896, Sir Alexander Mackenzie appointed the following gentlemen to form a Medical Board for the purpose of determining the action to be taken by all executive authorities, whether official or municipal, with the object of preventing and checking the plague throughout Bengal:—

1.	The Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Medical Department	President.
2.	The President of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce	Members.
3.	The Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Public Works Department
4.	The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal...
5.	The Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal
6.	The Principal of the Medical College, Calcutta ...
7.	Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel D. D. Cunningham, C.I.E., F.R.S.
8.	Dr. Mohendra Lall Sircar, C.I.E.
9.	Rai Koilash Chunder Bose Bahadur, L.M.S. ...
10.	Mr. W. B. Gwyther, Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Public Works Department	Secretary.

One of the first actions of the Board was to consider and pronounce upon eleven cases of illness in Howrah and Calcutta which had been reported to be cases of bubonic plague. The clinical symptoms of these were such as to satisfy the medical members of the Board that none of the persons affected were suffering from true plague. The diagnostic evidence based on the alleged presence of the plague bacillus in the blood of the patients was exhaustively examined in the light of a series of experiments conducted by Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel D. D. Cunningham, C.I.E., F.R.S., and was shown to be worthless for the following reasons:—

1st.—That in certain cases there was unequivocal evidence that the samples of blood from which cultivations of alleged plague-bacilli had been obtained were, from the outset, contaminated from external sources.

2nd.—That the growths present in what were affirmed to be type-specimens of cultivations of Calcutta plague-bacilli, which had been obtained from the blood of different alleged cases of plague, were absolutely different in different instances.

3rd.—That in no case did the growths accurately correspond in character with those of type-specimens obtained from Bombay from M. Haffkine.

4th.—That specimens of blood, taken from cases which on bacteriological grounds had been affirmed to be unequivocal cases of plague, failed to yield any growths whatever when taken and cultivated under conditions unfavourable to extraneous contamination.

5th.—That the evidence derived from the results of inoculating animals with the alleged plague-bacilli was of no value whatever, because the bulk of actively decomposing fluid injected was relatively equivalent to over a pint in the case of an adult human being, and was quite sufficient to cause death by mere blood-poisoning.

In a further series of test experiments, which admitted of being repeated indefinitely, Dr. Cunningham proved that all of the so-called plague-bacilli discovered in the blood of the Calcutta patients might be readily obtained from specimens of the blood of perfectly healthy animals under the influence of brief exposure to the air. They were in fact "common aerial contents, and therefore liable to appear in any cultivations of blood not conducted under strictly aseptic conditions."

The Medical Board met the General Committee of the Calcutta Corporation, and advised them as to the special regulations to be passed under section 334 of the Calcutta Municipal Act for the purpose of preventing and checking plague. These regulations formed the basis of those subsequently issued under the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897.

Under the Board's orders a sanitary survey of Calcutta, Howrah, and the adjacent small municipalities was carried out by a number of medical officers, with the object of ascertaining what measures of cleansing and sanitary reform should be taken in order to guard against an outbreak of plague.

They were also consulted by Government, the mercantile community, and district and railway officials, on a variety of questions connected with the dissemination of plague, the most important being the organization of inspections at railway stations and steamer ghâts, the imposition of quarantine on arrivals by sea, the prohibition of the import of rags and used clothing, and the liability of arsenicated hides and baled goods, such as cloth, to carry infection. The Lieutenant-Governor's thanks are due to them, and more especially to the non-official members of the Board, for the assistance which they rendered to Government in dealing with all questions which arose.

16. The following among other matters were dealt with by the Sanitary Board during the year:—

The Sanitary Board.

(a) The Berhampore water-supply project, estimated to cost Rs. 2,38,833. This scheme was finally passed, and the work which was the gift of the late Maharani Surnamoyee, C.I., of Cossimbazar, was undertaken and is now in course of completion.

(b) A project for the supply of filtered water to the riparian municipalities situated on the left bank of the river Hooghly. This has been under consideration for a long time, and it was decided eventually by Government, on the recommendation of the Board, to abandon it, as the cost of carrying it into effect was ascertained to be prohibitive.

(c) A scheme for the supply of drinking-water to the town of Cuttack, estimated to cost Rs. 2,25,000. This has had to be abandoned, as the Municipal Commissioners found that the undertaking was beyond their means.

(d) An alternative scheme for the supply of drinking-water to the town of Midnapore, estimated to cost Rs. 2,50,000. This is still under the consideration of the Municipal Commissioners.

(e) A scheme for improving the drainage of the town of Krishnagar by excavating the Anjona khal, estimated to cost Rs. 33,232. This is still pending, as the Municipal Commissioners have resolved, in view of the insufficiency of their funds, to defer taking any steps in regard to the project till the year 1898-99.

(f) Schemes for remodelling the storm-water outfall and draining the suburbs of the town of Calcutta, amounting to Rs. 78,87,089. These important schemes were drawn up by Mr. A. H. Hughes, C.I.E., Engineer to the Calcutta Corporation, and were approved by the Sanitary Board.

(g) A scheme for the supply of pure water to the town of Chittagong, estimated to cost Rs 2,37,898. This has been referred to the local officers for reconsideration.

The Board were also consulted by Government on the pollution of the river Hooghly and the khals and small streams running into it by the discharge of sewage, trade refuse, and other noxious matter, the supply of water to the East Indian Railway station at Howrah, and other questions. In addition to these they dealt with many references from local bodies on the subject of water-works, drainage and other sanitary questions. Revised rules were issued by the Board for working the filter-beds of water-works in Bengal. The Sanitary Engineer inspected the water-works of Arrah, Bhagalpur, Burdwan, Dacca, Darjeeling, and Mymensingh, and visited several other towns in connection with projects for drainage and water-supply. The Howrah water-works, the detailed plans and estimates of which were prepared in the Board's office, were opened in February 1896 by Sir Alexander Mackenzie. The scheme is reported to be a most successful one.

17. The Sanitary Commissioner spent 164 days on tours of inspection, and visited most of the important municipalities in the Province. Towards the close of the year his time was chiefly occupied in making arrangements for the protection of Bengal against the plague. Owing to the constant change of officers in the post of Deputy Sanitary Commissioner, Metropolitan and Eastern Bengal Circle, little touring or inspection was done in this circle, except by Dr. Hay Jagannadham, who spent 44 days on tour, and inspected 26 towns. In the Northern Bengal Circle, Drs. L. A. Waddell and B. H. Deare spent 215 days on tour, and inspected 20 towns and 425 villages, and in the Western Bengal Circle Dr. J. C. Vaughan spent 219 days on tour, inspecting 14 towns and 138 villages. Dr. Dyson acknowledges the good work done by these officers, and speaks highly of the services of his Personal Assistant, Mr. A. A. Price. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to specially thank Surgeon-Major Dyson for his energetic and successful administration of the Department during an exceptionally trying year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON EXCISE ADMINISTRATION IN THE LOWER PROVINCES FOR 1896-97.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—SEPARATE REVENUE.

Darjeeling, the 4th November 1897.

READ—

The Report of the Commissioner of Excise for the year 1896-97, with the observations of the Board of Revenue.

Mr. Krishna Govinda Gupta held the office of Excise Commissioner from the commencement of the year till the 19th May 1896, when he went on special leave. His duties were discharged by the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue in addition to his own work till the 16th June 1896, from which date Mr. G. E. Manisty officiated as Commissioner of Excise until Mr. Gupta's return from leave. The Excise Commissioner had immediately under him three Deputy Collectors, one as his Personal Assistant, and two as travelling Inspectors of Excise. In 18 districts, 14 of which have central distilleries, the excise administration was in charge of Special Deputy Collectors, who were employed exclusively on excise and income tax work, except in Mymensingh and Champaran, where the rule on the subject had to be temporarily relaxed for unavoidable reasons. In 26 districts ordinary Deputy Collectors were in charge of excise in addition to their regular duties. The distilleries and depôts generally were under the immediate charge of Sub-Deputy Collectors or of kanungos as Superintendents or Deputy Superintendents. The number of Sub-Deputy Collectors so employed at the commencement of the year was nine, but this number was subsequently reduced to seven. The services of 28 kanungos were utilised for this duty. In the executive branch of the subordinate establishment and among the clerks in the office branch the numbers remained the same as in the previous year, viz., 201 and 141 respectively, while five of the old excise darogas were replaced by men of a superior class.

2. Inspections.—During the year a sufficient amount of inspection was done by the Inspectors of Excise, while between Messrs. Manisty and Gupta the tours of the Excise Commissioner occupied 139 days. Every district and distillery in the Province was visited by the Excise Commissioner himself or by one of his Inspectors. It is reported that the Sadar Excise offices in Champaran and Puri were not inspected at all by the District Collectors, and that the distillery in Dumka and the spirit depôt at Mymensingh were not inspected as often as the rules require. An explanation of this neglect should have been given. In 15 out of the 18 districts, in which Special Deputy Collectors were employed, the prescribed minimum of touring (150 days) was attained; in two districts the deficiency is explained by the ill-health of the officers concerned, while in one district the officer's touring was cut short by domestic trouble. For Deputy Collectors of the ordinary staff, who are employed on excise work, the minimum period of touring is fixed at 90 days; in 18 out of 24 districts, excluding Darjeeling and the Sonthal Parganas, the circumstances of which are exceptional, the prescribed amount of touring was done, the deficiency in the remaining six districts varying from 10 days in Rajshahi to 60 in Balasore, where touring would seem to have been much neglected. In the Sonthal Parganas, the Deputy Collectors in charge spent between them only 11 days on tour. The Excise Commissioner observes that the circumstances of the district are exceptional; but, as the Board rightly remark, they are so mainly in the fact that much closer supervision and constant touring is required, in view of the prevalence of illicit dealings. The reasons generally given for insufficient tours are the paucity of officers at headquarters and the exigencies of judicial or other work. In some districts also frequent changes of officers, rendered unavoidable by the requirements of the general administration, impaired to some extent the efficiency and continuity of supervision in excise matters. The Lieutenant-Governor notices, however, that, in the explanations furnished there is a tendency to lay too much stress on this cause, and His Honour desires that Collectors may be instructed to exercise closer supervision over the touring of Deputy Collectors in charge of Excise, so as to see that each officer does his full share of mufassal inspection.

3. Revenue and charges.—The items which contribute to the excise revenue remained unchanged during the year, and an increase of Rs. 4 in the duty on charas was the only alteration made in the rates at which duty was levied.

From the beginning of the year the sale of madak and chandu (the Bengali and Chinese preparations of opium for smoking) was stopped, consumers being allowed to make their own preparations for private use, but not for sale, up to a limit of one tola. The following statement shows the gross excise revenue, the charges, and the net revenue for the last five years:—

* Revised figures.

In order, however, to obtain the true figure for the net revenue derived from excise, there should be added to the charges here given Rs. 21,714 on account of refunds and Rs. 11,568 for the excess of rewards distributed over fines realised. This raises the expenditure to Rs. 7,16,574, and reduces the net revenue to Rs. 1,26,94,005, against Rs. 1,26,88,757 in 1895-96. Thus instead of expanding by four or five lakhs, the excise revenue has, for the first time since 1891-92, remained practically stationary, the chief causes being the general scarcity prevalent during the year, and the scanty crop of mahua blossom, the price of which also rose enormously, as the petals were more largely used for food than in ordinary years. Besides these, there were two other causes of a permanent character, namely, the introduction of a system of exporting ganja to the North-Western Provinces and Oudh in bond, without prepayment of duty in Bengal as heretofore, and the abolition of the madak and chandu licenses already referred to. Calculated on the population ascertained at the census of 1891, and allowing for natural increase at the rate of 7 per thousand per annum, the incidence of the excise revenue per head of population amounted during the year under review to 2 annas and 11 pies, the same as in the previous year. The corresponding incidence in Bombay in 1895-96 is shown as 9 annas 1 pie, and in Madras as 6 annas 5 pies per head, without allowing for the increase of population. The expenditure rose during the year by Rs. 8,710, the increase being due chiefly to the employment of additional establishments for the suppression of illicit distillation of country spirit in the Jahanabad subdivision of the Hooghly district and for the prevention of the smuggling of Garhjat ganja into the Orissa districts, the grant of famine allowances to menial excise establishments, and the acquisition of land for the distilleries at Rassa and Dacca.

4. Revenue by Divisions.—Distributed according to Divisions, the gross receipts for the last five years are shown thus:—

* Revised figures owing to the exclusion of departmental fines deducted from the pay of officers from miscellaneous excise revenue.

The largest receipts were obtained, as usual, in the Presidency Division, including Calcutta, and the smallest in the Chittagong Division. The greatest actual advance is shown by the Division of Chota Nagpur, where the receipts rose by 5 per cent. This increase is attributed to keener competition at the time of the excise settlements before scarcity had declared itself, but a reaction is reported to have set in during the current year, making it difficult to settle the country-spirit shops except at reduced fees. The chief decrease occurred in the Patna Division, where, although opium receipts slightly improved, the revenue from country spirit and tari fell off very considerably in consequence chiefly of the prevalent scarcity.

5. Revenue and consumption.—The relation of the growth of consumption to the growth of revenue is illustrated by the following statistics of the four chief articles of excise:—

	1895-96.	1896-97.		1895-96.	1896-97.

The Board's observation that the principle of raising a maximum of revenue from a minimum of consumption was kept in view during the year under review receives support from these figures, from which it will be seen that the revenue derived from the excisable articles named increased more rapidly than the consumption. The policy of keeping down the number of shops for the vend of excisable articles has been kept steadily in view.

6. Sources of Revenue.—In the following statement the gross excise revenue of the past five years is classified according to the articles from which it is derived:—

* Revised figures.

Out of a total demand of Rs. 1,34,85,682, Rs. 1,34,10,579, or 99·4 per cent., was realised, against 99·2 per cent. in 1895-96. The sum of Rs. 24,663 only was remitted during the year, of which the greater part (Rs. 20,671) was, as usual, due on account of tari. The above statement shows that country spirits continue to bring in the largest revenue, and that the chief increase during the year occurred under this head. Taking the percentage of revenue under each head on the total excise revenue, country spirits stand first with a percentage of 45·2, followed by hemp drugs (21·5), opium (17·5), tari (7·6), pachwai (3·4) and rum (3·1). This order is the same as that of the preceding year, except that pachwai and rum have changed places, the revenue from the former having exceeded that from rum during the past year. There was a total increase in revenue of Rs. 2,41,658, almost entirely under country spirits and ganja, against a total decrease of Rs. 2,08,784, more than half of which is accounted for by the absence of receipts under madak and chandu, all shops for the sale of these preparations having been closed from the commencement of the year, in accordance with the recommendation of the Opium Commission. The fluctuations under each separate head are discussed in detail below.

7. Current settlements.—The settlements for the current year, as made up to the end of May last, are unsatisfactory, since they promise to result in a net decrease of Rs. 4,01,124 as compared with the past year. Of this prospective decrease, the Patna and Chota Nagpur Divisions alone account for Rs. 3,43,303, the Gaya (Rs. 51,910), Hazaribagh (Rs. 99,993), Manbhum (Rs. 88,515) and Palamau (Rs. 68,612) districts showing the largest falling off. The Burdwan, Dacca, and Orissa Divisions only show small increases. This result is said to be due mainly to the prevailing scarcity and the failure of the mahua crop, and possibly to some extent to combination among the abkars. It is, however, reported that some of the unsettled licenses have since been settled in some districts, and the Excise Commissioner hopes that with the settlement of the remainder the loss will be partially made up.

8. Country spirit.—Country spirit, which forms the chief source of excise revenue in Bengal, is manufactured either at central distilleries or at outstills. The central distilleries are maintained by Government; stills are worked within them by distillers, and the liquor is passed out, after the levy of the distillery fee and the duty, for sale at licensed shops. The distillery fee, which is levied at the rate of 2½ annas per London-proof gallon, except in certain metropolitan districts where the rate is 1 anna per gross gallon, is taken as a contribution to the cost of the establishments, and as rent for the use of the premises. Duty is levied at varying rates, ranging from Re. 1-14 to Rs. 5 per London-proof gallon for different districts. Outstills, on the other hand, are licensed at monthly fees, no separate duty being charged. The central distillery system is in force throughout the Burdwan Division, except in certain wild tracts of Bankura and Midnapore, and also throughout the Presidency, Dacca and Orissa Divisions, with the exception of a portion of the hilly tracts of Cuttack along the frontier of the Garhjat States and in the Sonthal Parganas district. In the Patna Division and the districts of Monghyr, Bhagalpur, and part of Hazaribagh a dual system of central distilleries and outstills is maintained, the areas served by the distilleries being defined, and outstills being placed at such distances as to minimise the risk of smuggling of outstill liquor into those areas. In the Rajshahi and Chittagong Divisions, in the Chota Nagpur Division, except a small portion of Hazaribagh and Manbhum, and in the districts of Purnea and Malda of the Bhagalpur Division, the outstill system alone is in force.

Of the total revenue from country spirit, Rs. 28,47,924 was contributed by central distilleries under the three heads of license fees (Rs. 10,11,430), still-head duty (Rs. 17,77,384), and distillery fees (Rs. 59,110), and Rs. 32,32,537 by outstills, the former showing an increase of Rs. 1,09,612 and the latter of Rs. 59,009 over the receipts of the previous year. The number of outstills sanctioned rose from 2,009 in 1895-96 to 2,101 in the year under review, and the number settled from 2,091 to 2,097, while the number of shops sanctioned for the sale of distillery spirits fell from 1,203 to 1,197, and the number settled from 1,197 to 1,191. In the case of outstills, however, several branch shops were given separate numbers for the first time during the year, and the Excise Commissioner points out that the actual number sanctioned was in reality reduced by eight. In the Burdwan Division there was an increase of revenue from country spirit in Bankura, Midnapore and Howrah, against a decline in Burdwan, Birbhum and Hooghly, the net increase being Rs. 24,993. Illicit distillation is very prevalent in the tract of country comprising the western half of Midnapore, nearly the whole of Bankura, the Jahanabad subdivision in Hooghly, and thana Raina in Burdwan, and a special detective force has been employed in the Jahanabad subdivision and in Bankura since January and April 1895, respectively, to check this offence. The figures of cases detected and persons convicted show that some progress has already been made, but illicit practices are still rife, and unremitting vigilance will, as Mr. Gupta remarks, be necessary for some time to come. The fact that under the existing law the possession of an unlicensed still with other apparatus for distillation is not an offence adds to the difficulty of detection, as offenders have to be caught in the act of distilling. An amendment proposed in the new Excise Bill will remedy this defect in the law. In the Presidency Division there was a net increase of Rs. 1,15,137 in revenue, Calcutta alone contributing Rs. 1,19,657. In the Rajshahi Division, with the districts of Purnea and Malda, throughout which area the outstill system is in force, an increase of Rs. 6,848 was obtained. Most of this increase is shown by Rangpur (Rs. 22,819 and Jalpaiguri (Rs. 21,526). The Excise Commissioner reports that there is a growing demand for liquor in the Duars owing to the extension of tea cultivation and the opening of the Bengal-Duars Railway. In Darjeeling 25 cases of smuggling of foreign liquor were detected on the Nepal and Sikkim frontiers, and in Jalpaiguri 34 cases of smuggling from Bhutan and Cooch Behar. Owing to the extreme laxity of control prevailing beyond British territory, the Excise Commissioner considers that it is hopeless to seek a remedy by fixing a limit on either side within which no shops are to be allowed, and he can only recommend that the frontier should be carefully watched with a view to prevent the ingress of contraband liquor. The Dacca Division shows a decline in revenue of Rs. 8,050, which is shared by all districts except Faridpur, and is ascribed to a decline in consumption owing to scarcity and high prices. In the Chittagong Division, where the consumption of spirits is very limited, the revenue fell by Rs. 1,940. The Patna Division, which for excise purposes is taken to include the districts of Monghyr, Bhagalpur and Hazaribagh, also under the dual system yields the largest revenue from country spirits, but, owing to the prevailing scarcity, the revenue received during the year fell by Rs. 64,510, a decrease occurring in both distillery and outstill areas. The falling off is most marked in Gaya, both in the revenue from outstills (Rs. 36,321) and in that obtained from distillery liquor (Rs. 10,297). A decrease of Rs. 11,451 is also returned from the Santhal Parganas. The Orissa Division shows a small increase, while Chota Nagpur shows an improvement of Rs. 50,830, which is said to be due to advantageous settlements.

9. Changes in the management of central distilleries and outstills.—The distillery and outstill areas remained the same as in the previous year. The rule substituting a distillery fee of $2\frac{1}{2}$ annas per gallon London-proof for the former fee of one anna per gallon irrespective of strength, continues to work well, and appears to have attained its end, which was to equalize the incidence of the distillery fee on the outturn of liquor, and thus to remove the inducements to distil strong liquor. The plan of fixing minimum prices for the retail sale of liquor, whether at distillery shops or at outstills, which was found difficult to enforce, has for some years past been abolished, but the experiment of prescribing a maximum price for the retail sale of weak distillery liquor, to which reference was made in last year's Resolution, is still being tried in Gaya. In a special report submitted on the subject, the Excise Commissioner expressed the opinion that the system in question was a very effective means of keeping down prices, and that the great expansion of distillery revenue in Gaya was in no small degree due to this measure. The Board did not accept this, but nevertheless advised the continuance of the experiment for the present, on the ground that it was undesirable to disturb the practice in a year of scarcity, a view in which the Lieutenant-Governor concurred.

10. Sites of shops.—The rules forbidding the opening of shops in a bazar, on high roads or close to places of public resort, seem to have been carefully observed, due regard being given to public opinion in the matter. During the year a distillery liquor shop in Midnapore, a tari and a liquor shop in Hooghly, a distillery and a ganja shop in Dacca, and a tari shop in Arrah, were removed in deference to local opinion; in Champaran a tari shop was removed at the request of the police; two outstills in Champaran and Jalpaiguri were closed at the instance of planters, and a license for the sale of outstill liquor at a fair in Hazaribagh was cancelled on the objection of the local zamindar.

11. Country rum.—The supply of country rum is derived from Sibpur near Howrah, from Sakri in Darbhanga, from Shahjahanpur in the North-Western Provinces, and from Aska and Arkot in Madras. The rum produced in Bengal is charged with a duty of Rs. 5 per gallon, London-proof, while Madras rum pays Rs. 6. Shahjahanpur rum, on the other hand, is subject in the North-Western Provinces to a duty of Rs. 4 per gallon, and as it is necessary in the interests of the local industry in Bengal and for other reasons, an additional rupee is levied by special arrangement with the manufacturers. The revenue from rum fell from Rs. 4,66,296 in 1895-96 to Rs. 4,18,780 during the year under review, consumers evidently feeling the pinch of high prices. The total quantity of rum which passed into consumption was 80,898 gallons London-proof (60,814 gross gallons), against 91,144 gallons London-proof (68,014 gross gallons) in the previous year. The bulk of the trade in rum is carried on through Calcutta, where the quantity imported during the year amounted to 58,633 gross gallons. Excluding the quantity exported to the mufassal districts, Assam and Port Blair, the amount consumed in Calcutta itself is estimated to have been 47,048 gallons at 34° over-proof, or 78,805 gallons at 20° under-proof, the strength at which rum is usually sold. The quantity imported into the Bengal mufassal direct from Shahjahanpur amounted to 2,178 gross, or 2,268 London-proof gallons.

12. Imported liquor.—The excise revenue from imported liquor, which consists exclusively of fees for wholesale and retail licenses, rose from Rs. 2,87,995 to Rs. 2,94,420. Nearly one-half of the total revenue was collected in Calcutta. The number of wholesale licenses was reduced by three, and that of general retail licenses by 130, the falling off under the latter head being due to the abolition of the glass license which used to be subsidiary to every country spirit and rum retail license in Calcutta. Of the net increase of Rs. 6,425 in revenue, Rs. 2,915 occurred in Mymensingh, Rs. 2,788 in Faridpur and Rs. 1,196 in Dacca. The Excise Commissioner observes with satisfaction that the continuous attempts made to check the traffic in cheap German spirit, mostly distilled from potatoes, which is coloured and flavoured locally and sold at absurdly low prices as brandy, or whisky, and even as port or sherry, appear at last to have borne some fruit, as for the first time for many years the importations of German white spirit show a decline.

13. Tari.—No duty is charged on tari, the sap of the palmyra or date tree, but revenue is derived from license fees for the sale of both fermented and unfermented tari. The number of licenses for the sale of the fermented liquor during the year diminished from 13,321 to 13,301, and for the unfermented tari from 2,118 to 1,986. Two hundred and fifty-three licenses, at an aggregate fee of Rs. 457, for the sale of unfermented tari were issued for the first time in the Dacca Division owing to the withdrawal of the exemption of fresh tari from the operations of the Excise Act. The total receipts fell from Rs. 10,24,031 to Rs. 10,10,481, the bulk of the decrease occurring under fees for fermented tari. The decline under this head was heaviest in Gaya (Rs. 16,027), but since it is attributed mainly to late settlement of the licenses for the current year, and the consequent decrease in advance fees paid in March 1897, the reduced receipts in this district would appear to be nominal only. More than one-half of the total revenue from tari is collected in the Patna Division, after which most fees are derived from Calcutta, the 24-Parganas, Monghyr, Hooghly, Bhagalpur, Howrah and Cuttack. The Madras tree-tax system, the theory of which is that every tree yielding tari should pay a tax according to a fixed rate, is being tried, as far as is possible without amending the law, in selected areas in twelve districts of the Province. The Board remark that the system has not been working long enough to admit of a definite opinion being expressed.

14. Pachwai.—This liquor, brewed from rice, forms the favourite beverage of the aboriginal tribes found in the Burdwan and Chota Nagpur Divisions, the Sonthal Parganas, and the western half of Murshidabad. Another variety prepared from millet (marua), is much drunk in Darjeeling. The revenue is derived from license fees for sale and for home-brewing, and these fees together yielded during the year a revenue of Rs. 4,43,481, against Rs. 4,39,284 in 1895-96, nearly three-fourths of which was collected in the Burdwan Division. The total number of licenses for sale fell from 1,665 to 1,663, while the number of licenses for home-brewing rose from 6,021 to 7,781. In certain tracts free home-brewing for domestic purposes is permitted, and the system of allowing householders to brew marua beer for domestic use, without limit of quantity, on payment of an annual fee of Rs. 2 per house, which has been in force in Kalimpong in the Darjeeling district since April 1895, was extended during the year under review to the hills west of the Tista. Licenses were issued to the Superintendent of St. Mary's, Kurseong, and the Rector of St. Joseph's College, Darjeeling, to brew beer for the exclusive use of the inmates of their respective institutions.

15. Ganja.—The revenue from ganja is derived from license fees and duty which varies according to quality; thus 'chur' pays a duty of Rs. 9 per seer, 'round' Rs. 7-8, 'flat small twigs' Rs. 7-4, and 'flat large twigs' Rs 6. In Orissa, however, the rates are Rs. 7-8 for chur, Rs. 6-4 for round, Rs. 6 for flat small twigs, and Rs. 5 for flat large twigs. The following statement shows the main statistics relating to ganja revenue in the last three years:—

	Licenses sanctioned.	Licenses issued.	Quantity consumed.	Revenue.
	No.	No.	Mds.	Rs
1894-95 ...	2,725	2,702	4,828	24,92,755
1895-96 ...	2,707	2,696	5,202	26,80,819
1896-97 ...	2,708	2,688	5,008	27,31,522

The area of land brought under ganja cultivation during the year increased by 252 bighas, but the produce was slightly smaller than in the previous year, the ganja plants having been infested with pests owing to the drought. Though the consumption decreased by 194 maunds, the revenue advanced by Rs. 50,703 in consequence of enhanced license fees. The Excise Commissioner is of opinion that taste and habit, more than the varying rates of duty, regulate the demand for the different varieties of ganja. It is true that during the year the flat species (large twigs), on which the least duty is payable, was most largely consumed, but chur, which pays the highest duty, stood next in respect of consumption. One kind finds favour in one part of the country and one in another, though, generally speaking, chur is fast gaining ground everywhere. The wholesale prices, owing to the falling off in the demand, were lower even than in 1895-96, and varied from Rs. 5 to Rs. 30 per maund. The importation of Garhjat ganja, produced in the Tributary States of Orissa, was prohibited from the 1st April 1896. The Chiefs have been requested to suppress the cultivation of the plant in their States, and they have been allowed to obtain Rajshahi ganja at cost price, and issue it to consumers after levying duty. This system, which had previously been adopted in Cooch Behar, appears to have met with success so far. It was found impossible to complete during the year the new public golas at Naogaon to which reference was made in last year's Resolution, but it is hoped that the work will be finished in time to receive next season's crop. The following statement illustrates the production of ganja and its export from Rajshahi during the past year:—

	Mds.

	Mds.

There was a small increase of 64 maunds in the exports of ganja to the North-Western Provinces, the trade with which was probably stimulated by the system of bonding already referred to. The exports to Nepal also show a steady increase, Rajshahi ganja being preferred to the coarse article which is cultivated extensively in the Nepal Terai.

16 Bhang, Majum and Charas.—Bhang, which is also known under the name of siddhi and sabzi (dried leaves of the hemp plant), grows wild in many parts of Bengal, and is collected for sale chiefly in Monghyr, Bhagalpur and Purnea. The latter practice remains lawful pending the amendment of the Excise Act. The number of licenses for the sale of bhang rose from 315 to 322, and the revenue increased from Rs. 59,498 to Rs. 65,564; but the consumption fell from 1,070 to 1,005 maunds. The revenue from majum, a sweet preparation of bhang, amounted during the year to Rs. 1,495, against Rs. 1,710 in 1895-96: the drug is reported to be gradually losing favour. Charas, or the resin exuding from the unseeded female hemp plant, which is the essence of ganja in its greatest purity and strength, is imported into Bengal from the Punjab and the North-Western Provinces, protected by a pass, for which a fee of Rs. 2 was for the first time prescribed in the year under review. Half of the duty is paid at the time of taking out the pass, the other half being paid on the arrival of the drug at its destination. The duty on charas was raised during the year from Rs. 8 to Rs. 12 a seer. The consumption decreased from 10 to 8 maunds, while the revenue increased from Rs. 17,985 to Rs. 19,591.

17. Opium.—Excise opium, i.e., opium offered for sale in these Provinces as distinguished from provision opium prepared for export, is supplied to licensed vendors from the district treasuries at prices varying from Rs. 17 a seer in the Patna Division to Rs. 33 a seer in Orissa. The following statement illustrates the demand during the last three years:—

	Licenses.	Consumption.	Revenue.
	No.	Mds.	Rs.
1894-95 ...	3,067	2,037	22,13,721
1895-96 ...	3,127	2,159	23,65,129
1896-97 ...	3,179	2,110	23,25,603

The number of permits to licensed druggists to sell opium and its preparations, and poppy-heads for medicinal purposes, which are included in the number of licenses above, increased by 69, while the number of ordinary licenses for retail sale fell by 18. The consumption diminished by 49 maunds, and the revenue by Rs. 39,526. The decrease is ascribed to the prevailing scarcity, and the abolition of madak and chandu shops. The largest decrease in consumption occurred in Calcutta (maunds 17-15-8), followed by the 24-Parganas (maunds 15-8) and Hooghly (maunds 6-3). Regarding the increase of consumption in Patna, the Excise Commissioner writes :—

"The district grows poppy, and at first sight the increase appears satisfactory as indicating a large recourse to licit opium. But from cases that have come to light in recent years, especially during the year of report, there is too much reason to hold that more than one organized band of smugglers are engaged in the illicit transport of duty-paid opium from several districts, especially Patna and Calcutta, to Burma direct by sea, or overland direct through Chittagong. Their ramifications extend to the North-Western Provinces, where also, as in Bihar, the treasury price of excise opium is low."

The Lieutenant-Governor will await the further report promised by the Excise Commissioner on this subject.

18. Methylated spirit.—The quantity of this spirit issued during the year rose from 59,854 to 66,611 gallons, while the duty fell from Rs. 4,942 to Rs. 4,495, the decrease being attributed to the importation of a large quantity of ready-made methylated spirit from Madras which had paid duty there. Methylated spirits are either imported or methylated locally, and the Excise Commissioner ascribes the increased importation to their use as an intoxicating drink. This abuse will, it is hoped, be prevented by the new rules recently issued in regard to methylated spirits.

19. Offences against the Opium and Excise laws.—The number of arrests for offences against the Excise laws decreased from 4,412 to 4,148, but the percentage of convictions was slightly better, viz., 88·1, against 86·9 in 1895-96. The arrest of 1,615 persons was effected by the Police, while arrests by Excise Officers numbered 2,533, the percentage of convictions in the cases instituted by Excise Officers being 89·2, against 86·3 in those instituted by the Police. The number of licensees prosecuted for breach of license fell from 342 to 250, and of other persons prosecuted from 4,070 to 3,898. Illicit distillation of country spirits seems still to prevail largely in the Sonthal Parganas, Midnapore, Howrah, Bankura and Hooghly. In the two last-mentioned districts the number of persons arrested was smaller than in 1895-96; but Mr. Gupta regards this rather as an indication that illicit production has been checked by the special preventive staff entertained for the purpose. Calcutta shows the largest number of convictions for the illicit sale of country spirit, as well as of convictions for smuggling of illicit opium. As regards foreign excisable articles, there was an increase in arrests for the smuggling of liquor from Chandernagore into Hooghly, and of Garhjat ganja into Orissa, due to the activity of the special detective establishments. The total amount of fines imposed for breaches of the Excise laws and rules was Rs. 78,185, of which Rs 53,669, or 68 6 per cent., were realised. A sum of Rs. 65,237 was distributed in rewards to Police and Excise Officers and informers, against Rs. 67,585 in the previous year.

20. The Lieutenant-Governor's thanks are due to Mr. Krishna Govinda Gupta for his efficient administration of the Department, and to the Board for their supervision during the year. The Excise Commissioner expresses his obligations to the District Officers generally, and to some of them in particular, and to the Hon'ble Rai Durgagati Banerji, Bahadur, C.I.E., Superintendent of Excise Revenue, Calcutta, whose services are also acknowledged by the Board. The names of the officers specially mentioned by the Excise Commissioner will be communicated to the Appointment Department of this Government.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA FOR THE YEAR 1896-97.

No. 1914Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

The 9th November 1897.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta for the year 1896-97.

The total amount of the loans which have been raised by the Port Commissioners from time to time, including the consolidated loan from Government of Rs. 60,25,100 and the Dock loan of Rs. 2,87,70,566, amounted to Rs. 4,43,10,666, and the total amount outstanding on these loans on the 31st March 1897 was Rs. 3,98,53,771. The total investments at credit of the sinking funds have been raised from Rs. 14,43,700 at the beginning to Rs. 16,15,500 at the close of the year.

2. Against the debt (consisting of the unpaid portion of the consolidated loan from Government, together with the book debt on account of the Port Block transferred by Government to the Commissioners in 1871, the Dock loan and five Debenture Loans) amounting in all to Rs. 4,14,69,271, the Commissioners hold block to the value of Rs. 5,21,23,877, and reserve funds amounting to Rs. 27,00,125, in addition to the valuable Strand Bank lands extending from Chandpal ghat to Ahiritollah, for which they pay to Government an annual quit rent of Rs. 37,292.

3. The year opened with a revenue balance of Rs. 8,36,370, and the income for the year under review amounted to Rs. 54,01,287. The expenditure, including sinking funds, renewals, and improvements, amounted to Rs. 53,84,377, leaving a balance of Rs. 8,53,280 on the 31st March 1897. The income of the year exceeded the expenditure by Rs. 16,910.

4. The income under the head "Jetties" amounted to Rs. 18,20,632, or Rs. 97,200 more than that of the previous year. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 12,21,569, showing an increase of Rs. 2,05,889, as compared with that of the preceding year. The net revenue under this head was Rs. 5,99,063 as compared with Rs. 7,07,752 in 1895-96.

5. The income derived from the Petroleum Wharf at Budge-Budge amounted to Rs. 3,33,797 against Rs. 3,89,192 in the previous year. The quantity of kerosine oil imported was 40,255,153 gallons as compared with 39,237,164 gallons during 1895-96.

6. The importation of oil from Russia, which was 60½ per cent. of the total importation in 1895-96, rose to 67½ per cent. of the total quantity imported in the year under review.

7. The total number of packages of tea amounted to 776,397 chests against 717,510 in 1895-96. The receipts, which were Rs. 1,00,161 in the previous year, amounted in the year under review to Rs. 1,07,620.

8. During the year 200 vessels with a tonnage of 500,513 were berthed at the jetties against 226 with a tonnage of 561,401 during 1895-96. The average number of days each vessel occupied the jetties was 11·7.

9. The income of the Harbour Master's Department amounted to Rs. 5,16,357 against Rs. 5,45,349 in 1895-96. The decrease was due to a falling off in mooring hire on account of the shorter stay that vessels now make in port and the consequent reduction in mooring hire paid by them. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 5,75,834 against Rs. 5,60,911 in the preceding year.

10. During the year there were 10 casualties to vessels against the same number in the previous year. This gives a percentage of ·94 calculated on the number of vessels which arrived in the port.

None of the casualties were of a serious nature either with reference to the vessels concerned or to the conduct of the Assistant Harbour Masters. In seven cases the officers concerned were exonerated from blame, and in three they were cautioned to be more careful in future.

11. The work of examining boats plying for hire was regularly attended to by the surveyors, and during the year 118 passenger boats and 167 cargo boats were called in for survey. Of these, 75 passenger boats were found to be defective through wear and tear, and 43 were rendered so by accidents. Of the cargo boats, 73 were defective through wear and tear and 94 from accidents.

12. The receipts from port dues amounted to Rs. 4,05,524 against Rs. 4,08,734 in 1895-96. The expenditure for the year amounted to Rs. 5,07,651 against Rs. 4,65,692 in 1895-96. The excess expenditure was caused by unusually heavy repairs to light vessels and by the honorarium due to Mr. Vernon-Harcourt for his report on the river.

13. Owing to want of time it was found impossible to continue the survey of the Sandheads to the westward as was contemplated last year.

14. The principal changes which occurred in the river were at the Balari channel, the Rangafala channel, and the James and Mary shoal. The other channels were fairly steady during the year.

15. A sum of Rs. 9,15,104 was obtained from special tolls levied under section 108 of the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, against Rs. 8,56,610 in the previous year.

16. The result of the working of the Kidderpore Docks was as follows, viz:—

Receipts.	Rs.	Expenditure.	Rs.
Graving dock ...	1,20,793	Traffic establishment	1,11,262
Rent and miscellaneous	40,243	Working expenses ...	4,13,855
Imports ...	1,18,178	Repairs ...	12,760
Exports ...	8,37,072	Municipal taxes ...	1,44,080
Hopper barges ...	2,807	Interest ...	11,50,823
Total ...	6,19,093	Total ...	18,32,780

There was therefore a deficit of Rs. 12,13,687 as compared with a deficit of Rs. 13,53,733 in 1895-96, showing an improvement to the extent of Rs. 1,40,046.

A scheme for working the Docks in connection with the jetties—the latter for imports and the former for the export trade—was under consideration during the year, and has already been introduced. The details of the working of the scheme will be incorporated in the report for the current year.

17. The thanks of the Government are due to the Commissioners for their efficient management of the affairs of the Trust.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. D. McARTHUR, Col., R.E.,

LIBERALITY OF BABU RAM NATH SINGH, OF GAYA.

Imports.—During the period under report, the imports of rice amounted to 72,359 cwts., against 23,972 cwts. in the week ending 21st October 1896. The amount imported from Burma was 53,850 cwts., and that from the Straits Settlements 2,620 cwts., both against nil in the corresponding period of last year. Shipments of rice from Chandbali fell from 22,503 cwts., to 14,960 cwts. Imports of paddy fell from 19,532 cwts. to 5,687 cwts., owing to the receipt of smaller consignments from Chandbali and Balasore. The decrease under the head of gram and pulses amounted to 19,781 cwts., the amount imported from Cocanada, being 949 cwts. against 14,039 cwts., while only 405 cwts. were received from Chandbali against 5,311 cwts. in the corresponding period of 1896.

Exports.—In the following statement the total quantity of each kind of food-grains exported by sea during the third week of October 1897 is compared with that for the corresponding period of 1896 :—

Foreign ports.

The exports of rice from Calcutta to foreign ports fell off from 104,24·t cwts. in the third week of October 1896 to 20,942 cwts. in the period under report. There were no exports to Réunion, Mauritius, Muscat, and Persia, which took 45,570 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year. The despatches to Ceylon showed a decrease of 24,087 cwts., and those to the United Kingdom of 14,340 cwts. The exports of gram and pulses declined from 4,603 cwts. to 2,316 cwts., owing chiefly to the cessation of exports to Mauritius and Réunion.

Indian ports.

As regards Indian ports, the exports of rice during the third week of October 1897 amounted to only 1,009 cwts., against 22,849 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year. The decline was chiefly in the shipments to Bombay, to which place only 44 cwts. were exported against 22,183 cwts. in the week ending 21st October 1896. The exports of gram and pulse showed a slight decrease of 1,821 cwts. on the returns of the corresponding period of last year.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

The imports of rice into Chittagong during the week under report amounted to 4,466 cwts., the whole of which came from Burma, against nil in the corresponding period of 1896. Owing to larger receipts of wheat, gram and pulse and other food-grains from Calcutta, the import trade of the Balasore ports improved by 512 cwts., and there was a remarkable decline of 32,468 cwts., in the export trade of those ports due to smaller despatches of rice, paddy, and gram and pulse to Calcutta. Colombo received only 5,284 cwts. of rice from False Point against 14,745 cwts. during the week ending 21st October 1896.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·8° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MUNICIPAL AND LOCAL.

[Fourth Publication.]

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1178T.M.—The 22nd October 1897.—Under the provisions of sections 308 and 319 of the Bengal Municipal Act III of 1884, as amended by Acts IV of 1894 and II of 1896, the following plan, which has been submitted by the Municipal Commissioners of Darjeeling, for lighting the town with electricity, is published for general information :—

1. The following agreement has been entered into by the Municipality with Messrs. Kilburn and Company, for lighting the town :—

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT made this fifth day of January 1897 BETWEEN Edward Dunbar Kilburn and Henry Francis Brown of London Alfred Simson William Henry Cheetham W. D. Kilburn and C. C. Kilburn of No. 4 Fairlie Place in Calcutta all carrying on business as merchants and agents at 4 Fairlie Place aforesaid under the style or firm of Kilburn and Company (hereinafter referred to as the contractors) of the one part and the Chairman of the Municipal Commissioners of Darjeeling a body constituted under the Provisions of Act III of 1884 of the Council of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal (hereinafter called the Municipality) of the other part.

WHEREAS the Municipality are desirous that the public streets roads and private houses and other buildings within the Municipality should be lighted by electricity and the contractors have offered to supply electric lighting plant for the lighting of such streets roads and houses necessary therefor, and WHEREAS the Municipality at a special meeting held at the offices of the Municipality on the 11th day of February 1896 approved of the offer made by the contractors and resolved that such offer should be accepted and WHEREAS the said offer has since been modified by mutual consent to the extent hereinafter appearing, and WHEREAS a specification plans and drawings of the works to be executed performed and completed by the contractors signed by the contractors and by the Chairman of the Municipal Commissioners of Darjeeling and one of such Commissioners are annexed as Schedule A to this Agreement now it is hereby agreed between the parties hereto as follows :—

1. The contractors will at their own cost and expense provide materials of the best quality for the works specified required and set forth in the specification plans drawings and regulations (including Schedule A) hereto annexed and at the like cost and expense execute perform and fully complete all and singular the works specified required and set forth in the said specification plans drawings and regulations in the most substantial and workmanlike manner and to the complete satisfaction of an expert selected by the Municipality and approved by Government and will in all respect comply with and abide by the true intent and meaning of the said specification plans drawings and regulations and of this agreement.

2. The contractors will generally do execute and provide not only all the works and materials specified required and set forth in the said specification plans drawings and regulations respectively but likewise all such works and materials as are necessarily implied or may be reasonably inferred in or from the said specification plans drawings and regulations respectively for the execution and completion of the said works although the same may not happen to be therein expressly mentioned to be done executed or provided by the contractors the true intent and meaning of this agreement being that the works and materials hereby contracted to be done executed and provided shall include all that is requisite for constructing and completing the construction of the said works according to the said specification plans drawings and regulations.

The machinery and plant shall be constructed and erected in all respects according to such regulations for the protection of the public as may be approved by the Government of India and during such period of construction the contractors shall in all things be responsible for all injury or loss (not otherwise in this agreement provided for) to the public or to property.

3. The contractors will commence their work within six months from the signature of this agreement and will in all respect finish and complete all and singular the works specified required and set forth in the said specification plans drawings and regulations or to be implied therefrom or incidental thereto on or before the 1st day of September 1897 and in these respects time shall be deemed to be of the essence of the contract.

4. If the contractors shall from any cause whatever be prevented from or delayed in commencing the said works within the time specified in the last preceding paragraph this agreement shall be voidable at the option of the Municipality.

5. If the contractors shall not in all respects finish and complete all and singular the works specified required and set forth in the specification plans drawings and regulations or to be implied therefrom or incidental thereto on or before the said 1st day of September 1897 the contractors shall thenceforth pay to the Municipality the sum of Rs. 50 daily for every subsequent day until the said works shall be completely finished unless such default shall have happened owing to or in consequence of abnormal drought abnormal floods falling of trees landslips or other inevitable causes which the contractors shall not have it in their power to prevent or owing to the act neglect or default of the Municipality or any of their servants and agents.

6. For the purpose of estimating the value of materials in making the advance specified in paragraph 18 an engineer appointed by the Municipality shall be at liberty to value the same without prejudice to the liabilities of the contractors for the proper execution of the work.

7. If the Municipality shall think proper at any time or times during the course of construction to make any alterations or additions to or omissions in the works specified required and set forth in the said specification plans drawings and regulations the Municipality may give to the contractors written instructions for such alterations or omissions but the contractors shall not be considered to have authority for any alteration addition or omission or to make any claim for the value or otherwise in respect thereof without such written instructions.

8. Any such alteration addition or omission shall not invalidate this agreement but the value or cost thereof shall be determined by mutual agreement or in case of difference by arbitration as provided in paragraph 22 and the value thereof so ascertained shall be added to or deducted from the sum payable to the contractors by virtue of these presents and the addition in value (if any) shall be paid for in the same manner and at the same time as hereinafter is expressed for the payment of the ultimate balance under this agreement.

9. Any deviation made in the said works to be executed performed and completed by the contractors from the said specification plans drawings and regulations (except such deviation shall be so ordered as aforesaid) shall be only made if approved by the said engineer and shall be altered and corrected at the cost and expense of the contractors.

10. The Municipality will provide the land and way leave necessary for the works to be executed performed and completed by the contractors under this agreement and will afford all reasonable facilities to the contractors for carrying out and completing the works including the clearing of jungle and cutting trees when necessary at its own expense.

11. The contractors will on the 1st day of September 1897 or sooner as hereinafter provided commence the working of the installation or system of lighting by means of the plant machinery and works erected executed and completed by them pursuant to this agreement and will thereafter continue and be responsible for the proper and efficient working and repair of the said installation or system for the full period of five years from the said 1st day of September 1897 or sooner as hereinafter provided, the contractors hereby agreeing to supply the labour and other things necessary for the proper and efficient working of the said installation or system for that period. During such period of five years the contractors shall only be responsible for such injury or loss to the public or to property as may be caused by or be due to the negligence or wilful default of the contractors or those employed under them or under their orders. Subject to the last preceding sentence the Municipality shall as between them and the contractors be responsible for all injury or loss to the public or to property.

12. The contractors will by means of the plant machinery and works executed and completed by them furnish a regular and efficient supply of electricity for the purpose of giving light throughout the installation or system worked and maintained by them daily throughout the said period of five years from the hour of 5 in the evening of each day to the hour of 7 in the morning in the succeeding day.

13. In addition to the regular and efficient supply of electricity to be furnished under the last preceding paragraph the contractors will at the expense according to Schedule B hereto annexed and to the satisfaction of the Municipality at all times during the said period of five years when required by the Municipality so to do well and sufficiently and properly and according to the specification hereto annexed provide and lay down the wire posts and all requisite plant and do all the work necessary for the proper working of the same and make the necessary connections to the distributing points of the system worked by the contractors with all or any house or houses within the boundaries of the Municipality and furnish a regular efficient supply of electricity for the purpose of properly lighting such house or houses during the hours provided for in paragraph 12 and with the number of lights which the Municipality may sanction. Provided always that the contractors shall not be bound to supply such electricity to any house or houses after the total amount supplied under this contract for all purposes shall have reached the producing limits of the plant provided for in the specification hereto annexed. Provided also that the Municipality shall be at liberty to provide and lay down the said wire posts and plant and do all the required work and make the required connections either itself or through any other contractor without any interference objection or claim on the part of the contractors.

14. In the event of any temporary failure or interruption in the continuous supply of electricity for the purposes aforesaid during the period and hours mentioned in the two last preceding paragraphs the contractors will at their own expense rectify or remove the cause of the temporary failure or interruption with utmost despatch. If such temporary failure or interruption shall continue for any time in excess of 24 hours from the time such failure or interruption shall occur the contractors will pay to the Municipality the sum of Rs. 50 for every 24 hours or part thereof during which the failure or interruption shall continue. In the event of the non-payment on demand of any sum payable by the contractors under this paragraph, the amount thereof may be deducted by the Municipality from the ultimate balance to be paid to the contractors as hereinafter provided in respect of work to be executed performed and completed by them under this agreement if such balance shall not at the time of such default have been paid to the contractors; if at such time the said ultimate balance shall have been paid to the contractors then the amount in respect of which such default shall have been made shall be deducted from the monthly payment hereinafter agreed to be paid to the contractors for working expenses or otherwise recovered from the contractors who shall be personally reponsible therefor and the same shall also be a charge upon all their property situated in or near Darjeeling and in any way used in or connected with the subject of this contract.

15. Should temporary failure or interruption be of frequent occurrence or should any temporary failure or interruption become continuous such failure or interruption shall in either case be deemed to amount to permanent failure. The conditions constituting a permanent failure shall be determined by a committee constituted and appointed as hereinafter mentioned.

16. In the event of a permanent failure in the supply of electricity for the purposes aforesaid during the period and hours aforesaid the contractors will refund to the Municipality all sums which at the time of such permanent failure being so determined shall have been paid to them by the Municipality (other than monthly payments made to the contractors on account of working expenses as hereinafter provided), together with interests thereon at 4½ per cent. per annum from the date on which the failure shall have occurred minus the net profit realised by the Municipality during the period from the date of the commencement of the working of the installation or system by the contractors to the date on which the permanent failure shall be so determined, such profit consisting of the sums actually received by the Municipality from the supply of electricity to houses and the value of electricity supplied to or used in additional street lighting.

17. Provided always that the contractors shall not be liable to any payment deduction or refund in terms of the preceding clauses hereof in respect of any temporary failure or interruption or permanent failure of electricity if such failure or interruption or permanent failure shall have been occasioned by abnormal drought abnormal floods falling trees landslips or other inevitable causes which the contractors shall not have it in their power by proper diligence and supervision to prevent.

18. The Municipality will pay to the contractors the sums of money in this paragraph mentioned at the times and in the manner following that in to say—

(1) Rupees 75,000 (being equal to 78·95 per cent. of the value of all works executed and performed and all plant machinery and materials supplied by the contractors according to the said specification plants drawings and regulations) to be paid to the contractors by three instalments during the period the said works shall be in course of construction on the certificates of the said engineer appointed by the Municipality to the effect that at the time of granting such certificates the work done and materials supplied by the contractors are equal in value to the amount of the instalment named in such certificate and that the works executed and performed and plant machinery and materials supplied up to the time of granting any such certificate have been executed performed and supplied to the satisfaction of the said engineer.

(2) The balance Rs. 20,000 to be paid by the Municipality to the contractors on the certificate of the said expert selected by the Municipality that the works to be executed and performed by the contractors under this agreement have been executed performed and completed to the satisfaction of the said expert and in accordance with the said specification plans drawings and regulations and this agreement and that the installation or system of lighting and machinery erected by the contractors have worked satisfactorily and without interruption for the full period of one month from the date of the commencement of the working thereof by the contractors.

(3) Rupees 750 to be paid by the Municipality to the contractors monthly and every month during the aforesaid period of five years in full for the expenses of working and maintaining in repair the installation or system of lighting and machinery erected by them.

The Municipality shall further grant a bonus to the contractors as follows:—

If the installation shall have been completed and shall be in good working order on or before the—

19. The whole of the plant machinery buildings and property laid down or in stock in the premises shall upon the conclusion of one month of satisfactory working be delivered over in satisfactory working order to and become the absolute property of the Municipality. The contractors however guarantee absolutely that the said plant machinery buildings and property shall work satisfactorily for the aforesaid period of five years, and that on any and every failure thereof the conditions of paragraphs 14 15 and 16 as the case may be from time to time shall come into operation save as provided in paragraph 17.

20. The Municipality shall build or provide and maintain in good repair a house costing or worth at least rupees 4,000 upon a site to be agreed upon by them with the contractors for the purpose of a rent-free residence for the manager of the contractors for the said period of five years.

21. The contractors shall be personally responsible for ascertaining generally the sufficiency and continuity of the water-supply and the suitability of the site which they may select for the obtaining of the necessary water power and for manipulating and using such power and if the water-supply shall at any time or times during the said period of five years fail so as to be insufficient for any time or permanently (save as provided under paragraph 17) the provisions hereinbefore contained in clauses 14 15 and 16 as the case may be shall be applicable and take effect.

22. All questions of satisfactory or unsatisfactory construction or working or of temporary or permanent failures and all questions not otherwise hereby provided for on which the contractors and the Municipality may be at issue at any time during construction or during the said period of five years shall be decided by a committee of three persons one to be nominated by the Municipality the second by the contractors and the third being an independent member selected by the two nominees. The decision of the majority shall prevail and be final when all three members have been appointed. If either party shall neglect or fail to appoint its member of the Committee within 30 days after the happening of any difference or if the two members appointed by the parties hereto shall neglect or fail within the next succeeding 10 days after the expiration of the aforesaid 30 days to appoint the third member then all questions which would have been raised or have come before the said Committee for decision shall be decided by such person as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may nominate and the decision of such person shall in that case be final and binding absolutely on both parties.

23. In case of the removal or reduction of duty on the importation of any of the plant machinery or other material employed for or in the said installation the contractors will refund to the Municipality the amount of the saving effected by such removal or reduction of duty in the cost landed in Calcutta of the said plant machinery or other material.

A.

SCHEDULE HEREINBEFORE REFERRED TO.

(Plans showing the position of all works to accompany this specification.)

Turbine-house.—To be a stone building with galvanised iron roof; the floor area to be 20 feet × 20 feet.

Turbines.—To be two of the Girard type, 25 wheels, each capable of developing 100 Brake horse-power at about 550 revolutions per minute, under an effective head of 275 feet; the bed-plate of each turbine to be connected to the bed-plate of an alternator, and the shaft of each turbine to the shaft of an alternator. Each turbine to be fitted with suitable governors and stop-valves.

Pipes.—Each turbine to have a steel supply-pipe sufficient in length and diameter to provide an effective head of 275 feet from the pentrough when the turbine is developing 100 Brake horse-power. The pipes to be flange jointed and fitted with suitable anchor bolts, and to be supplied with water through a stop-valve and galvanized grating in the pentrough.

Reservoir.—To be pucka built, capable of storing 40,000 cubic feet of water and of supplying the same to the turbine pipes through the pentrough.

Drains.—Galvanised iron drains, No. 20B.W.G., are to be laid from the Hospital Jhora and the Kotwali Jhora to the reservoir. These drains are to be so proportioned as to carry efficiently the water required from each jhora, and are to be laid on roads or carried on iron brackets.

Alternators.—To be two Crompton Brunton alternators, each capable of an output of 65 Kilowatts at a speed of about 550 revolutions, and giving a pressure of some 2,200 volts, each provided with a direct coupled exciter, and each coupled direct to a turbine.

Switches and instruments.—For each alternator as follows:— One double pole main switch and double pole main cut-out, one volt meter, and one ampere meter.

Transformers.—To be three in number, placed as shown in the plan, and having sufficient aggregate capacity for 200 16-c. p. and 12,008-c. p. lamps; the secondary pressure to be 230 volts. Each transformer in a water-proof case to be fitted with switches and cut-outs.

Mains.—High pressure mains to be run as shown in the plan, to be carried on patent oil insulators fixed to tubular poles of the Telegraph Department pattern, are to conduct the electricity from the alternators to the transformers. The mains are to be suited to the output of one alternator. Where these mains cross over public thoroughfares, they are to be carried in strict accordance with the Board of Trade Regulations for the safety of the public, except in so far as these Regulations are modified by the following provision:—The high-tension wires are to be carried on 23 feet and the low-pressure on 15 feet 8 inch poles. Mains are to be run in 200 feet spans as far as possible, and may cross the roads at any angle; discretion may be used as to their proximity to houses. Such arrangement, it is understood, must be approved of by a competent Engineer nominated by the Municipality.

Distributing Mains.—These of bare copper carried on glazed stoneware insulators, fixed to tubular galvanized iron poles of the Telegraph Department pattern, are to distribute the electricity at a pressure of not less than 210 vaults to the lamps: they are to be run in accordance with the Board of Trade Regulations as modified by the Government of India for the safety of the public modified as aforesaid, and subject to the same approval.

Lamps.—To be 200 16-c.p. 220-volt lamps, each fitted with a water-proof fitting and clear glass globe, and affixed to one of the poles carrying the mains; they are to be supplied and erected in the thoroughfares of Darjeeling within the area now lighted.

Spares.—A suitable set of spare parts to be supplied by the contractors.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government in the Canal Department, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned surplus canal lands of Kori distributary, situate in the district of Shahabad, will be put up to sale at the Arrah Collectorate on Tuesday, the 4th January 1898, corresponding with 26th Poos 1305 F.S.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale :—

Conditions of Sale.

1st.—The lands to be sold to the highest bidders above the upset price, which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchaser of these lands will be considered as the proprietor of the lands, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such land will be transferred to him revenue free.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and by the laws in force, and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the lands to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale :—

NOTICE.

In the Court of the Judicial Commissioner, Chota Nagpur, Ranchi.

Present:—F. B. Taylor, Esq., I.C.S., Judicial Commissioner.

ORIGINAL SUIT No. 3 OF 1897.

Syed Muhammad Karim and others, plaintiffs, versus Mirza Amir Uddin Ahmad and another, defendants.

SYED MUHAMMAD KARIM alias Nawab Chander, Mussamat Kaniz Sogra, Syed Altaf Hosain, and Syed Haj Muhammad, residents of Husainabad, zilla Palamau, have, on behalf of the Muhammadan community of that place, instituted a suit in the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of Chota Nagpur against Mirza Amir Uddin Haidar and Imdad Husain of the said Husainabad, praying, in the main, for the removal of Mirza Amir Uddin from the post of mutwali of certain wakf property situated in zilla Palamau endowed by Wasih Begum on the ground that he was not properly elected according to terms of wakfnama and for declaring the said post vacant and removal of Imdad Husain, the former mutwali, on the ground of misconduct and mismanagement, and recommending Syed Hakim Ahmad Husain for appointment as a mutwali; and further that accounts may be called for from the said two persons (defendants), and pending the suit a Receiver may be appointed for managing the wakf property; and that they, the plaintiffs, may be allowed, under section 30, Civil Procedure Code, to conduct the case on behalf of all concerned in the wakf. This notice is accordingly given under section 30, Civil Procedure Code. Objections, if any, must be filed in the said Court before the close of December 1897.

PACIFIC OCEAN—KINGMAN REEF.

Position and character of the reef.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 614 of 1897) that the following information is derived from a survey of Kingman reef by Captain A. M. Field, H.M. Surveying Vessel Penguin, 1897:—

> Kingman reef is of atoll character, triangular in shape, having the base on the southern side and the apex to the northward. Within the 100 fathoms line it is 9½ miles long east and west, and 5 miles north and south. It dries at low water on its north-east, east, and south-east edges.

Approximate position of south-east extreme, lat. 6° 23′ 0″ N., long. 162° 18′ 20″ W.

(2) Unsuccessful search for Caldew and Maria reefs.

Also, that an exhaustive search was unsuccessfully made for Caldew and Maria reefs. It is now considered that these reefs are identical with Kingman reef, and they have been expunged from the charts.

PACIFIC OCEAN—China sea.

A mud bank not marked on the chart.

The Acting Resident at Labuan has given notice (No. 761, dated 11th October 1897) that information has been received from the Master of the S.S. Libelle of London that the said vessel left Kudat on the 8th October at 7 P.M., bound to Labuan and Singapore with part cargo of general merchandize. All went well until 2-45 P.M., on the 9th instant, in latitude 5° 18½′ N. and longitude 115° 17′ E. (this is approximate position), the ship passed over a mud bank not marked on the chart, and on sounding found twelve (12) feet of water on the bank. The ship's way was not stopped, and arrived safely at Labuan at 3-15 P.M.

And the said Master hereby causes this protest to be entered.

BAY OF BENGAL—Chittagong coast.

Chittagong river.—Buoys relaid.

The Port Officer, Chittagong, has given notice that the following buoys have been relaid:—

Outer bar black buoy—

Relaid in 17 feet water reduced.

Norman's point light-house bearing from buoy S.-E. Patunga mark N. by E. ½ E.

Middle black Patunga buoy—

Relaid in 14 feet reduced.

Patunga beacon N. ¾ W. Diamond and disc mark in one N. E. by N.

Upper black Patunga buoy—

Relaid in 26 feet reduced.

Patunga beacon N.-W. ½ W. Diamond and disc marks nearly in line.

Lower small Jooldia cask black buoy—

Relaid in 14 feet reduced in its old position.

The outer bar is very lumpy and caution should be exercised by vessels. Best track enter about centre between outer bar buoys; when 800 feet inside, edge over to port and bring middle and upper black Patunga buoys nearly in line, or old disc mark on with diamond. This will lead in up to Jooldia.

RESOLUTION PROMULGATING THE REVISED BENGAL PLAGUE REGULATIONS.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 10th November 1897.

RESOLUTION—No. 1465T.—M.

READ—

A letter from the Indian Medical Association, dated the 23rd March 1897, submitting certain suggestions for arresting the spread of the bubonic plague.

A memorial without date from certain Muhammadan gentlemen, suggesting modifications in the draft rules framed by the Government of Bengal under the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897.

An extract from the Statesman newspaper of the 4th September 1897, reporting the proceedings of an informal meeting held at the Bengal Council Chamber on the 2nd September 1897, for the purpose of discussing certain draft rules under the Epidemic Diseases Act.

Read again—

Plague Notifications Nos. 1, 4 and 5, dated the 10th February 1897, and Nos. 6 and 7, dated the 12th March 1897.

Several months ago the Government of Bengal took into consideration the question of modifying some of the Regulations issued under the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897, in the light of the experience gained in combating plague in Western India. That experience seems to show that the distinction between isolated cases and a well-defined outbreak, which was recognised when the Bengal Regulations were framed, cannot be safely maintained, and that whatever precautions may be authorised by law must be brought into force directly a single case occurs. Although Regulations Nos. 6 and 7 of the 12th March are not based on this distinction, they are not as comprehensive as Regulations Nos. 4 and 5, and in respect of segregation they are far more severe. It is also for many reasons desirable that the Regulations should conform as closely as possible to those in force in neighbouring Provinces.

2. Representations were at the same time received from the Muhammadan community and the Indian Medical Association on the subject of these Regulations, and it came in various ways to the Lieutenant-Governor's notice that some alarm had been caused among both Hindus and Muhammadans by the prospect of the existing Plague Regulations, especially those relating to segregation, being brought into force. In order to allay the apprehensions of the native community, without abating the stringency of the measures necessary to combat the plague successfully in this Province, the Lieutenant-Governor caused a fresh set of rules to be drafted and circulated to a number of representative Muhammadan gentlemen for opinion. A deputation of Muhammadans was at the same time received by the President of the Medical Board, who on two occasions discussed with them and with the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, and the Chairman of the Calcutta Municipality the points which they considered open to objection in the draft rules. They afterwards submitted the memorial which is referred to in the preamble. The views of the Hindu community were believed to be expressed in the letter from the Indian Medical Association. These memorials were fully considered by Government, and the requests therein made were as far as practicable given effect to in the draft Regulation, rule 31 of which admitted in a modified form the system of home-segregation of sick persons, provided that suitable accommodation were available, and that the expenses of isolation, including watch and ward, medical attendance and complete disinfection were deposited with the Health Officer beforehand.

3. Just as the Regulation was ready for publication, Dr. Lowson, who had worked at Hongkong during the outbreak of plague at that place, and had acquired further experience of the disease as Joint Plague Commissioner with the Government of Bombay, arrived in Bengal, and Sir Alexander Mackenzie thought it right to consult him on the subject. After making a thorough inspection of Calcutta and Howrah with reference to the facilities for combating an outbreak of plague in either town, Dr. Lowson expressed his opinion that the system of home-segregation authorised by rule 31 of the draft Regulation as it then stood was likely to prove absolutely ineffectual in the event of even a few cases of plague occurring, and that to proceed on those lines would be to court disaster. The Lieutenant-Governor fully recognised the social objections to enforcing immediate removal to hospitals and segregation camps, and at first declined to modify the rule; but after once more personally discussing the question with Dr. Lowson, His Honour was driven to the conclusion that no system of home-segregation could be successfully worked in Calcutta. It seemed to him unwise to reject the teachings of experience in a matter of this importance, more especially as Dr. Lowson attributed much of the mortality in Bombay to futile efforts to carry out home-segregation in the early stages of the epidemic, and to the failure to realise the imperative necessity of isolating all sources of infection as soon as possible. Rule 31 of the Regulation was therefore amended in consultation with Dr. Lowson, so as to stand thus:—

"If on examination of a sick person the Health Officer suspects that such person is suffering from or infected with plague, he may cause such person to be removed to a hospital, and may arrange for his detention, dieting and medical treatment therein. He may also cause the other occupants of the house in which such person resides to be removed to a segregation camp and to be detained under observation for ten days.

"When particular castes or classes of the community have constructed at their own cost private hospitals and segregation camps, the site and plan of which have been approved by the Health Officer, and have arranged, to that officer's satisfaction, for the medical administration of such hospitals and camps, sick or suspected persons may, if they so desire and if accommodation is available, be removed to the private hospital or segregation camp constructed for the use of the caste or class to which they belong, instead of to a public hospital or camp.

"In both public and private camps and hospitals separate and suitable accommodation shall be provided for females, and in the case of a female who by the custom of the country does not appear in public, her parda shall be strictly preserved both in removal to the camp or hospital and during her stay there. The friends and servants of sick persons shall be permitted to accompany them to hospital, but shall be subject to the same rules as regards segregation as if they were sick themselves."

In the meantime the great diminution of plague in the Bombay Presidency had made the danger to Calcutta remote, and Sir Alexander Mackenzie considered it unnecessary to excite alarm among the Native residents of Calcutta by publishing a rule, which it might never be necessary to enforce. The Regulation was accordingly held in abeyance.

4. The position has since undergone a change for the worse. Plague has revived in Bombay and Puna, and has spread to several other places in that Presidency, and it has also appeared at Madras and in the neighbourhood of Jalandhar in the Punjab and Hardwar in the North-Western Provinces. The Officiating Lieutenant-Governor cannot avoid the conclusion that the persistence of the disease in Western India, and the fact of its having shown itself further eastward than it has hitherto done, and on the main lines of communication with Northern and Southern India, constitute a real source of danger to Bengal, and render it necessary to adopt further precautions for the protection of the Province, and more especially of the city of Calcutta. His Honour has therefore again considered the official correspondence on the subject of the draft Regulation and the papers cited in the preamble. The letter of the Indian Medical Association has special value in relation not only to the problem of warding off or suppressing an outbreak of plague without doing unnecessary violence to the feelings of the people, but also to the larger question of the sanitation of Calcutta and municipal towns generally. The Association lay stress on the "utterly insanitary condition of Calcutta" and its "unprepared state," * * * * "a state of things which hygienically may be said to invite epidemic disease, and subsequently to harbour it for an almost undefined and unlimited period." As regards segregation, they admit "the absolute necessity of the most strenuous carrying out of the recent enactment of the Government of India with regard to segregation." They refer with approval to the proposal that "the wealthy members of each sect of Indians should provide their own separate and special segregation hospitals, wherein arrangements could be made for zanana and parda-nashin ladies, their attendants and relatives, on a style that would be quite in keeping with their caste and religious usages." In the absence of such arrangements, they suggest that, "so far as the wealthier classes of Hindus and Muhammadans are concerned, domestic segregation of a special kind might be adopted. For example, we find the houses of our great Indian cities are large, and all are provided with expansive flat roofs or terraces. When plague breaks out in a house of this sort, it is possible to isolate the sufferer by transferring him or her to a specially erected thatched room on the terrace, with a special attendant; and such arrangements could be made so as to shut off all communication with the terrace and other parts of the buildings." The Muhammadan memorialists referred to above, while objecting generally to segregation as such, ask that, in all cases where patients cannot be segregated in their own houses, they may be segregated in buildings or huts close by. The wishes and sentiments of both communities in respect of this subject were recently fully expressed at the Conference presided over by the Hon'ble Mr. Glass, which was attended by the leaders of Hindu and Muhammadan society in Calcutta. His Honour entirely sympathises with their desire that, in guarding against the great calamity of an outbreak of plague in Calcutta, as little violence as possible should be done to the social traditions and usages of the upper classes of Natives, and he is anxious to make every concession that is consistent with the paramount duty of preventing the spread of the disease. With this object rule 31 of the draft Regulation (46 of that now published) has been further amended to the following effect :—

46. Segregation.—(1) If on examination of any person the Health Officer suspects that such person is suffering from or infected with plague, he may cause such person to be removed to a hospital, and may arrange for his detention, dieting and medical treatment therein. He may also cause the other occupants of the house in which such person resides to be removed to a segregation camp and to be detained under observation for ten days. In the case of parda-nashin ladies, a lady doctor shall conduct the examination.

(2) When private plague hospitals or segregation camps have been provided and fully equipped by or for particular castes, classes, joint-familes, or associations of families, and the Health Officer, or in Calcutta two members of the Plague Commission empowered for this purpose by the President, have in writing approved of the site, plan, furniture and arrangements for medical administration of such hospitals and camps, sick or suspected persons may, if they so desire and if accommodation is available, be removed to the private hospital or segregation camp constructed for the use of the caste, class or family to which they belong, instead of to a public hospital or camp.

(3) In both public and private camps and hospitals separate and suitable accommodation shall be provided for females, and in the case of a female who by the custom of the country does not appear in public, her parda shall be strictly preserved, both in removal to the camp or hospital and during her stay there.

(4) The relatives, friends, hakims, baids, and priests of sick persons shall be allowed free access to them during the day time, subject only to such precautions as the Health Officer may consider necessary.

(5) Members of the family of a sick person who are in attendance on him may also be admitted to the hospital, whether public or private, provided that they shall sleep in the compound in suitable accommodation provided for the purpose, and not in the hospital itself.

Explanation 1.—It is not necessary that hospitals provided in accordance with this rule should be constructed in remote or inconvenient situations.

Explanation 2.—In Calcutta, persons desirous of taking advantage of clause (2) should at once communicate with the Plague Commission, and satisfy that body of their ability to provide adequate hospitals and camps when plague breaks out. In other places, application should be made to the Health Officer.

Explanation 3.—In Calcutta, private hospitals and camps may be closed by order of the Plague Commission, if the Health Officer reports that medical attendance and segregation are not maintained to his satisfaction, or that the conditions on which such camps or hospitals were sanctioned are not complied with. In other places, the power of closing private hospitals and camps will be exercised by the Magistrate of the district on the report of the Health Officer.

It will be seen that, following the analogy of the second clause* of rule 12 of Regulation No. 4 of the 10th February 1897, which was based upon a suggestion made by a Native gentleman to the President of the Medical Board, the system of caste and class hospitals, which has worked successfully in Bombay, has been extended under certain conditions to joint families or associations of families. This concession will render it possible for the upper classes of the Native community to secure for themselves and their families complete privacy in the event of their being attacked by plague, and being required in the interests of the general public to submit themselves to segregation. The question is one merely of organisation and of expense; and the cost will be nominal in comparison with the heavy losses which a prolonged visitation of plague would entail upon all residents of Calcutta, whether house-owners, traders or professional men. On such an occasion, the poorer members of these classes may fairly expect the richer members to assist them in preserving their social usages intact by providing special hospitals and camps for them to take refuge in. This is what has been done by Native gentlemen in Bombay, and Mr. Stevens hopes that the Native gentlemen of Bengal will not be backward in following their example. The Marwari traders of Calcutta have already expressed their readiness to provide a special hospital for themselves; and the fact that a donation of Rs. 2,000 has recently been received from Hajee Moosajee Ahmed Salajee for the purpose of providing additional comforts for Muhammadan gentlemen who may be detained at Khana, encourages the Lieutenant-Governor to believe that wealthy Muhammadans will also come forward to assist the poorer members of their faith. His Honour thinks it probable that the provisions of clause (2) of rule 46 will be very largely resorted to, and hopes that persons intending to take advantage of that clause will lose no time in communicating with the Plague Commission. When plague actually breaks out, it will be too late to make any but the simplest arrangements, and persons who have not organised their private hospitals beforehand will find themselves compelled to resort to those provided for the public.

* "Provided that when the Medical Board is satisfied that suitable and sufficient accommodation for the complete segregation of infected and suspected persons and efficient medical attendance have been provided by an association of families, it may exempt such families from the provisions of this Regulation. This exemption may be withdrawn if the Health Officer reports that medical attendance and segregation are not maintained to his satisfaction."

5. The remaining requests of the memorialists have been met as far as possible in the rules. They are mistaken in supposing that rule 52 empowers the Health Officer to give directions as to the method of burial. The rule refers only to the method of removing the corpse. In order, however, to concede as much as possible to the feelings of the memorialists, the Chairman of the Corporation will be directed to ascertain what method of preventing risk of infection in the process of removing a corpse will be least open to ceremonial objections, and that method will be prescribed for observance. In the matter of the use of disinfectants, it will be for the Committee appointed under rule 32 to see that a reasonable practice is followed. The question of maintaining dependants while the working member of a family is undergoing segregation, is provided for by rules 49 and 55.

6. In order to secure the prompt and concerted action which the experience of other Provinces has shown to be indispensable in dealing with plague, the powers conferred by the Regulation in respect of Municipalities and Cantonments are vested in District or Cantonment Magistrates, and, in Calcutta, in the Chairman of the Corporation. Such powers are of two classes. Some come into operation at once, and the rest remain in abeyance until a case of plague occurs in the Municipality or Cantonment concerned, or in a place near enough to cause risk of infection. The former class comprises—

(a) Power to point a Health Officer and staff for Municipalities or groups of Municipalities (rule 24).
(b) Power to appoint committees of inspection (rule 32).
(c) Power to carry out certain general sanitary precautions (rule 33).
(d) Power to deal with insanitary premises and blocks of huts, overcrowded dwellings, rag-picking and rag stores (rules 34-36).
(e) Power to provide hospitals and segregation camps (rules 37 and 38).

It will be for Magistrates to decide, in consultation, if necessary, with the Plague Commission, what action should be taken at once under each of these heads. In some of the larger Municipalities general sanitary precautions have already been carried out in accordance with instructions issued by Government earlier in the year. The Regulation will enable these operations to be continued in a more systematic manner and at less cost to the municipal funds. In other places, it is believed that comparatively little has been done. The attention of the Magistrates of Hooghly, Howrah and the 24-Parganas is directed to the condition of the small Municipalities on either bank of the river Hooghly near Howrah and Calcutta. These are a source of special danger by reason of their position and surroundings, and the number of mill hands and other labourers who reside in them under conditions peculiarly liable to promote the rapid dissemination of plague. It will probably be found desirable to form these Municipalities into groups for the purposes of action under rules 24, 33, 34 and 35.

7. In respect of the construction of hospitals and segregation camps and the provision of medical staff, beds, furniture, medicines, disinfectants and the other machinery for combating an actual outbreak of plague, it should be clearly understood that no large expenditure need be immediately incurred. In view of the fact that an outbreak may, under favourable circumstances, be warded off by prompt isolation of sporadic cases not of local origin, it is essential that some hospital accommodation for such cases should be made available everywhere. But this may be of the cheapest type, and in many places it may be possible to make use of the infectious wards of existing hospitals or dispensaries. As regards the further and more elaborate measures requisite for dealing with an actual outbreak, it will be sufficient at present to make such arrangements as will render it possible to take effective action at a moment's notice. Every District Magistrate should, therefore, at once prepare, for all municipal towns in which he considers such a precaution is called for, a scheme based upon the memorandum by the Sanitary Commissioner on Plague Hospitals and Segregation Camps, which is appended to this Resolution, and should submit it to the Secretary to the Plague Commission for examination and approval with any explanation of local circumstances that may be necessary. In the case of Calcutta, it is understood that a scheme has already been prepared by the Chairman. This should now be revised, if necessary, with reference to the memorandum, and submitted to the Plague Commission. Given a definite plan of operations, showing exactly what is to be done and how it is to be done, the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that it will be found possible, in the event of occasion arising, to organise the measures requisite with the minimum of delay.

8. The occurrence of an ascertained case of plague should be reported, by telegram, if necessary, to the Local Government, the Secretary to the Plague Commission, the Sanitary Commissioner, and, in places outside Calcutta, to the Commissioner of the Division.

9. The opportunity has been taken to add to the numbers of the Medical Board appointed by the Government Resolution No. 937T.—M., dated 10th October 1896, to define its functions more precisely, and to change its designation, which has given rise to some misapprehension, from "Medical Board" to "Plague Commission."

10. The probable working of the Regulation has been very carefully considered, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that all classes of the community will assist the Government in its efforts to prevent the spread of plague in these Provinces.

ORDER.—Ordered that copies of the Resolution, with copies of the Rules, be forwarded to the members of the Plague Commission, Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation, the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, all Commissioners of Divisions, all Magistrates (direct), for information and communication to the Municipalities and District Boards in their jurisdiction, Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Inspector-General of Police, Lower Provinces, Sanitary Commissioner, Officers Commanding Cantonments, Deputy Adjutant-General, Bengal, for the information of the Lieutenant-General Commanding the Forces, Bengal; all Departments of Government; also to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the Trades' Association, Calcutta Ordered, also, that the Resolution with the revised Rules be communicated to the Government of India, Home Department.

Ordered, further that the Resolution with the Rules be communicated to newspapers and published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

PLAGUE NOTIFICATION—No. 9.

Darjeeling, the 10th November 1897.

In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897, and by the Notification of the Government of India in the Home Department, No 302, dated 4th February 1897, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased to prescribe the following Regulation for preventing the spread of the bubonic plague, in supersession of the Regulations prescribed by Plague Notifications Nos. 1, 4 and 5, dated the 10th February, and Nos 6 and 7, dated the 12th March :—

PART I.—APPOINTMENT OF PLAGUE COMMISSION.

1. The following gentlemen are appointed to form a Plague Commission for the purpose of advising the Government, the district and railway officials, heads of departments, Municipalities and District Boards, as to the measures to be taken in order to prevent the outbreak and check the spread of bubonic plague within the territories subject to the administration of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and of discharging such further duties as may hereafter be assigned to them :—

The Hon'ble H. H. Risley, C.I.E., Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Medical Department	President.
The Hon'ble Sir Patrick Playfair, KT., C.I.E.	Members.
The Hon'ble M. C. Turner
The President of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce ...
The Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Public Works Department

Surgeon-Major A. W. D. Leahy
The Inspector-General of Police, Bengal
The Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta
Dr. Mohendra Lall Sircar
Dr. Koilash Chunder Bose
Maulavi Zuhir-ud-din Ahmed, Honorary Assistant Surgeon to His Excellency the Viceroy
Mr. W. Banks Gwyther, Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Public Works Department	Secretary.

PART II.—RULES RELATING TO VILLAGES AND NON-MUNICIPAL TOWNS.

2. Appointment of plague authorities.—In every local area where there is danger of plague, the District Magistrate, subject to the general instructions of the Commissioner, may appoint special officers, either by name or by virtue of office, to devise and carry out, under the District Magistrate's general directions all measures necessary to prevent the spread of the plague. The special officers appointed for any local area under these rules shall be known as plague authorities.

3. Duties of proprietors of lands.—Every village headman, every owner and occupier of land and the agent thereof, and every person employed in the collection of revenue by Government or the Court of Wards, shall use his best endeavours to secure full compliance with the following provisions as to the immediate reporting to the nearest police-station of the occurrence of each case of plague on his property, as to the segregation of the sick and their attendants, as to the disinfection of the houses of persons who have suffered from plague, and as to the disposal, in accordance with the customs of their religion, of the bodies of those who have died.

4. Duties of Station and Outpost Officers, Rural Police and Chaukidari Panchayats.—Every rural policeman (chaukidar) shall forthwith report to his police-station or outpost the name of every person who has arrived in his village from any area declared to be infected with bubonic plague, together with the name of the householder with whom he resides, and shall also report fresh arrivals as they occur. Members of chaukidari panchayats are required to see that the above duty is faithfully performed. The names so reported, with dates, will be entered in a Special List to be kept at police-stations and outposts. The Station Officer shall also enter in the Special List the names and addresses of travellers from infected areas which are reported to him by the Railway Police under rule 13. He shall also, for the space of ten days next following after the persons shown in the Special List arrived in his jurisdiction, cause the state of health of such persons to be specially reported to him.

5. Every rural policeman shall report any excessive mortality among rats or monkeys that may occur.

6. Every rural policeman shall be liable, on the requisition of the police-station or outpost officer, to do 24 hours duty at any railway station situated within the police-station or outpost jurisdiction, and to perform there such duties as shall hereafter be prescribed by circular or departmental orders.

7. Rural Policemen to be present at Railway Stations.—The District Superintendent of Police, in consultation with the District Magistrate, will arrange that two or, if necessary, more than two chaukidars shall be present throughout the 24 hours at such railway stations in his district as shall hereafter be notified from time to time. This arrangement will be made under his orders by the police-station or outpost officer, who will be held responsible that each pair or batch of chaukidars is regularly relieved after 24 hours' duty, and that each man receives subsistence allowance at the rate of two annas a day. This subsistence allowance will be paid from District Board or other District Funds under arrangements to be made by the Magistrate.

8. Inquiry to be made when death reported of person entered in Special List.—On receiving intimation of the illness or death of any person entered in the Special List referred to in rule 4 or of any person residing in the same household, the station or outpost officer shall institute inquiry to ascertain whether the deceased has or had symptoms of plague as described in the memorandum annexed, and shall report his action by an entry in red ink in the Station Diary. He shall also inform the nearest plague authority.

9. Increased mortality in villages to be inquired into.—Whenever the deaths reported from any village are more numerous than usual, and especially sudden deaths due to fever, the station or outpost officer shall forthwith make enquiries in order to ascertain whether the symptoms of bubonic plague existed, and will, when forwarding "The weekly statement of deaths to the Civil Surgeon," prescribed by Bengal Police Circular No. 2 of March 1897, call the Civil Surgeon's attention to the increased rate of mortality.

10. Results of enquiry under preceding rules to be reported to Civil Surgeon.—The station or outpost officer shall forthwith report to the Civil Surgeon and to the nearest plague authority the result of the enquiries made under either of the last two preceding rules, and shall make an entry in red ink for the information of the District Superintendent and Magistrate in the Station Diary which is despatched daily.

11. Magistrates and superior Police Officers required to supervise.—Magistrates and the superior police officers should, whenever practicable, attend the weekly muster parades at which all the rural policemen are assembled, so as to be able by interrogation and by enquiry to satisfy themselves that the rules laid down in this Regulation are being duly carried out.

12. District and Rural Police to assist plague authorities.—The District and Rural Police shall give to the plague authorities any assistance they may require to enable them to carry out the duties they have to perform under this Regulation.

13. Duties of Railway Police.—Assistant Inspectors-General of the Railway Police are required to work in cordial co-operation with the District Police. It is their duty to arrange, on the arrival of trains, that the railway police prepare lists containing the names and residences of travellers from infected areas; these lists, after being checked from the tickets collected, will be forwarded to the station police. When there is reason to suspect that a traveller has given either a wrong name or wrong residence, one of the chaukidars referred to in rule 7 will be sent with him to verify the information given. A small itinerant staff will be sanctioned for each Assistant Inspector-General to ensure that the rules prescribed for observance at railway stations are being strictly carried out, and that travellers are not evading examination and observation by alighting at intermediate stations and taking fresh tickets.

14. Breaking railway journey.—In the event of a traveller from an infected area alighting at an intermediate station with the object of obtaining a fresh ticket, so as to conceal the fact that he comes from an infected area, the Railway Police will take down his name and the number of the fresh ticket issued, and will send information down the line so that he may, on alighting, be placed under observation.

15. Duties of plague authorities.—Immediately on receiving information under the preceding rules, or whenever he thinks house visitation necessary, the plague authority shall go to the place indicated, and if the place be a house or dwelling-place, and if the occupants thereof do not (on his demand) allow him to enter and give him reasonable facilities for ascertaining whether any of the inmates are suffering from the plague, such authority is empowered to enter into such house or any part thereof by force, and to detain, for the purpose of medical examination, any person found therein to be suffering or suspected to be suffering from the plague, or in his opinion likely to have been infected, e.g., owing to his having lived in the same house with a plague patient. Such plague authority, if he be not himself a medical officer, shall without delay send word to the nearest medical officer in the service of Government or of any local authority, and such medical officer, whether appointed a plague authority for the locality or not, shall be bound to come to the place indicated and examine and report on the case If the case prove to be one of plague, the plague authority may, in his discretion, proceed under rules 43 to 52 inclusive so far as they are applicable.

16 A plague authority is empowered to have the cause of death inquired into in every case, and, unless satisfied, to treat the case as one of plague.

17. Every medical officer appointed under these rules as a plague authority is empowered to examine all persons whom he discovers, or about whom he receives information under the provisions of the preceding rules, and to detain and segregate persons suffering or suspected by him to be suffering from the plague, in such places as may be appointed by the District Magistrate or officer specially deputed by him in this behalf for the accommodation of such persons respectively. For the purpose of segregating people, the District Magistrate, or officer specially authorised by him in this behalf may take possession of and occupy any vacant ground or building, such compensation being afterwards made to the owner or occupier thereof as may be fixed under rule 55.

18. If a medical officer appointed under these rules as a plague authority has reason to believe that any building used or intended to the used as a dwelling is or has been occupied by a sufferer from the plague, or if it appears to him that any such building is in such an insanitary condition as to be unfit for human habitation, he may prohibit by a written order the further use of such building as a dwelling-house. When any such prohibition has been made, no owner or occupier of such building shall use, or suffer the same to be used, for human habitation until the said officer gives him written permission in this behalf. For the purpose of enforcing this rule, the said officer may, if necessary, forcibly remove, or cause to be removed, any person from such building

19. If a medical officer appointed under these rules as a plague authority consider it necessary that the inhabitants of the village in which bubonic plague is prevalent should be located in a temporary settlement at a distance from the village, in the manner indicated in rule 50, he shall make a report to that effect to the Magistrate of the district, and the latter may direct the inhabitants to vacate their houses accordingly. The houses shall in this case not be again occupied till they are certified by a medical officer to have been thoroughly disinfected.

20. Should plague appear in a village, the people of surrounding villages should be warned to have no communication with the infected village until the disease has completely disappeared.

21. Duties of the Public.—Every person to whom an order is given by any plague authority with regard to his segregation, the disinfection of his house or personal property, or with regard to any other matter falling under these rules, shall duly obey that order.

Part III.—Rules relating to Municipal Towns and Cantonments.

22. The following rules apply to every Municipality and to every Cantonment. Rules 23 to 42 and 55 to 57 inclusive, and rule 46, so far as it relates to the preparation of schemes for private hospitals and camps and their approval by the Plague Commission or the Health Officer, as the case may be, shall come into force at once They shall forthwith be translated into the vernacular of the district, and deposited in the office of the District Magistrate, the Cantonment authority, and the Municipal Commissioners, and a copy shall be posted up in a conspicuous position at such office and in such other public places as the Magistrate of the district, the Cantonment authority or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, may direct. And a public proclamation shall be made throughout the Municipality or Cantonment by beat of drum, notifying that such copy has been so posted up, and that the original is open to inspection in the office of the Municipal Commissioners or Cantonment authority. The remaining rules shall come into force in any Municipality or Cantonment as soon as the Magistrate of the district or the Cantonment authority or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, is satisfied that a case of plague has occurred in that Municipality or Cantonment, or in a place near enough to cause risk of the infection spreading. In every such case the rules shall be published in the manner prescribed above.

23 Health Officer defined.—The words "Health Officer" in the following rules mean the Civil Surgeon of the district, and include a Civil Medical Officer, a Military Medical Officer in charge of a Cantonment, an Assistant Surgeon in medical charge of a district or subdivision or a municipal dispensary, and a Medical Officer appointed by the District Magistrate under rule 24. In Calcutta, Health Officer means the Health Officer of Calcutta, and includes an Assistant Health Officer.

24. Appointment of Health Officers.—In every Municipality or Cantonment where there is danger of plague, the District Magistrate, subject to the general instructions of the Commissioner, may appoint a Health Officer, either by name or by virtue of office to devise and carry out, under the District Magistrate's general directions, all measures necessary to prevent the spread of the plague, and may fix his pay. He may also appoint such subordinate staff to assist the Health Officer in carrying out his duties as he may consider necessary, and may fix their pay. For the purposes of this rule, the District Magistrate may group Municipalities and Cantonments, and may appoint a Health Officer and staff for the combined area. In Calcutta these powers shall be exercised by the Chairman of the Corporation, subject to the instruction of the Local Government.

25. Duties of Town Police at Railway Stations.—When a railway station is situated within or close to municipal boundaries, the railway police, in co-operation with the town police, will arrange to meet trains on arrival and to prepare lists containing the names and residences of travellers from infected areas who may alight. These lists, after being checked against the tickets collected, will then be sent to the town police-stations. When a traveller is suspected of giving a wrong name or wrong residence, one of the town policemen present will be sent with him to verify the information given.

26. Town Police to report arrivals from infected parts and to keep them under observation.—The town police are required to report at once to the police-station the name of every person arriving from parts of the country infected with the bubonic plauge who take up their temporary or permanent residence within the limits of their beats. The names so obtained, together with those referred to in the preceding rule, with dates of entry, will be entered in the Special List to be kept at town police-stations. A copy of this Special List will be sent to the District or Cantonment Magistrate and to the Health Officer, all new names being notified to them without delay. The town police are required to submit daily reports regarding the health of all the persons in the Special List, until a period of ten days from date of arrival has expired In Calcutta the list shall be sent and reports shall be made to the Commissioner of Police and Health Officer

27. Duties of Railway Police when travellers from infected areas break their journey and take fresh tickets.—In the event of a traveller from infected areas alighting at an intermediate station with the object of obtaining a fresh ticket so as to conceal the fact that he is a traveller from an infected area, the Railway Police will take down his name and the number of the fresh ticket issued, and will send information down the line, so that he may, on alighting, be brought under observation

28. Town Police to report illness or death from bubonic plague.—On receiving information of illness or death from bubonic plague, the officer in charge of a town police-station shall forthwith report the matter to the District or Cantonment Magistrate, and shall also make an entry in red ink in the Station Diary for the information of the District Superintendent and Magistrate In Calcutta such report shall be made to the Commissioner of Police and Health Officer.

29. Unless otherwise specially authorised, duties of Town Police confined to reporting.—Beyond reporting the fact of illness or death, no police officer shall take any action under the rules in this Part except under a written order of the executive or sanitary authority, which he shall be bound to show on the application of the head of the house.

30. Magistrates and superior police officers required to supervise.—Magistrates and superior officers of police are required to satisfy themselves by frequent personal inspection that the above rules prescribing the duties of the police are strictly carried out.

31. Police required to assist the Health Officer.—All police officers are required to give to the Health Officer such assistance as he may consider necessary in carrying out the rules of this Notification. In Calcutta such assistance shall be given by the Commissioner of Police on the requisition of the Chairman of the Corporation.

32. Committees of Inspection.—In every Municipality and Cantonment, Committees of inspection may be appointed by the Magistrate of the district or the Cantonment Magistrate for the purpose of assisting the Health Officer in performing his duties under these rules. Each Committee should usually consist of four members, two Hindus and two Muhammadans, for each ward of a Municipality or definite portion of a Cantonment; and their most important duties will be to accompany the Health Officer on his rounds of inspection, to explain the necessity of the sanitary measures adopted, to assist in causing these to be carried out, and to bring to notice any complaints that may be made or abuses that they may discover. At least one Hindu and one Muhammadan on each Committee shall, if possible, be medical men. In Calcutta the Committees may be appointed by the Chairman of the Corporation in consultation with the Commissioner of Police. In places where a large proportion of the population consists of persons other than Hindus or Muhammadans, the Committees shall, if possible, comprise representatives of the races and religions chiefly affected by the rules in each ward.

33. General sanitary precautions—In any Municipality or Cantonment the Magistrate of the district, or any Magistrate authorized by him in this behalf, or the Cantonment Magistrate, may issue general orders that by a certain specified date certain sanitary precautions of a simple nature, such as the lime-washing of houses, the cleaning of latrines, the removal of filth and rubbish, and of partitions which obstruct light and ventilation, shall be carried out within any specified area, and all persons residing within such area shall be bound to give effect to these orders. In Calcutta these powers shall be exercised by the Chairman of the Corporation If within such time such persons fail to carry out the operations specified in the notice, the Health Officer may, with the sanction of the Magistrate of the district or of the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, of the Chairman of the Corporation, enter upon the premises at any time between sunrise and sunset, after giving such notice of his intention as shall under the circumstances appear to him to be reasonable, and carry out the measures specified above: Provided that when an apartment is occupied by a female who, according to the custom of the country, does not appear in public, the Health Officer shall give at least one hour's notice of his intention to enter such apartment, and shall afford her every reasonable facility for withdrawing from such portion of the apartment as he may desire to enter. The expenses incurred may be recovered in the manner provided in sections 120 to 129, both inclusive, of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, or as a rate under Chapter VI of the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1888, as the case may be, from the persons who, in the opinion of the Magistrate of the district, or, in Calcutta, of the Chairman of the Corporation, may fairly be held responsible.

34. Insanitary premises and blocks of huts—When any premises or any block of huts are in such an insanitary state as in the opinion of the Health Officer to make the inmates thereof especially liable to an attack of the bubonic plague, he may require the owner by notice to have the whole or any portion of such premises cleansed within a specified time in such manner as may appear to him necessary, and may in consultation, if necessary, with a competent engineer, direct the owner to remove all structures, partitions, erections or portions of house-walls which obstruct light and ventilation. If within such time the owner fails to carry out the operations specified in the notice, the Health Officer may, with the sanction of the Magistrate of the district or of the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, of the Chairman of the Corporation, enter upon the premises at any time between sunrise and sunset, after giving such notice of his intention as shall, under the circumstances, appear to him to be reasonable, and carry out the measures specified above: Provided that when an apartment is occupied by a female who, according to the custom of the country, does not appear in public, the Health Officer shall give at least one hour's notice of his intention to enter such apartment, and shall afford her every reasonable facility for withdrawing from such portion of the apartment as he may desire to enter. The expenses incurred may be recovered in the manner provided in sections 120 to 129, both inclusive, of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, or as a rate under Chapter VI of the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1888, as the case may be, from the owner or from the persons who, in the opinion of the Magistrate of the district, or, in Calcutta, of the Chairman of the Corporation, may fairly be held responsible.

35. Overcrowded dwellings.—When a dwelling is so overcrowded as, in the opinion of the Health Officer, to make the inmates thereof especially liable to an attack of the bubonic plague, the Magistrate of the district or the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, may, by a notice posted on some conspicuous part of the dwelling, require the owner or the occupier, if actually residing in the dwelling, or the tenants or the actual inmates thereof, to abate the overcrowding within 24 hours by reducing the number of lodgers, tenants or other inmates of the said dwelling as prescribed in the notice, or to vacate the dwelling. In default of compliance with the requisition in the said notice, the Magistrate of the district or Cantonment Magistrate or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, may summarily eject all the inmates, or reduce the number of inmates in such manner and to such extent as may appear necessary. The inmates so ejected shall be provided, when necessary, with temporary accommodation.

36. Prohibition of rag-picking.—No person, except municipal or cantonment servants, shall pick up rags or other refuse in the streets or elsewhere; nor shall rags or refuse be transported, except under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Health Officer. Any person picking up rags or other refuse in the streets or elsewhere shall be liable to be arrested by the police. The Magistrate of the district, or the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, may disinfect or at his discretion destroy any collection of rags in rag-pickers' houses or rag stores.

37. Provision of hospitals.—It shall be lawful for the Magistrate of the district, or the Cantonment Magistrate or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, to select a site and erect a hospital thereon, or to convert any building, not being a place of worship, into a hospital for the isolation of patients suffering from the plague, in any locality which, in the opinion of the Health Officer, may be suitable for the purpose. In such hospital separate and suitable accommodation shall be provided for females, having regard to their rank and station in life. The owner or lessee of such site or building shall not be entitled to claim from the Magistrate, Cantonment Magistrate or Chairman anything beyond a reasonable rent for the period during which the site or building may remain in his occupation. Before vacating the building, the Magistrate, Cantonment Magistrate or Chairman shall cause it to be thoroughly cleansed and disinfected, both externally and internally.

38. Provision of accommodation.—It shall be lawful for the Magistrate of the district, or the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, to select a site and erect thereon temporary accommodation, or to convert any building, not being a place of worship, into accommodation for the segregation of persons suspected to be infected with plague, or for the residence of persons compelled to vacate their houses under these Regulations. The owner or lessee of such site or building shall not be entitled to claim from the Magistrate, Cantonment authority or Chairman anything beyond a reasonable rent for the period during which the site or building may remain in his occupation. Before vacating the building, the Magistrate, Cantonment Magistrate or Chairman shall cause it to be thoroughly cleansed and disinfected both internally and externally.

39. Reports from factories.—Every occupier of a factory shall, on employing in his factory any person who has come from any area declared to be infected with bubonic plague, immediately report in writing to the Magistrate of the district the fact of such employment and the name and address of the person employed. In Calcutta such report shall be made to the Chairman of the Corporation.

The word "factory" used in this rule means any premises wherein is carried on any process for, or incidental to, making, altering, repairing, ornamenting, finishing or otherwise adapting for use or sale any article or part of an article, and wherein steam, water, or other mechanical power is used in aid of any such process.

40. Report by householder.—If in any house a person suffers from sudden fever, glandular swellings in the neck, armpits or groin, pain in the chest with cough and feeling of oppression, or delirium, or dies from such fever or with any of the foregoing symptoms, the owner of such house, or, if the owner be non-resident, the occupier, or the person who collects rent for the house or any part of it, shall forthwith report the occurrence of such illness or death at the nearest police-station. In Calcutta such report shall be made to the Health Officer or at the nearest police-station by any person who would be bound, under section 186 of the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1888, to give information of a death in the house.

41. If there is or has been resident in any house a person who has come from any area declared to be infected with bubonic plague, the owner of such house or, if the owner be non-resident, the person who collects the rent of the house or any part of it, shall report at the nearest police-station (1) the illness of any person in such house, or (2) the death of any person in such house, immediately such illness is apparent or death occurs In Calcutta such report shall be made to the Health Officer or at the nearest police-station by any person who would be bound under section 186 of the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1888, to give information of a death in the house.

42. Report by medical practitioner.—Any medical practitioner who attends in any house a case which he has reason to believe to be a case of bubonic plague shall forthwith report such illness to the nearest police-station. In Calcutta such report shall be made to the Health Officer.

43. Disinfection, cleansing, etc., by householder.—The owner and occupier of any house in which a case of plague has occurred, and the head of any family resident therein, shall comply with any direction that may be issued by the Health Officer with regard to the disinfection and cleansing of the house, the disinfection or destruction of bedding, clothing and articles of a similar nature, the improvement of the sanitary condition of the premises, the removal, in consultation with a competent engineer, of all partitions, erections or portions of house walls which obstruct light and ventilation, and other sanitary matters; and shall permit the Health Officer (who shall endeavour to procure the attendance of a member of the Committee appointed under rule 32) to enter his house or premises for the purpose of inspection: Provided that, when an apartment is occupied by a female who, according to the custom of the country, does not appear in public, the Health Officer shall not enter such an apartment without giving notice and affording time to such female to withdraw. In such inspections the Health Officer shall, if possible, always be accompanied by a male member of the family.

44. Disinfection, cleansing, etc., by Health Officer.—The Health Officer shall, if he considers it necessary, himself take measure for the disinfection of the house and for the other matters referred to in the preceding rule. Should the Health Officer think it necessary and practicable to burn or otherwise destroy any non-masonry and inflammable structure, he will report the case to the Magistrate of the district or Cantonment Magistrate, or in Calcutta to the Chairman of the Corporation, and act on his orders. The Magistrate of the district, or in his absence the Magistrate in charge of his duties, or the Cantonment Magistrate, and in Calcutta the Chairman of the Corporation, may order the burning or destruction of any hut or other temporary structure, if disinfection cannot be satisfactorily effected otherwise, awarding compensation to persons who are so poor as to be unable to replace at their own expense the structure that has been burnt or destroyed.

45. Right of entry and examination.—The owner and occupier of any house shall permit the Health Officer to enter his premises and examine any person whom such Health Officer, has reason to believe to be infected with bubonic plague. If the person be a female who, according to the custom of the country, does not appear in public, the examination shall be made through a female doctor, female hospital assistant or other female agency.

46. Segregation.—(1) If on examination of any person under the last preceding rule the Health Officer suspects that such person is suffering from or infected with plague, he may cause such person to be removed to a hospital, and may arrange for his detention, dieting and medical treatment therein. He may also cause the other occupants of the house in which such person resides to be removed to a segregation camp and to be detained under observation for ten days.

(2) When private plague hospitals or segregation camps have been provided and fully equipped by or for particular castes, classes, joint families or associations of families, and the Health Officer, or, in Calcutta, not less than two members of the Plague Commission empowered thereto by the President, have in writing approved of the site, plan, furniture and arrangements for isolation and medical administration of such hospitals and camps, sick or suspected persons may, if they so desire and if accommodation is available, be removed to the private hospital or segregation camp constructed for the use of the caste, class or family to which they belong, instead of to a public hospital or camp.

(3) In both public and private camps and hospitals separate and suitable accommodation shall be provided for females, and in the case of a female who by the custom of the country does not appear in public, her parda shall be strictly preserved, both in removal to the camp or hospital and during her stay there.

(4) The relatives, friends, hakims, baids and priests of sick persons shall be allowed free access to them during the day-time, subject only to such precautions as the Health Officer may consider necessary.

(5) Members of the family of a sick person who are in attendance on him may also be admitted to a hospital, whether public or private, provided that they shall sleep in the compound in suitable accommodation provided for the purpose, and not in the hospital itself.

Explanation 1.—It is not necessary that hospitals provided in accordance with this rule should be constructed in remote or inconvenient situations.

Explanation 2.—In Calcutta, persons desirous of taking advantage of clause (2) should at once communicate with the Plague Commission, and satisfy that body of their ability to provide adequate hospitals and camps when plague breaks out. In other places application should be made to the Health Officer.

Explanation 3.—In Calcutta private hospitals and camps may be closed by order of the Plague Commission, if the Health Officer reports that medical attendance and segregation are not maintained to his satisfaction, or that the conditions on which such camps or hospitals were sanctioned are not complied with. In other places this power of closing private hospitals and camps will be exercised by the Magistrate of the district on the report of the Health Officer.

47. If in any case a person removed to a public or private hospital is accompanied by friends or attendants, the Health Officer may require so many of them as are not in personal attendance on the patient to live in the immediate neighbourhood of the hospital in segregation huts or tents provided for the purpose, and to remain in such place until they receive permission from the Health Officer to depart.

48 If a person is attacked with bubonic plague while so segregated, the Health Officer shall remove such person to a public or private hospital, and may treat his friends and attendants as provided in the preceding rule.

49. Upon the death of a sick person from bubonic plague, the Health Officer may cause the other occupants of the house in which the person was ill or in which his death took place to be removed to a segregation camp and detained there for ten days. Provided that this rule shall not apply to any medical practitioner, hakim or baid who may at any time attend upon a sick person, or to professional corpse-bearers, mourners and friends who have not been in attendance on the deceased. The Magistrate of the district, or the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, may grant subsistence allowance at rates suitable to their station in life, to persons detained under this rule.

50. Evacuation of street or quarter.—If bubonic plague has become prevalent in a portion of a Municipality or Cantonment, the Magistrate of the district, or the Cantonment Magistrate, or in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, may, with the sanction of Government, direct the inhabitants of any street, muhalla or other locality to vacate their houses and to remove to a temporary settlement at a distance from the infected quarter. The District Magistrate, or the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, may, when necessary, provide such persons with temporary accommodation. Each householder shall be permitted to make suitable arrangements for the care of his house and property during his absence, and the Municipal Commissioners or Cantonment Magistrate, as the case may be, will arrange for the watch and ward of the empty houses. After evacuation, the Health Officer shall arrange for the thorough disinfection and cleansing of the empty premises, and the inhabitants shall not be permitted to return until the premises have been certified to be free from infection.

51. Duty of compliance.—A person dealt with under the foregoing rules, and any person who may be removed to a hospital by order of the Military Medical authorities or of the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta, shall comply with any directions that may be given to him by the Health Officer with regard to his removal to, and residence in, an observation shed, public or private hospital or place of segregation, and with respect to disinfecting or burning of bedding, clothing and articles of a similar nature, or with respect to any other sanitary matter. He shall not depart from any such place without the written permission of the Health Officer.

52. Disposal of dead.—The friends of the deceased shall be permitted to dispose of the corpse by cremation or burial in accordance with their religious practices, but they shall obey the directions of the Health Officer or other sanitary or executive authority as to the time, route and method of removing the corpse to the burial or cremation place. In the event of the failure or refusal of relatives or friends of the deceased to dispose of the body, the Health Officer shall dispose of it in accordance with the religion of the deceased. The corpses of Europeans or Muhammadans who die of plague shall be buried, if possible, at least six feet deep. The place of burial, if not an authorized cemetery, should be far from habitations, and should be so situated that there may be no risk of contaminating sources of water-supply. The coffin and cloth used to cover the corpse, when not interred with the corpse, shall be destroyed. In cases where cremation is the custom, the body shall be completely burned at the usual burning ghât or other isolated locality in accordance with custom, the cloths brought in contact with the body being either burnt according to custom or disinfected.

53. Ambulances.—The Magistrate of the district, or the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, shall provide suitable conveyances, painted in a conspicuous manner, for the free carriage of persons suffering, or suspected to be suffering, from the plague, and it shall be lawful to drive or carry such conveyances through any public or private thoroughfare.

54. Disinfection of public conveyances.—Any conveyance, public or private, that has been used by a person infected with, or suspected of being infected with, plague shall be thoroughly disinfected and exposed to air and sunlight for not less than twenty-four hours before being again used, and all articles of furniture belonging to it, which in the opinion of the Health Officer cannot be properly disinfected, shall be destroyed by fire.

PART IV.—RULES OF GENERAL APPLICATION.

55. Compensation.—The Magistrate of the district, or the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, may, in his discretion, pay compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations; provided, however, that no person shall be entitled as of right to claim any compensation whatsoever. In deciding claims to compensation, the Magistrate, or the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Chairman, shall consult the Committee appointed under rule 32, but shall not be bound to follow their advice.

56. Control.—All powers conferred upon the Health Officer or the Cantonment Magistrate, or on a plague authority by these rules shall be exercised subject to the general control of the Magistrate of the district, or, in Calcutta, of the Chairman of the Corporation.

57. Expenses.—Subject to the provisions of rules 33 and 34, all expenses incurred in carrying out these rules shall, in the first instance, be paid from the Municipal or District Fund or from loans made under the Local Authorities (Emergency) Loans Act, 1897; but the Magistrate of the district, or the Cantonment Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Chairman of the Corporation, may recover from any person any amount which such person would, under similar circumstances, be liable to pay to the Commissioners under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, or the Cantonment Act or Rules, or the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1888, as the case may be.

PLAGUE HOSPITALS AND SEGREGATION CAMPS.

In large municipalities accommodation should be provided in hospitals for at least 30 males and 10 females.

In small municipalities hospitals should be provided with accommodation for 15 males and 5 females.

Hospitals.—Each hospital should contain the following wards:—

(1) a semi-detached ward for males and females, in which cases in which the diagnosis is not absolutely certain can be kept;
(2) a male ward for cases diagnosed as plague;
(3) a male convalescent ward;
(4) a female ward for cases diagnosed as plague.

In addition to these there must be a dispensary and office, quarters for the nurses' possibly accommodation for the medical officer in charge, quarters for the medical subordinates and staff, and huts 10′ × 10′ for the reception of the relatives of the sick, and cook-rooms.

Cubic space in the hospitals.—Each patient should be given a minimum cubic space of 1,000′, i.e., 10′ × 10′ × 10′. This amount of space is absolutely necessary in the interests of the sick and their attendants, for the freer the ventilation is, the better chance has the patient of recovery, and the attendants are less liable to contract the disease from the sick.

Floors.—The floor should perferably be made with Portland cement or Garlick's patent stone to ensure thorough cleansing.

If the floors are of mud, a good plinth should be made and the mud well rammed down and sprinkled at least once a week with a fresh solution of quicklime. The posts and girders should, if possible, be of iron; the walls may be simple matting. They should not reach the ground by a distance of one foot or the roof by a distance of two feet, and should be regularly lime-washed.

Beds—Should be 10 per cent. in excess of accommodation, to allow of their being cleaned, lime-washed, and aired in the sun. Ordinary full-sized charpais should be used; netting should extend to the foot of the bed. These can be obtained locally.

Bedding—Should consist of a mattress or woven mat, pillow and case, two sheets, one or more blankets (according to the weather). These can probably be obtained most cheaply by contract from some of the leading clothing firms in Calcutta.

Mackintosh sheets—Should be provided for 25 per cent. of the total number of beds. These can probably be obtained at second-hand, but in good condition, from the Commissariat Department. They are very useful in preventing the soiling of the bed.

Cotton sheets—One hundred per cent. in excess of requirements, as they need constant cleansing.

Night clothing.—Banians and pyjamas for the men and night gowns for the women. These also could be obtained in the same way as the bedding.

Bed-pans—From 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. of requirements. They should be of enamelled iron; China ones break and pewter ones bend.

Urine bottles—For 25 per cent. of all male cases.

Feeding-cups—For 25 per cent. of all beds; separate cups should be kept for each ward, i.e., acute, observation, &c.

Thermometers.—Half-minute or minute ones should be employed; they are constantly liable to breakage. A stock of 25 per cent. in excess should be kept.

Spittoons.—One hundred per cent. should be kept. These are absolutely necessary, as the sputum of plague cases is full of plague germs; they should be glazed and kept half filled with a solution of corrosive sublimate 1—1,000. These can be obtained from Burn and Company, Calcutta.

Ice-bags—For 25 per cent of all cases.

Enema Syringes—From 5 per cent. to 10 per cent.

Nasal tubes and funnels—For 5 per cent.

Sputum cups—For from 3 per cent. to 5 per cent. of beds.

The beds-pans, urine bottles, feeding cups, thermometers, spittoons, ice-bags, enema syringes, nasal tubes and funnels, and sputum cups can be obtained from chemists.

An ice-box should be provided; this can be procured locally.

Every ward should contain a plentiful supply of enamelled jugs, basins and towels for the use of the attendants; they should contain an antiseptic solution, either corrosive sublimate 1—1,000 or carbolic acid 1—20.

A dead-house should be provided, and if access is allowed to animals, wire net-work covers for the corpses should also be provided.

A cart for the removal of the unclaimed dead is necessary. It should have zinc-lined trays inside, which can be pushed in; the cart can be drawn by bullocks.

Latrines of a good standard should be provided, and the floors should be well cemented and drained.

Water-supply.—If there is a filtered water-supply, hydrants should be erected in the hospital compound.

Large glazed earthen gumlahs are necessary for the steeping of soiled clothes in antiseptic solutions.

Staff of hospital containing 60 beds—

1 Civil Surgeon or Civil Medical Officer.
2 Or more Hospital Assistants.
1 Compounder.
6 European nurses, if possible.
2 Ayahs.
10 Ward boys (sepoys make admirable ward orderlies).
2 Cooks, Hindu.
1 Cook, Muhammadan.
2 Dhobies.
10 Mehters and domes.

Principal medicines required—

Calomel and epsom salts.
Bromide of potash.
Opium preparations.
Liquor hydrargyri perchloridi.
Mustard and turpentine.
Stropanthus.
Digitalis.
Strychnine.
Iron preparations.
Ether and ammonia.
Iodoform.
Antiseptic dressings.

The rest to be left to the medical officer concerned. The use of antipyretics, such as antifebrin, phenacetin, should be avoided, as they produce unfavourable results in plague cases.

Stimulants.—Good commissariat rum will be found the cheapest and best; brandy is too expensive to be used on a large scale. A few drops of pippermint-oil should be added to each bottle of rum, to prevent its being purloined by the ward boys.

Antiseptics—

Percloride of mercury.
Quick-lime.
Chloride of lime.
Carbolic acid.

These should be employed for important disinfections.
Phenyle and the coal-tar derivatives can be used for flushing drains, etc.
Sulphur can be employed in fumigating houses.
Chinese pumps must be used when the corrosive sublimate solution is being employed as a disinfectant, as it destroys metals.

Composition of a search party—

1 Medical officer.
1 Lady doctor or skilled nurse.
Members of the Ward Committee,
1 Locksmith.
A guard of 20 police or sepoys.
Ambulances, doolies and bearers.

Composition of a disinfecting party—

2 Sub-Inspectors.
2 Jamadars.
50 Coolies.

Central offices—

Each sanitary circle must possess a Central Office. The staff should consist of—
1 Head clerk.
2 or more under clerks.
1 Chaukidar.

Three to six ambulances (doolies) should be kept at the Central Office. Also bullock carts for the conveyance of the relatives of the sick to hospital.

Segregation Camps—Are of two kinds, one belonging to the Government or Municipality, the other established by sections of the native community for their own use.

The following are the details of a Government camp in Bombay :—

The enclosure measured 150′ × 140′, and was surrounded by mat walls 4′ high. Inside were barracks for single males, females, and families. Moveable screens were also provided to form compartments inside.

Separate quarters were provided for the nurse and Assistant Surgeon. There was also a dispensary building and office.

There were good pattern latrines, hydrants, and bathing platforms, with half section glazed drainage pipes leading from them; lamps and lamp-posts, and separate cook-sheds for Hindus and Musalmans.

The staff was as follows :—

1 Hospital Assistant.
1 European nurse.
2 Brahmin cooks.
Police and sepoy guards.
Sweepers and ayahs.

Every person's temperature was taken once daily, and, if necessary, twice.

Free rations and aerated waters were supplied. The adults were provided with cheap playing cards, and the children with marbles. In one of the private segregation camps the inhabitants were supplied by their co-religionists with pan supari, sweetmeats, fruit and cheroots.

ACCOUNTS.

Dated Calcutta, the 15th November 1897.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

(1) Letter from the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, No. 5816A., dated the 12th October 1897, submitting to the Government of India, Public Works Department, the statement of expenditure on stores in the General and Irrigation Branches of the Public Works Department in Bengal for the year 1896-97.

(2) Letter from the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department, No. 1426S.R., dated 25th March 1895, pointing out that, as it is understood, several of the principal engineering firms in India now possess the apparatus necessary for the proper testing both of the raw material and of the finished product, the fullest use should be made, subject to the prescribed precautions, of the liberty to procure supplies in India.

(3) Resolution on the operations of the Public Works Department, Bengal, in 1895-96 in respect of purchases of stores in England and locally.

REMARKS.—The following information is published, showing the operations of the Public Works Department of this Province in 1896-97 in respect of purchases of stores in England and locally.

2. The total cost of stores entirely obtained from England was Rs. 1,44,100, as against Rs. 1,53,046 in 1895-96. The following is a list of the principal items:—

		Rs.
Surface condenser	...	7,139	This was required by the Brahmini-Byturni Division for the stationary engine in the Jobra Workshops. It was sent out in parts which were fitted up here by those Workshops.
Rolled-iron joists	...	14,164	These were required for use in the 3rd barrack, Bhagalpur Central Jail; Wards in Buxar Central Jail; Leaf Godown at Goolzarbagh; and for quadrennial repairs to buildings in the Eastern Sone Division.

Copper tape	...	2,465
Cement	...	20,992
Paints	...	21,761

None of the articles detailed above could have been entirely manufactured in India, nor are they, as far as Government knows, even sent out in a rough state to be finished at workshops in this country.

3. The total cost of stores of European manufacture purchased in India, on the score of urgency was Rs. 1,02,264, as against Rs. 79,089 in 1895-96. The principal items which make up this total are the following:—

		Rs.
Rolled steel joists	...	12,466	There were urgently required for the new Office for the Comptroller of Post Offices, Calcutta; the Out-patient Department and the Mortuary and post-mortem room, Medical College Hospital; the new Chemical Laboratory, Medical College, Calcutta; the Hostel for Veterinary Institution, Belgatchia; and the new Cutcherry and the new Public Offices at Darjeeling.
Rolled-iron joists	...	27,776	These were urgently required for the new Registration Office, Calcutta; the Hostel for Veterinary Institution, Belgatchia; the godown for furniture in Government House, Calcutta; the second story on the south Workshops, Reformatory School, Alipore; the new Office of the Comptroller of Post Offices, Calcutta; the Asoka Gallery, Indian Museum; the staircase in new Servants' Quarters, Government House, Calcutta; the Jetty Appraisers' quarters at No. 4 Jetty, Calcutta; the South Suburban Hospital, Bhowanipur; the south verandah of the Paper Currency Office, Calcutta; the upper story over Treble Munsifi, Howrah; and the additions and alterations to Students' Quarters, Bethune College and Presidency Jail, Calcutta; the new Post Office, Balasore, the new Police buildings at Khaja Kallan; the additions and alterations to the Malkhana, Opium Factory, Goolzarbagh; and for the substitution of the planked floors of certain rooms of the Foreign Office, Calcutta; and the execution of urgent orders received in the Calcutta Workshops, also for special repairs to Jellasore Post Office; and annual and quadrennial repairs to Imperial and Provincial Buildings in the 1st and 2nd Calcutta and Eastern Sone Divisions.
Wrought-iron bed-plates		1,139	These were urgently required for constructing the new office for the Comptroller of Post Offices, Calcutta, and the Out-patient Department, Medical College, Calcutta; for quadrennial repairs to the Central Jail at Alipore, and annual repairs to Government House, Calcutta.
Bain's patent Railway fencing.		1,808	These were urgently required for fencing round the two tanks in the Subdivisional Cutcherry at Nator and round the compound of the Rajshahi College.

		Rs.
T-iron	...	24,148	These were urgently required for the new Registration Office; the new office for the Comptroller of Post Offices, Calcutta; the godown for furniture in Government House, Calcutta; the new Asoka Gallery in the Indian Museum; the Out-patient Department, Medical College Hospital, Calcutta; the second story on the south Workshops, the Reformatory School, Alipore; the upper story over the Treble Munsifi, Howrah; the additions and alterations to Students' Quarters, Bethune College, Calcutta; the new Post Office at Balasore; the special repairs to the Post Office at Jellasore, and the execution of the orders received in the Calcutta Workshops Division from several other Executive Divisions and from District Engineers.
Kodalies	...	4,745	These were urgently required for Famine Relief Works.
Galvanized iron pipes	...	6,143	These were urgently required for the additions and alterations to Police Lock-up, Calcutta University Institute the Presidency College, Calcutta; the Students' Quarters, Bethune College, Calcutta; the Record-racks in the Foreign Office, Calcutta; the Police Court latrine; the Cookshed in the Presidency Jail; the Jetty Appraisers' Quarters, Calcutta; the Still and Vat shed in Russa Distillery; the Cow-shed, Campbell Hospital, Sealdah; the Presidency General Hospital, Dhullunda; and the South Suburban Hospital, Bhawanipur; for water-supply to the Dhurrumtolla Street Press buildings; Calcutta Telegraph Office, Latrine; Howrah Parsonage and Magistrate's residence, and Hazaribagh Jail; and for quadrennial repairs to Entally thana.
Flat-iron	...	1,085	This was urgently required for the new office for the Comptroller of Post Offices, Calcutta, and for railings in front of the Indian Museum, Calcutta.
Flat-iron	...	4,694	These materials had to be purchased locally for the Sibpur and Dehri Workshops in connection with urgent orders, which could not have been foreseen and which could not, without causing delay and inconvenience, have been kept in abeyance to allow of the articles being indented for from England.
Angle-iron	...	12,068
Hoop ,,	...	1,045
Round ,,	...	1,718
Square ,,	...	1,089
Yellow sheeting	...	1,045
Iron screws	...	1,295

Taking the India Office prices and adding freight and other incidental charges, the cost of these articles, if purchased in England, would have been only Rs. 98,748, so that Government paid 3·55 per cent. more through buying them in India than it would have paid in England. The corresponding loss in 1895-96 was 5·1 per cent.

4. The total cost of stores manufactured in India, partly from imported material and partly from indigenous material, and substituted for stores formerly imported, was Rs. 1,07,537, as against Rs. 50,658 in 1895-96. The principal items were as follows:—

Accountant-General, Bengal.

CLOSING OF FAMINE RELIEF OPERATIONS IN BENGAL.

No. 2037 Agri. (Fam.).—The 16th November 1897.—The following is published for general information.

M. FINUCANE,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. $\frac{3134}{7-40}$ F., dated Simla, the 9th November 1897.

From—DENZIL IBBETSON, Esq., C.S.I., Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of the monthly famine report of Bengal for the month of September 1897, forwarded with your letter No. 876T.R. (Famine), dated the 26th October 1897.

2. The Government of India are very glad to learn that favourable rains and excellent agricultural prospects have permitted famine relief operations to be satisfactorily closed in Bihar and other parts of the Province, and that the people have returned to their ordinary occupations in good condition and without having sustained great privation or exceptional sickness or mortality.

3. The Supreme Government propose to postpone the review of the famine administration of the several Local Governments until such time as the provincial reports are received, and to acknowledge elsewhere the services of officers engaged in the work of famine relief. They will, therefore, confine their remarks on the present occasion to expressing their most hearty concurrence with His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in his high appreciation of the services of the Commissioner of the Patna Division and of the officers who served under him, and of the Commissioners and Collectors of districts elsewhere in Bengal, which were also affected by the recent scarcity, and their subordinate officers.

4. The Government of India also notice with pleasure the tribute paid by His Honour to the many land-owners, planters and persons of wealth and influence who have been conspicuous for their liberality and willing co-operation with the officers of Government in meeting distress. The munificence of the Maharaja of Darbhanga is especially commendable, and the example set by him cannot but have had very great effect.

5. As famine relief operations were virtually closed in all districts of the Province at the end of the month under report, the Government of India agree with the proposal made in paragraph 21 of your letter that no further monthly famine reports should be forwarded.

Imports.—During the period under report, the imports of rice amounted to 167,150 cwts., against 36,356 cwts. in the 10 days ending 31st October 1896. The amount imported from Burma was 1,46,288 cwts., against only 1,294 cwts. in the last 10 days of October 1896, and that from the Straits Settlements 7,642 cwts., against nil in the corresponding period of last year. Shipments of rice from Chandbali fell from 18,554 cwts. to 11,290 cwts., and those from Balasore from 13,514 cwts. to only 1,930 cwts. Imports of paddy fell from 16,377 cwts. to 4,978 cwts., owing to the receipt of smaller consignments from Chandbali and Balasore. The decrease under the head of gram and pulses amounted to 28,012 cwts., the amount imported from Cocanada being 2,211 cwts. against 24,103 cwts., while 972 cwts. were received from Chandbali, against 2,903 cwts. in the corresponding period of 1896.

Exports.—In the following statement the total quantity of each kind of food-grain exported by sea during the last 10 days of October 1897 is compared with that for the corresponding period of 1896 :—

	22ND TO 31ST OCTOBER

Foreign ports.

The exports of rice from Calcutta to foreign ports rose from 11,508 cwts. in the last 10 days of October 1896 to 33,515 cwts. in the period under report, owing chiefly to an increase of 25,944 cwts. in the shipment to Ceylon. The exports of gram and pulses also increased from 1,813 cwts. to 3,567 cwts., in consequence of the despatches to Ceylon having risen from 1,380 cwts. to 2,832 cwts. during the last 10 days of October 1896.

Indian ports.

As regards Indian ports, the exports of rice during the last 10 days of October 1897 amounted to only 3,106 cwts., against 2,147 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year. The improvement was chiefly in the shipments to Madras and Bombay, to which places 2,684 cwts. were exported, against 833 cwts. in the 10 days ending 31st October 1896. The exports of gram and pulse showed a slight increase of 320 cwts. on the returns of the same period of last year.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

The total imports of rice into Chittagong during the 10 days under report amounted to 11,470 cwts., the whole of which came from Burma, against nil in the corresponding period of 1896. The import trade of the Balasore ports improved by 759 cwts., owing to larger receipts of wheat, gram and pulse and other food-grains from Calcutta. On the other hand, Calcutta received 3,123 cwts. of rice, paddy and gram and pulse from those ports more than in the corresponding period of the previous year. False Point despatched 7,632 cwts. of rice to Colombo, against 3,347 cwts. during the 10 days ending 31st October 1896.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

General Summary.—There was general, and in some parts heavy, rain in Orissa during the week. Showers are also reported from places in Central and Eastern Bengal and Chota Nagpur. The sowing of the rabi and other cold-weather crops is proceeding well. In Bihar the sowing of poppy is also making good progress. Reports of the winter rice crop continue favourable from all districts except Chittagong, where, as previously reported, this crop was severely injured by the late cyclone. The harvesting of the earlier kinds of winter rice has begun in some districts. Sugarcane generally promises well. The price of common rice is reported to have fallen in many districts during the week. Cattle are in good condition, the fodder-supply being everywhere sufficient.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF OCTOBER 1897.

In the report for September it was pointed out that after an unusually quiet monsoon season a change began to set in about the middle of that month. Depressions were developing over the Bay in greater number than usual, the last referred to being then in process of formation. In the early part of October that disturbance slowly developed into one of very wide extent, moving westward with a velocity considerably below the average while over the sea. The centre crossed the coast near Gopalpur and immediately afterwards changed its line of movement to one almost due north, and passing with a steadily increasing velocity across Orissa and Chota Nagpur into Bihar broke up on reaching the hills.

Up to the time when the centre crossed the coast weather was not very seriously disturbed in the north-west of the Bay, but the change of direction and the slow northerly movement almost parallel to the coast with the centre of the disturbance at no great distance from the sea were followed by strong south-easterly winds and a very rough sea in that part of the Bay. Rainfall was general over the province for some days, and was especially heavy in the north of the province, at the time of, or just subsequent to, the breaking up of the storm.

The settled weather which followed the disturbance was of about a week's duration only. A second depression began in the east of the Bay, and though causing strong winds at Diamond Island and squally weather over the greater part of the eastern half of the Bay, it behaved differently as it moved westward. Instead of deepening it became diffused and after some days disappeared without any definite centre reaching the west coast. But though not causing stormy weather it gave rise to much rain over a wide area which included the whole of Bengal, the falls being most heavy and general in the western districts.

The period of the existence of this depression may be said to be between the 12th and 17th, though there were signs of a low pressure area in the south-west of the Bay for two or three days more. These signs, however, soon ceased as the third disturbance of the month began to affect the weather in the extreme south-east of the Bay about the 20th, and developing rapidly was soon the most important feature of the weather conditions.

This disturbance, which afterwards passed into the north-east angle of the Bay, and was so destructive to life and property in the Chittagong Division, does not seem to have commenced, as cyclonic storms generally do, within the Bay area. It probably crossed from the east into the Andaman Sea to the south of Tavoy on the 20th, as the wind at Tavoy at 8 A.M. on that day was north-west. On the 21st its centre was about midway between Tavoy and the Andaman Islands, and the depression was even then one of considerable depth as was shown by the fall of pressure at Diamond Island during the subsequent 24 hours. The greatest fall reported from that station was about a quarter of an inch at 2 A.M. on the 22nd. It is impossible to say with the information at my disposal how far south of Diamond Island the centre then was, but it was probably at no great distance as the area of stormy winds such as blew there was of limited extent even two days afterwards. Between the morning of the 22nd and the morning of the 24th observations at the coast stations give little or no information as to the behaviour of the storm. It continued to move for at least 24 hours in a north-westerly direction; it then probably began to recurve, moving at a lower rate. When the direction became north or north-east, the rate of advance increased, and during the 24th the centre appears to have moved with about average velocity.

But the observations taken at Chittagong show that the rapid development which was a feature of the disturbance while in the Andaman Sea continued while it was passing over the north of the Bay. Though the centre was probably not within some miles of Chittagong pressure there fell to 28·6 inches, so that at the centre when it passed the coast line there must have been a much greater fall than that recorded at Chittagong. The coast line for some distance south from the mouth of the Kornafuli river was swept by a storm-wave; the strength of the hurricane can only be inferred from the destruction of property, as all the wind recording instruments at Chittagong were displaced or destroyed; and torrential rain fell in the Chittagong Division and the South Lushai Hills.

The chief features then of the weather during October were:—

1. The state of unrest in atmospheric condition over the Bay, which, beginning in September, continued till near the end of October, and culminated in the cyclone between the 20th and 24th.

2. The heavy general rainfall over the whole province during the first and third weeks, the average excess for the larger divisions varying from about 2·5 inches in North Bengal to nearly 5 inches in Orissa.

3. The high night temperature and high humidity which prevailed during the month up to the 24th, when a sudden change followed the breaking up of the cyclonic storm in passing over the Lushai Hills.

4 From the 24th till the end of the month fine cloudless weather prevailed, with cloudless skies, north-westerly winds, and temperature several degrees below the normal.

The periods of disturbed weather to which I have very briefly referred above, but which had so much influence as regards the rainfall distribution in all parts of the province, occurred at the beginning of the month and in the middle. Between these two periods, from about the 6th, when rainfall to a large extent ceased in Bihar, till the 12th, when the first signs of the second disturbance appeared in the east of the Bay, pressure and temperature steadily rose, and were each in moderate excess of the normal. Fine settled weather vailed in Bengal with almost cloudless skies and occasional light showers. This fine ather continued over the province till the 14th when rainfall became general in Orissa extended on the 15th to almost the whole of the southern and central districts. It general in North Bengal and Bihar on the 16th continuing till the 20th and in places he 21st.

While the cyclonic storm was causing stormy weather in the north of the Bay between 22nd and 24th fine weather prevailed in Bengal, and even when the disturbance was in the north-east angle and crossing Chittagong there was little change, except that the north-thearly winds strengthened somewhat and the sky became lightly clouded. No rainfall weste were received on the 25th except the large amounts in Chittagong and light falls in reports range.

Back On the 25th the pressure distribution had largely recovered, but there was still defect at all stations varying from a very small amount in the south of the Bay to ·25 inch in Assam. Temperature was below the normal by 2° in the west and south of the province and above by 2° in Assam and North Bengal. After a rapid increase of pressure on the 26th the distribution became normal, and from that time till the end of the month only the ordinary oscillations obtained. The fall of temperature which followed the disturbance caused comparatively cool weather for a day or two, but by the end of the month the difference from the normal was small except in the extreme south-west and the north-east, in the former of which there was defect and in the latter excess up to about 3°.

Pressure has been almost uniformly below the normal throughout the month, generally by small amounts only. At the beginning of the month there was defect of nearly ·3 inch in the west of the province during the northward passage of the depression over Orissa, Chota Nagpur and Bihar, and a large defect in the east on the 23rd and 24th. As there was no balancing excess the means for the month are low by uniform amounts of about ·04 inch.

The very low reading of 28·6 inches was recorded at Chittagong on the evening of the 24th when the cyclone was passing, and as the centre was probably a few miles to the south of the station at the time of taking the reading, it is not unlikely that the depth of the depression was considerably greater than is shown by the Chittagong observations.

Temperature.—As the weather was cloudy with general rain during the greater part of the first-half of the month, day readings were generally below the normal. During the last week also there was comparatively cool weather owing to the north-westerly winds which set in after the cyclone of the 24th. Mean maximum temperatures for the month are hence below the normal, except in the east of the province, where there is a small excess. Night temperatures, on the other hand, were almost always high till the last week when cold weather conditions began. The average excess in minimum readings varies from half a degree in the west to nearly 4° in the north-eastern districts.

The average temperature for the larger divisions is practically normal except in East and North Bengal, where there is excess of about 1·5°.

Rainfall.—As stated above, heavy general rain fell during the first and third weeks. From the 8th to the 14th there were only a few scattered showers, and after the 25th rainfall ceased in all parts of the province. For a few days previous to the 25th scattered showers were falling, but these amounts were insignificant with the exception of the very heavy falls which were general in the Chittagong Division during the passage of the cyclone of the 24th. Cox's Bazar, Chittagong, Satkanya, Rangamati and Bandarban all reported between 7 and 10 inches.

As the rainfall during the first and third weeks was more continuous and heavy than is usual in October, every district in the province received considerably more than the normal fall, more especially those in the west. The average excess for the Orissa Division was 4·96 and for Bihar 4·32 inches. Chota Nagpur and South-West Bengal each received on an average nearly 3 inches more than the normal amount, North Bengal about 2·5 inches, while the smallest excess was 1·42 inches in East Bengal.

The average number of rainy days was more than double the usual number in Chota Nagpur and Bihar, and more than 50 per cent. in excess in the other divisions except East Bengal.

From the beginning of the year till the end of October, as will be seen from a table following, the total rainfall has been very nearly normal. Orissa, South-West Bengal and Bihar have received from 3 to 8 per cent. more than the normal, and Chota Nagpur, North Bengal and East Bengal from 2 to 5 per cent. less.

The falls at the various stations were very uniform, generally varying from 6 to 8 inches, except in part of Chota Nagpur and Orissa, where they were below 5 inches, and at a few southern stations, chiefly in Orissa and East Bengal, where they were above 10 inches. The variations from the normal are more irregular, ranging from a defect of 3 inches in part of South-East Bengal to excess of 8 inches in part of Bihar and Orissa. In the eastern half of the province the prevailing variation is excess of about 2 inches. It increases to about 4 inches in the central districts and to 6 inches in Bihar and the north of Chota Nagpur. In the south-west of Chota Nagpur and the west of Orissa the falls differed by very little from the normal and in places were somewhat below.

The following table gives a comparison between the actual monthly and total rainfall and the normal rainfall of the province up to the end of October in the same form as has been employed in the previous monthly abstracts of the present year. The figures represent the ratio of the rainfall of each month of the present year to the normal rainfall expressed as a percentage. The table thus gives a condensed summary of the rainfall data of the ye for each meteorological division. The first ten columns give the percentage amount rainfall received in each month, and the last column the percentage rainfall of the wh period from the 1st of January to the end of October :—

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of October in all districts of the Province. The first column gives the average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 26 years ; the second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the actual weighted rainfall of the month at the reporting stations in the district ; the third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall to the normal as a percentage; and the fourth the same information in a slightly different form :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

VI.—The following rules for conducting the examination for Honours in Law have been passed by the Syndicate:—

HONOURS IN LAW EXAMINATION.

1. The Syndicate shall, as soon as candidates have sent in their applications, appoint a Board of at least two Examiners to conduct the examination.

2. The examination shall be held in the month of November. Two papers shall be given out every day; the order of the papers shall be the same as named in paragraph 6 of the Regulations.

3. One hundred marks shall be allotted to each paper. In order to pass the examinations a candidate must obtain sixty per cent. of the marks in each paper. The Examiners may, for special reasons to be recorded by them, recommend a departure from this rule in any case.

4. The question papers are to be delivered by the Examiners either in person to the Registrar or sent to him in a sealed double cover such time before the examination as the Registrar may fix.

5. The Examiners are requested to submit their report, as well as the marks awarded to each candidate, on or before the fourth Saturday after the end of the examination.

6. The answer papers of the candidates, after they have been examined, are to be returned to the Registrar.

7. Examiners are requested to keep the results, as well as the marks awarded to candidates, strictly secret. The special attention of Examiners is called to this rule.

J. H. GILLILAND, Registrar.

SENATE HOUSE, the 17th November 1897.

OFFICE MEMO.

Rules for appearing at the F.A. and B.A. Examinations for candidates from the Burdwan Circle who are not students of any Affiliated Institution.

DEPUTY INSPECTORS of Schools, Sub-Inspectors of Schools, and bond fied Masters of English schools, who have served as such for the full period of two academical years, or of six months after the examination of the same class last held by the University, in the case of those only who were admitted to a former examination of that class, will be admitted to the abovementioned examinations. The applications of school-masters should be accompanied by a certificate of length of service from the Secretaries or Managers of the schools in which they are employed, and should reach this office not later than the 7th January 1898. The application of a school-master for permission to appear at the F.A. or B.A. Examination should be signed by him in the presence of the Secretary or a member of the Managing Committee of the school in which he is employed. The application should be forwarded to this office for countersignature, together with the Registrar's certificate to prove, if this be the case, that the candidate has appeared at the examination in a previous year, and the certificate in proof of his having passed the Entrance or F.A. Examination as the case may be, and it will be sent back to him (the candidate) who will have to send it, together with the examination fee, to the Registrar of the University direct. School-masters are not required to pay any fee for getting their application for permission to appear at either of the abovementioned examinations countersigned by this office.

2. Candidates should read carefully the form of the certificate which this office is required to sign, and should be careful to supply all information and documents required, including the Registrar's receipt in the case of those school-masters who have been admitted to a former examination of the same class, without which the Inspector must decline to sign the certificate.

3. By bonâ fide masters of schools are to be understood masters who hold regularly paid appointments in English schools, teaching at least the M. E. course.

HOOGHLY,
The 3rd September 1897.

J. A. REUTHER,
Inspector of Schools, Burdwan Division.

Office Memo. of the Inspector of Schools, Burdwan Division.

UNIVERSITY ENTRANCE EXAMINATION.

PRIVATE STUDENTS.

1. Private students are those who do not appear from any school or who have been transferred from one school to another after the 31st August without the consent of the Inspector. The term "private students" includes school-masters.

2. Private students must appear at the test examination of one of the following institutions:—

Those from the—	At the test examination of—	Date of test examination.
1. Howrah district ...	Howrah Municipal School ..	18th December 1897.
2. Bankura ,, ...	Bankura Zilla School ...
3. Birbhum ,, ...	Birbhum ditto ...
4. Midnapore ,, ...	Midnapore Collegiate School ...
5. Hooghly ,, ...	Hooghly Collegiate School (with the Principal's permission).	On the dates fixed by the Principals of the Hooghly and Burdwan Colleges.
6. Burdwan ,, ...	Burdwan Raj Collegiate School (with the Principal's permission).

The examinations will begin as stated above, and each private student will pay a fee of Rs. 2 to the head of the institution at which he appears for examination. The balance after payment of expenses (stationery, &c.) will go as remuneration to the examiners.

3. Applications for permission to appear must be sent so as to reach this office not later than the 1st December with the following information, &c.:—

From private candidates proper.

(a) The name of the school in which the candidate last studied.
(b) The transfer certificate (in original) granted to the candidate from the same; or
(c) In the case of a candidate who previously appeared at the Entrance Examination, the Registrar's receipt (in original) for the fee paid.
(d) Age of the candidate.

From School-masters.

(e) A certificate from the Secretary or Proprietor of the school in which the candidate is serving to the effect that he has been a bonâ fide paid teacher of the school in which he teaches, and has been so ever since the 1st June 1897. In case of a school-master who has served in more than one school, he must produce certificates from the several schools in proof of his having been a bonâ fide paid teacher all along since the 1st June 1897.

Failing to produce the above certificate or certificates, a school-master will be subject to the rules applicable to bonâ fide private candidates, as given above.

4. If this office is satisfied that all is in order, the Inspector will countersign and return the appilcation, and this then will be the candidate's passport for admission to the test examination.

5. The head-master of an institution (one of those named above) should direct private students to appear before him not later than the 2nd January with their applications for admission to the Entrance Examination, and in the case of those candidates who have satisfied the test, he will cause them to sign their application forms in his presence, and will grant the necessary certificates, and then forward the applications to this office for countersignature, after which they will be sent by the Inspector direct to the candidates.

6. Expedition is necessary in carrying out all these instructions, and candidates should be most careful to give their names and addresses written legibly and distinctly, so that no mistake may be likely to occur.

7. Under no circumstances should the Entrance fee be sent to this office.

8. Private students will understand that the test examination of any schools other than those named above will not be accepted by this office.

9. Addresses of private students should be applied to this office.

J. A. REUTHER,
Inspector of Schools, Burdwan Division.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exporation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale, noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M., in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

DEPOSIT.
When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government Superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory for the year 1896-97, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazipur Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale, that may be desired by parties connected with the trade, will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

RESOLUTION.

No. 5047-P.

Simla, the 15th November 1897.

READ—

Letter from the Government of Bombay, No. 182-P., dated 19th August 1897.
Telegram to Her Majesty's Secretary of State, No. 4766-P., dated 26th October 1897.
Telegram from Her Majesty's Secretary of State, dated 9th November 1897.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to announce that Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India has sanctioned the following concessions to officers employed on duties connected with famine relief or the plague, subject to the restrictions specified below :—

2. (i) To officers who have been so employed for a period of not less than five months—either (a) one month's extra privilege leave, or (b) full pay instead of half pay for the first two months of furlough or other leave for which half pay is ordinarily admissible.

(ii) To officers so employed for a period of not less than ten months—either (a) two months' extra privilege leave, or (b) full pay instead of half pay for the first four months of furlough or other leave as above.

3. The grant of the above concessions is subject to the following explanations and limitations :—

(i) The concessions are admissible in the case of famine duty, in any province in which there has been famine, and in the case of plague duty in the Presidency of Bombay including Sind.

(ii) They are not admissible to any officer whose duty in connection with famine or plague has not, in the opinion of the Local Government, been so unusually arduous as to render him deserving of them, or who has been specially appointed to such duty and has been remunerated during the performance of it by special salary or allowances.

(iii) The extra privilege leave admissible under this Resolution may be taken in combination with privilege leave earned under the ordinary rules, provided that the total amount of privilege leave so taken at one time shall not exceed three months. Any balance of privilege leave which cannot be taken in consequence of the three months' limit will remain at credit to be taken under the ordinary rules.

(iv) The concession will ordinarily cease to be admissible after the expiry of two years from the date of this Resolution, but may, with the consent of the Local Government, be carried on beyond that date in cases where the exigencies of the public service have necessitated the refusal of leave when applied for and have thus prevented the grant of the full concessions earned, within the prescribed period.

(v) Any officer eligible for the concessions may choose between the alternatives (a) and (b) of paragraph 2 at the time he applies for leave.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be communicated to the Departments of the Government of India; to the several Local Governments and Administrations; to the Heads of Departments under the Finance Department; to the Comptroller and Auditor-General; and to all Accountants-General and Comptrollers.

Ordered, also, that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government in the Canal Department, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned surplus canal lands of Kori distributary, situate in the district of Shahabad, will be put up to sale at the Arrah Collectorate on Tuesday, the 4th January 1898, corresponding with 26th Poos 1305 F.S.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale :—

Conditions of Sale.

1st.—The lands to be sold to the highest bidders above the upset price, which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchaser of these lands will be considered as the proprietor of the lands, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such land will be transferred to him revenue free.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and by the laws in force, and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the lands to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale :—

PART VI.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th November, 1897:

No. 19 of 1897.

A Bill to further amend the Petroleum Act, 1886.

WHEREAS it is expedient to further amend the Petroleum Act, 1886; It is hereby enacted as follows:

XII of 1886.

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Petroleum Act, 1897; and

(2) It shall come into force at once.

XII of 1886.

Substitution of new definition of "petroleum" in section 3, Act XII, 1886.

2. In section 3 of the Petroleum Act, 1886, for clause (1) the following shall be substituted, namely:

'(1) "petroleum" includes also—

(a) the liquids commonly known by the names of rock oil, Rangoon oil, Burma oil, kerosine, paraffine oil, mineral oil, petroline, gasoline, benzol, benzoline and benzine;

(b) any inflammable liquid which is made from petroleum, coal, schist, shale, peat or any other bituminous substance, or from any product of petroleum; and

(c) any liquid or viscous mixture with other substances of any of the liquids aforesaid:

but it does not include any oil ordinarily used for lubricating purposes and having its flashing point at or above two hundred degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer:'.

Addition of new sub-section to section 4, Act XII, 1886.

3. To section 4 of the said Act the following sub-section shall be added, namely:

"(3) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the official Gazette, alter or add to the schedule to this Act by prescribing new or varied tests, and directions for preparing and using them; and all references in this Act to the schedule, when altered or added to, shall be construed as referring to the schedule as so altered or added to for the time being."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE necessity for taking precautions to meet the case of the importation, possession or transport of paints, varnishes and other similar substances containing inflammable material has been brought to the notice of the Government of India and formed the subject of correspondence with Her Majesty's Secretary of State. It is in consequence now proposed, by clause 2 of this Bill, to make the provisions of the Petroleum Act, 1886 (XII of 1886), apply to such substances by extending the definition of "petroleum" so as to include any liquid or viscous mixture with other substances of any of the liquids already referred to therein. The opportunity has, it will be observed, been taken to improve the form of the whole definition, but the only material alteration consists in the addition of the words which have, for the sake of convenience, been italicised.

2. Experience has also shown that there are tests and apparatus, other than those prescribed by the Schedule to the Act, which might with advantage be used in certain cases. The addition to section 4 contemplated by clause 3 of the Bill is, therefore, designed to enable the Governor General in Council from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, to alter or add to that Schedule.

The 27th October, 1897.

C. M. RIVAZ.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Secretary to the Government of India.

The Indian Post Office Bill.

(Chapter I.—Preliminary.—Sections 1-3. Chapter II.—Privilege and Protection of the Government.—Section 4.)

[The marginal references to the "Eng. Bill" are references to the English Post Office Consolidation Bill.]

A Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to the Post Office in India.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Post Office in India; It is hereby enacted as follows:

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, extent, application and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Post Office Act, 1898.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of Upper Burma, British Baluchistan, the Santal Parganas and the Pargana of Spiti; and it applies also to—

(a) all Native Indian subjects of Her Majesty in any place without and beyond British India;

(b) all other British subjects within the territories of any Native Prince or Chief in India; and

(c) all servants of the Queen, whether British subjects or not, within the territories of any Native Prince or Chief in India.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) the expression "Director General" means the Director General of the Post Office of India:

[New.] (b) the expression "inland," used in relation to a postal article, means—

(i) posted in British India and addressed to any place in British India or to any place for which a post office is established by the Governor General in Council beyond the limits of British India; or

(ii) posted at any post office established by the Governor General in Council beyond the limits of British India and addressed to any place for which any such post office is established or to any place in British India:

New. Cf. Eng. Bill, cl. 5.] (c) the expression "mail bag" includes a bag, box, parcel or any other envelope or covering in which postal articles in course of transmission by post are conveyed, whether it does or does not contain any such article:

[New.] (d) the expression "mail ship" means a ship regularly employed for carrying mails, whether under contract or not, by the Government of India or Her Majesty's Government or the Government of any British possession or foreign country:

New. Cf. Eng. Bill, cl. 3.] (e) the expression "officer of the Post Office" includes any person employed in any business of the Post Office or on behalf of the Post Office:

(f) the expression "postage" means the duty chargeable for the transmission by post of postal articles: [New. Cf. ibid.]

(g) the expression "postage stamp" means any stamp provided by the Governor General in Council for denoting postage or other fees or sums payable in respect of postal articles under this Act, and includes adhesive postage stamps and stamps printed, embossed, impressed or otherwise indicated on any envelope, wrapper, postcard or other article: [New.]

(h) the expression "post office" includes every house, building, room, carriage or place used for the purposes of the Post Office, and every letter-box provided by the Post Office for the reception of postal articles: [New. Cf. Eng. Bill, cl. 88.]

(i) the expression "postal article" means a letter, postcard, reply postcard, newspaper, book, pattern or sample packet, parcel, and every article or thing transmissible by post: [New. Cf. "definition of postal packet" in ibid.]

(j) the expression "Post Master General" includes a Deputy Post Master General or other officer exercising the powers of a Post Master General: and [New.]

(k) the expression "the Post Office" means the department presided over by the Director General of the Post Office. [New.]

Meanings of "in course of transmission by post" and "delivery."

3. For the purposes of this Act,—

(a) a postal article shall be deemed to be in course of transmission by post from the time of its being delivered to a post office to the time of its being delivered to the addressee: [New. Cf. 47 & 48 Vict., c. 76, s. 19; and Eng. Bill, cl. 89.]

(b) the delivery of a postal article of any description to a letter-carrier or other person authorized to receive postal articles of that description for the post shall be deemed to be a delivery to a post office: and

(c) the delivery of a postal article at the house or office of the addressee, or to the addressee or his servant or agent or other person considered to be authorized to receive the article according to the usual manner of delivering postal articles to the addressee, shall be deemed to be delivery to the addressee.

CHAPTER II.

PRIVILEGE AND PROTECTION OF THE GOVERNMENT.

Exclusive privilege of conveying letters reserved to the Government.

4. Wherever within British India posts or postal communications are established by the Governor General in Council, the Governor General in Council shall have the exclusive privilege of conveying by post, from one place to another, all letters, except in the following cases, and shall also have the exclusive privilege of performing all the incidental services of receiving, collecting, sending, despatching and delivering all letters, except in the following cases, that is to say: [Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 5; 7 Will. 4 and 1 Vict., c. 33, s. 2; and Eng. Bill, cl. 34 (2).]

(a) letters sent by a private friend in his way, journey or travel, to be delivered by

The Indian Post Office Bill.

(Chapter II.—Privilege and Protection of the Government.—Sections 5-6. Chapter III.—Postage.—Sections 7-10.)

him to the person to whom they are directed, without hire, reward or other profit or advantage for receiving, carrying or delivering them;

(b) letters solely concerning the private affairs of the sender or receiver thereof, sent by a messenger on purpose; and

(c) letters solely concerning goods or property, sent either by sea or by land to be delivered with the goods or property which the letters concern, without hire, reward or other profit or advantage for receiving, carrying or delivering them:

Provided that nothing in this section shall authorize any person to make a collection of letters excepted as aforesaid for the purpose of sending them in the manner hereby authorized.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 6; 7 Will. 4 and 1 Vict., c. 33, s. 2; and Eng. Bill, cl. 34 (3) (i), (ii).]

Certain persons expressly forbidden to convey letters.

5. Wherever within British India posts or postal communications are established by the Governor General in Council, the following persons are expressly forbidden to collect, carry, tender or deliver letters, or to receive letters for the purpose of carrying or delivering them, although they obtain no hire, reward or other profit or advantage for so doing, that is to say:

(a) common carriers of passengers or goods, and their servants or agents, except as regards letters solely concerning goods in their carts or carriages; and

(b) owners and masters of vessels sailing or passing on any river or canal in British India, or between any ports or places in British India, and their servants or agents, except as regards letters solely concerning goods on board, and except as regards postal articles received for conveyance under Chapter VIII.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 65.]

Exemption from liability for loss, misdelivery, delay or damage.

6. The Secretary of State for India in Council shall not incur any liability by reason of the loss, misdelivery or delay of, or damage to, any postal article in course of transmission by post, except in so far as such liability may in express terms be undertaken by the Governor General in Council as hereinafter provided; and no officer of the Post Office shall incur any liability by reason of any such loss, misdelivery, delay or damage, unless he has caused the same fraudulently or by his wilful act or default.

CHAPTER III.

POSTAGE.

[New. Cf. Eng. Bill, cl. 2.]

Power to fix rates of inland postage.

7. (1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, fix the rates of postage and other sums to be charged in respect of postal articles sent by the inland post under this Act, and may make rules as to the scale of weights, terms and conditions subject to which the rates so fixed shall be charged:

Provided that the highest rate of postage, when prepaid, shall not exceed the rates set forth for each class of postal articles in the first schedule.

(2) Unless and until such notification as aforesaid is issued, the rates set forth in the said schedule shall be the rates chargeable under this Act.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, ss. 6, 19 and 24; 7 & 4 Vict., c. 96, s. 43; and Eng. Bill, cl. 2 (2) (4).]

Power to make rules as to packets, and payment of postage or fees in certain cases.

8. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules as to book, pattern and sample packets, the prepayment of postage, and the payment of postage or fees on the redirection and "express delivery" of postal articles.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) declare what packets may be sent by the inland post as packets within the meaning of this Act;

(b) require the prepayment of postage on inland postal articles or any class of inland postal articles, and the manner in which prepayment shall be made;

(c) prescribe the postage to be charged on inland postal articles when the postage is not prepaid or is insufficiently prepaid;

(d) provide for the redirection of postal articles, and the transmission by post of articles so redirected, either free of charge or subject to such further charge as may be specified in the rules; and

(e) prescribe the fees to be charged for the "express delivery" of postal articles, in addition to, or instead of, any other postage chargeable thereon under this Act.

Explanation.—"Express delivery" means delivery by a special messenger or conveyance.

[New. Cf. Eng. Bill, cl. 20.]

Power to make rules as to registered newspapers.

9. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules providing for the registration of newspapers for transmission by inland post as registered newspapers.

(2) For the purpose of such registration, every publication, consisting wholly or in great of political or other news, or of articles relating thereto or to other current topics, with or without advertisements, shall be deemed a newspaper, subject to the following conditions, namely:

(a) that it is published in numbers at intervals of not more than thirty-one days; and

(b) that it has a bonâ fide list of subscribers.

(3) An extra or supplement to a newspaper, bearing the same date as the newspaper and transmitted therewith, shall be deemed to be part of the newspaper:

Provided that no such extra or supplement shall be so deemed unless it consists wholly or in great part of matter like that of the newspaper and has the title and date of publication of the newspaper printed at the top of each page.

Explanation.—Nothing in this section or in the rules thereunder shall be construed to render it compulsory to send newspapers by the inland post.

[New.]

Power to declare postage rates for foreign postal articles.

10. Where arrangements are in force with the United Kingdom, or with any British possession or foreign country, for the transmission by post of postal articles between British India and the United Kingdom or such possession or country, the Governor General in Council may, in conformity with the provisions of such arrangements, declare what postage rates and other sums shall be charged in respect of such postal articles, and may make rules as to the scale of weight, terms and conditions subject to which the rates so declared shall be charged.

The Indian Post Office Bill.

(Chapter III.—Postage.—Sections 11-15. Chapter IV.—Postage Stamps.—Sections 16-17. Chapter V.—Conditions of Transmission of Postal Articles.—Sections 18-19.)

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 28.]

Liability for payment of postage.

11. (1) The addressee of a postal article on which postage or any other sum chargeable under this Act is due, shall be bound to pay the postage or sum so chargeable on his accepting delivery of the postal article, unless he forthwith returns it unopened.

(2) If the postal article is refused or returned as aforesaid, or if the addressee is dead or cannot be found, then the sender shall be bound to pay the postage or sum due thereon under this Act.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 28.]

Recovery of postage and other sums due in respect of postal articles.

12. If any person refuses to pay any postage or other sum due from him under this Act in respect of any postal article, the sum so due may, on application made by an officer of the Post Office authorized in this behalf by the written order of the Post Master General, be recovered for the use of the Post Office from the person so refusing, as if it were a fine imposed under this Act, by any Magistrate having jurisdiction where that person may for the time being be resident; and the Post Master General may further direct that any other postal article, not being on Her Majesty's service, addressed to that person shall be withheld from him until the sum so due is paid or recovered as aforesaid.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 67.]

Customs-duty paid by the Post Office to be recoverable as postage.

13. Where a postal article on which any duty of customs is payable, has been received by post from any place beyond the limits of British India and the duty has been paid by the postal authorities at any customs-port or elsewhere, the amount of the duty shall be recoverable as if it were postage due under this Act.

[New. Cf. 10 & 11 Vict., c. 85, ss. 13 and 14; 38 & 39 Vict., c. 22, s. 8; and Eng. Bill, cl. 8.]

Post Office marks primâ facie evidence of certain facts denoted.

14. In every proceeding for the recovery of any postage or other sum alleged to be due under this Act in respect of a postal article,—

(a) the production of the postal article, having thereon the official mark of the Post Office denoting that the article has been refused, or that the addressee is dead or cannot be found, shall be primâ facie evidence of the fact so denoted; and

(b) the person from whom the postal article purports to have come, shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to be the sender thereof.

[New. Cf. 38 & 39 Vict., c. 22, s. 8; and Eng. Bill, cl. 9.]

Official mark to be evidence of amount of postage.

15. The official mark on a postal article denoting that any postage or other sum is due in respect thereof to the Post Office of British India or to the Post Office of the United Kingdom or of any British possession or foreign country shall be primâ facie evidence that the sum denoted as aforesaid is so due.

CHAPTER IV.

POSTAGE STAMPS.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, ss. 36, 38.]

Provision of postage stamps and power to make rules as to them.

16. (1) The Governor General in Council shall cause postage stamps to be provided of such kinds and denoting such values as he may think necessary for the purposes of this Act.

(2) The Governor General in Council may make rules as to the supply, sale and use of postage stamps.

(3) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) fix the price at which postage stamps shall be sold;

(b) declare the classes of postal articles in respect of which postage stamps shall be used for the payment of postage or other sums chargeable under this Act;

(c) prescribe the conditions with regard to perforation, defacement and all other matters subject to which postage stamps may be accepted or refused in payment of postage or other sums;

(d) regulate the custody, supply and sale of postage stamps;

(e) declare the persons by whom and the terms and conditions subject to which postage stamps may be sold; and

(f) prescribe the duties and remuneration of persons selling postage stamps.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, ss. 35 and 37.]

Postage stamps to be deemed to be stamps for the purpose of revenue.

17. Postage stamps provided under section 16 shall be deemed to be stamps issued by Government for the purpose of revenue within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code, and, subject to the other provisions of this Act, shall be used for the prepayment of postage or other sums chargeable under this Act, in respect of postal articles, except where the Governor General in Council directs that prepayment shall be made in some other way.

XLV of 1860.

CHAPTER V.

CONDITIONS OF TRANSMISSION OF POSTAL ARTICLES.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 27.]

Redelivery to sender of postal article in course of transmission by post.

18. (1) The Governor General in Council may, by rule, provide for the redelivery to the sender, without reference to the consent of the addressee and subject to such conditions (if any) as may be deemed fit, of any postal article in course of transmission by post.

(2) Save as provided by any rules that may be made under sub-section (1), the sender shall not be entitled to recall a postal article in course of transmission by post.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 42; and 47 & 48 Vict., c. 76, s. 4.]

Transmission by post of anything injurious prohibited.

19. (1) Except as otherwise provided by rule and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed thereby, no person shall send by post any explosive, dangerous, filthy, noxious or deleterious substance, any sharp instrument not properly protected, or any living creature which is either noxious or likely to injure postal articles in course of transmission by post or any officer of the Post Office.

(2) No person shall send by post any article or thing which is likely to injure postal articles in course of transmission by post or any officer of the Post Office.

The Indian Post Office Bill.

(Chapter V.—Conditions of Transmission of Postal Articles.—Sections 20-27.)

[New. Cf. 47 & 48 Vict., c. 76, s. 4; and Eng. Bill, cl. 16.]

Transmission by post of anything indecent, obscene, seditious, defamatory or grossly offensive prohibited.

20. No person shall send by post any indecent or obscene printing, painting, photograph, lithograph, engraving, book or card, or any other indecent or obscene article, or any postal article having thereon, or on the cover thereof, any words, marks or designs of an indecent, obscene, seditious, defamatory or grossly offensive character.

[New. Cf. 38 & 39 Vict., c. 22, ss. 3, 4; and Eng. Bill, cl. 12.]

Power to make rules as to transmission by post of postal articles.

21. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules as to the transmission by post of postal articles.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) provide for the granting receipts for, and the granting and obtaining certificates of posting and delivery of, postal articles, and the sums to be paid, in addition to any other postage, for such receipts and certificates; and

(b) regulate covers, form, dimensions, maximum weight and enclosures, and the use of postal articles, other than letters, for making communications.

(3) Postal articles shall be posted and delivered at such times and in such manner as the Director General may, by order, from time to time appoint.

[New. Cf. 33 & 34 Vict., c. 79, s. 17; and Eng. Bill, cl. 15.]

Power to postpone despatch or delivery of certain postal articles.

22. (1) Where the despatch or delivery from a post office of letters would be delayed by the despatch or delivery therefrom at the same time of book, pattern or sample packets and parcels, or any of them, such packets or parcels, or any of them, may, subject to such rules as the Governor General in Council may make in this behalf, be detained in the Post Office so long as may be necessary.

(2) Where separate parcel posts are established, parcels may be forwarded and conveyed by them, being detained, if necessary, in the Post Office for that purpose.

[New. Cf. Eng. Bill, cl. 17.]

Power to deal with postal articles posted in contravention of Act.

23. (1) Any postal article sent by post in contravention of any of the provisions of this Act may be detained and either returned to the sender or forwarded to destination, in each case charged with such additional postage (if any) as the Governor General in Council may, by rule, direct.

(2) Any officer in charge of a Post Office or authorised by the Post Master General in this behalf may open or unfasten any newspaper or any book, pattern or sample packet, in course of transmission by post which he suspects to have been sent by post in contravention of any of the provisions of this Act.

(3) Any postal article known or suspected to be sent by post in contravention of the provisions of section 19 or section 20 may, if necessary, be opened and the article itself or its contents destroyed under the authority of the Post Master General.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 60; 3 & 4 Vict., c. 96, s. 65; and Eng. Bill, cl. 18.]

Power of dealing with postal articles containing goods contraband or liable to duty.

24. Where a postal article, suspected to contain any contraband goods or anything liable to duty, is received for delivery at any post office, the officer in charge of the post office shall send a notice in writing to the addressee inviting him to attend, either in person or by agent, within a specified time at the post office, and shall in the presence of the addressee or his agent, or, if the addressee or his agent fails to attend as aforesaid, then in his absence, open and examine the postal article:

Provided, first, that, if the Director General so directs in the case of any post office or class of post offices, the officer in charge of the post office shall call in two respectable persons as witnesses before he opens a postal article in the absence of the addressee or his agent:

Provided, secondly, that in all cases a postal article, after being opened under this section, shall be delivered to the addressee, unless it is required for the purpose of any further proceeding under this or any other law or enactment for the time being in force, and that the opening of the postal article and the circumstances connected therewith shall be immediately reported to the Post Master General:

Provided, thirdly, that nothing in this section shall prevent the detention of parcels, received by post from any place beyond the limits of British India, at the customs-port or other place at which they are received, and the opening of parcels so received by the Customs-authorities for the purpose of levying any duty of customs.

Special power to intercept notified goods during transmission by post.

25. Where a notification has been published under section 19 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, in respect of any goods of any specified description, any officer of the Post Office empowered in this behalf by the Governor General in Council may search, or cause search to be made, for any such goods in course of transmission by post, and shall deliver all such goods found to such officer as the Governor General in Council may appoint in this behalf, and such goods may be disposed of in such manner as the Governor General in Council may direct.

[New. Cf. XIII of 1885, s. 5.]

Power for the Government to order interception of postal article.

26. (1) On the occurrence of any public emergency, or in the interest of the public safety or tranquillity the Governor General in Council, or a Local Government, or any officer specially authorized in this behalf by the Governor General in Council, may, by order in writing, direct that any postal article or class or description of postal articles in course of transmission by post shall be intercepted or detained, or shall be delivered to the Government or to an officer thereof mentioned in the order, to be disposed of in such manner as the Governor General in Council may direct.

(2) If any doubt arises as to the existence of a public emergency, or as to whether any act done under sub-section (1) was in the interest of the public safety or tranquillity, a certificate signed by a Secretary to the Government of India or to the Local Government shall be conclusive proof on the point.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 65.]

Power to deal with postal articles from abroad bearing fictitious or previously used stamps.

27. (1) Where a postal article is received by post from any place beyond the limits of British India—

(a) bearing a fictitious postage stamp, that is to say, any facsimile or imitation or representation of a postage stamp; or

The Indian Post Office Bill.

(Chapter VI.—Registration, Insurance and Value-payable Post.—Sections 28-34.)

(b) purporting to be prepaid with any postage stamp which has been previously used to prepay any other postal article;

the officer in charge of the post office at which the postal article is received, shall send a notice to the addressee inviting him to attend, either in person or by agent, within a specified time at the post office to receive delivery of the postal article.

(2) If the addressee or his agent attends at the post office within the time specified in the notice and consents to make known to the officer in charge of the post office the name and address of the sender of the postal article and to redeliver to the officer aforesaid the portion of the postal article which bears the address and the fictitious or previously used postage stamp, or, if the postal article is inseparable from the stamp, the entire postal article, the postal article shall be delivered to the addressee or his agent.

(3) If the addressee or his agent fails to attend at the post office within the time specified in the notice, or, having attended within that time, refuses to make known the name and address of the sender or to redeliver the postal article or portion thereof as required by sub-section (2), the postal article shall not be delivered to him, but shall be disposed of in such manner as the Governor General in Council may direct.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, the expression "postage stamp" includes any postage stamp for denoting any rate or duty of postage of any part of Her Majesty's dominions or of any Native State or foreign country.

CHAPTER VI.

REGISTRATION, INSURANCE AND VALUE-PAYABLE POST.

XIV of 6, s. 25; 3 Vict., c. 39, and 3 Vict., c. 3.]

28. The sender of a postal article may, subject to the other provisions of this Act, have the article registered at the post office at which it is posted, and require a receipt therefor; and the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct that, in addition to any postage chargeable under this Act, such further fee as may be fixed by the notification shall be paid on account of the registration of postal articles.

Registration of postal articles.

XIV of 6, s. 26.]

29. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules as to the registration of postal articles.

Power to make rules as to registration.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) declare in what cases registration shall be required;

(b) prescribe the manner in which the fees for registration shall be paid; and

(c) direct that twice the fee for registration shall be levied on the delivery of a postal article required to be registered on which the fee for registration has not been prepaid.

(3) Postal articles shall be made over to the Post Office for the purpose of being registered, and shall be delivered, when registered, at such times and in such manner as the Director General may, by order, from time to time appoint.

30. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct— [New.]

Insurance of postal articles.

(a) that any postal article may, subject to the other provisions of this Act, be insured at the post office at which it is posted, against the risk of loss or damage in course of transmission by post, and that a receipt therefor shall be granted to the person posting it; and

(b) that, in addition to any postage and fees for registration chargeable under this Act, such further fee as may be fixed by the notification shall be paid on account of the insurance of postal articles.

31. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare in what cases insurance shall be required, and direct that any postal article containing anything required to be insured, which has been posted without being insured, shall be returned to the sender or shall be delivered to the addressee, subject to the payment of such special fee as may be fixed by the notification: [New.]

Power to require insurance of postal articles.

Provided that the levy of such special fee as aforesaid shall not impose any liability upon the Secretary of State for India in Council in respect of the postal article.

32. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules as to the insurance of postal articles. [New.]

Power to make rules as to insurance.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) declare what classes of postal articles may be insured under section 30;

(b) fix the limit of the amount for which postal articles may be insured; and

(c) prescribe the manner in which the fees for insurance shall be paid.

(3) Postal articles shall be made over to the Post Office for the purpose of being insured, and shall be delivered, when insured, at such places and times and in such manner as the Director General may, by order, from time to time appoint. [New.]

33. Subject to such conditions and restrictions as the Governor General in Council may, by rule, prescribe, the Secretary of State for India in Council shall be liable to pay compensation not exceeding the amount for which a postal article has been insured, to the sender thereof for the loss of the postal article or its contents, or for any damage caused to it in course of transmission by post: [New.]

Liability in respect of postal articles insured.

Provided that the compensation so payable shall in no case exceed the value of the article lost or the amount of the damage caused.

34. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct that, subject to the other provisions of this Act and to the payment of fees at such rates as may be fixed by the notification, a sum of money specified in writing at the time of posting by the sender of a postal article shall be [New.]

recoverable on the delivery thereof from the addressee, and that the sum, so recovered, shall be paid to the sender:

Provided that the Secretary of State for India in Council shall not incur any liability in respect of the sum specified for recovery, unless and until that sum has been received from the addressee.

Explanation.—Postal articles sent in accordance with the provisions of this section may be described as "value-payable" postal articles.

[New.] Power to make rules as to value-payable postal articles.

35. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules as to the transmission by post of value-payable postal articles.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) declare what classes of postal articles may be sent as value-payable postal articles;

(b) direct that no postal article shall be so sent unless the sender declares that it is sent in execution of a bonâ fide order received by him;

(c) limit the value to be recovered on the delivery of any value-payable postal article; and

(d) prescribe the form of declaration to be made by the senders of value-payable postal articles, and the time and manner of the payment of fees.

(3) Postal articles shall be made over to the Post Office for the purpose of being sent as "value payable", and shall be delivered, when so sent, at such times and in such manner as the Director General may, by order, from time to time appoint.

[New.] Power to give effect to arrangements with other countries.

36. (1) Where arrangements are in force with the United Kingdom, or with any British possession, Native State or foreign country, for the transmission by post of registered, insured or value-payable postal articles between British India and the United Kingdom or such possession, State or country, the Governor General in Council may make rules to give effect to such arrangements.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may prescribe—

(a) the form of declaration to be made by the senders of such postal articles as aforesaid; and

(b) the fees to be charged in respect thereof.

CHAPTER VII.

UNDELIVERED POSTAL ARTICLES.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, ss. 29 (1) and 30.] Power to make rules as to disposal of undelivered postal articles.

37. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules as to the disposal of postal articles which for any reason cannot be delivered (hereinafter referred to as "undelivered" postal articles).

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) prescribe the period during which undelivered postal articles at any post office shall remain in that office; and

(b) provide for the publication at post offices of lists of undelivered postal articles, or of any class of undelivered postal articles.

(3) Every undelivered postal article, after being detained at a post office for the period prescribed by rule under the foregoing provisions of this section, shall,—

(a) if the name and address of the sender is known, be forwarded, free of further charge, to the post office at which it was posted, for return to the sender; or,

(b) if the name and address of the sender is not known, be forwarded to the office of the Post Master General.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 29 (2).] Disposal of undelivered postal articles at office of Post Master General.

38. (1) Every postal article received at the office of the Post Master General under sub-section (3) of section 37 shall be dealt with as follows:

(a) if practicable, it shall be redirected and forwarded by post to the addressee; or,

(b) if it cannot be redirected and forwarded as aforesaid, it shall be opened by some officer appointed by the Post Master General in this behalf and bound to secrecy, in order to ascertain the name and address of the sender.

(2) If the name and address of the sender is so ascertained, it shall be returned by post to the sender, free of further charge or subject to such further charge as the Governor General in Council may, by rule, direct.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 29 (3).] Final disposal of undelivered postal articles.

39. Undelivered postal articles which cannot be disposed of under the foregoing provisions, shall be detained in the office of the Post Master General for such further period (if any), and shall be dealt with in such manner, as the Governor General in Council may, by rule, direct:

Provided that—

(a) letters and post-cards shall be destroyed;

(b) money or saleable property, not being of a perishable nature, found in any undelivered postal article, shall be detained for a period of one year in the office of the Post Master General, and, if on the expiration of that period no person has established his right thereto, shall, if money, be credited to the Post Office, and, if saleable property, be sold, the sale-proceeds being credited to the Post Office.

CHAPTER VIII.

SHIP LETTERS.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 34 and Eng. B cl. 26.] Duty of master of ship, departing from any port in British India and not being a mail ship, to convey mail bags.

40. The master of a ship, not being a mail ship, about to depart from any port in British India to any port within, or any port or place beyond, British India, shall receive on board any mail bag tendered to him by any officer of the Post Office for conveyance, granting a receipt therefor in such form as the Governor General in Council may, by rule, prescribe, and shall, without delay, deliver the same at the port or place of destination.

The Indian Post Office Bill.

(Chapter VIII.—Ship Letters.—Sections 41-42. Chapter IX.—Money Orders.—Sections 43-48.)

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 31; and Eng. Bill, 27.]

Duty of master of ship arriving at any port in British India in respect of postal articles and mail bags on board.

41. (1) The master of a ship arriving at any port in British India shall, without delay, cause every postal article or mail bag on board, which is directed to that port and is within the exclusive privilege conferred on the Governor General in Council by section 4, to be delivered either at the post office at that port or to some officer of the Post Office authorized in this behalf by the Post Master General.

(2) If there is on board any postal article or mail bag which is directed to any other place within British India and is within the exclusive privilege aforesaid, the master shall, without delay, report the fact to the officer in charge of the post office at the port of arrival and act according to the directions he may receive from such officer, and the receipt of such officer shall discharge him from all further responsibility in respect of the postal article or mail bag.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 33 and Eng. Bill, cl. 31.]

Allowance of gratuities for conveyance of postal articles by ships other than mail ships.

42. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare what gratuities shall be allowed to masters of ships, not being mail ships, in respect of postal articles conveyed or to be conveyed by them on behalf of the Post Office; and the master of a ship, not being a mail ship, about to leave any port in British India as aforesaid shall, if he receives on board a mail bag for conveyance, be entitled to demand and obtain immediately the amount of the gratuity payable under this section in respect of the mail bag and its contents.

CHAPTER IX.

MONEY ORDERS.

[New Cf. 11 & 12 Vict., c. 88, s. 2; and Eng. Bill, cl. 23.]

Power to maintain money order system and to make rules as to remittances thereby.

43. (1) The Governor General in Council may provide for the remitting of small sums of money through the Post Office by means of money orders, and may make rules as to such remittances.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may prescribe—

(a) the limit of amount for which money orders may be issued; and

(b) the rates of commission or the fees to be charged thereon or in respect thereof.

[New.]

Power of remitter to recall money order or alter name of payee.

44. (1) Subject to such conditions as the Governor General in Council may, by rules made under section 43, prescribe in respect of the levy of additional rates of commission or fees or any other matters, a person remitting money through the Post Office by means of a money order may require that the amount of the order, if not paid to the payee, be repaid to him, or be paid to such person other than the original payee as he may direct.

(2) If neither the payee nor the remitter of a money order can be found, and if within the period of one year from the date of the issue of the order no claim is made by such payee or remitter, the amount of such order shall become forfeited to the Government.

[New. Cf. Eng. Bill, cl. 24.]

Power to provide for the issue of postal orders.

45. The Governor General in Council may authorize the issue, in such form as may be suitable, of money orders, to be called postal orders or by such other designation as may be deemed appropriate, for certain fixed amounts, and may make rules as to the rates of commission to be charged thereon and the manner in which, and conditions subject to which, they may be issued, paid and cancelled:

Provided that no such order shall be issued for an amount in excess of ten rupees.

[New.]

Power to give effect to arrangements with other countries.

46. (1) Where arrangements are in force with the United Kingdom, or with any British possession, Native State or foreign country, for the issue and payment through the Post Office of money orders between British India and the United Kingdom or such possession, State or country, the Governor General in Council may make rules to give effect to such arrangements.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may prescribe—

(a) the manner in which, and the conditions subject to which, such orders may be issued and paid in British India; and

[New.]

Recovery of money order paid to the wrong person.

47. If any person, without reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie on him, neglects or refuses to refund the amount of a money order paid by an officer of the Post Office to him instead of to some other person to whom it ought to have been paid, the amount shall be recoverable by any officer of the Post Office authorized by the Post Master General in this behalf from the person so neglecting or refusing as if it were an arrear of land-revenue due from him.

[See I of 1895, s. 5.]

[New. Cf. 11 & 12 Vict., c. 88, s. 2; and Eng. Bill, cl. 23 (4).]

Exemption from liability in respect of money orders.

48. No suit or other legal proceeding shall be instituted against the Secretary of State for India in Council or any officer of the Post Office in respect of—

(a) any thing done under any rules made by the Governor General in Council under this Chapter; or

(b) the wrong payment of a money order caused by incorrect or incomplete information given by the remitter as to the name and address of the payee: provided that, as regards incomplete information, there was reasonable justification for accepting the information as a sufficient description for the purpose of identifying the payee; or

(c) the payment of any money order being refused or delayed by, or on account of, any accidental neglect, omission or mistake, by, or on the part of, any officer of the Post Office, or for any other cause whatsoever, other than the fraud or wilful act or default of such officer.

The Indian Post Office Bill.

(Chapter X.—Penalties and Procedure.—Sections 49-58.)

CHAPTER X.

PENALTIES AND PROCEDURE.

Offences by Officers of the Post Office.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 47; and Eng. Bill, cl. 56.]

Penalty for misconduct on the part of letter-carriers and postmen.

49. Whoever, being employed to carry or deliver any mail bag or any postal article in course of transmission by post,—

(a) is in a state of intoxication while so employed; or

(b) is guilty of carelessness or other misconduct, whereby the safety of any such mail bag or postal article as aforesaid is endangered; or

(c) loiters or makes delay in the conveyance or delivery of any such mail bag or postal article as aforesaid; or

(d) does not use proper care and diligence safely to convey or deliver any such mail bag or postal article as aforesaid, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

[New.]

Penalty for withdrawal from duty of letter-carrier without permission or notice.

50. Whoever, being employed to carry any mail bag or any postal article in course of transmission by post, withdraws from the duties of his office without permission or without having given one month's previous notice in writing, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Penalty for making false entry in postman's register.

51. Whoever, being employed to deliver any postal article in course of transmission by post and required while so employed to keep any register, makes, or causes or suffers to be made, any false entry in the register with intent to induce the belief that he has visited a place, or delivered a postal article, which he has not visited or delivered, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or with both.

Penalty for stealing, misappropriating, secreting, destroying or throwing away postal articles.

52. Whoever, being an officer of the Post Office, steals or, for any purpose whatsoever, misappropriates, secretes, destroys or throws away any postal article in course of transmission by post or anything contained therein, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be punishable with fine.

[New. Cf. 7 Will. IV and 1 Vict., c. 36, s. 25; and Eng. Bill, cl. 55.]

Penalty for opening, detaining or delaying postal articles.

53. Whoever, being an officer of the Post Office, contrary to his duty opens, or causes or suffers to be opened, any postal article in course of transmission by post or wilfully detains or delays, or causes or suffers to be detained or delayed, any such postal article, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both:

[New. Cf. XIII, 1885, s. 26; and Eng. Bill, cl. 55, Proviso.]

Provided that nothing in this section shall extend to the opening, detaining or delaying of any postal article under the authority of this Act, or in obedience to the order in writing of the Governor General in Council.

Penalty for fraudulently marking postal articles.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 49.]

54. Whoever, being an officer of the Post Office,—

(a) fraudulently puts any wrong mark on a postal article; or

(b) fraudulently alters, removes or causes to disappear any mark or stamp which is on any postal article; or

(c) fraudulently uses or places with or upon any postal article any stamp which has been removed from any other postal article; or,

(d) being entrusted with the delivery of any postal article, demands or receives any sum of money in respect of the postage thereof which is not chargeable under this Act; shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, and shall also be punishable with fine.

Penalty for fraudulently preparing, altering, secreting or destroying Post Office documents.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 50.]

55. Whoever, being an officer of the Post Office entrusted with the preparing or keeping of any document, fraudulently prepares the document incorrectly, or alters or secretes or destroys the document, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, and shall also be punishable with fine.

Penalty for fraudulently sending unstamped postal articles.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 51.]

56. Whoever, being an officer of the Post Office, sends by post or puts into any mail bag any unstamped postal article upon which postage has not been paid or charged in the manner prescribed by this Act, intending thereby to defraud the Government of the postage on such postal article, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, and shall also be punishable with fine.

Punishment of offences committed in India, outside British India.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 59.]

57. Whoever, being an officer of the Post Office employed in any place in India beyond the limits of British India in which posts are established by the Governor General in Council, or being appointed to sell postage stamps in such place, commits therein an offence punishable under this Act, shall be punishable either in the place where the offence was committed by any Court or officer duly empowered by the Governor General in Council to take cognizance of offences committed in that place, or in any part of British India by any Court of competent jurisdiction, as if the offence had been committed in that part.

Other Offences.

Penalty for breach of provisions of section 4.

[Cf. XIV of 1866, s. 46.]

58. (1) Whoever—

(a) conveys, otherwise than by post, a letter within the exclusive privilege conferred on the Governor General in Council by section 4; or

(b) performs any service incidental to conveying, otherwise than by post, any letter within the exclusive privilege aforesaid; or

Year.	No.	Short title.	Extent of repeal.
1866	XIV	The Indian Post Office Act, 1866.	The whole.
1882	III	The Seditious Publications Act, 1882.	So much as is unrepealed.
1895	III	The Indian Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1895.	Section 7.
1896	XVI	The Indian Post Office Act (1866) Amendment Act, 1896.	The whole.
1897	XIV	The Indian Short Titles Act, 1897.	So much as relates to Acts III of 1895 and XVI of 1896.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE present Post Office Act was enacted in 1866, and has been amended since that date by the addition of three sections only. In 1882, section 60-A was added by Act III of 1882 authorising any officer of the Post Office, empowered in this behalf by the Governor General in Council, to search for newspapers regarding which a notification has been published under the Sea Customs Act. In 1895, Section 66 was added by Act III of that year, providing powers, in accordance with the general policy of the Postal Union, for dealing with fictitious or previously-used postage stamps of other countries found on letters or other articles received from abroad; and last year a further section was added by Act XVI of 1896 authorizing the recovery of customs duty, when paid in advance by the Post Office, in the same manner as postage under the Act.

During the last thirty years certain defects and omissions in the Act of 1866 have been brought to light, and experience has shown that express provisions of law, as contained in the Act, in respect of various matters are not suited to the present requirements of postal work. It has also been found that further protection is needed by the Post Office and further powers to enable its officers, for instance, to deal with articles posted in contravention of the Act. Various schemes, moreover, which have been introduced of late years such as postal insurance and the value payable and money order systems have remained outside the provisions of the Act, and now require to be based on a legislative enactment. Finally with the development of the Post Office, and the knowledge of the course of English postal legislation, the necessity for some new penalties has become apparent.

The present Bill proposes to supply the defects and omissions which have been brought to notice in the Act of 1866, and to confer the protection and powers which have been found necessary in the extension and increase of postal business. It includes within its scope postal insurance, the value payable post, and the Post Office money order system, and declares and limits the liability of Government in respect of these matters. The Bill is to a large extent an enabling Bill reserving to Government the power of dealing by rule with numerous questions of postal practice and procedure affecting the public.

A number of the sections of the Post Office Act, 1866, have been omitted as unnecessary, the drafting of the sections retained has been in a great measure revised, and the subject matter has been re-arranged. The material alterations and additions are referred to in the notes on clauses given below.

For facility of reference a comparative table has been prepared showing how each section of the Post Office Act, 1866, has been dealt with, and is appended to this statement.

Notes on clauses.

Clause 2.—All the definitions in this clause are new, but introduce no change in existing practice. It has not been necessary to reproduce any of the definitions in the Post Office Act, 1866.

Clause 6.—In this clause the provisions of the corresponding section in the Post Office Act, 1866, in respect of the liability of officers of the Post Office have been amended.

Clause 9.—This clause embodies the provisions as to the registration of newspapers which were introduced last year.

Clause 12.—In this clause the provisions of the corresponding section of the Post Office Act, 1866, in respect of the recovery of postage have been amended.

Clauses 14 and 15.—These clauses are new and reproduce the provisions of the English law as to Post Office marks being primâ facie evidence of the facts denoted.

Clause 18.—In this clause the provisions of the corresponding section of the Post Office Act, 1866, have been amended, so as to make it clear that the redelivery of postal articles, once posted, may be made without reference to the consent of the addressee.

Clause 20.—This is a new clause, supplying an omission in the Post Office Act, 1866, and prohibiting the transmission by post of obscene and indecent articles.

Clause 22.—This is a new clause, founded on the provisions of the English postal law, reserving the power of postponing the despatch or delivery of certain postal articles other than letters, postcards or newspapers.

Clause 23.—This is a new clause, founded on the provisions of the English postal law, providing powers for officers of the Post Office to deal with postal articles posted in contravention of the Act.

Clause 25.—In this clause the provisions of the corresponding section of the Post Office Act, 1866, have been amended, so as to empower search to be made for any goods notified under the Sea Customs Act, 1878, which may be contained in postal articles.

Clause 26.—This clause, based on the analogy of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, gives power to Government to order in certain cases the interception of postal articles.

Clauses 30 to 33.—These are new clauses providing for the insurance of postal articles, and declaring and limiting the liability of Government to pay compensation in respect of such articles.

Clauses 34 and 35.—These are new clauses providing for the transmission by post of value payable postal articles.

Clause 39.—In this clause the provisions of the corresponding section of the Post Office Act, 1866, have been amended, so as to provide that money and the sale proceeds of saleable property, found in postal articles which cannot be delivered, shall be credited to Government after such money or property has been detained for a year in a Dead Letter Office.

Clause 42.—By this clause the provisions of the corresponding section of the Post Office Act, 1866, have been amended, so as to provide that the gratuities payable to masters of ships for carrying ship letters may be fixed from time to time by Government.

Clauses 43 to 46.—These clauses are new. They provide for the remitting of small sums of money through the Post Office by means of money orders, and clause 44 prescribes the period after which the amount of a money order which cannot be paid to the payee or returned to the remitter becomes forfeited.

Clause 47.—This clause is new, and provides a summary procedure for the recovery of the amount of a money order wrongly paid to any person, if he refuses to refund the amount.

Clause 48.—This is a new clause exempting Government and officers of the Post Office from liability in respect of delay, etc., in the payment of money orders, in accordance with the English law and the present rules on the subject.

Clause 50.—This clause provides a new penalty, introduced with the object of preventing desertion on the part of mail-runners.

Clause 51.—This clause provides a new penalty, introduced with the object of preventing false entries being made in a postman's register with the intention of making it appear that he has visited villages which he has not visited.

Clause 53.—This clause provides a new penalty supplying an omission in the Post Office Act, 1866. The opening of a letter by an officer of the Post Office contrary to his duty, or the wilful delaying of a letter is now made punishable in accordance with the English law.

Clauses 58 and 59.—In sub-clause 2 of each of these clauses the provision of the corresponding sections of the Post Office Act, 1866, has been altered in respect of continuing breaches of the privilege of the Post Office.

Clause 61.—This clause provides a higher penalty for sending dangerous and injurious substances by post than the corresponding section in the Post Office Act, 1866. The provisions of the English law have been followed.

Clause 62.—This clause provides a new penalty, taken from the English Post Office Protection Act of 1884, for the protection of letter-boxes and their contents.

Clause 63.—This clause provides a new penalty, taken from the same English Act, to prevent the disfiguring of post offices and letter-boxes.

Clause 64.—This clause is new, but the penalty is the same as in section 43 of the Post Office Act, 1866, which deals with false certificates under that Act.

Clause 69.—This clause provides a new penalty, taken from a recent English Post Office Act, for diverting letters from the person to whom they are addressed.

Clause 70.—This clause extends the provisions of the corresponding section in the Post Office Act, 1866, so as to cover the case of attempts to commit offences.

Clause 72.—This clause introduces a new provision making the authority of the proper postal officials necessary to the institution of prosecutions for offences under the Act.

NOTICE TO MARINERS—No. 224.

[First Publication.]

NEW ZEALAND.

Exhibition of light on Rocky point, near cape Palliser.

THE Marine Department, Wellington, N. Z., has given notice (No. 17 of 1897) that on and after Wednesday, the 27th October 1897, a light will be exhibited from sunset to sunrise from the lighthouse which has been erected on Rocky Point, near Cape Palliser, the position and characteristics of which are as follow:—

Rocky Point is situated in latitude 41° 36′ 45″ S., and longitude 175° 18′ 45″ E., as measured from the Admiralty chart.

The tower is constructed of cast-iron, and has a concrete base. The total height from the bottom of the base to the top of the lantern is 58 ft. It is situated 640 ft. distant from high-water mark, at an elevation of 210 ft. above the level of the sea, and is painted white.

The light will be 258 ft. above sea-level at high water, and is a dioptric revolving white light of the second order, flashing twice every half-minute, with intervals of three seconds between the flashes. It will be visible to seaward over an arc of the horizon of about 214°, or as far as the land will allow, and should be seen in clear weather about twenty-five statute miles from the deck of a vessel of ordinary height.

CAUTION.—It is anticipated that Cape Palliser light will be visible from the sea between the following bearings: namely, from E. ¼ N. round by south and east to S.W. ¾ W. It will be seen from these bearings that the light shows over the Black Rocks and part of the mainland; therefore mariners are cautioned not to approach within four or five miles of the light until these dangers are passed.

NOTE.—All bearings are correct magnetic.

Charts, &c., affected: Admiralty charts Nos. 695, 2054, and 2582; "New Zealand Pilot," Chapter iii, page 167.

PACIFIC OCEAN—KINGMAN REEF.

Position and character of the reef.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 614 of 1897) that the following information is derived from a survey of Kingman reef by Captain A. M. Field, H.M. Surveying Vessel Penguin, 1897:—

Kingman reef is of atoll character, triangular in shape, having the base on the southern side and the apex to the northward. Within the 100 fathoms line it is 9½ miles long east and west, and 5 miles north and south. It dries at low water on its north-east, east, and south-east edges.

Approximate position of south-east extreme, lat. 6° 23′ 0″ N., long. 162° 18′ 20″ W.

(2) Unsuccessful search for Caldew and Maria reefs.

Also, that an exhaustive search was unsuccessfully made for Caldew and Maria reefs. It is now considered that these reefs are identical with Kingman reef, and they have been expunged from the charts.

A mud bank not marked on the chart.

THE Acting Resident at Labuan has given notice (No. 761, dated 11th October 1897) that information has been received from the Master of the S.S. Libelle of London that the said vessel left Kudat on the 8th October at 7 P.M., bound to Labuan and Singapore with part cargo of general merchandize. All went well until 2-45 P.M., on the 9th instant, in latitude 5° 18½′ N. and longitude 115° 17′ E. (this is approximate position), the ship passed over a mud bank not marked on the chart, and on sounding found twelve (12) feet of water on the bank. The ship's way was not stopped, and arrived safely at Labuan at 3-15 P.M.

And the said Master hereby causes this protest to be entered.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE RAJSHAHI DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1896-97

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 23rd November 1897.

RESOLUTION—No. 3393.

READ—

The Annual Administration Report of the Rajshahi Division for the year 1896-97.

Read also—

The Resolution of Government on the Annual Administration Report for the year 1895-96.

THE report was received on the 16th of July. Mr. Nolan, who was in charge of the Division throughout the year and submits the report, observes that the continuity of administration was a good deal interrupted by changes of officers in Dinajpur and Rangpur.

2. Tours and Inspections.—The Commissioner was on tour 122 days, and inspected the several districts and subdivisions of his charge, except Bogra and its border subdivisions of Nator, Naugaon and Gaibanda, the inspection of which he had to abandon in order to investigate the truth of reports that famine was imminent in Rajshahi and Pabna. Mr. Nolan's tour was especially useful inter alia in putting an end to the evil practice found existing in the Kurigram subdivision of summoning witnesses to the head-quarters of the subdivision, when the Subdivisional Officer had arranged to go on tour, in inducing the Maharaja and Council of Sikkim to prohibit ticcadars from making cultivators sell their produce at a fixed price, in putting the arrangements for assessment of rent in the Kalimpong bazar and for carrying on the trade in wool there on a satisfactory footing, and in deciding doubtful points connected with settlements of land revenue, and stimulating subordinate officers to carry on such settlements with method and without unnecessary delay.

Excepting the Subdivisional Officers of Kurseong, Nilphamari and Gaibanda, and the Territorial Subdivisional Officer of Dinajpur, all the District and Subdivisional Officers were on tour for three months and over, and the Collectors of Rangpur and Darjeeling for over four months. Besides observing the standing orders of Government in respect of inspection of offices and institutions under them, they paid special attention during the year to the prospects of the crops and the condition of the people and other matters connected with the famine.

The usefulness of Mr. Geake's tour is particularly noticed by the Commissioner, who characterises his tour as most thorough and searching.

3. Weather and Crops.—The rainfall was everywhere below the average of the last three years, except at Rangpur, where it exceeded the average by the inconsiderable amount of ·94 of an inch ; and it was, as elsewhere, ill-distributed, having failed at the critical seasons.

There was a serious failure in the rice crop (the outturn of the autumn rice being only about 9½ and of winter rice 8½ annas), which was aggravated by the high prices that resulted from greater failure elsewhere. The Commissioner again notices the misleading nomenclature as regards crop outturns adopted in official reports, which, however, will now be rectified under recent orders issued by the Government of India.

4. Public Health.—The registered death-rate has steadily increased from 32·88 a thousand in 1893, 34·21 in 1894, 35 19 in 1895, to 37·74 in 1896. The Commissioner attributes this increase partly to increase in the population and to the percentages being taken on the population at the time of the census, partly to improvement in reporting, and partly to the prevalence of malarial fever. The death-rate in Darjeeling was exceedingly high, being 51·43 per mille. The Civil Surgeon, with whom the Commissioner agrees, considers the year was an exceptionally unhealthy one in that district. It would, as Mr. Nolan observes, be disquieting to accept 53 per mille as the normal death-rate in the Darjeeling district.

The number of vaccinations considerably increased in Rajshahi, Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling, but decreased in the remaining three districts. There was an increase in the number of vaccinations in towns as a whole, except in Nator, Rangpur and Sirajganj, where there was a marked decline. The decrease in some places is alleged to be due to famine, but the Commissioner does not accept this view, and the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with him, seeing that vaccinations were more numerous than in the previous year in Rajshahi, where the failure of crops was more marked than in most of the districts of the Division. The total number vaccinated during the year in the Division was 7,358 against 6,752 in 1895-96.

5. Material condition of the people.—Under this head Mr Nolan writes:—

> The normal condition of the Division was described in my annual report for 1893-94. It varies from year to year with the abundance of the harvests, the price of food, the rate of wages, and the prevalence of malarious fever. The yield of the crops was bad in 1896, famine prices prevailed, wages were stationary, and public health worse than usual. The result was much distress among the poorest classes. But the loss was not universal. The jute crop was much better than the estimates of the Agricultural Department indicate, and in some places there was a considerable surplus in the food produce. Whatever was sold yielded a high price, and many cultivators realised unusual profits. The increase in the revenue from excise and stamps proves that there was a good deal of spare money in the Division. Those who suffered most showed a remarkable power of endurance; although test-works were opened they failed to attract. The cessation of a demand for labour is the most characteristic symptom of famine, as it is the most dangerous, and it never appeared. Our experience during the year confirms the view I have often expressed that the raiyats of the Division are much better off than those of Western and Southern India, though they do not reach the standard of comfort attained by the Burmese on the extreme east.

The Lieutenant-Governor agrees in these views and in Mr. Nolan's remarks on prices of food and labour which are reproduced in the Appendix.

6. Manufactures and Mines ; Trade and Commerce.—The articles manufactured in the Division are generally the products of the earth but slightly modified. Indigo, silk, and endi cloth are manufactured in limited quantities. Molasses, gunnies and brass and bell-metal utensils are more extensively prepared and exported from the Division. Cotton cloth is manufactured in Pabna, but the industry is not thriving. Shitalpaties are largely manufactured in Pabna, and have an extensive sale. Satrangies are made in Rangpur. There are jute-presses in Jalpaiguri, Rangpur and Pabna. The outturn of tea increased from 32,156,700 lbs. to 34,381,834 lbs., and of cinchona from 507,436 lbs. to 717,222 lbs.

The Daling Colliery in Darjeeling produced 96 tons of coal. This industry promises to progress greatly in the immediate future.

The trade of the Division is mainly conducted by exporting jute in exchange for piece-goods and salt. The amount of jute sent to Calcutta was about the same as last year, viz., seventy-six and a half millions of maunds. But the production was less. Owing to the bad harvest there was a fall of 1,21,000 maunds in the export of rice, the total quantity exported being 3,09,228 maunds. But taken as a whole the agricultural exports from the Division were greater than in 1895-96—a remarkable fact. The principal import, viz. European piece-goods, decreased from Rs. 1,15,66,776 to Rs. 1,08,14,662. In spite of the famine prices which prevailed, the imports of salt greatly increased—a fact which the Commissioner notices with surprise. The increase in the import of kerosine oil was arrested during the year. The Commisioner's remarks on the subject are interesting and important, and are reproduced in the Appendix.

7. Civil Justice.—The number of ordinary and Small Cause Court suits in the Division was 62,502 against 59,398 in 1895-96. The ratio per cent. of witnesses detained over two days to total number examined was 2·1 against 5·0 in the previous year in the case of District Judges, 14·6 against 11·9 in the case of Subordinate and Small Cause Court Judges, and 8·03 against 10·7 in the case of Munsifs. The ratio decreased in all the districts except Pabna, where it was 6·9 against 4 5 in 1895-96.

8. Crime and Criminal Justice.—The number of cognizable offences increased by 204 and the non-cognisable offences decreased by 958 cases. The latter is attributed to the partial failure of the crops. The two classes of offences taken together, however, show a decrease of 754 cases. The total number of offences reported amounted to 25,392.

Exclusive of offences under Class VI (other than offences against person, property and public tranquillity), the total number of cases disposed of was 9,250 against 9,568 in the year before. On an average each stipendiary Magistrate tried one case in two working days and heard five witnesses.

But taking all classes of cases together, the number of cases disposed of amounted to 12,151 against 13,305 in 1895-96. The average number of cases disposed of by each stipendiary Magistrate was 195½ against 209½ during the previous year. The detention of witnesses by this class of officers was highest in the Gaibanda (20·3) and Nilphamari (16·5) subdivisions of Rangpur. Siliguri (11·7) in Darjeeling and the Sadar (11·6) subdivision of Pabna come next. It was lowest in Nator (·2) and in the Sadar stations of Darjeeling (·6), Bogra (1·6) and Rajshahi (2). The average percentage for the Division was 4·9 against 4·4 in 1895-96. The high percentages of witnesses detained for more than two days in the Gaibanda and Nilphamari subdivisions were noticed last year, but no improvement appears to have been effected. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the Commissioner has given special attention to the subject of the detention of witnesses, and agrees in all that he says on it.

The percentages of A cases remanded six times and more to total number disposed of by the stipendiary Magistrates were also highest in the Gaibanda (16·1) and the Nilphamari (16·4) subdivisions of Rangpur, and lowest in the Sadar stations of Darjeeling (·7) and Dinajpur (1·9). The average percentage for the Division was 5·9 against 5·1 in 1895-96.

The percentage of sessions cases resulting in conviction to total cases disposed of was 67·9 against 63·4 in the previous year, showing an increase of 4·5 per cent. The percentage was highest in Rajshahi (79·5) and lowest in Pabna (60·0). In Darjeeling it fell from 81·2 to 62·5 per cent.

9. Land Revenue and Cesses.—The current demand on account of Land Revenue was Rs. 51,95,448 against Rs. 51,84,824 in 1895-96, showing an increase of Rs. 10,624 obtained mainly from the temporarily-settled estates. The total current and arrear demand was Rs. 52,74,694, and out of this Rs. 50,60,495, or 95 9 per cent., was collected against 98·46 in the previous year, and Rs. 4,230 was remitted, leaving an outstanding balance of Rs. 2,09,969 against Rs. 75,495 in the previous year.

The following statement shows the percentage of current collections of Land Revenue on current demand:—

	Permanently-settled estates.	Temporarily-settled estates.	Khas Mahals.
Standard of collection	99 per cent.	95 per cent.	90 per cent.
Rajshahi	99·71	100·	89·19
Dinajpur	99·75	Nil.	100·
Jalpaiguri	99·97	100·	50·73
Darjeeling	52·60	100·	98·60
Rangpur	99·94	97·35	84 61
Bogra	98·83	Nil.	88·73
Pabna	99 93	93·75	68·56
Divisional average	99·71	99 06	64·28

In all the districts the standard percentage (99) of collections of current Land Revenue on current demand in permanently-settled estates was reached, except in Darjeeling (52·60) and Bogra (98·83). The exceptions are characterised by the Commissioner as little more than nominal, the money left uncollected in Darjeeling having been never really due. In each of the districts the whole of the outstanding arrears of these estates was collected.

In temporarily-settled estates the percentage of collections fell slightly below the standard only in Pabna and Rangpur, while the standard percentage of collections in the case of estates held direct by Government was nowhere reached, except in Darjeeling and Dinajpur, the amount of the demand being very small in the latter district. The deficiency in the collections under this head is attributed by the Commissioner to the failure of the chief crops. The results are on the whole satisfactory, but the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Commissioner in thinking that with better management and discrimination more might have been collected in the Jalpaiguri Duars. It is noticed with satisfaction that due attention has been given to the introduction of agricultural improvements, that there were no desertions of holdings in Government estates, that certificates were promptly disposed of, and that the number of pending partition cases was reduced during the year.

The total demand on account of Zamindari Dâk cess was Rs. 49,040, of which Rs. 47,916 or 97·7 per cent. against 95·7 in 1895-96 and 97·9 in 1894-95 was collected.

The total demand on account of Road and Public Works cesses was Rs. 10,70,915, out of which Rs. 10,06,528 was collected and Rs. 652 remitted, leaving an outstanding balance of Rs. 63,735 against Rs. 69,352 in 1895-96.

10. Wards and Attached Estates.—There were eight estates under the management of the Court of Wards as in the previous year. The current and arrear demand of these estates amounted to Rs. 5,17,417, of which Rs. 2,63,968 or 51·01 was collected and Rs. 21,675 was remitted, leaving a balance of Rs. 2,31,774. The percentage of current collection on current demand was 60·32 against 60·38 in the previous year. In spite of the Commissioner's repeated injunctions to the contrary, managers of estates retain on their books nominal arrears which not merely are irrecoverable but were never due; serious notice should be taken of the conduct of managers who persistently disobey orders in this respect, and they should be reported to the Board for punishment should they fail during the current year to carry out the instructions issued by the Commissioner in accordance with the orders of Government.

11. Excise, Stamps, Income-tax.—The total excise revenue was Rs. 11,12,260, showing an increase of Rs. 39,010 in all. The revenue from country spirit increased by Rs. 52,240, while that from ganja, opium and charas, &c., declined by Rs. 5,218, Rs. 5,740, and Rs. 7,584, respectively. The incidence per head of population was 2 annas 2 pies, as in the previous year.

The stamp revenue increased by Rs. 1,10,320 or 7·6 per cent. over the receipt of the previous year.

The income-tax showed an increase of 144 persons in the number assessed and of Rs. 8,198 in the demand. There was a slight decrease in the percentage of collections to demand, being 98·9 per cent. against 99·1 per cent. in 1895-96. But the collections exceeded the standard of 95 per cent. in all the districts.

12. Railways and other Public Works.—The survey operations of four branch railway lines, viz., (1) from Nator to Boalia, (2) from Damdim to Bagrakot, (3) from Bagrakot to Daling coalfield, (4) from Malbazar to Salkumar, have been completed during the year. The construction of a branch line from Sultanpur to Kaliganj vid Bogra was commenced. For the construction and the repairs of tanks, wells, roads, and bridges and other works of public utility Rs. 97,189 was spent by private individuals, and Rs. 16,313 by the District Board, against Rs. 81,003 and Rs. 10,278 respectively in 1895-96. The District Boards and Road Cess Committees spent Rs. 2,93,825 on original works and repairs (of roads and bridges) against Rs. 3,70,158 in the previous year. The total expenditure on village roads was Rs. 18,762 against Rs. 28,889 in the year before.

13. Education.—There were 3,942 schools at the end of the year, 109 more than in the previous year. The number of pupils on the rolls also increased from 113,710 to 117,650. Out of 616,806 boys of school-going age, 19·07 per cent. were under instruction against 18·4 in 1895-96, while the cost of education per pupil decreased by 2 annas 6 pies from Rs. 4-11-4 to Rs. 4-8-10. The total expenditure on education from all sources was Rs. 6,47,438 against Rs. 5,35,858 in 1895-96. Of this sum Rs. 1,54,688 was contributed by the District Boards and Rs. 8,903 by the Municipalities against Rs. 1,27,703 and Rs. 7,373 in the preceding year. The contribution towards primary education by the District Boards was 15·9 per cent. of the ordinary income, while that by the Municipalities was 2·5 per cent. against 17·3 and 1·9 per cent. in the previous year. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to notice that there has been a marked increase in the number of boys at school in Bogra and Rajshahi, and that the behaviour of the students in the Rajshahi College is now reported to be good.

14. Dispensaries and Hospitals.—The number of dispensaries increased from 60 to 65 during the year under report, three new ones having been established in Rajshahi, one in Darjeeling, and one in Pabna. The construction of the Syedani Tahirunnessa Zanana Hospital at Bogra was completed during the year. The total number of patients treated was 289,157, of whom 282,831 were out-patients, showing an increase of 35,693 in the former and 33,941 in the latter. The total outlay on these institutions was Rs. 1,20,962, which was Rs. 30,803 more than in the previous year. The cost of diet for in-patients was two annas per head as in the previous year. The ratio per cent. of out-door patients to total population was 3·5 against 3·1 in 1895-96.

15. Local Self-Government Institutions.—The Commissioner says that the degree of efficiency with which these institutions worked will be examined in a special report on the subject. The established standard was, however, he adds, duly maintained. The District Boards of Rajshahi and Pabna are commended for their efficiency in opening test works for famine purposes.

16. Social and political institutions.—There were 22 such institutions in the Division, and nine journals were published during the year. There was no manifestation of public feeling. The vernacular press takes its tone from that of the metropolis.

17. Conduct of zamindars.—There were no reports of agrarian disputes during the year—a fact which indicates great improvement in the relations of landlord and tenant in the Division. As a body, the zamindars are reported to be loyal and charitable. The Commissioner notices the increasing disposition of rich landlords to live in Calcutta, and its evil effects.

18. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are tendered to Mr. Nolan for his uniformly efficient administration of the Division and for his careful and interesting report.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

M. FINUCANE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

III.—WEATHER AND CROPS.

(a) Weather.

10. The following statement shows the rainfall as compared with the average of the last three years:—

District.	Average.	1896-97.	Deficiency.
1	2	3	4
Rajshahi	55·70	45·59	10·11
Dinajpur	70·48	52·63	17·85
Jalpaiguri	144·32	106·96	37·36
Darjeeling	121·84	107·99	13·85
Rangpur	69·97	70·91	...	·94 Excess.
Bogra	65·74	58·37	7·37
Pabna	62·52	49·78	12·74
Divisional total ...	84·38	70·32	14·06

The fall was not well distributed, failing at the critical seasons; and the flood of the Ganges, which in many parts is the great fertiliser, was of unusually short duration; that of the Brahmaputra also failed to some extent. The heat in April, May and August was intense.

(b) Crops.

11. The following statement shows the outturn of the principal crops, as estimated in the returns prepared for the Agricultural Department:—

District.	Autumn rice.	Winter rice.	Jute.	Tobacco.	Indigo.	Sugar-cane.	Silk.	Tea.	Millets.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Rajshahi	6	6	15	7	12	9 3	8·5	...	...
Dinajpur	8	10·4	10	14	10	13	...	...	...
Jalpaiguri	7	7·3	11 5	11	...	10	...	13	...
Darjeeling	10	8	10	12	...	12	...	15	11
Rangpur	11	10·5	11	16	9	16	...	...	...
Bogra	12	12	10	10	...	20	...	...	...
Pabna	12	4·4	12	12	...	14	...	...	...
Divisional average ...	9·4	8·3	11·3	11·7	10·3	13·4	8 5	14	11

The Department is supposed to make these estimates on the assumption that sixteen annas represents an average crop; but in fact the popular standard is used, sixteen annas being considered the ideal crop—a statement the truth of which will appear to any one who adds up the figures for a series of years: he will find they do not average anything approaching to sixteen annas. Allowing for this source of error, it is clear that there was a great failure in the rice crop of 1896 97, aggravated by the high prices which resulted from greater failure elsewhere.

IV.—PUBLIC HEALTH.

12. The rate of mortality in the different districts was as follows:—

District.	Deaths per thousand.
	1895.	1896.
Rajshahi ...	37·53	40·34
Dinajpur ...	36·00	37·71
Jalpaiguri	35·97	39·89
Darjeeling ...	37·59	51·43
Rangpur ...	32·86	37·80
Bogra ...	30·63	30·36
Pabna	37·50	36·35
Divisional total .	35·19	37·74

There appears to be a steady increase in the registered death-rate, which was 32·88 in 1893, 34·21 in 1894, 35·19 in 1895, and 37·74 in 1896. I attribute this partly to an increase in the population, the figures being taken on the incorrect assumption that this remains stationary between census dates, and partly to improvement in reporting; the real death-rate is much higher than that shown. In 1896 there was also an increase in mortality, owing to the prevalence of malarial fever. The death-rate in Darjeeling was somewhat alarming, exceeding 50 per thousand. The Civil Surgeon considers that the great increase from the rate of the previous year was real, while the Deputy Commissioner thinks it probable that improvement in recording vital statistics may account for the difference. Mr. Greer observes:—

"The mortality in the Terai has always been high, and this year is no exception to the rule, the death-rate being 61·08 per mille, against 54·45 in 1895. Fever as before accounted for the bulk of the deaths in the Terai, over 89 per cent. of the total mortality.

"The death-rate in the higher hill region (Darjeeling town and its surrounding tracts) was 53·03 per mille, against 31·64 in the preceeding year. There was a slight epidemic of cholera on the road between Pedong and the Tista bridge in Kalimpong, and also at Pulbazar. Mortality was, however, chiefly due to fever. The intermediate region or the Kurseong jurisdiction shows a death-rate of 40·72 per mille during the year, against 27·32 in the preceding year."

My own observation leads me to concur with the Civil Surgeon in considering that the year was exceptionally unhealthy in Darjeeling. It would certainly be disquieting to accept 53 per mille as the normal death-rate of the higher hills, or to believe that in this tract, which has the largest establishment in proportion to population to be found in Bengal, so great a death-rate could have existed without being discovered. After Darjeeling, Rajshahi shows the highest death-rate, although, according to popular opinion, Dinajpur is really much more unhealthy. The Collector attributes the increased mortality of the year to deficient rainfall, but the rate was considerably higher in 1893, when the rain was very much in excess of the normal amount. There was a marked increase in Rangpur, for which the Collector accounts as follows:—

"The general health of the district was much worse than in the previous year. Malarial fevers were unusually prevalent, and this view is corroborated by the Civil Surgeon, as well as by the vital and dispensary statistics of the district. Cholera was less prevalent. The rainfall was badly distributed; an excessive quantity fell for a few days, and this was succeeded by a long drought."

I believe that these remarks apply to the whole Division. The increased mortality was entirely due to fever, there being a decline under the other heads, and particularly under that of cholera. The cessation of this epidemic accounts for the decreased mortality in Bogra and Pabna.

13. The figures showing total number of accidental and sudden deaths in 1896 were as follows :—

(a) Accidental and sudden deaths.

	Total ...	6,723	7,363	5,836	6,258	797	1,000	129	100

The figures show a considerable increase in the number of persons vaccinated in Rajshahi, Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri, and Darjeeling, accompanied by some falling off in the three remaining districts; the increase is attributed by the Collector of Rajshahi to the healthiness of the working season; the decrease is connected by the Collector of Pabna with the prevalence of malarial fever in his district. The famine is naturally referred to as explaining decrease where it occurred, but this cannot be accepted in the face of the fact that vaccinations were more numerous in Rajshahi, where the failure of crops was marked. Out of 2,41,320 persons vaccinated in the Division, in 2,35,620 cases, i.e., in 97·6 per cent. cases, operations proved successful.

An innovation has been introduced by the Dinajpur authorities in the system of operation by appointing two female vaccinators for pardah women. The Collector observes:—

"The experiment, the credit for which must be ascribed to Dr. Blaker, cannot but fail to be productive of good results, and may possibly contribute largely to the popularity of vaccination. The females were employed in those places where objections were raised to pardah women being vaccinated by male operators. The Civil Surgeon, I understand, proposes to extend the system during the current year. How far it is capable of extension must depend solely on the demand."

There has been an increase in the number of vaccinations in towns as a whole, but a marked decline in Nator, Rangpur, and Sirajganj. In Rangpur this may be attributed to an outbreak of small-pox in the preceding year, which made the inhabitants appreciate in a special manner the benefits of vaccination.

V.—MATERIAL CONDITION OF THE PEOPLE.

16. The normal condition of the Division was described in my annual report for 1893-94. It varies from year to year with the abundance of the harvests, the price of food, the rate of wages, and the prevalence of malarious fever. The yield of the crops was bad in 1896, famine prices prevailed, wages were stationary, and public health worse than usual. The result was much distress among the poorest classes. But the loss was not universal. The jute crop was much better than the estimates of the Agricultural Department indicate, and in some places there was a considerable surplus in the food produce. Whatever was sold yielded a high price, and many cultivators realised unusual profits. The increase in the revenue from excise and stamps proves that there was a good deal of spare money in the Division. Those who suffered most showed a remarkable power of endurance; although test-works were opened they failed to attract. The cessation of a demand for labour is the most characteristic symptom of famine, as it is the most dangerous, and it never appeared. Our experience during the year confirms the view I have often expressed that the raiyats of the Division are much better off than those of Western and Southern India, though they do not reach the standard of comfort attained by the Burmese on the extreme east.

VI.—EMIGRATION AND IMMIGRATION.

Emigration.

17. This Division is not one of those healthly tracts where population increases beyond the means of subsistence, so that the inhabitants have to seek a livelihood elsewhere. On the contrary, the effect of malaria here is so great that the census shows in some districts an actual decline in numbers, notwithstanding the recruitment of many immigrants. It follows that there is no emigration, the only exception being that a small and unascertained number of families passes each year to Assam for the purpose of settling on the waste land so abundant in that Province.

Immigration.

18. Immigration, on the other hand, is common, many being willing to accept the climatic risks of the country in order to secure a maintenance. The permanent settlers take up the jungle lands, generally in the tract conquered from Bhutan in 1862, and known as the Eastern Duars. Many of them are Brahmins from Nepal or Budhists from Bhutan, there are also Garos, Sonthals, men from Chota Nagpur, who came originally to work on the tea-gardens, and some up-country men. I do not include among immigrants those who arrive from Cooch Behar, which, for the present purpose, may be regarded as a part of the Division, or from Rangpur; these are the most numerous settlers in the Duars. In Rangpur and Dinajpur there are jungles of moderate extent, consisting of land which was thrown out of cultivation because exceptionally unhealthy; and smaller tracts of the same character are found in Bogra, Pabna and Rajshahi. These attract aboriginal settlers, generally Sonthals, but including also some Garos and Nagas; men of these races seem to suffer less from malaria. Among temporary immigrants the tea coolies are the most important. The greater part come from Chota Nagpur, and this year they arrived in exceptional numbers owing to the prevalence of famine in their own country. I observed that they did not, as formerly, insist on being conveyed by train at the employers' expense, but as a rule walked the whole distance by road. This shows how much they valued the employment given. They prefer the Duars to Assam, because the system of free labour prevails here—a fact of which they are quite aware and consider of great importance. Nepalese and Bhutias accept employment in the gardens near the hills. There is a large immigration of up country men, particularly from the district of Saran, to do hard labour of all kinds. They furnished all the workmen for the Bogra Railway, are generally employed on roads, supply hands to the Sirajganj Jute Factory and act as palki-bearers. They are also largely employed in service, as guards, watchmen, and messengers. Occasionally they settle here, in spite of their objection to the climate, and when they do so their descendants often rise in the social scale. Afghan traders have become much more conspicuous of late years; they sell cloth to the raiyats, giving credit until the crop is cut, when they have a very pressing way of collecting. A great part of the wholesale trade of the Division has always been in the hands of Marwaris; they are established with a certain amount of permanence, but do not bring their women. Mr. Geake gives the following account of certain visitors to his district, Rangpur:—

"Road coolies from Benares come here for work. They spend their spare time digging up rats' holes in the paddy-fields and taking the paddy stored therein. I found eight men returning from such an expedition with four maunds of paddy, which was said to be quite an ordinary find. They complain that the owners themselves are following their example in this year of scarcity and ransacking the rats' hoards. I myself saw about two seers of good paddy thus extracted from a hole with very little labour, and this harvest can be gathered for nearly a month after the crop is cut. The Nunias also enjoy the rat as well as his store."

The number of men engaged for military and similar employment by the District Recruiting Officer of Darjeeling was 385 against 641 in the preceding year. These will all be immigrants from Nepal.

VII.—PRICES OF FOOD AND LABOUR.

(a) Prices of food.
(b) Prices of labour.

19. The price of rice, which is the staple food of the Division, rose from 15 seers, the average rate per rupee at the close of the last two years, to 9 seers; and the price of other grains increased in proportion. There was no corresponding rise in wages taken as a whole. In Pabna and Rajshahi districts which have been on the verge of famine, the price of labour actually fell—a very unusual occurrence in Bengal. In the former the decline is observed in regard to the three forms of skilled labour specified in the returns—those of masons, carpenters and blacksmiths. Among coolies it affected only the boys. In Rajshahi it was felt by coolies of all classes, but in places only; thus a male adult got 3 annas 3 pies a day formerly, this year he got from that amount down to 1 anna 6 pies. In regard to the latter entry, I may observe that it is less than we paid on the test-works, which would not fill, so that its prevalence must have been very rare. In Bogra, Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling no change occurred of any kind. Dinajpur shows a decided increase, extending among unskilled labourers to women and boys, among the skilled to common carpenters, masons and garamis. In Rangpur there has been a rise in the wages of blacksmiths and masons, as also of boys. I believe that the superior officers of the Public Works do not quite accept the alleged increase, considering that there has been a tendency of late to run up rates fictitiously; but there is no special reason to doubt its reality in Dinajpur and Rangpur, as much money was made there this year by certain cultivators, and this may have created a demand for labour of the class in question, although other cultivators lost heavily.

VIII.—MANUFACTURES AND MINES.

(a) Manufactures.

20. The manufactured articles used in this Division are for the most part imported, the equivalent being given in rice, jute, tea, and other agricultural products: even the commodities we classify as manufactured here are generally the fruits of the earth but slightly modified. The preparation of indigo is very limited, the yield being 911 maunds, against 1,156 maunds in 1895 and 931 maunds in 1894. Some silk is made in Rajshahi, the quantity being 1,37,574lbs. against 1,26,745lbs. in the previous year. This is exclusive of the Serail factory, the outturn of which has by some error been entered in the statistics of the Presidency Division. There are jute presses in Jalpaiguri, Rangpur, and Pabna. The outturn in Jalpaiguri was 51,711 bales, in Rangpur 25,000 maunds, and in Pabna 1,46,356 bales, exclusive of the Sirajganj Jute Mill, which worked up 9,500 tons of jute. Endi cloth (coarse silk) is manufactured in small quantities for home consumption in Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri, Rangpur, and Bogra. Molasses are manufactured in all the districts. They are largely exported from Rajshahi. Sugar is made at Pachagar in Jalpaiguri, and after meeting the local demands it is exported to Bhutan and neighbouring districts. Gunnies are prepared in all the districts of the Division and at Sirajganj Jute Mills are on an extensive scale and exported to Calcutta. As stated in the previous year's report, cotton cloth is manufactured by hand-looms in Pabna, but this industry is not in a very thriving condition. Brass and bell-metal utensils are manufactured at Kalam and Boodhpara in the subdivision of Nator in the district of Rajshahi, Pachagarh in Jalpaiguri, and in the district of Pabna. These articles are exported to other districts. The manufacture of shitalpatees is carried on largely in Pabna, as they are in great demand, and have an extensive and ready sale. Satrangies (carpets) are made in Rangpur only. Beer and porter are brewed in Darjeeling to a small extent.

IX.—TRADE AND COMMERCE.

24. The traffic of this Division is mainly with Calcutta, as the port for England. The only connected and intelligible view of our commerce is derived from an examination of the figures on that subject published in the Calcutta Gazette.

25. The exports to Calcutta were as follows:—

26. Of the articles mentioned, jute is beyond all comparison the staple; in fact, the Division may be described as conducting its trade by exporting jute in exchange for piecegoods and salt. The amount sent to Calcutta was about the same as last year; on each occasion it approximated to seventy-six millions of maunds and a half. But the production was somewhat less. A stock was kept over in 1895-96, as prices were low, while very little was reserved this year. The fall in the export of rice from four lakhs of maunds to three is an obvious result of the bad harvest. It must not be supposed that because there were considerable, though diminished, exports of the ordinary food-grain, there was a surplus in the Division after supplying the wants of the population. The only legitimate inference is that the wants of others were still greater than ours. In food-grains generally the falling off of exports was only half a lakh of maunds, or ten per cent., and against this there was an increase of a lakh of maunds in oilseeds, and nearly a lakh in tobacco. Taken as a whole, the agricultural exports from the Division in this year of deficient rain and inferior harvests were greater than in 1895-96—a fact which I by no means anticipated. This must be taken in connection with the figures showing an increase of revenue under certain heads, and as indicating that the effect of the famine was felt here rather through the rise of prices which it caused than in any other way.

27. Our imports from Calcutta under the principal heads are shown in the following table:—

28. There is a decrease in the principal import—European piece-goods—which last year were valued at eleven and a half millions of rupees, and this year at less than eleven millions. There was a corresponding decrease of a half million in 1895-96, which I attributed to the inferior harvest. I would have expected this cause to have produced even a greater effect on the present occasion. In view of the famine prices which have prevailed, I am surprised to find that the imports of salt have greatly increased, and that they have done so in every district, except Pabna, which, as including the mart of Sirajganj, is not to be taken as representing fairly the trade carried on to supply the wants of the Division. Sirajganj is a market for the Upper Brahmaputra generally. I can only conjecture that there was some reason, unknown to me and to the District Officers, why a greater quantity of salt was imported, when one would have supposed the people to be able to buy less; this happens occasionally owing to causes connected with the requirements of trade. The increase in the import of kerosine oil was arrested during the year, as might have been anticipated. The other articles specified are of no great importance.

XXIII.—RAILWAYS AND OTHER PUBLIC WORKS.

(a) Railways and railway feeder roads.

79. Survey operations undertaken for branch railway lines—(1) from Nator to Boalia in Rajshahi, (2) from Damdim to Bograkote, (3) from Bograkote to Daling coal-field, and (4) from Matbazar to Salkumar—have been completed during the year. The survey for opening a line of tramway from Raiganj to Lahiri in Dinajpur was taken in hand, and an expenditure of Rs. 115 was incurred shortly before the end of the financial year. The work of construction of a branch line sanctioned from Sultanpur to Kaliganj (in Rangpur) vid Bogra was commenced in the latter part of the year.

Railway feeders.

In Dinajpur the construction of the railway feeders, viz., (1) from Bhowanipur to Karampukuria, (2) from Bhowanipur to Ambaria, and (3) from Chorkai to Disbundi, was sanctioned by Government; but the work could not be taken in hand during the year for want of plans and estimates. At the close of the year Government also sanctioned 5 feeder roads, viz., 4 in Bogra and 1 in Pabna. The road from Pabna to Sara was in use throughout the year, and has been maintained as required.

Other public works.

Imperial and provincial buildings were kept in order by the District Board, to whom their up-keep has been made over.

(b) Steamer service.

80. The steamers that plied between Goalundo and Patna and touched at Damukdia, Rampur Boalia and Godagari are reported not to have worked with the regularity desirable for passenger traffic. The India General Steam Navigation Company kept the steam ferry service between Pabna and Kushtia during the year.

(c) Tanks, wells, roads, &c., constructed, &c., by private individuals and by the District Boards.

81. The total number of tanks and wells, roads and bridges and other works of public utility constructed and repaired by private individuals during the year 1896 at their own cost, together with the total amount spent by them for their construction and repairs in the several districts of the Division, are shown in the following table :—

Besides several gentlemen and ladies of Pabna gave liberal sums to excavate tanks both in the town and in the district in commemoration of the visit of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to the town in July last, and their charitable gifts have been suitably acknowledged by Government.

The following table shows the number of tanks and wells sunk, excavated or repaired by several District Boards, and the amount expended on that account during the year:—

87. In preparing this section, I have not had the advantage of seeing the Inspector's report, as it was not ready. A great part of the utility of that review of the year's working is lost if it is not available in time to the Commissioner, and the remarks of the latter have to be founded on very imperfect information. I have experienced this difficulty before, and may suggest that the dates should be so arranged as to permit of the Commissioner seeing the Inspector's report before he has to send in his own.

The figures indicate an improvement in the number of schools and pupils, with a corresponding economy in the cost of education to the individual scholar. It is remarkable that the scarcity had no bad effect on the attendance at primary or other schools.

88. The following table shows the names of districts standing according to merits of education progress:—

89. As in the previous year, Bogra heads the list as having the largest proportion under instruction, and the increase in that district is also great. In the latter respect it is second only to Rajshahi, where, owing to an increase in the reward offered under the system of payment by results, there has been a very marked improvement. Until now Rajshahi has always been the worst district in proportion to the opportunities it has enjoyed, and this I attributed to the indifference of the Board to primary education. I am glad to see that there has been a change.

The Collector reports that the behaviour of the students at the Rajshahi College was good—a result probably due to the vigorous measures taken in regard to the breach of discipline during the previous year. The educational results were poor, so far as the higher classes are concerned.

Two students went up for the M. A. Examination but failed to pass. Out of 8 students who appeared for the B. A., only one passed, while at the F. A. Examination 25 candidates passed, against 23 last year and 32 in 1895. I am inclined to doubt the expediency of maintaining any class at this College above the F. A.: we should not tempt scholars, by stipends or otherwise, to remain there when they would do better at the Presidency.

90. There are two technical schools in the Division: that at Rangpur is a very useful institution. The Collector gives the following account of it:—

"The school has been affiliated with the Sibpur Engineering College, and a class called the English Class has been opened since July 1895, from which class the pupils, after passing the final examination of the school, may obtain admission in the 3rd-year class of the Apprentice Department of the Sibpur Engineering College, in case they also pass the annual examination of the 2nd-year class of the College. At the final examination of the school held in June 1896, 20 appeared, of whom 17 passed—2 in the 1st, 4 in the 2nd, and 11 in the 3rd Division."

As to the Pabna institution, I gather from the report only that there were 43 students, and that they cost Rs. 66 a head, of which Rs. 2·4 were covered by fees.

N. B.—The figures shown in columns 6, 7, 8, 15, 17 and 18 against Darjeeling refer to the District Road Cess Committee—(a) Official (b) Non-official.
(·) Figures not furnished by the District Officer.
(d) One died and his place not filled up during the year.

The degree of efficiency with which these institutions worked will be examined in the special report on the subject submitted on a later date. At present I need only say that the established standard in this respect was duly maintained. The Magistrate of Rajshahi notices the service rendered by that district in efficiently maintaining test works for famine purposes, and in this respect credit is also due to the Pabna Board. The Pabna Municipality deserves special mention. The District Magistrate observes :—

"The general election of the Municipal Commissioners of this district came on during the year under review. Much enthusiasm was shown by the public in electing their representatives, and election in some of the wards was hotly contested in the Pabna Municipality.

The Municipal Commissioners take interest in their work, and the Chairman, Babu Kali Charan Sen, a pleader of the local Bar, has done really excellent work, sacrificing both much of his time and to some extent his popularity also to the proper interests of the Municipality. A permanent improvement in the water-supply of the town has been carried out during the year by the munificence and zeal of one of the merchants of the town, Babu Tarak Nath Pramanik, by excavating the filthy hole known as Amir Khan's tank and converting it into a proper tank.

The cutcherry tanks have also been re-dug by means of money collected to commemorate His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor's visit in August 1896, supplemented by a donation from the zamindars of Parsadanga. This work is still going on after the close of the year."

In Jalpaiguri certain charges were brought against the District Engineer for excessive expenditure and negligent work. These are still pending.

XXXVI.—CONDUCT OF ZAMINDARS.

106. The district reports make no mention of any dispute between landlords and tenants, and in this respect there has certainly been very great improvement. Disturbances occasionally occur between rival zamindars. The Collector of Dinajpur observes :—

"The zamindars of the district generally continue to be peaceful. There is a noteworthy absence of agrarian disputes in the district."

As a body, the zamindars are loyal and charitable. Their conduct in regard to the prevailing scarcity is mentioned only by Mr. Bose of Rajshahi. He writes :—

"Most of them have come forward very generously during this year of scarcity of water and food. They have excavated several tanks and wells, have given handsome subscriptions for the relief of the distressed, and have acted with great consideration towards their tenants in the matter of rent."

It will, however, be understood that the zamindars have given assistance only to the extent to be expected from charitable persons connected with the Division, not as assuming any substantial part of the responsibility for maintaining the distressed. Two of the Collectors comment on the increasing disposition of the rich landlords to live in Calcutta and on its evil effects. This practice will probably increase very rapidly, particularly in regard to the less healthy districts. The zamindars of Bengal do not possess the tastes for farming and field sports which attach country gentlemen to their estates in other countries; and, though they spend according to their means on house-building and gardening, they do not improve their grounds so as to make their seats desirable residences, or to distinguish them from suburban villas. Town life is more suitable to their tastes, and the preference for it will become marked as the force of old traditions decline.

REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE SALT MARKET FOR THE SECOND QUARTER OF 1897 98.

No. 880B., dated Calcutta, the 19th November 1897.

From—H. J. McINTOSH, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L.P.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

SALT.

THE HON'BLE MR. W. H. GRIMLEY.

I AM directed to submit the following report on the state of the salt market for the second quarter of 1897-98, comprising the months of July, August and September 1897.

2. The quantity of salt of every description cleared during the quarter under review amounted to 28,27,693 maunds, as compared with 26,17,863 maunds in the previous quarter and 26,77,294 maunds in the corresponding quarter of the previous year; and the net amount of duty levied thereon was Rs. 66,79,141, as against Rs. 61,10,816 in the previous quarter and Rs. 61,68,873 in the corresponding quarter of the previous year. In all cases fractions are omitted.

3. The quantity of locally-made salt removed from the golas in Orissa during the quarter under review, and the quantity which remained in store at the close of the quarter, are shown in table I below:—

TABLE I.

Imports.—During the period under report, the imports of rice amounted to 82,884 cwts., against 12,766 cwts. in the week ending 7th November 1896. The amount imported from Burma was 82,883 cwts., against only 12,024 cwts. in the first week of November 1896, and that from Hong-Kong 1 cwt., against nil in the corresponding period of last year. Imports of paddy rose from 1,508 cwts. to 3,050 cwts., owing to the imports from Rangoon. The decrease under the head of gram and pulses amounted to 19,672 cwts., the amount imported from the Madras ports being only 1,100 cwts., against 20,720 cwts. in the corresponding period of 1896.

Exports.—In the following statement the total quantity of each kind of food-grain exported by sea during the first week of November 1897 is compared with that for the corresponding period of 1896 :—

Foreign ports.

The exports of rice from Calcutta to foreign ports declined from 97,794 cwts. in the first week of November 1896 to 59,821 cwts. in the period under report. There were no exports to Reunion, Muscat, Natal, Persia, New South Wales, and Fiji Islands, which took 29,627 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year. The despatches to the United Kingdom showed a decrease of 6,236 cwts. The exports of miscellaneous food-grains increased from 264 cwts. to 5,683 cwts., in consequence of the despatches to Mauritius having risen from 220 cwts. to 5,664 cwts. during the first week of November 1897.

Indian ports.

As regards Indian ports, the exports of rice during the first week of November 1897 amounted to only 318 cwts., against 13,123 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year, owing chiefly to the cessation of exports to Bombay, which took 12,291 cwts. during the first week of November 1896. The exports of gram and pulse declined from 12,449 cwts. to 4,937 cwts., owing to there being no shipments to Bombay, against 9,621 cwts. in the first week of November 1896.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

The import trade of the Balasore ports improved by 250 cwts., owing chiefly to the receipts of 166 cwts. of wheat and other food-grains from Calcutta, against nil in the corresponding period of 1896, while the export trade of those ports declined by 6,578 cwts. mainly on account of smaller despatches of rice and gram and pulse to Calcutta. False Point despatched 6,864 cwts. of rice to Colombo and Cochin, against nil during the week ending 7th November 1896.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

General Summary.—There was rain in parts of the Burdwan, Presidency, Dacca, and Bhagalpur Divisions and also in Manbhum. The general agricultural prospects continue favourable except in the parts of Chittagong which were swept by the late cyclone and tidal-wave. The earlier kinds of winter rice are being harvested, and the later kinds are ripening. The rabi and poppy crops are still being sown, and those already sown are coming up well. The price of rice continues to fall. There is plenty of fodder in all districts, and the condition of cattle is reported to be good. Scarcity of drinking-water is reported from the sea-coast tracts of Chittagong.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

REVENUE DEPARTMENT,

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

INSPECTION OF TRAVELLERS BY RAIL, WATER, AND ROAD.

PLAGUE REGULATION—No. 2.

Calcutta, the 30th November 1897.

IN supersession of the Regulations published under Plague Notification No. 2, dated the 10th February 1897 and in exercise of the powers conferred by section 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897, and by the Notification of the Government of India, Home Department, No. 302, dated the 4th February 1897, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to prescribe the following rules for the inspection of persons travelling by rail, water, or road within the territories subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and the segregation of persons suspected of being infected with bubonic plague.

I.—In the following rules—

"Place of inspection" means any place which may be notified by the Local Government to be a place of inspection, and includes any place at which an Inspecting Medical Officer may hold a special inspection under rule IV.

"Inspecting Medical Officer" means a person appointed by an order in writing by the Local Government to be an Inspecting Medical Officer.

II.—The Local Government may notify any railway station or any place in the vicinity thereof to be a place of inspection, and may by order in writing appoint one or more Inspecting Medical Officers for the same.

III.—The Local Government may notify any ferry or any portion of any navigable stream, together with the approaches to or landing places of any such ferry and any area on either or both banks of any such navigable stream, and any portion of any public road or place in the vicinity of such road, to be a place of inspection, and may, by order in writing, appoint one or more Inspecting Medical Officers for the same.

IV. The Local Government may also by order in writing appoint one or more Inspecting Medical Officers to make special inspections of travellers at such places as they may think fit within the territories subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and any such place shall be deemed to be a place of inspection.

V.—Every Inspecting Medical Officer who is unavoidably prevented from discharging all or any of his functions may, by order in writing, appoint any Assistant Surgeon or Hospital Assistant temporarily to discharge such functions, and every Assistant Surgeon and Hospital Assistant so appointed shall, so far as such functions are concerned, be deemed, for the purposes of these rules, to be an Inspecting Medical Officer. A Commissioned Military Officer, not being a Medical Officer, may be appointed under this rule to discharge functions which require no medical skill, and when so appointed shall, so far as such functions are concerned, exercise the powers conferred on Inspecting Medical Officers by these rules.

VI.—Subject to the provisions of rule VIII(3), an Inspecting Medical Officer may at his place of inspection direct any person travelling by rail to remain in the carriage in which he is travelling, or to leave the carriage in which he is travelling and come on to the platform or on to the line, and may prohibit any such person from leaving the platform or any other portion of the place of inspection.

VII.—An Inspecting Medical Officer may at any place of inspection direct any person travelling by water or road to proceed to and remain in any place or places from time to time specified by him, and may direct that any vessel be brought to and kept at any place or places from time to time specified by him.

VIII.—(1). An Inspecting Medical Officer may at any place of inspection make a medical inspection and examination of any person travelling by rail in such manner and to such extent as he thinks necessary in order to ascertain whether there is reason to believe or suspect that such person is or may be infected with bubonic plague: Provided that such inspection or examination shall not be made in any manner or to any extent to which such person objects.

(2). An Inspecting Medical Officer may put to any such person any questions he thinks fit in order to ascertain whether there is reason to believe or suspect as aforesaid, and such person shall be bound to answer truly any question so put to him.

(3). All female passengers shall be inspected and examined by female inspectors. The inspection and, if necessary, the medical examination, of female passengers, whether European or Native, travelling in carriages of whatever class which are constructed on the saloon model and afford ample space, shall be conducted in the carriage. If the compartment is overcrowded with passengers or encumbered with much baggage, it will be in the discretion of the female inspector to order some or all of the passengers to vacate the compartment and stand within a kanát enclosure on the platform. Females travelling in ordinary intermediate or 3rd class compartments where there is no room for thorough inspection must get out on the platform and undergo inspection within a screen of kanáts, which shall be invariably used.

IX.—Where, as the result of such inspection or examination or otherwise, the Inspecting Medical Officer considers that there is reason to believe or suspect that any person is or may be infected with bubonic plague, or where any person makes any objection under the proviso to rule VIII, clause (1), of these rules, the Inspecting Medical Officer may direct that such person be removed to and detained in any building, tent or other place, whether near the place of inspection or elsewhere, until the Inspecting Medical Officer or some other Medical Officer empowered in this behalf by a written order of the Local Government certifies in writing that in his opinion there is no longer any reason for believing or suspecting such person to be infected as aforesaid. In determining when such a certificate can safely be given the officer concerned shall be guided by the principles of the Venice Convention.

X.—The Inspecting Medical Officer may, at his discretion, allow travellers liable to detention under rule IX to proceed to their destination, provided that they execute an agreement in form A annexed to this regulation, binding them to submit themselves to medical supervision by the Civil Surgeon of the district or an Assistant Surgeon specially authorised by the Civil Surgeon in each case, or in Calcutta by a commissioned Medical Officer, for a period of ten days from the date of their arrival. The agreement shall be executed in duplicate, and the Inspecting Medical Officer shall at once deliver one copy to the officer in charge of the Railway Police who will arrange in communication with the district or Calcutta Police, as the case may be, to secure compliance with the agreement. The second copy shall be sent to the Civil Surgeon of the district, or in Calcutta to the commissioned Medical Officer selected for the purpose of supervision.

XI.—Any person who produces a certificate in form B annexed, to the effect that, for the ten days immediately preceding the date of commencing his journey, he has been residing in a non-infected area, will be allowed to proceed to his destination on his thumb mark being verified to the satisfaction of the Inspecting Medical Officer.

XII.—Any person in respect to whom a direction has not been given under rule IX may apply to the Inspecting Medical Officer to be allowed to attend upon any person in respect to whom such a direction has been given, and the Inspecting Medical Officer shall, except for reasons to be recorded by him in writing, grant such application.

XIII.—Any person who has made an application under the last foregoing clause and whose application has been granted shall be detained in such building, tent or other place, whether near the place of inspection or elsewhere as the Inspecting Medical Officer may direct until the Inspecting Medical Officer or some other Medical Officer empowered in this behalf by a written order of the Local Government certifies in writing that in his opinion there is no longer any reason for detaining such person.

XIV.—No person in respect to whom a direction under rule IX or XII of these rules has been given shall leave any building, tent or other place in which an Inspecting Medical Officer has directed him to be detained until such Inspecting Medical Officer certifies in writing that in his opinion there is no longer any reason for believing or suspecting such person to be infected as aforesaid, or that there is no longer any reason for detaining such person, as the case may be.

XV.—The Inspecting Medical Officer may order the destruction or disinfection of any article which is or has been in the possession of any person in respect to whom a direction under rule IX or XII has been given, or which is or has been in the possession of any person whom the inspecting Medical Officer considers, to have been in dangerous proximity to such person:

Provided that compensation may, in the discretion of the officer empowered by the next following clause to award the same, be paid for the destruction or injury of any article under this clause.

XVI.—Applications for the payment of compensation under the last preceding rule may be made to the District Magistrate, who shall upon receipt of any such application determine by order in writing the amount of such compensation, if any, and such order shall be final.

XVII.—The Local Government may by notification prohibit the public or any class of persons from travelling to or from any local area specified in such notice either absolutely, or otherwise than by way of a place or places specified in such notification; and when any such notification has issued, no person shall travel to or from any local area in contravention of such notification.

XVIII.—It shall be lawful for an Inspecting Medical Officer to enter upon and occupy any waste or arable land required for the purpose of hospitals or temporary accommodation on payment to the owner, lessee or occupier of such reasonable sum as compensation for damage done and by way of rent as the Collector of the district may assess on that account.

XIX.—All officers of the District and Railway Police are required to assist the inspecting officer in enforcing these regulations.

XX.—The powers conferred on the Inspecting Medical Officer by these rules shall be exercised subject to the control of the Magistrate of the District, the Commissioner of the Division and of the Local Government.

XXI.—The cost of all measures taken under these rules and under the regulations published with Plague Notification No. 2 of the 10th February 1897 shall be borne by the District Boards and municipalities of the areas protected in such proportion as the Lieutenant-Governor may determine.

(e) A certificate from the Secretary or proprietor of the school in which the candidate is serving to the effect that he has been a bond-fide paid teacher of the school in which he teachers, and has been so ever since the 1st June 1897. In case of a school-master who has served in more than one school, he must produce certificates from the several schools in proof of his having been a bond-fide paid teacher all along since the 1st June 1897.

Failing to produce the above certificate or certificates, a school-master will be subject to the rules applicable to bond-fide private candidates, as given above.

4. If this office is satisfied that all is in order, the Inspector will countersign and return the application, and this then will be the candidate's passport for admission to the test-examination.

5. The head-master of an institution (one of those named above) should direct private students to appear before him not later than the 10th January with their applications for admission to the Entrance examination, and in the case of those candidates who have satisfied the test, he will cause them to sign their application forms in his presence, and will grant the necessary certificates, and then forward the applications to this office for countersignature, after which they will be sent by the Inspector direct to the candidates.

6. Expedition is necessary in carrying out all these instructions, and candidates should be most careful to give their names and addresses written legibly and distinctly, so that no mistake may be likely to occur.

7. Under no circumstances should the entrance fee be sent to this office.

8. Private students will understand that the text-examination of any schools other than those named above will not be accepted by this office.

9. Addresses of private students should be supplied to this office.

M. PROTHERO,
Inspector of Schools, Rajshahi Circle.

OFFICE MEMO.

Rules for appearing at the F.A. and B.A. Examinations for candidates from the Burdwan Circle who are not students of any Affiliated Institution.

DEPUTY INSPECTORS of Schools, Sub-Inspectors of Schools, and bonâ fied Masters of English schools, who have served as such for the full period of two academical years, or of six months after the examination of the same class last held by the University, in the case of those only who were admitted to a former examination of that class, will be admitted to the abovementioned examinations. The applications of school-masters should be accompanied by a certificate of length of service from the Secretaries or Managers of the schools in which they are employed, and should reach this office not later than the 7th January 1898. The application of a school-master for permission to appear at the F.A. or B A. Examination should be signed by him in the presence of the Secretary or a member of the Managing Committee of the school in which he is employed. The application should be forwarded to this office for countersignature, together with the Registrar's certificate to prove, if this be the case, that the candidate has appeared at the examination in a previous year, and the certificate in proof of his having passed the Entrance or F.A. Examination as the case may be, and it will be sent back to him (the candidate) who will have to send it, together with the examination fee, to the Registrar of the University direct. School-masters are not required to pay any fee for getting their application for permission to appear at either of the abovementioned examinations countersigned by this office.

2. Candidates should read carefully the form of the certificate which this office is required to sign, and should be careful to supply all information and documents required, including the Registrar's receipt in the case of those school-masters who have been admitted to a former examination of the same class, without which the Inspector must decline to sign the certificate.

3. By bonâ fide masters of schools are to be understood masters who hold regularly paid appointments in English schools, teaching at least the M. E. course.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exporation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale, noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M., in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

DEPOSIT.

When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.

On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.

On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.

And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government Superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory for the year 1896-97, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazipur Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale, that may be desired by parties connected with the trade, will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

PART IB.

ORDERS BY THE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL.

MUNICIPAL AND LOCAL.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 5025M.—The 25th November 1897.—It is hereby notified for general information that, in accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioners of the Purnea Municipality made at a meeting, and in modification of Government notification, dated the 18th June 1887, published at page 172, Part IB of the Calcutta Gazette of the 22nd idem, the Lieutenant-Governor intends, in exercise of the power vested in the Local Government by section 9 (b) of the Bengal Municipal, Act III of 1884, as modified up to the 1st November 1896, to revise the boundaries of the said Municipality so as to exclude from its limits the villages named in the margin, unless good reasons are shown to the contrary within one month from the date of the publication of this notification within the Municipality.

Swarupganj, Bajnathganj and Gokulganj

2. The revised boundaries of the Municipality, after the exclusion of the area mentioned, will be as follows:—

On the North.—The northern boundary of Kasba, Purnea, and the northern revenue boundary of Moharajganj and Madhubani.

On the South.—The southern revenue boundary of mauza Madhubani, including a portion south of that boundary line up to the old Ganges and Darjeeling road from Maranga to Lines Bazar, being Road No. 1 of the Municipality, inclusive of the road itself, and the southern revenue boundary of mauza Madupara as far as the Ruigoladhar.

On the East.—The Ruigoladhar as far as the Lines Bazar Bridge on the Ganges and Darjeeling Road, thence following the Ganges and Darjeeling Road for a distance of 3,046 yards up to a pucka boundary pillar on the said road, thence northward in a straight line for a distance of 936 yards to a second pucka pillar, thence due east to the eastern revenue boundary of Abdullanagar, and thence the eastern revenue boundary of Abdullanagar and of Alamganj to the north-eastern corner of Kasba, Purnea.

On the West.—The western revenue boundary of mauza Madhubani.

H. H. RISLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 5083M.—The 30th November 1897.—It is hereby notified for general information that, in exercise of the power vested in the Local Government by section 241(2) of Act III (B.C.) of 1884, as modified up to 1st November 1896, and on the recommendation of the Commissioners of the Darjeeling Municipality made at a meeting, the Lieutenant-Governor sanctions the Rules set forth below, which have been framed by the Commissioners of the said Municipality under section 241(1) of the said Act.

RULES FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF HOUSES IN DARJEELING.

Interpretation of Terms.

1. IN the construction of these rules, the following words and expressions shall have the meanings hereinafter respectively assigned to them, unless such meanings be repugnant to, or inconsistent with, the context or subject-matter in which such words or expressions occur; that is to say—

(a) Words importing the singular number shall include the plural, and the plural the singular, and words importing the masculine gender shall include females.

(b) "Person" includes any body of persons corporate or unincorporated.

(c) "The Act" means the Bengal Municipal Act of 1884 as modified up to the 1st November 1896, and includes any Act which may hereafter be passed in substitution for or amendment of the said Act.

(d) "Commissioners" means the Municipal Commissioners appointed under the Act.

(e) "The Engineer" means the Municipal Engineer appointed under the Act.

(f) "Base," applied to a wall, means the under-side of the course immediately above the footings.

(g) "Plinth," applied to a building, means the part of a wall at ground floor level.

(h) "Topmost" storey means the uppermost storey in a building, whether constructed wholly or partly in the roof or not, and whether used or constructed or adapted for human habitation or not.

(i) "Party wall" means a wall forming part of a building and being used, or constructed to be used, in any part of the height or length of such wall for separation of adjoining buildings belonging to different owners, or occupied or constructed or adapted to be occupied by different persons.

(j) "External wall" means an outer wall of a building not being a party wall even though adjoining to a wall of another building.

(k) "Nogging" means the lime or cement concrete, or the brickwork in lime or cement mortar, filled in between the frames of iron or wood in a framed structure.

(l) "Cross wall" means a wall used or constructed to be used in any part of its height as an inner wall of a building for separation of one part from another part of the building.

(m) "Masonry-walled building" means a building the external walls of which are constructed of brick, stone, or other material without the aid of timber framing.

(n) "Frame building" means a building the external walls of which are constructed of timber framing filled in with brick, stone, or other material, and the stability of which depends on such framing.

Sanction of Commissioners.

2. The erection, re-erection or alteration of every building, and every addition thereto and the site thereof, shall be subject to the approval of the Commissioners, whose sanction to the same must be obtained in writing prior to the commencement of any such work.

Documents required in duplicate.

3. Every person who under the provisions of section 237 of the Act may be required to furnish to the Commissioners any plan or other document shall furnish duplicate copies of every such plan or other document which he may be called upon to furnish, and one of such duplicate plans shall be returned to the person, signed by the Commissioners, signifying their approval of the plan or otherwise.

Drawings to be submitted.

4. Every person intending to erect or re-erect, alter or add to any building, shall make an application in writing to the Commissioners for sanction to the work, and shall submit with such application complete plans, elevations and sections of the work to be executed, neatly and accurately drawn to a scale one-eighth of an inch to a foot; and a site or block plan showing the position of the proposed work in relation to the boundaries of the estate on which it is to be executed, and to all adjacent roads, buildings and premises, drawn to a scale of not less than one-fiftieth of an inch to a foot.

All drawings shall be coloured to distinguish the materials employed in the construction of the work; all existing buildings or roads shall be shown in black, all new works proposed to be executed in red.

Dimensions to be given.

The thicknesses of the walls, the scantlings of the various materials, and the level of the lowest floor with reference to the ground level, shall be clearly shown by figured dimensions, and the north point shall be marked on each plan.

Scale of drawing to be given.

The scale of each drawing shall be neatly drawn thereon, and shall show feet in the case of the site or block plan, and feet and inches in the case of the other drawings.

Specification to be submitted.

Such drawings shall be accompanied by a specification of the work to be constructed, comprising full information as to the following particulars, namely:—

(1) The materials and method of construction to be used for external and party walls, roofs, floors, fireplaces and chimneys.

(2) The provision, position, and ventilation of drains and privies.

(3) Free passage or way in front of the building.

(4) Space to be left about the building to secure a free circulation of air, admission of light, to facilitate scavenging, and for the prevention of fire.

(5) Manner in which roof and house drainage and surface drainage of land will be disposed of.

5. Every person who shall erect, re-erect, alter or add to a building, shall adopt one or other of the materials and methods of construction specified in the following rules, subject to the limitations and specifications contained in the Schedule, and shall be responsible that all the building materials used are sound, of good quality, and properly put together, so as to ensure safety, and that all walls which meet shall be properly bonded together at their junction.

Materials and method of construction.

Walls of a one-storey building.

6. The external and cross-walls for a building of one storey shall be built of—

(i) Stone or brick bedded in lime or cement mortar.

(ii) Stone or brick bedded in mud mortar, provided that those portions of the walls around doors and windows, and under the wall-plates for one foot in depth, and in the foundations up to plinth level, be of stone or brick bedded in lime or cement mortar.

(iii) Timber or iron framing filled in with nogging, or covered with corrugated or plain iron, or planked.

Walls of a two-storey building.

The external and cross-walls for a building of two storeys shall be built, in the lower storey, of—

(i) Stone or brick bedded in lime or cement mortar.

(ii) Timber or iron framing covered with corrugated or plain iron, or filled with nogging.

Provided that the cross-walls in the lower storey, if they are intended for partitions only, and do not support any wall in the upper storey, may be built also of brick nogging, or of timber framing planked with boards, and that the external walls, if they do not support any wall in the storey above, may be built also of brick nogging.

The walls of the upper storey shall be constructed in either of methods (i) or (iii), specified for the walls of a building of one storey.

Walls of a three-storey building.

The external and cross-walls for a building of three storeys shall be built, in the lowest storey, of—

(i) Stone bedded in lime or cement mortar.

(ii) Iron framing covered with corrugated iron or filled with nogging.

In the storey next above the lowest storey of—

(i) Stone or brick bedded in lime or cement mortar.

(ii) Timber or iron framing covered with corrugated iron or filled with nogging.

Provided that the cross-walls in either of these storeys, if they are intended for partitions only and do not support any wall in the storey above, may be built also of planked timber framing.

The walls of the topmost storey shall be built of—

(i) Stone or brick bedded in lime or cement mortar.

(ii) Timber or iron framing filled with nogging or covered with corrugated or plain iron, or planked.

Party walls shall in all cases be built of stone or brick bedded in lime or cement mortar for their full height, and shall be carried up, of a thickness of not less than nine inches, above the roof flat or gutter to such a height as will give a distance of at least eighteen inches measured at right angles to the slope of the roof above the highest part of the roof flat or gutter.

7. Buildings of more than three storeys shall not be allowed without the special sanction of the Commissioners, who shall in such cases specify the materials and method of construction to be adopted.

Buildings of more than three storeys.

8. The roof of every building shall be constructed of corrugated or plain iron, slates, tiles, or, when especially sanctioned by the Commissioners, of shingles securely attached to a frame of iron or timber, the rise of the roof being in no case less than one-eighth of the span.

Roofs.

9. Floors shall be constructed of one or other of the following materials, viz., brick, stone, or tiles set in lime or cement mortar; concrete; asphalte; or planks laid on timber or iron joists; and they shall be not less than one foot above the highest level of the ground within three feet of the building:

Floors.

Provided that when planks are used for ground-floors, the floor joists shall be laid in such manner that the under-side of the joist is at least six inches above the surface of the earth filling below the floor. The space thus formed between the ground and the floor shall have free ventilation.

Ventilation of plank floors.

Fireplaces and chimneys.

10. Fireplaces shall be built of brick or stone bedded in lime or cement mortar.

11. The back of every fireplace opening in a party wall from the hearth up to the height of twelve inches above the mantel shall be at least eight and a half inches thick.

Support of chimney breast.

12. An arch of brick or stone, or a bar of iron of sufficient strength, shall be built over the opening of every chimney to support the breast thereof, and if the breast project more than four inches from the face of the wall, and the jamb on either side be of less width than eighteen and a half inches, the abutments shall be tied in by an iron bar or bars of sufficient strength, turned up and down at the ends, and built into the jambs for at least nine inches on each side.

Fireplace slabs.

13. There shall be laid level with the floor of every storey before the opening of every chimney a slab of stone, slate or other incombustible substance, at the least six inches longer on each side than the width of such opening, and at the least eighteen inches wide in front of the breast thereof.

Foundations of chimneys.

14. All chimneys shall be built on solid foundations, and with footings similar to the footings of the wall against which they are built, and with which they shall be properly bonded.

Construction of chimneys.

15. Every chimney shall be constructed of stone or brick bedded in the best lime or cement mortar, or of iron. The height of the masonry of the chimney above the roof shall in no case be more than one and a half times the width of the chimney at roof level. The sectional area of the flue shall be uniform throughout the height of the chimney, and there shall be no contraction of this sectional area at the flue opening at the top of the chimney. Every masonry flue shall be surrounded with brick or stone work at least nine inches thick from its lowest point to a height of at least eighteen inches above the roof, flat or gutter measured at right angles to the surface thereof. Above such height the walls round the flue shall be not less than 4½ inches in thickness and shall be built in cement.

Woodwork near chimneys.

16. Timber or woodwork shall not be placed—

(a) in or against any wall or chimney breast nearer than 12 inches to the inside of any flue or chimney opening,

(b) under any chimney opening within ten inches from the upper surface of the hearth of such chimney opening.

Where an iron pipe is used for conveying smoke or other products of combustion, such pipe shall not be fixed nearer than 18 inches to any combustible materials employed in the construction of a building.

Ironwork.

17. Every person who shall employ iron posts, girders, joists or other ironwork for the support of any portion of a building, shall employ only such iron posts, girders, joists or other ironwork as shall, in respect to quality and strength, be approved by the Commissioners in that behalf.

Drains for sullage water.

18. Drains from houses, tenements, holdings or premises for the conveyance of sullage water into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Commissioners. or into any streams, channels or water-courses within the Municipality, shall be constructed, as may be directed by the Commissioners, in one or other of the following methods, viz.:—

(i) Round or half-round tiles bedded in concrete.

(ii) U shaped stone masonry set in lime mortar, the inner surface of the drain being plastered with Portland cement.

(iii) U shaped stone concrete.

No covered drains shall be allowed except with the permission of the Commissioners.

Drains for surface water.

19. Drains from houses, tenements, or holdings for the discharge of surface water may be constructed of dry rubble, and shall be either rectangular, U or V shaped: Provided that no sullage or sewage water shall be discharged by such drains.

Privies.

20. All latrines and privies, public or private, shall be constructed according to the models prescribed by the Commissioners. A copy of the models shall be kept in the municipal office, where any person on application shall be allowed to see it.

No cesspool shall be allowed.

Free passage about buildings.

21. No person shall erect on any estate any new building or new structure or any part thereof, or extend any building or structure or any part thereof, in such manner that any external wall of any such building or structure or any part thereof shall, without the consent in writing of the Commissioners, be in any direction at a distance less than 20 feet from any part of any adjacent building or structure, or less than 10 feet from the boundary of the estate, or the centre line of any public road. Every application to erect or extend any building or structure within these limits must be notified by the applicant to the neighbouring proprietor or his agent, to show the Commissioners that the latter is cognizant that such application has been made.

Copies of the orders of the Commissioners shall be furnished by them to both the applicant and neighbouring proprietor. Refusal under this section must be based only on sanitary or other public grounds.

Erection of huts.

22. Every person who shall erect out-offices, huts or sheds, or ranges or blocks of out-offices, huts, or sheds, whether the same are to be used as dwellings or stables or for any other purpose, shall build the same—

(i) so that they may stand in regular lines with a free passage or way in front of and between every two lines of, such width as the Commissioners may direct for ventilation and for facilitating scavenging; and

(ii) with such and so many privies, latrines or urinals, and such means of drainage as the Commissioners may require; and

(iii) at such a level as will suffice for the means of drainage required by the Commissioners.

Space about dwelling-houses.

23. Every person who shall erect, re-erect, or add to a dwelling-house shall so construct the work that the whole of at least one side of every room thereof intended to be inhabited shall be an external wall abutting on the open air; and such building shall be constructed at such a distance from any adjacent bank, revetment, or retaining wall, that a plumb line dropped vertically from any point of any roof projection, verandah projection, or other part of such building, shall meet the ground at a distance of not less than three feet from the toe of such bank, revetment or retaining wall.

Height of rooms in dwelling-houses.

24. He shall construct every room intended to be inhabited in such building, except a room in the roof thereof, so that the same shall be in every part at least eight feet in height from the floor to the ceiling. He shall so construct every dwelling-room in the roof of such building that the same shall have an average height of at least seven feet from the floor to the ceiling.

Area of dwelling-rooms.

25. He shall so construct the walls of every such dwelling-room that the same shall have a clear superficial area of not less than eighty square feet.

Ventilation of dwelling-rooms.

26. He shall so construct the walls of every such dwelling-room that the same shall be ventilated by means of doors or windows which open directly into the external air, and have an aggregate opening clear of the framing equal to not less than one-tenth of the superficial area of the floor of the room.

Disposal of drainage.

27. Every person who shall erect, re-erect, alter or add to any building, shall construct suitable and sufficient down-pipes and drains for the conveyance of the drainage from the roof and house, and from the ground adjacent to such building into such channels as the Commissioners may direct. In the case of existing buildings their proprietors shall be bound to make such drains as the Commissioners may consider necessary, within a reasonable time after the serving of notice.

Provision to be made for egress from buildings.

28. Every building shall have at least one or so many more external doors as the Commissioners may prescribe, to afford egress from the building, not less than 3′ 6″ wide by 7′ high measured inside the door-frame.

Staircases.

29. Buildings of more than one storey shall be provided with at least one staircase of three feet clear width extending from the ground to the topmost storey, and having a landing at every intermediate storey. Every room in such building shall have free communication with such staircase, so as to admit of egress in case of fire.

In the case of buildings, such as hotels or public lodging-houses, intended for the habitation of a large number of persons, so many more staircases shall be provided as the Commissioners may prescribe.

Line of frontage of buildings abutting on a street.

30. No building shall, without the consent in writing of the Commissioners, be erected beyond the general line of buildings in any street, place, or row of houses in which the same is situate. Such general line of buildings shall, if required, be defined by the Commissioners or by their Engineer.

Aspect and architectural features.

31. Every new building, or addition to any existing building, shall possess such architectural features, and shall be so constructed as not to be, in the opinion of the Commissioners, unsightly or unsuitable to its surroundings.

SCHEDULE.

Foundations.—Every wall shall have footings built as follows :—

The projection of the bottom of the footing on each side of the wall shall be equal to at least one-quarter of the thickness of the wall at its base. The diminution of the footings of every wall shall be formed in regular offsets, and the height from the bottom of such footings to the base of the wall shall be not less than two-thirds of the thickness of the wall at its base: Provided that when a wall is built on rock, the footings may be omitted if the surface of the rock be properly cleaned and stepped or roughened to receive the first course of masonry.

The footings of every wall, masonry or framed, shall be carried below ground level until a solid foundation is met.

The bottom of the footings shall in no case be at a less depth below ground surface than three feet, except when the foundation is rock.

2. Measurement of walls.—For the purpose of determining the thickness of a wall, the height of such wall shall be measured upwards from plinth level to the highest part of the wall, or, in the case of a gable, to half the height of the gable, and downwards from plinth level to the top of the footings.

3. The heights of storeys shall be measured as follows:—

(a) The height of a topmost storey shall be measured from the level of the upper surface of the floor up to the level of the under side of the tie of the roof or other covering, or if there is no tie, then up to the level of half the rise of the roof.

(b) The height of every storey other than a topmost storey shall be measured from the level of the upper surface of the floor of the storey up to the level of the upper surface of the floor of the storey next above it.

4. Dimensions of masonry walls.—External and party walls shall be of not less thickness than specified below:—

Height of wall above plinth level.	Thickness of wall in inches.
	Rubble masonry.	Brick masonry, lime or cement mortar.	Brick masonry, mud mortar.
1	2	3	4
Not exceeding 14 feet—
Whole of such height	18	14	18½
Exceeding 14 but not exceeding 20 feet—
From plinth level to 10 feet above plinth level ...	24	18½	23½
From 10 feet above plinth level to top of wall ...	18	14	18½
Exceeding 20 but not exceeding 30 feet—
From plinth level to 10 feet above plinth level ...	30	.....	.....
From 10 feet above plinth level to 20 feet above plinth level	24	18½	.....
From 20 feet above plinth level to top of wall ...	18	14	.....
Exceeding 30 but not exceeding 40 feet—
From plinth level to 10 feet above plinth level ..	36	.....	.....
From 10 feet above plinth level to 20 feet above plinth level	30	.....	.....
From 20 feet above plinth level to 30 feet above plinth level	24	18½	.....
From 30 feet above plinth level to top of wall ...	18	14	.....

NOTE.—When nogging is used for walls in upper storeys the thickness of walls in the lower storey below such nogged walls may be 18 inches.

The thickness of the wall below plinth level shall, when the base of the wall is not more than 10 feet below that level, be 6 inches for rubble and half a brick for brick masonry, more than the thickness of the wall immediately above plinth level. When the base of the wall is more than 10 feet below plinth level, the thickness shall be increased by 6 inches for every 10 feet or part of 10 feet of such extra depth.

In the case of buildings of more than one storey the diminutions may be made at each floor level, provided the height of the lowest storey does not exceed 14 feet, and the height of any storey above the first storey does not exceed 10 feet.

The thickness of cross walls shall not be less than two-thirds that of the external walls, provided that no wall shall be less than nine inches in thickness.

If approved bricks of the size 9 inches long by 4½ inches wide are used,—

1	brick shall be	reckoned to be	equal to	9 inches.
1½	ditto	ditto	14	,,
2	ditto	ditto	18½	,,
2½	ditto	ditto	23¼	,,
3	ditto	ditto	28	,,

Wall below plinth level.

5. Walls of timber framing covered with planks or iron sheeting.—The height of such framing shall be—

For lower storeys not more than	...	14 feet.
For upper ditto	...	10 „

For the lower of two storeys the following shall be the minimum scantlings:—

Posts and top plates ...	...	5″ × 4″
Bracings and bottom sills ...	...	5″ × 3″

For single storeys or the upper of two storeys the minimum scantlings shall be:—

Posts and top plates ...	...	4″ × 4″
Bracings and bottom sills ...	...	4″ × 3″

No posts shall be spaced more than five feet apart, and where any exceptionally heavy loads are to be carried on the top plates, the scantlings specified above shall be increased to such extent as the Commissioners may direct.

The bracing shall consist of either horizontal or diagonal timbers, at least one brace being fixed between each pair of posts.

Such framing shall be covered externally with—

Planking of not less than ¾″ thickness; or corrugated iron of not less than 24 B.W.G.; or plain sheet iron of not less than 22 B.W.G.

6. Walls of brick or concrete nogging.—The framing shall consist of sound timber posts, plates, and sills, with diagonal and horizontal bracing. The height of such posts shall not exceed 14 feet from base of sill to top of plate:—

The section of posts shall not be less than		...	5″ × 4″
Ditto	plate and sills	ditto	... 5″ × 4″
Ditto	braces	ditto	... 5″ × 3″

The posts shall be not more than 5 feet apart, and shall be braced by at least one line of horizontal bracing at their centre, or where doors and windows occur, at the head or sill of such opening. Each rectangular space formed by posts and horizontal bracing shall be divided by at least two diagonal braces. The triangular spaces so formed shall be filled with brickwork or concrete, the mortar of which shall consist of at least one part of lime to two parts of clean sand or surkhi, or one part cement to four parts clean sand. The masonry or concrete shall be held in position either by planking nailed to the framing to cover the joints, or by 2½″ nails driven into the framing at 2″ intervals, and bent down over the masonry or concrete and hidden by the face plastering.

If iron is used for the framing instead of timber, a detail drawing showing a portion of the wall in section and elevation, with the dimensions of the angle or T irons clearly marked thereon, shall be submitted to the Commissioners, who shall specify in every case the minimum dimensions, and the spacing apart of such angle and T iron.

7. Masonry walls shall be constructed in accordance with one or other of the following specifications:—

Coursed rubble masonry shall consist of the best and largest stones available, laid on their natural bed, roughly squared and dressed and set in cement or lime mortar. No course shall be less than 4½ inches, or more than nine inches in thickness. If the courses are of unequal height, the deeper courses must be laid towards the bottom of the structure. Each course may be brought to a level by filling such hollows as are unavoidable by chips set in mortar and hammered; but the line of each course must be perfectly level and free from winding, and no joint shall overlie another less than 4½ inches measured on the face of the wall.

No stone shall be used which is less than one quarter of a cubic foot in size, and the length and breadth of its bed shall each be at least 1½ times its height.

Through bond stones shall be built in at intervals of 4 feet in every course, the bond stones of any course to be intermediate between those of the course below.

In walls up to two feet thick these stones shall be the full width of the wall. In walls over two feet thick two bond stones may be used, so that they overlap one another not less than one foot.

Coursed rubble masonry in mud.—The same specification shall apply, except that mud will take the place of lime mortar.

Brickwork in lime or cement shall consist of perfectly sound and thoroughly well-burned bricks, of uniform size and shape, set in cement or lime mortar.

All bricks shall be soaked in water for not less than two hours before being used.

All bricks shall be properly bonded together by what is known as English bond, which shall consist of one course of "headers" to two courses of "stretchers."

Each course shall be laid truly level and plumb, and every brick well bedded and flushed with mortar. No joint shall exceed half an inch in width. When the whole work cannot be carried up level, the incomplete walls shall be raked back in regular steps of one course each. All arches shall be turned on properly framed centres; the joints shall radiate truly from the centre and shall not exceed one-fourth of an inch in thickness.

Brickwork in mud mortar.—The same specification shall apply, except that mud will take the place of lime mortar.

The external faces of all masonry walls shall be pointed with lime or cement mortar, and the internal faces plastered.

All joints shall be raked out to a depth of half an inch while the work is fresh before the pointing or plastering is done.

8. Concrete shall consist of fresh lime and clean stone or brick ballast, broken so as to pass through a ring 1½" diameter, and clean sand. The materials shall be mixed on a clean platform in the following proportions by measurement:—

One part (at least) lime. | Two parts sand or surki. | Five parts ballast.

Both the lime and the sand or surkhi shall be sifted through a screen of not less than 64 meshes to the square inch, and shall then be mixed together separately before being incorporated with the ballast, water being sparingly used during this final mixing. The whole shall then be deposited in trenches and well rammed. Surki should, if possible, be used in place of sand when stone lime only is available.

Lime mortar shall be composed of freshly burned lime and clean sharp sand or surki, without earthy matter, in the proportions of at least one of lime to two of sand or surki. The lime and sand or surki shall be separately sifted through a screen of not less than 64 meshes to the square inch, and shall then be thoroughly mixed together dry on a platform prepared for the purpose.

Cement mortar shall be composed of Portland cement mixed with clean sharp sand, screened as above, in the proportions of at least one of cement to four of sand.

9. Lintels.—All openings spanned by wooden lintels shall be covered for their full breadth and the lintels shall have a depth of not less than one inch for each foot of clear opening.

Such lintels shall have a full bearing on the walls of not less than nine inches in openings up to three feet, and one foot on either side in openings over three feet.

10. Floor joists.—The following table gives the minimum sections in inches to be used with various spans and spacings of floor joists of local timber for planked floors:—

Span in feet.	Spacing.
	1′ 0″	2′ 0″	2′ 6″	3′ 0″
1	2	3	4	5
6	3 × 2	4 × 2	4½ × 2	5 × 2
8	4 × 2	5½ × 2	6 × 2	6¾ × 2
10	4¾ × 2	7 × 2	7½ × 2	8¼ × 2
12	5¾ × 2	8 × 2	9 × 2	10 × 2
14	6¾ × 2	9½ × 2	8¾ × 3	9½ × 3
16	7¾ × 2	8¾ × 3	9¾ × 3	9¼ × 4
18	8½ × 2	10 × 3	9½ × 4	9½ × 5
20	9¼ × 2	9½ × 4	9¼ × 5	9½ × 6
Thickness of floor planking.	1 inch	1¼ inch	1¼ inch	1¼ inch

For spans above 20 feet iron or steel joists must be used.

Where span or spacing is intermediate between the dimensions given in the table, the scantling for the next higher span or spacing shall be taken.

The greatest distance between joists shall never exceed three feet.

For the purpose of ventilation a clear space of not less than one inch shall be left at the sides and ends of all wooden joists where they rest on walls.

If iron or steel joists are used with planked floors, the sections and weights given in the tables below are the minimum sizes that shall be used. They allow for a gross load of 60 lbs. per square foot:—

Iron Joists

20	$7 \times 3\frac{3}{4}$	15	$7 \times 3\frac{3}{4}$	15	$7 \times 3\frac{3}{4}$	15

For spans of more than 20 feet, detailed information regarding the loads to be carried and the sections proposed to be adopted shall be furnished to the Commissioners, who shall in such cases specify the minimum sections for the joists.

Planking for floors shall be not less than the thickness specified in paragraph 10 of this schedule, and shall be grooved and tongued or filleted.

11. Roof frames. Timber framing and corrugated or sheet iron covering.—The iron shall be attached to horizontal battens spaced not more than 4 feet apart, and of not lighter section than $3'' \times 1\frac{1}{2}''$. Such battens shall be spiked to the rafters.

If the rafters are in pairs meeting at a central ridge, they shall be coupled by a collar at not more than half their height. For slopes not exceeding 30° the following scantlings shall be the minimum that shall be used:—

Span in feet.	Rafters.			Collars.
	Spacing.

14	$3\frac{1}{2} \times 2$	5×2	5×3
16	4×2	5×3	6×3

If the slope is between 30° and 45°, add 1" to the depth of the rafters.

The spacing of the rafters shall not exceed 3 feet.

For spans exceeding 18 feet, framed trusses must be provided, the details of which must be shown on the drawings for the approval of the Commissioners.

The table below gives the minimum scantlings for king post trusses for spans from 18′ to 24′ when the slope of roof is 2 to 1:—

Minimum scantlings for king post trusses of local timber carrying corrugated iron roof with $\frac{3}{4}$" flat boarded ceiling. Slope of roof 2 to 1.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government in the Canal Department, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned surplus canal lands of Kori distributary, situate in the district of Shahabad, will be put up to sale at the Arrah Collectorate on Tuesday, the 4th January 1898, corresponding with 26th Poos 1305 F.S.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale :—

Conditions of Sale.

1st.—The lands to be sold to the highest bidders above the upset price, which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchaser of these lands will be considered as the proprietor of the lands, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such land will be transferred to him revenue free.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and by the laws in force, and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the lands to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale :—

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estates situate in the district of Bankura, will be put up to sale at the Bankura Collectorate on the 1st February 1898, corresponding with the 20th Magh 1304 Bengali.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale:—

Conditions of Sale.

1st.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchaser of this estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and by the laws in force, and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceeds Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Vol. VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, Rs. 2-6 per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product, even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal 8vo. pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G.; Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI); but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the Vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and, as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

CHINA SEA—FORMOSA CHANNEL.

Pescadores islands—Sunken rock westward of North island.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 626 of 1897) of the existence of a sunken rock, named Oko sho, about a cable in length and three-quarters of a cable broad, with a depth of 2 fathoms on it at low water springs, situated in a position with centre of North island bearing E. ½ S., distant 2 1/10ths miles; and Nieu point, Pehu island, S. ½ E.

Approximate position, lat. 23° 45′ 55″ N., long. 119° 32′ 30″ E.

RED SEA—STRAITS OF BAB-EL-MANDEB.

Non-existence of shoal southward of Ras al Ara.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 12, dated 1st January 1897, issued by this Office on the report of the German steam-vessel Sophie Rickmers having touched on soft bottom, in a position with Ras al Ara bearing N. ¾ E., distant about 8 miles; or approximately in lat. 12° 30′ N., long. 43° 54½′ E.:—

The British Admiralty has given further notice (No. 627 of 1897), that the locality has since been closely examined by H.M. Ships Marathan and Redbreast, with the result that fairly regular soundings of 16 to 20 fathoms were found near the above position, with no indication of a shoal.

The 3 fathoms, shown in that position, has consequently been expunged from the chart.

NOTE.—Although the soundings obtained prove that the shoal ground of Ras al Ara has not extended to the southward, they do show an extension to the westward, there being a depth of one fathom, with 9 to 11 fathoms close south-westward, in a position with Ras al Ara bearing N. ¼ W., distant nearly 3½ miles; or approximately in lat. 12° 34½′ N. long. 43° 55′ E.

AUSTRALIA—INNER ROUTE.

Amended particulars of Khandala shoal.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 644 of 1897) that the locality of Khandalla shoal has recently been examined by Lieutenant and Commander W. V. Howard, H.M. Surveying Vessel Dart, with the result that two shoals have been found in the vicinity, now named Khandalla shoals, of which the particulars are as follows:—

The positions are given as on Chart No. 2921:—

1. A shoal, about two cables long north and south and one cable broad, with a least depth of 13 feet, coral bottom, on it, and depths of 8 to 9 fathoms, mud bottom, close around; situated in a position with Heath rock beacon bearing S. 10° W., distant nearly 2¼ miles; and Cone peak (about 2,000) N. 75° W.

Approximate position, lat. 13° 25′ 55″ S., long. 143° 40′ 20″ E.

2. NEW ZEALAND.

Exhibition of light on Rocky point, near cape Palliser.

THE Marine Department, Wellington, N. Z., has given notice (No. 17 of 1897) that on and after Wednesday, the 27th October 1897, a light will be exhibited from sunset to sunrise from the lighthouse which has been erected on Rocky Point, near Cape Palliser, the position and characteristics of which are as follow:—

Rocky Point is situated in latitude 41° 36′ 45″ S., and longitude 175° 18′ 45″ E., as measured from the Admiralty chart.

The tower is constructed of cast-iron, and has a concrete base. The total height from the bottom of the base to the top of the lantern is 58 ft. It is situated 640 ft. distant from high-water mark, at an elevation of 210 ft. above the level of the sea, and is painted white.

The light will be 258 ft. above sea-level at high water, and is a dioptric revolving white light of the second order, flashing twice every half-minute, with intervals of three seconds between the flashes. It will be visible to seaward over an arc of the horizon of about 214°, or as far as the land will allow, and should be seen in clear weather about twenty-five statute miles from the deck of a vessel of ordinary height.

CAUTION.—It is anticipated that Cape Palliser light will be visible from the sea between the following bearings: namely, from E. ¼ N. round by south and east to S.W. ¾ W. It will be seen from these bearings that the light shows over the Black Rocks and part of the mainland; therefore mariners are cautioned not to approach within four or five miles of the light until these dangers are passed.

NOTE.—All bearings are correct magnetic.

Charts, &c., affected: Admiralty charts Nos. 695, 2054, and 2582; "New Zealand Pilot," Chapter iii, page 167.

THE following Notice to Mriners (No. 82 of 1897), issued by the Government of Bombay, is republished:—

Information has been received from the Port Officer, Rangoon, dated 29th October 1897, that from and after the 1st of April 1898, the undermentioned light will be exhibited from Amherst Point (Pilot Station).

Amherst Point Light will be a red fixed light elevated 68 feet above high water and visible in clear weather from a distance of about 8 miles between the bearings of from N.N.E. through E. to S.E. Magnetic.

The light apparatus will be dioptric 6th order.

Kua Ba Lacht Dong—Shoals at entrance extending further seaward.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 144, dated 9th August 1895, issued by this Office, the British Admiralty has given further Notice (No. 619 of 1897) that the banks at the entrance of the Kua Ba Lacht Dong have extended much further east-south-eastward, and the 5-fathom line is now about 10 miles E.S.E. from the entrance of the river, or approximately in lat. 20° 10′ N., long. 106° 44′ E.; from which position it trends N.N.E. and W.S.W.

The words "Limit of the five-fathom line 1897" have been written in the above position on the Admiralty Chart, and the deep soundings for about 8 miles on either side of the entrance to the Kua Ba Lacht Dong have been expunged.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL STATISTICAL RETURNS OF VACCINATION IN BENGAL FOR 1896-97.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION.

Calcutta, the 29th November 1897.

READ—

The Statistical Returns of Vaccination in Bengal for the year 1896-97, with brief notes by the Sanitary-Commissioner.

The Returns were due on the 15th June, but did not reach Government till the 17th October. This delay was, however, unavoidable, as the Sanitary Commissioner, Surgeon-Major H. J. Dyson, was deputed to Bombay, on special duty, in connection with the Plague, just at the time when the materials for the Returns had been collected and he was about to write his report.

The special establishment employed in Calcutta, on the outbreak of small-pox in 1895-96, was not required during the year under review, and consequently the strength of the Calcutta staff was reduced by one Inspector and eight vaccinators. The number of Inspectors in the Tributary States of Orissa was reduced by three, and fewer vaccinators were employed in many districts, where, in 1895-96, small-pox had prevailed in an epidemic form. The number of vaccinators working in Mufassal Municipalities and Dispensaries was less by sixteen, but the number of licensed vaccinators increased by forty-four. Inspection work was seriously affected by the fact that, from October to March, the three Deputy Sanitary Commissioners were employed on plague duty, while, for forty-one days in the year, there was no Deputy Sanitary Commissioner of the Metropolitan Circle.

3. Number of operations and average per operator.—In spite of famine and scarcity, the total number of vaccinations performed rose from 2,277,081 to 2,293,655. At the same time, owing to an increase in the staff of vaccinators, the average number of operations performed by each fell from 624 to 615. The increase in the number of operations is distributed over 26 out of 49 districts, including the Tributary States of Orissa and the Political States of Chota Nagpur. The increase was highest in the following districts:—

Backergunge	...	...	...	15,640
Cuttack	...	...	...	15,472
Chittagong	...	...	...	10,694
Shahabad	...	...	...	10,642
Bankura	...	...	...	10,129

These results reflect credit on the officers concerned, especially in the backward districts of Cuttack and Chittagong, where the success attained in pushing on vaccination was especially conspicuous. A larger number of operations than in the previous year was also performed in Calcutta and in Mufassal Municipalities and Dispensaries. Twenty-three districts show a falling off, the decline being most marked in the following:—

Saran	...	...	...	20,612
Faridpur	...	...	...	15,677
Tippera	...	...	...	15,469
Muzaffarpur	...	...	...	12,538
Darbhanga	...	...	...	11,397
Dacca	...	...	...	10,047
Mymensingh	...	...	...	9,517

The decrease is attributed, in most cases, to the prevalence of famine, and the consequent inability of the people to meet the cost of vaccination. In Dacca and Faridpur, it is also explained that the figures for the preceding year were abnormally high, owing to the acceptance, for the first time, of vaccination by the Ferazi Muhammadans, and in Mymensingh, that the vigorous measures taken to meet a severe outbreak of small-pox, raised the figures for 1895-96 much above the average. In Tippera and Darbhanga, and also in other districts, the licensed vaccinators, it is said, found great difficulty in realizing their fees, and thus could not be made to work satisfactorily.

4. Protection afforded to infants.—Calculating the birth-rate for the Province, as in previous years, at 40 per mille, the total number of infants under one year, available for vaccination, was 2,460,228, of whom 498,979, or 202·81 per mille, were successfully vaccinated, against 416,307, or 169·19, in the previous year. If the figures can be relied upon, this indicates a remarkable improvement in the working of the Department. The districts of Darjeeling and Malda, again, head the list with 876·89 and 819·82 successful operations, respectively, out of every thousand of the available infant population. Next in order come Lohardaga and Palamau, while Cuttack and Gaya stand lowest with 43·57 and 37·49, respectively. These variations are as remarkable as in the preceding year, and the Sanitary Commissioner considers that the proportion must be either overstated or understated in many districts. He would prefer to estimate the birth-rate at 51·8, the rate calculated by Mr. Hardy on the last Census, which reduces the proportion of infants, protected from 202·81 to 149·79, and the figures for the best protected district, Darjeeling, from 876·89 to 638·82.

5. Primary Operations.—The ratio per cent. of successful cases for the entire Province is returned at 98·50, against 98·39 per cent. in 1895-96. As in previous years, this high percentage is attributed to vaccinators, either excluding unsuccessful cases altogether from their Returns, or entering cases, which failed or partially failed, as successful. The Civil Surgeon of Purnea found that some vaccinators did not enter in their diaries the names of the children vaccinated, until the success of the operation was assured, and the Sanitary Commissioner believes that this practice is universal. Local officers have been instructed that stricter supervision must be exercised by the inspecting staff over the work of the licensed vaccinators, who do not understand the utility of entering all cases, whether successful or unsuccessful, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the Civil Surgeons will devote greater attention to the matter. The introduction of the system in force in the Panjab, of making three punctures in each arm, which was referred to in last year's Resolution, has been postponed, pending the re-organization of the Sanitary Department.

6. Secondary Operations.—The number of secondary operations rose from 49,149 to 70,527, an increase of 21,378. Of these, 14,606 occurred in Rural areas, 7,600 in Mufassal Municipalities and Dispensaries, and 801 in the Animal Vaccination Depot at Calcutta. The percentage of successful cases was 60·23, against 50·04 in 1895-96, but this includes those cases in which the operation is repeated till it proves successful.

7. Recess work.—The number of operations performed during the recess in connection with small-pox epidemics and the up-keep of lymph for emergencies, fell from 147,236 to 115,833, or by 31,403. The decrease occurred everywhere, and seems to show that the unusual activity evinced in the previous year was not maintained.

8. Vaccination at the expense of the District Board.—The number of vaccinators employed by the District Boards and paid from District Funds decreased from 67 to 60, and the number of persons vaccinated by them, from 59,0[illegible]0 to 58,722. The contributions made by District Boards towards vaccination in rural areas, rose from 3,279 to 3,368. As in the preceding year, the largest contribution (Rs. 1,181) was made by the District Board of Puri. Of the other District Boards, Chittagong contributed Rs. 864, Cuttack Rs 581, Gaya Rs. 447, Dacca Rs. 194, and Khulna Rs. 100. A comparison of the work done by the licensed, Government, District Board and Municipal agencies, shows that there was an increase in the number of operations performed by the licensed and Municipal vaccinators, against a diminution in the work done by the Government and District Board agencies.

9. Cost of vaccination.—The total cost of vaccination during the year was Rs. 2,06,204, against Rs. 2,09,480 in 1895-96, the average cost of each reported successful vaccination being one anna and five pies, against one anna and six pies in the previous year.

10. Death-rate from small-pox.—The diagram attached to the report illustrates the death-rate from small-pox in each district, as compared with the proportion of population protected by vaccination. The total number of deaths from small-pox during the year was 16,179, giving a ratio of ·22 per thousand of the population, against 13,080 and a ratio of ·17 in 1895-96. The following districts, which had the highest mortality from small-pox, show a very low ratio of population protected :—

District.	Protected per 10,000	Death-rate from small-pox per 10,000.
Shahabad	... 1,100	15
Puri	... 1,600	12
Patna	... 1,200	11
Cuttack	... 1,000	8
Gaya	... 1,100	6
Monghyr	... 1,700	4

Darjeeling, with 5,800 persons protected per 10,000 of population had eight deaths, and the same number is returned for Malda: the lowest number of deaths from small-pox is, however, reported from Rajshahi, where only two persons are said to have died of the disease.

11. Method of vaccination.—It has been usual, in previous reports, to furnish a statement comparing the efficacy of the three methods of vaccination practised in Bengal, viz., (1) with vaccine lymph obtained direct from the calf, (2) with vaccine lymph prepared with lanoline, and (3) with human lymph taken by arm-to-arm transfer. As the Sanitary Commissioner did not consider these figures reliable, he has, in his present report, only prepared a statement showing the number of operations performed direct from the calf, as compared with the previous year. The increase in many districts is very considerable, and taking these figures in conjunction with the increased demand during the year for the lanoline vaccine paste manufactured at the Animal Vaccination Depots, Dr. Dyson expresses his belief that the arm-to-arm method of vaccination in Bengal will soon be entirely superseded. He goes on to remark :—

"When I suggested vaccination direct from the calf in 1893, instead of the arm-to-arm method, I was told that it was impossible in Bengal. I persevered, however, with the idea, and the above figures show what has been done in the three years which have since elapsed. I decline to believe that the system is impracticable in the districts which show no work in this connection.

12. Supply of lanoline lymph to Nepal.—Although it was expected that, in consequence of the arm-to-arm method of vaccination having been introduced into Nepal, there would have been no demand there for lanoline vaccine paste, it appears that 1,845 grains were supplied, on the request of the Nepal Durbar, from the Animal Vaccination Depot at Darjeeling. It has been ascertained that 516 out of 596 persons were successfully vaccinated with this lymph, the result in 56 of the remaining cases being unknown.

13. Inspections.—The Deputy Sanitary Commissioners were employed throughout the working season on plague duty, and consequently visited only 262 villages out of 242,311 in their jurisdiction and inspected 10,543 operations. The Civil Surgeons, on the other hand, showed greater activity in this respect. The Civil Surgeon of Dacca, who stood second in 1895-96, now heads the list with 13,626 inspections, and is followed by the Civil Surgeons of Darbhanga and Backergunge with 13,581 and 13,228, respectively. Four Civil Surgeons inspected more than 10,000 operations, 13 from 5,000 to 10,000, 28 from 1,000 to 5,000, and 3 less than 1,000.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

THE CYCLONE AT CHITTAGONG.

The 30th November 1897.—The following is published for general information.

M. FINUCANE,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

ON the evening of the 25th October I received from the Magistrate of Chittagong a telegram to the effect that a severe cyclone had happened on the previous evening, that great damage had been done to private property, and that three lives had been lost. This was followed later by another informing me that half the houses in the town had collapsed, that the Government masonry buildings were safe but needed urgent repair, that certain other buildings had been levelled to the ground, that every road had been blocked with fallen trees, and several brigs in the river had been sunk. Next day a telegram came from the Personal Assistant to the Commissioner much to the same effect. In answer, I asked if there had been any storm-wave; I also enquired of the neighbouring districts of Backergunge, Noakhali and Tippera whether the cyclone had extended to them. I received replies that no other district besides Chittagong had been affected, and that there had been no storm-wave. It was reported that the earlier sorts of winter rice then ripening were greatly damaged, but the later kinds had not suffered. The number of deaths known to have occurred was increasing. No European lives had been lost, and the European ships, though driven out of position, were all safe; but six native craft had been sunk in the river Meghna, and four in the river at Chittagong. The salt golas had been wrecked.

It is now feared that Mr. Pereira, Toll Inspector of the Forest Department, was drowned.

In this condition of affairs I referred to the Famine Relief Committee and enquired whether they had funds, and would be willing to make a grant in aid of the Chittagong sufferers. On receiving a favourable reply, I asked that Rs. 10,000 might at once be placed at the disposal of the local authorities. This was immediately done.

On the 28th, the further news arrived that the cyclone had extended to the Chittagong Hill Tracts, and that Rangamati had been wrecked: but nothing was heard of Kutubdia and Cox's Bazar. Next day news came that the latter place was more or less wrecked, and there were rumours of 800 persons having been drowned by a tidal wave at Kutubdia and 300 more at Moiskal, an adjacent island. The number of brigs ascertained to have been sunk in the river rose to 12. The Commissioner started at once for Kutubdia, Moiskal, and Cox's Bazar in the steam-launch Active. The result of his enquiries was to far more than confirm the reports; he estimated the deaths at from 4,000 to 5,000. He found the people in great straits, and made arrangements for a temporary supply of food.

On receipt of this melancholy intelligence, I referred again to the Famine Relief Committee, and obtained an immediate grant of an additional Rs. 15,000.

The next news which reached us was that the cyclone had penetrated to the South Lushai Hills, and had done much damage to houses, camps, and trees.

The geographical position of the tracts affected, to be described later, accounts for the long delays which occurred in ascertaining even roughly the extent of the calamity. Between the worst of these tracts and Chittagong the only communication is by water, and the cyclone had destroyed the boats.

One's first impulse on hearing of so terrible a misfortune could only be to go as quickly as possible to the locality desolated by it: but it was deemed wiser to delay, since obviously the first necessity was for the local officers to ascertain what had really happened, and to afford immediate relief. Most of the country which had been submerged could be approached only by a small vessel; and so far from such accommodation being available, the Commissioner was urgently begging for the supply of a suitable steam-launch, which, it may here be said, was eventually obtained from the Nawab Sir Ashan Ulla, K.C.I.E., who, with his usual liberality and public spirit, sent the steam-launch Barnagore to Chittagong. Since it was clear that an immediate visit would in these circumstances be a hindrance rather than a help, I postponed it for a short time with the concurrence of the Commissioner.

Eventually I started on the 18th instant from Calcutta in the Indian Marine steamer Guide, accompanied by the Hon'ble Mr. Finucane and the Hon'ble

Mr. Risley, C.I.E., Secretaries to the Bengal Government in the Revenue and Financial Departments, respectively. The state of the tides and the river made it necessary for us to anchor on the evening of the 19th. To utilise the delay, the Guide was therefore taken somewhat out of her course and anchored off Kutubdia. Next morning at daylight we landed near the light-house, which we ascended and inspected. The large dioptric lantern had been shaken off the solid pillar on which it used to revolve, and, having been thrown over on one side, was rendered useless, and much of the thick plate glass was broken into fragments; plaster had been knocked down in places, and there were some cracks of no great importance in the masonry. These injuries are attributed by the Engineer and the Port Officer not to the direct force of the wind but to the rocking of the light-house itself. The dwelling-houses of the light-house-keepers had been completely destroyed; the wooden floor of one of them had been carried away to a distance of 60 yards, and the corrugated iron of the roofs had been scattered about the fields, while huge stones from the revetment had been washed ashore.

The drinking water tank had been spoiled by salt water; and there was a good deal of salt water lying about in the fields, in some, but not all, of which the crops had been cut. About 200 of the inhabitants met us and petitioned for either advances or permission to leave the island. They showed me specimens of the rice; the grain was partially formed, and a little—only a little—food could be obtained from it. Drinking water is brought from a tank which seemed to be some 2 or 3 miles from the light-house, and which is at present used by the whole island. I tasted the water; it was very slightly brackish and was fit to drink. Urgent supplies of food had been given by the Commissioner, and domes had visited the island and buried the corpses which were on the shore. So far as I could understand from the accounts of the lighthouse-keepers, there had been not a single storm-wave but several, one after another; the height reached was apparently some 6 or 7 feet.

The Guide proceeded to Chittagong, and I was met by the Commissioner, Judge, Collector, Settlement Officer, Port Officer, and other officials, from whom I received such further information as was available. I left Chittagong on the morning of the 22nd and reached Calcutta on the evening of the 23rd instant.

The Chittagong district is a long narrow strip, running approximately from N.-N.-W. to S.-S.-E., about 165 miles long, and in the widest part about 25 miles broad, but on the average not more than from 12 to 15 miles. It lies between the Bay of Bengal on the west and the Hill Tracts of Chittagong and of Arrakan on the east. The hills on the east run generally parallel to the coast. There are several small rivers rising in the hills and falling into the Bay of Bengal. The principal of these are the Kornafully, on which, at a distance of 12 miles from its mouth, the town of Chittagong is situated, the Sangu, south of Chittagong, and the Mahamuri, still further south and about the middle of the district. On its approach to the sea this last divides into many mouths passing through a deltaic tract, consisting of mangrove swamps with cultivation on portions where cultivation is practicable. Opposite this tract, and separated from it by narrow channels navigable by small craft, are the islands of Kutubdia (about 13 miles long and 2 to 3 miles broad), Matarbari (about 9 miles long by 3 or 4 broad), Moiskhal (about 60 or 70 miles long by 7 or 8 broad) and smaller islands. The middle and east sides of Moiskhal are high (one hill being 288 feet above the level of the sea); but its other sides, and all the other islands, are very low. These low tracts, as well as most of the portions of main land opposite them, are generally protected by embankments, without which cultivation would be impossible.

It has now been ascertained that the main force of the cyclone of the 24th ultimo was confined to a strip, extending from about 14 miles above Chittagong town on the north to a point some 4 miles below Cox's Bazar on the south, about 70 miles wide in all. North and south of this strip little damage has been done, but within it the force of the cyclone was very great. The portion swamped by the storm-wave consisted of the islands described in the preceding paragraph (except the high parts of Moiskhal) and a strip of low land on the main land opposite. The area of the tracts affected is about 225 square miles; of this some 32 miles are to be deducted for Mangrove jungle, leaving 193 miles of cultivated land; but, again, not the whole of this was submerged. On the main land portions only of villages on the east of the main land were actually swept by the wave; but it has not been possible to estimate the area and population of those parts which escaped; the whole, therefore, has been taken into account.

The different phases of the cyclone must of course have differed according to the position of the observer. We have unfortunately but one systematic and clear account, viz., that of Captain Good, the Port Officer. As early as the 22nd October, he had of his own motion notified that he expected bad weather. At 11 A.M. on Sunday the 24th he received from Calcutta an urgent message that the centre of the cyclone would pass across the face of the Sunderbuns. He hoisted storm signal No. 1, and sent round a notice to the merchants and to the ships in port. He ordered steam to be kept up in the steamers Gekko and Active, and personally saw all the boats belonging to Government and the Port Commissioners placed in safety in the khals. By 4 P.M. the barometer had fallen from 29·745 to 29·370, and the wind stood at north-east. At 5 P.M. it backed to N.-N-E., and the squalls became very severe, with heavy rain. At 6 P.M. the barometer was at 29·20, and the wind veered to north, blowing with increased fury, its velocity being estimated at 80 miles an hour. The largest trees were uprooted, and almost all cutcha buildings were levelled to the ground. It was dark by this time. From 6 P.M. until 10 P.M., when the barometer stood at 28·750 (the lowest reading observed), the wind remained between north-east and north. It then lulled for about seven minutes, and again blew with redoubled violence from the north-west, and the barometer began to rise; the wind gradually went round to west, and then to the south-west, from which quarter it was blowing at about 1-30 A.M., when the storm ended.

The Superintendent of the South Lushai Hills reports that it began to blow hard at 9 P.M., and by 10 there was a hurricane accompanied by pelting rain. The storm abated at 12-30 A.M., having in the meantime made great havoc in the buildings and trees.

It will be observed that the greatest part of the storm and the severest took place in the dark; and no doubt this circumstance must have materially increased the loss of life. Complete information has not yet reached us, but the sum of what we have is truly appalling. The Commissioner has given me the following statement derived from imperfect police reports:—

Station and outpost.	Number of deaths reported.	Remarks.
Kutubdia	174	These are the submerged tracts.
Chakaria	1,196
Harbang	281
Banskali	164

Patiya	126
Raujan	75
Fatikchhari	2

The above is, I fear, much below the truth. The mortality in Kutubdia is known to have been greater than is stated above, and the deaths in Chakaria alone are estimated by the Tahsildar at Cox's Bazar at no fewer than 4,845!

This is only an estimate and wants confirmation; but the Settlement Officer, Mr. Allen, in a note which he has prepared for me, says that "the disproportionately high mortality in Chakaria, as compared with that on the apparently more exposed island of Kutubdia, is explained by the fact that the wave rushed up the great estuaries of the Mahamuri river, and was thus particularly fatal to the inhabitants of those parts who dwell on the banks of these tidal khals for the sake of the convenience of communication." The Collector, after visiting the littoral tracts, says that in many cases the village sites have been obliterated, and everything swept away. In these villages the mortality among women and children has been very great. In the case of four villages which he visited he says that the few survivors have lost everything. They were clothed with rags found in the jungles, and were living in rough huts made out of jungle and the fragments of their ruined houses. They were eating the half-ripened rice from their fields and drinking brackish water. In Rajakhali, a village on the main land, the panchayet has noted in his collection books the loss of 1,006 people. The number of inhabitants according to the census was 1,802, but had probably increased to about 2,000. Bearing in mind that the police figures are obtained from the chaukidars, and that some of the chaukidars themselves must have been among the victims, I fear that the total loss of life must be 10,000 or 12,000 at the very least; a disproportionate number of these were no doubt women and children who had not the strength and activity to take refuge in trees.

The following table shows the number of villages submerged, their area in square miles, their population as ascertained by the last census and their noabad revenue:—

Thana or outpost.	Number of villages.	Area in square miles.	Population.	Noabad revenue in rupees—
				Of taluks.	Of raiyats' holdings.	Total.

The table already given indicates that many deaths occurred in places not submerged. I have no information as to the manner in which they were caused; doubtless most of them were due to falling houses and trees.

It is impossible for me to estimate the loss from the destruction of houses. It will certainly be very great. Yet, except in the worst places, portions at least of the materials will generally be available to be used again. In Chittagong town itself the people were energetically repairing damages, and I was told that from the present appearance of the place, I could not form an idea of its condition immediately after the cyclone. No doubt in the remaining tracts not injured by the storm-wave the same activity is to be found. I have ordered that the tolls levied by the Forest Department on chhan grass, bamboos, canes, jarul wood, tali wood, and chowagree wood in the Chittagong forests shall be reduced by one-half for two months, and that fees on passes issued by the Khas Mahal Department for cutting jungle in areas affected by the cyclone shall be remitted altogether. These measures will make it easier to renew the huts which have been destroyed.

The destruction of cattle has also been on a very large scale, but the measure of the loss is at present impossible to estimate. I was informed of one village in which there were formerly 3,000 head, but at present only 90 remain.

The cultivators who have survived will certainly require extensive advances to enable them to replenish their stock.

In the portions of the district falling within the path of the severe cyclone, but not affected by the storm-wave, the crops appear to have been less injured than was at first feared; it is now thought that not more than 4 annas has been lost, but it must be remembered that, up to the occurrence of the cyclone, the promise was exceptionally good; probably in the tract in question the outturn will not be eventually much less than an average crop. The Patiya, Kodala and Chandpur tea gardens are reported to have suffered greatly, but I have no details. In the area of 193 square miles of rice cultivation said to have been submerged, the estimated outturn is from 2 to 4 annas: it has been explained that portions of that area were not actually swept by the wave. On the other hand, it is probable that other portions were totally ruined.

The people, though they have suffered very severely, are bearing their misfortune with patience and fortitude. There have been no attempts at robbery, and no special police measures of any kind have been found necessary. As soon as the probable nature and extent of the calamity became known, the Commissioner and his subordinates set to work with the most commendable energy. The Commissioner, Mr. Collier, out of the funds placed at his disposal at my instance by the Famine Relief Committee, and subsequently supplemented by an additional grant of Rs. 25,000, lost no time in distributing Rs. 5,325 in cash. The Collector, Mr. Anderson, also sent to Kutubdia 400 maunds of rice, 15 maunds of salt, 5 maunds of mustard-oil and 50 cases of kerosene-oil. To Jaldi he sent 550 maunds of rice, 10 maunds of salt, 5 maunds of chillies and 2 maunds of mustard-oil. To other places he sent 450 maunds of rice, 5 maunds of salt, 25 maunds of dâl, and 5 maunds of chillies. The officers employed in distribution are Mr. Dixon, C.S., Mr. Donald, C.S., Mr. Davidson, Deputy Magistrate, Babu Jogesh Chandra Sen, Sub-Deputy Collector, Babu Ananga Mohan Sen, kanungo, Babu Ram Kanay Pal, kanungo, and Babu Banamali Paramanik, Sub-Deputy Collector. The police also are being employed, and the Sub-Inspector at Jaldi in particular is said to be doing good work. Five Hospital Assistants are also aiding. The tracts most injured have been divided among the several officers, so that their condition from time to time may be effectively watched. Kodalis and picks have been supplied for well-digging, and kutcha wells are being dug under Mr. Davidson's supervision in all the villages where the water is very bad. There is great danger that this cyclone, like those which devastated parts of the Midnapore district in 1874 and Hatiya and Sandip in 1876, may be followed by a severe epidemic of cholera. In order as far as possible to guard against this, the Collector (Mr. Anderson) has sent for disinfectants and permanganate of potash from Calcutta, and attempts are being made to clean at least one tank in each village; but the zenana system is very rigid in Chittagong, and it is feared that the women will continue to draw water from polluted sources, in the immediate neighbourhood of their houses. This practice has hitherto been a very fertile source of disease wherever cholera has broken out in the district. It is satisfactory that as yet but two or three cases of cholera have appeared in only one locality, Satkania, which was not submerged. The local authorities have at their command sufficient medical help at present. If more is required, it will be furnished at once on requisition.

The Collector procured 17 Doms with some difficulty from Calcutta, and they have been employed in disposing of dead bodies.

Measures were at once taken to open as a relief-work the projected road from Jaldi to Chakaria; but no labourers were found to accept the terms of the Famine Code. In the island of Kutubdia labourers could not at first be obtained to work about the light-house for less than 8 annas per diem; the price of labour has since gone down to 4 annas a day, but it is not generally lower than this in the district. The time is now approaching when labourers go to Arrakan to cut crops, and it is believed that not a few of the unfortunate cultivators will speedily avail themselves of this resource.

The class said to be most seriously affected is that of the "bhadra lok," or respectable people, who are very numerous in Chittagong, and have suffered severely from the high prices of last year. They will certainly not attend road or embankment works, whether as relief-works or otherwise. It appears to me that the requirements of people of this class can be best met by advances, and by the bestowal of small grants from the funds at the disposal of the Commissioner. These funds, after deducting the expenditure already mentioned, amount to some Rs. 45,000, which the Commissioner thinks sufficient for the present. But it is certain that besides the instances of absolute destitution there must be many hard cases, to the alleviation of which private charity may be most fittingly applied. Any subscriptions, which may be forwarded to the Commissioner or the Collector, will be expended to the best advantage. I am, however, clearly of opinion that in the case of a generally well-to-do population, such as that of Chittagong, it is not desirable to give indiscriminate relief. After the cyclone of 1876 in Hatiya and Sandip, Sir Richard Temple enjoined the strictest economy in expenditure of this description. I have asked the Commissioner to have an estimate prepared of his requirements in the matter of advances; and since the necessity for giving assistance in this shape is most pressing and urgent, I have authorised him to distribute, in anticipation of formal sanction, up to a lakh of rupees.

No remissions of revenue can be allowed in the case of permanently-settled estates, but proposals may be sent up for suspensions in any instances in which the local officers are satisfied of their necessity in order to enable the proprietors to repair or construct embankments, or to dig tanks for urgently needed supply of drinking-water. A considerable part of the damage has been done, it is feared, on estates under the management of the Court of Wards: the Collector will carefully consider what is required, and apply for assistance in the way of suspensions, if necessary. In the case of noabad holdings whether they be taluks or let directly to raiyats, the Collector will submit any proposals which he may deem necessary as to the realization of rents, or the distribution of advances.

The Government embankments round the island of Kutubdia have hitherto been under the charge of a subordinate of the Subdivisional Officer of Cox's Bazar. I am clearly of opinion (as is the Commissioner) that they should be transferred to the Public Works Department, and I have given directions that estimates should be prepared, and work commenced at once in anticipation, with the view of restoring the embankments to their former height. I am informed that in some places a new alignment is desirable. It is of great importance to undertake this work of restoration immediately, in order to settle the minds of the tenants, and also to protect them from risks. One thing brought very plainly before me is the want of good drinking-water, as well as places of refuge. It appears to me that in the Government khas mahals tanks should be dug after the manner of the "protective works," which, under the form of agreement, Clause II, appended to the Sunderbans rules, lessees of Sunderbans lands are required to construct in order to meet similar necessities. Possibly variations from the exact terms of that form may be desirable to suit local conditions. The Commissioner has in hand some Rs. 10,000 available from the grant for the improvement of Government Estates. I have asked him to devote this sum to the purpose indicated. The work given by the excavation of these tanks and the repairs of the Government and other embankments will greatly assist the labouring population.

Applications have been made for advances up to three months' pay being given to Government servants requiring them. Certainly such advances should not be given indiscriminately; enquiries have been ordered as to the extent to which they will be really necessary.

It may well be imagined that the Government buildings shared the general devastation. Mr. Stawell of the Public Works Department has examined those at Chittagong itself and at Cox's Bazar, as well as other places in the interior, and has favoured me with a note showing generally the condition of each building. I need not repeat those details. A full report with estimates will be submitted hereafter, but in the meantime urgent work is being taken in hand. The story is much the same everywhere; thatched or corrugated-iron roofs have been torn off, the timbers attached being sometimes carried away also. The amount roughly estimated as necessary to restore the Public Works buildings to their old conditions is Rs. 25,885. But suggestions have been made for the improvement of some of the buildings, and probably those should be adopted. The eventual cost is therefore likely to exceed considerably the amount stated. Besides these buildings there are others which are not on the Public Works list. Twelve of the thirteen salt golas are entirely wrecked; they are merely mat buildings with thatched roof and walls, which are now resting on the salt itself and on what remains of the posts. The Collector of Customs desires to have proper godowns built; if this is done, probably a much smaller number than that hitherto provided will be sufficient.

The Custom House had been unroofed for the purpose of repairs before the cyclone, and it was intended to roof it again at a cost of some Rs. 7,000. But on inspection I found the walls in extremely bad condition, so bad that it was proposed to strengthen them with buttresses before putting the roof on. It appears to me that the execution of this project would be a mere waste of money. The Collector of Customs wishes to have a new building erected on part of the site where the existing salt golas stand. For this there would be ample room, and the change would facilitate the working of the Port. Estimates may be made for the erection both of a new Custom House and of the necessary salt golas.

Mr. Stawell has brought to notice a curious anomaly. It seems that there are a good many buildings in the district, of which part belong to the Public Works Department and part to some other department. An instance of this is at Kutubdia, where the first light-house-keeper's house is repaired by the department, and the second by another department. This should be looked into, and the matter arranged as may be convenient.

Other departmental buildings in the interior have been destroyed or damaged; these will be repaired or replaced departmentally. In the meantime temporary arrangements for transacting current business are being made wherever necessary. The necessary repairs to the buildings of the Chittagong Hill Tracts were sanctioned by me.

The damage done to the Port is estimated by Captain Good at Rs. 60,225, of which Rs. 30,000 are on account of the Kutubdia light. The injury to the small vessels would have been considerably greater than it was but for the precautions taken by Captain Good. All these matters will have to be separately dealt with; I will merely mention that I have given permission to the Port Commissioners to overdraw their account by Rs. 25,000—a measure necessary to enable them to meet immediate requirements.

While at Chittagong, I went over, with the Commissioner, the Collector, and other officers, the directions contained in Sir Richard Temple's minute on his visit to Hatiya and Sandip immediately after the cyclone of 1876, and called their attention to such points as were likely to be useful in the present circumstances.

It now only remains for me to say that, while the sufferers themselves have shown a remarkable spirit of patience and courage, the officers of Government have displayed no less energy and humanity in coming to their assistance. It was very gratifying to me to find that this fact is fully recognized by the people of Chittagong. I feel that the interests of the unfortunate people are in safe hands, and that their condition from time to time will be closely watched, so that any unfavourable developments may be averted or at once provided for.

PILGRIMAGE TO THE HEDJAZ.

No. 5071Medl., dated Calcutta, the 26th November 1897.

From—H. H. RISLEY, Esq., C.I.E., Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department,

To—E. R. HENRY, Esq., C.S.

I AM directed to forward for your information a copy of a letter No. 2505, dated the 21st instant, from the Government of India, with regard to the pilgrimage to the Hedjaz during the current season.

2. Orders will be issued on paragraph 2 of the Government of India's letter from the Political Department of this office. It is hoped that the warning given may result in dissuading a large number of Muhammadans from going to the Hedjaz this year.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor has decided to place you in charge of the arrangements for despatching pilgrims from Chittagong in the manner described in paragraph 3 of the Government of India's letter. I am to request that after making such inquiries as may be necessary, you will submit, for the information of the Lieutenant-Governor, and for communication to the Government of India, a report stating in as full detail as possible the arrangements you would propose to make for the reception of pilgrims belonging to Bengal and other provinces at Raniganj, and for their despatch to and embarkation at Chittagong. I am at the same time to convey the following observations on the subject.

4. The Raniganj Camp.—This must be large enough to contain about 1,000 pilgrims, that being the maximum number that any ship can accommodate. The plan should be drawn up in consultation with the Sanitary Commissioner, and should, if possible, be so arranged that the appearance of infectious disease in any part of the camp may not render it necessary to detain the entire body of pilgrims. As the camp will have to be occupied by successive batches of pilgrims, special attention must be paid to the water-supply, the latrines, and the method of removing and disposing of the night-soil. It will be necessary to supply the pilgrims with food during their detention in camp, and I am to suggest that it would be well to consult some of the leading pilgrim-brokers on this subject, and also on the question what arrangements should be made for the housing of female pilgrims. You should also consider whether a part of the camp should not be provided with superior accommodation and set apart for pilgrims belonging to the upper classes. Some accommodation must be provided for the pilgrim-brokers, who will carry on their business in the camp, and I am to suggest that this should be separate from the part occupied by the general body of pilgrims. As soon as the camp is ready for the reception of pilgrims, the fact must be notified as widely as possible through leading Muhammadans, brokers and village chaukidars. It is desirable that persons intending to go as pilgrims should be encouraged to go direct to the camp without entering Calcutta, and I am to suggest that this might be done by notifying in each district the route which pilgrims should follow, and by stationing brokers at Naihati and Raniganj or Khana to intercept pilgrims and conduct them to the camp.

5. Sale of tickets.—Under the Home Department Notification No. 2495 of the 20th November, passage tickets for the Hedjaz may only be sold at the places appointed for the detention of pilgrims. The success of the present scheme will depend largely on this prohibition being widely known and effectively enforced. During the early months of this year a large number of pilgrims who had bought tickets in Bombay and were prevented from sailing, made their way to Calcutta in the hope that they would be able to embark there either on regular pilgrim steamers or on Arab sailing vessels bound for the Red Sea or the Persian Gulf. A recurrence of this must be guarded against, and I am to suggest that you should make it known here and in Bombay, and at all large centres in Upper India, that no ticket will be accepted as valid that does not bear a certificate signed by the officers in charge of a camp to the effect (1) that the ticket was sold in the camp concerned, and (2) that the holder was detained under observation up to the time of his departure. It should also be made clear to all persons desiring to go on the pilgrimage that no person can be received into the Raniganj camp who has not money enough to purchase a return ticket to Jeddah. Pilgrims coming from other provinces will of course have already provided themselves with tickets.

6. Transit from Raniganj to Chittagong.— As soon as information is received at Raniganj that a ship is ready to receive a stated number of pilgrims at Chittagong, the officer in charge of the camp must select that number from among the persons under observation, and must have them medically inspected. They must then be conveyed under guard by special train to Kooshtea, where they should embark on a special steamer for Chandpur. At Chandpur a special train should be in readiness to convey them to Chittagong. I am to request that the details of these arrangements may be worked out in communication with the railway and steamer companies concerned, and reported in full, with a time-table showing at what points in the journey a halt will be made to enable the pilgrims to take food. It should also be stated how they will be supplied with water during the journey. It is essential that they should embark at Kooshtea, disembark at Chandpur, and embark at Chittagong during daylight.

7. Embarkation at Chittagong.—The Port Officer of Chittagong will be appointed under section 8 of the Pilgrims Ships Act, 1895, to receive notice of the time of sailing of pilgrim vessels from Chittagong, and it will be his duty to see that the provisions of the Act and the rules framed under it are duly complied with.

No difficulty is anticipated in the embarkation of pilgrims. The train conveying them from Chandpur will be brought alongside the ship, and the pilgrims will walk on board over a temporary jetty. The Port Officer will be instructed to see that they do not enter the town, or have any communication with the residents of Chittagong.

8. Provisions of ships.—You will observe that the Government of Bombay has been asked to communicate to this Government any information that may be procurable about vessels starting from Chittagong. As, however, it is possible that the Bombay agents and shippers may be imperfectly acquainted with the conditions of the Chittagong Port, and that their ignorance on this point, together with apprehensions as to the damage done by the cyclone, may deter them from coming forward readily to state their intentions, I am to suggest that you should ascertain from the Port Officer of Calcutta the main facts relating to Chittagong, such as the system of lighting, buoyage and mooring, the depth of water on the bar at low water, the facilities for fitting up a ship, executing repairs, and procuring stores, and send a brief statement of these particulars to the shippers who ordinarily take pilgrims to the Hedjaz.

9. Supply of food for the voyage.—Finally I am to invite your attention to sections 12 and 18 of the Pilgrim Ships Act, 1895, and to rules 31 and 32. It is believed that pilgrims usually bring on board their own supplies of food, which they buy immediately before embarking. Under the system of embarkation now proposed it is not clear that this will be possible, and I am to ask that you will enquire carefully into the matter in communication with the brokers and charterers of ships, and report what arrangements should be made in respect of the supply of food.

No. 2505, dated Calcutta, the 21st November 1897.

From—J. P. HEWETT, Esq., C.I.E., Secy. to the Govt. of India, Home Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal (Medical) Department.

IN continuation of the correspondence ending with your cypher telegram, dated the 15th instant, I am directed to forward, for the information of the Government of Bengal, a copy of a Notification No. 2495, dated the 20th instant, issued by the Government of India under the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897, with regard to the pilgrimage to the Hedjaz during the current season.

2. I am to request that all possible means may be taken to make the purport of the orders immediately and widely known, and to explain the reasons on which they are based. Every endeavour should also be made through Magistrates of Districts, the religious heads of the Muhammadans, pilgrim-brokers, and in any other way that the Government of Bengal thinks best, to dissuade intending pilgrims from going to the Hedjaz this year.

3. I am also to forward, for the information of the Government of Bengal, a copy of a circular addressed to Local Governments and Administrations on the subject of the arrangements for despatching pilgrims from the parts of India from which the prohibition against the pilgrimage has been withdrawn, to Karachi and Chittagong, for the purpose of embarking them for the Hedjaz. It will be observed that the Government of India have accepted the proposal contained in your telegram of the 6th instant, and that pilgrims from Bengal, Assam and the eastern part of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh are to be embarked at Chittagong after being first detained under observation in a provincial observation camp, whence they are to be sent to a central camp at Raniganj by special train and in charge of a responsible officer. The Local Governments and Administrations concerned have been directed to inform the Government of Bengal of the arrangements made, and to supply periodical information respecting the number of persons in the provincial camp destined for Raniganj and the period of observation they have completed. I am to request that the Government of Bengal will enter into communication with the Local Governments and Administrations concerned on the subject of the arrangements for receiving pilgrims from the provincial camps at Raniganj. The Government of India will also be glad to be informed of the arrangements made for the reception of pilgrims belonging to Bengal and other provinces at Raniganj, and for their despatch to, and embarkation at Chittagong.

4. Tickets are to be sold only at the observation camps, and I am to request that steps may be taken to enforce this order and make it known to pilgrim-brokers. The Government of Bombay have been requested to inform shipping agents of the arrangements, and to ascertain, as far as possible, the number of ships that will be available, the dates on which they will start, and whether they will sail from Karachi or Chittagong. They have also been requested to communicate to the Government of Bengal any information that may be ascertainable about vessels starting from Chittagong.

5. It is still under consideration whether pilgrims from the Madras Presidency and the States of Mysore and Hyderabad should be shipped from Karachi or Chittagong, and a further communication will be sent on this subject.

No. 2495, dated Calcutta, the 20th November 1897.

NOTIFICATION—By the Government of India, Home Department.

In the Notification of the Government of India in the Home Department, No. 625, dated the 20th February 1897. it was ordered under the powers conferred by section 2, [sub-section (1) of the Epidemic Diseases Act (III of 1897), that the pilgrimage to the Hedjaz should be suspended for the season of 1897.

The Government of India do not think it necessary that the pilgrimage should be altogether suspended for the current season, but as plague is widely prevalent in the Bombay Presidency, they consider it essential, in view of the strong opinions of all European Governments, including Turkey, regarding the danger of plague being communicated to Europe, and in view of the danger of plague being spread by intending pilgrims from infected to non-infected portions of India, that the pilgrimage should be subjected to careful restrictions.

The Governor-General in Council is, therefore, pleased to cancel the order contained in the Notification of the Government of India in the Home Department, No. 625, dated the 20th February 1897.

The Governor-General in Council is further pleased to direct that, until further orders, no person, resident, permanently or temporarily, in the Presidency of Bombay, with the exception of Sind, shall be permitted to embark from any port in India with the object of making a pilgrimage to Mecca.

The Governor-General in Council is further pleased to direct as follows—

(1) That no person shall be permitted to embark with the object of making a pilgrimage to Mecca, except at the ports of Karachi in Sind and Chittagong in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, and unless and until such person has been kept under observation in a place appointed for the purpose until such time as the Medical Officer in charge shall be satisfied that all risk of such person conveying the infection of plague has been completely abated; and unless such person is conveyed from the place of observation to the place of embarkation under the orders of an officer appointed for the purpose.

(2) That no passage tickets for the Hedjaz shall be sold, except at the places appointed for the detention of intending pilgrims under observation.

(3) That all persons who have entered the Bombay Presidency (excluding Sind), with the object of proceeding to the Hedjaz, shall be placed in a camp of observation until such time as the Medical Officer in charge shall satisfy himself that all risk of the occurrence of plague among them has been completely abated. They shall then be sent to their homes

Although the Government of India have decided that the pilgrimage to the Hedjaz may be permitted subject to the safeguards enumerated above, they are nevertheless convinced that intending pilgrims will be well advised in deferring their purpose until another season, in view specially of the stringent quarantine rules imposed by the Turkish Government and the inconvenience and harassment to which it is likely they will be subjected on arriving in Arabia.

The latest information received by the Government of India shows that the Hedjaz is still in a most disturbed condition, and that the journey to Mecca is fraught with danger to life and property.

Secretary to the Government of India.

Nos. 2509-2514, dated Calcutta, the 21st November 1897.

From—J. P. HEWETT, Esq., C.I.E., Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department,

To—The Secretary to the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, Medical Department; the Junior Secretary to the Government of the Punjab; the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces; the Chief Commissioner of Assam; the Agent to the Governor-General of Rajputana; the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India.

I AM directed to forward, for [the information of the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh / the Government of the Punjab / your information] a copy of a Notification No. 2495, dated the 20th instant, issued by the Government of India under the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897, with regard to the pilgrimage to Hedjaz during the current season.

2 I am to request that all possible means may be taken to make the purport of the orders immediately and widely known, and to explain the reasons on which they are based. Every endeavour should also be made through Magistrates of Districts, the religious heads of the Muhammadans, pilgrim-brokers, and in any other way that [the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh / the Government of the Punjab / you] [thinks / think] best to dissuade intending pilgrims from going to the Hedjaz this year.

3. It will be observed that embarkation is permitted only at the ports of Karachi in Sind and Chittagong in the Lower Provinces of Bengal. The route vid Chittagong is designed for the inhabitants of Bengal, Assam and the eastern portion of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and the route vid Karachi for the inhabitants of Sind and of Upper India. All persons in [the North-Western Provinces and Oudh / the Punjab / the Central Provinces / Assam / Rajputana / Central India] and neighbouring Native States who persist in the desire to go on pilgrimage must be collected at an observation camp within the [Province / Agency]*, where they must be detained under the careful superintendence of a Commissioned Medical Officer for at least ten days. Pilgrims who embark at Karachi will be sent direct to the port from the provincial observation camp, and pilgrims who embark at Chittagong will first be sent from the provincial camp to a central camp at Raniganj, whence they will be despatched to Chittagong under arrangements that will be made by the Government of Bengal. Intending pilgrims who have completed the ten days' observation period and are certified to be free from infection, will be sent to Karachi or Raniganj, as the case may be, as soon as information is received by [the Government of the North Western Provinces and Oudh / the Government of the Punjab / you] from Sind or Bengal that the authorities are ready to take them over. This will of coure depend on the number of ships available and on the date on which they sail. Pilgrims must be despatched from the provincial camp by special train and under the charge of a responsible officer. It will be necessary to communicate with the political authorities in Native States with regard to the reception of pilgrims from those States in the provincial observation camp. Passage tickets to the Hedjaz may be sold only at the observation camps, and I am to request that the necessary steps may be taken to enforce this order and, in communication with the Governments of Bombay and Bengal, make it known to shipping agents and pilgrim-brokers.

* [In the case of Rajputana and Central India.]

4. I am to request that a place for the observation camp may be selected at once, that arrangements may be made as quickly as possible to give effect to the instructions contained in this letter, and that the arrangements may be communicated to the Government of India and to the Governments of Bombay and Bengal. Arrangements should be made in communication with the Governments of Bombay and Bengal for supplying a periodical statement of the number of persons in the provincial camp destined for Karachi or Raniganj, and the period of observation they have completed, and for despatching pilgrims from the provincial camp to Karachi or the Raniganj camp as the case may be.

BENGAL POLICE

PILGRIMAGE TO MECCA.

NOTICE TO INTENDING PILGRIMS.

THE Government of India, while desirous of impressing upon intending pilgrims that they would be well advised in deferring their purpose until another season, in view of the stringent quarantine rules imposed by the Turkish Government and the inconvenience to which it is likely they will be subjected on arriving in Arabia, have decided to permit the pilgrimage to the Hedjaz, subject to certain conditions.

1st.—No person coming from the eastern portion of the North-Western Provinces, from Assam or Bengal shall be permitted to embark with the object of making a pilgrimage to Mecca, except at the port of Chittagong.

2nd.—All persons coming from Assam and Bengal shall proceed to Raniganj, avoiding Calcutta, and shall at Raniganj be received into a camp, where they will remain for a period of 10 days, or until a steamer is ready for their reception at Chittagong. At the Raniganj camp the pilgrims will be fed at the cost of Government.

3rd.—No person will be admitted to the Raniganj camp who has not with him or her at least 200 rupees, the smallest amount needed to cover the cost of the journey to Jeddah and back.

4th.—The rates of passage-money to be charged by the Steamer Companies have not yet been settled finally, but it must be understood that only children under 3 years of age will proceed free, children beween 3 and 12 being charged half fares.

5th.—Tickets for the steamer journey must be purchased at Raniganj, and on leaving the camp pilgrims holding these tickets will be given certificates that they have undergone 10 days' quarantine and are free from all suspicion of infection.

6th.—Intending pilgrims may not bring with them food for the journey, as the Steamer Companies will be required to keep a stock of all necessary articles of food and to sell them at rates which have been authoritatively approved.

7th.—As a special concession the Government has been pleased to decide that pilgrims who have undergone the full period of residence at the Raniganj camp will be carried free of cost to Chittagong.

8th.—The camp will be ready on 23rd December 1897.

Imports.—During the period under report, the imports of rice amounted to 41,955 cwts., against 47,688 cwts. in the week ending 14th November 1896. The amount imported from Burma was 32,186 cwts., against only 2,957 cwts. in the second week of November 1896, and that imported from Chandbali and Balasore 9,764 cwts., against 44,608 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year. Imports of paddy fell from 8,682 cwts. to 6,205 cwts., owing to the receipt of smaller consignments from Chandbali. The decrease under the head of gram and pulses amounted to 9,539 cwts., the amount imported from the Madras ports being only 5,760 cwts., against 9,771 cwts., and that from Chandbali 454 cwts., against 8,318 cwts. in the corresponding period of 1896. Imports of miscellaneous food-grains from Ports Victoria and Natal aggregated 2,554 cwts., against nil in the second week of November 1896.

Exports.—In the following statement the total quantity of each kind of food-grain exported by sea during the second week of November 1897 is compared with that for the corresponding period of 1896 :—

Foreign ports.

The exports of rice from Calcutta to foreign ports declined from 58,984 cwts. in the second week of November 1896 to 24,602 cwts. in the period under report. There were no exports to Cape Colony, the East Coast of Africa, Muscat, or Natal, which countries took 9,709 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year. The despatches to Ceylon showed a decrease of 20,727 cwts., and those to the United Kingdom of 3,782 cwts. The exports of gram and pulses fell from 3,363 cwts. to 753 cwts., in consequence of the despatches to Ceylon having decreased from 2,448 cwts. to 167 cwts. during the second week of November 1896.

Indian ports.

As regards Indian ports, the exports of rice during the second week of November 1897 amounted to 8,473 cwts., against only 1,851 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year, owing chiefly to larger exports to Bombay, and to shipments to Calicut and Cochin, which took 4,178 cwts. against nil in the corresponding week of 1896. The fluctuations under other heads are unimportant.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

The imports of rice into Chittagong during the week under report amounted to 12,131 cwts., the whole of which came from Burma against nil in the week ending 14th November 1896; while the export trade declined by 743 cwts. there having been no shipments of paddy to Calcutta. The export trade of the Balasore ports also fell off by 23,921 cwts. on account of smaller despatches of rice, paddy, and gram and pulses to Calcutta. False Point despatched 482 cwts. of rice to Madras, against nil during the corresponding week of the last year. Colombo, which received 1,756 cwts of rice from Puri during the week ending 14th November 1896, drew nothing in the period now under review.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.
